A CONTEMPORARY says that Mr. Snellgrove, who stated at the Montreal Liberal convention that the majority of the people of Ontario were in sympathy with the men called rebels and that he believed them to be greater patriots than the men who conquered them, is a reporter on the Cobourg World. Capt. Snellgrove, the orator in question, is editor and one of the proprietors of the Cobourg Reform organ. He is also an officer in the militia, holding the rank and position of captain. A loyal officer he, surely, who believes that the rebels were greater patriots than the volunteers who bravely fought for Canada! The loyal Reformers of Northumberland, and the volunteers in the battalion with which Capt. Snellgrove is connected (a company of whom were in the Northwest and were among the conquerors), will scarcely allow such insults to pass without resenting them and showing their disapproval of them.

A COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT.

Chief of the Gang Who have been Operating Canada Captured.

Detective Kellert, of the Metropolitan Detective Agency received a telegram from Ottawa on Tuesday morning informing him of the capture there by Detective O'Leary, of the Dominion Police, of John Rogers, the chief of the gang of counterfeiters of which Joe. Rechin formed one, and who have so long and so successfully carried on their operations in Canada. Rogers, whose proper name is Johnson, belongs to Toronto, where he is assisted by his two sisters and his father he manufactures the bills.

It appears that O'Leary got in with the counterfeiters in the same way as Kellert managed Rogers here. Rogers then made the statement that he had the necessary plates for making sixty dollar Quebec Bank bills, twenty dollar United States bills and ten dollar bills of the Merchant's Bank of Canada. Rogers also stated that he had been accompanied by William Duncan, Thomas Brown and Captain Clendenen to Rochester, where the party had procured paper, ink and brushes to make the bogus bills. They had cruised around the lake for some time and had passed between 3000 and 4000 counterfeit bills. He also stated that he operated by photographing the genuine bills, and that he had the process "down so fine" that he could produce a bill which it was almost impossible to detect, having worked at the business in Austria. He also changed the numbers on bills so that it would be difficult to detect the alteration. He intended to go to Ottawa, get a photographer's gallery and start the business there. The detective agreed with Rogers to go into partnership with him. The latter promised to supply the bogus bills, representing a large amount of money. His pocketbook contained counterfeit twenty dollar bills of the National Bank of Montreal, twenty dollar bills of the National Bank of New York, and twenty dollar bills of the National Bank of Canada. He had a set of plates for making fifty dollar bills of the Union Bank of Lower Canada, a set for twenty dollar United States bills, three sets for ten dollar bills of the Merchants Bank and a set of Dominion of Canada two dollar bills.

He said he had destroyed the plates about ten days previous. In a bedroom occupied by the accused were found paints and brushes used in making the bogus notes. In the house was found an agreement dated at Lachine, February, 1886, and signed by a number of persons pledging themselves by a solemn oath not to divulge the secrets of the counterfeiting gang. Under the name of "Kellert" who was the first detective to have a warrant issued here for Rogers' arrest will leave for Ottawa to claim his man.—Montreal Star.

Hamilton's Oldest Citizen.

The Hamilton Spectator says:—Probably the oldest man in these parts lives at the House of Providence, Dundas. His name is Fanning, and he first saw the light of day 106 years ago. He was born in Ireland. He came to Canada when he was 70 years of age. He settled in Hamilton in Yorktown. For some years he worked in the city and afterwards in Dundas. He is in full possession of all his faculties and is remarkably strong and vigorous. A week or two ago he wanted to go to Hamilton to see his friends here. He was given 25 cents to pay his car fare, but being of an economical turn of mind he thought he might as well save it, so he coolly and calmly walked the ten miles, here and back. There is another centenarian in the House of Providence, but she is not as old as Mr. Fanning by four years or so.

Where is the Legacy?

A gentleman who died recently in Paris left a legacy of $5,000 to his niece, in Dubuque, Iowa, who it appears, died about the same hour of the same day. The question which died first turns upon the relation of solar to true time, and must be determined by the difference of longitude. If the niece died at 4 o'clock a.m. and the uncle at 10 o'clock a.m., the instance of their death must have been identical. Assuming that to be the hour of the testator's death, if the niece died at any hour between 4 and 10, although the legacy would apparently revert to his estate, it would really vest in her and her heirs, since by solar time she would actually have survived her uncle.

Mr. H. H. Smith.

The Winnipeg Manitoban of a recent date publishes information regarding the death of the Northwest, giving valuable statistics. In connection with this it gives a portrait of Mr. H. H. Smith, the Dominion Land Commissioner. The likeness is a very good one. The Manitoban says of Mr. Smith:

"Mr. H. H. Smith, whose portrait is presented to the readers of the Manitoban with this sketch, occupies as Commissioner of Dominion Lands, one of the most responsible positions in the gift of the Dominion Government. He is well known to the settlers of Manitoba and the Northwest, whose ardent friend and sympathizer he has proved himself during his administration of the affairs of the outside service of his department. Mr. Smith was born at Coburg, Ontario, Dec. 17, 1847, and is therefore now in his 38th year. He is a son of the Hon. Sidney Smith, whose name is prominently connected with Canadian affairs. Mr. Smith is an able lawyer, and earned more than a local reputation during several years practice of his profession in Peterborough. He assumed control of the department as successor to the late respected Aquila Walsh, Esq.,

Mr. Smith's many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that Mr. Smith is earning golden opinions of himself in the west, and that his successful management of his department is appreciated.

BURNED UP IN COAL.

A BRAKEMAN KILLED, HIS NECK BROKEN AND HEAD GASHED.

A Fellow Train Hand Seriously Scalded—The Engine, Tender and Eight Cars Thrown from the Track.

When the special freight train, drawn by engine No. 625, en route from Belleville to Midland, in charge of Ed. Pym, conductor, and Geo. Frederick, driver, was coming into Otonabee at a few minutes after eleven o'clock on Tuesday night an accident occurred that deprived one of the brakemen of his life. Wm. Powell and Baird were the brakemen, and under their charge were the 22 cars of which the train was composed.

When the train was passing Leady's storehouse, near the village, the engine struck a cow, which was lying on the crossing, and the engine and tender immediately left the track, followed by eight cars. The engine went to one side and the tender to the other.

The conductor, driver, and S. Adams, one of the brakemen, escaped uninjured, but not so the brakemen—Baird, and the other brakeman. The former was found in the engine, which was turned into the ditch upside down, with a car on top of it, unconscious, from the effects of a terrible scalding. He was removed to an adjacent house. William Powell, the other brakeman, was found under the tender buried in coal. He was taken out and examined, but it was found that he was beyond all hope. His neck was broken, and a deep gash was inflicted on his head, just back of the forehead.

This morning the body of the deceased was taken to Millbrook, where his father lives, carrying on the business of a baker.

To-day has been spent in clearing up the debris at Otonabee. The engine and tender were badly damaged, and the cars which went off are also considerably broken.

At two o'clock this afternoon Baird was still alive, though doubts of his recovery are entertained.

The Grand Excursion.

The Toronto Mail of to-day's issue contains the following notice:—"Representatives from Buffalo were in the city yesterday making arrangements for the accommodation of Knights from that city. They stated that there will be from 40,000 to 50,000 visitors in Toronto at the time of the Supreme Lodge meeting. Very cheap fares are being offered by the railways, and the tickets are being purchased rapidly. The lodge-room of the Knights of Pythias was occupied last evening by Mystic lodge for the first time. Orlando Division, of Florida, has signified its intention of being present at the demonstration. A Cleveland division has chartered a large propeller and will come by water to Toronto. They will live aboard the boat while at Toronto. The Exhibition grounds, Mutual street rink, St. James' hall and the K. P. lodge room will be decorated by the reception committee." The above shows clearly the enthusiasm which is being displayed in making the demonstration worth witnessing on Tuesday July 13th on which date the Peterborough Court of Foresters hold their annual excursion via G. T. R. Railway. Tickets good for 8 days at the low fare of $2.15.

St. Paul's Church S. S. Picnic.

The St. Paul's Church Sabbath School annual picnic was held on Tuesday. In the morning about three hundred pupils, teachers, parents and friends, assembled at the Bothwell street Grand Trunk station. Eight coaches, in readiness, received the picnicers and conveyed them and their numerous baskets to Hastings. Here they were met by the Rev. Mr. Thompson and others. Johnston's grove was sought, and here it was found that all preparations had been made. The big kettle was boiling, the awnings were up, the tables were waiting to be spread, and the picnic managers were delighted. After dinner the time was spent in boating on the Trent river, which passed just by the grove, in strolling in the coolness under the shady trees, and in other ways most suited to those who spent it. Several were piloted to a neighboring high hill by friendly Hastings guides. They at once fell into ecstasies over the view—the waving wheat fields tinged with gold, spreading out over the country alternated with stripes of woods and green growing grain, immediately below the glittering Trent which lost itself far away in a vista of trees, and the laughing little lake dotted with islands. One of the canniest of Scotchmen guardedly remarked that he had not seen anything like it since he left Scotland. The picnicers got home at about eight o'clock in the evening.

THE BODDY CASE.

Committed for Trial—The Evidence for the Defence.

At 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon the Boddy assault case was resumed, the evidence for the defence being gone into.

JOHN McGINNIS, sworn, said: I was at Roddy's hotel on Sunday evening. I saw the complainant and Connell. I took him to be under the influence of liquor. I heard him swear as he was going out that as true as he was going out he would make Roddy pay for this before to-morrow night. Roddy was sitting beside me in a chair. Roddy told him to go away. Saunders and Connell went out. I followed the men to the door; they went last, I think about the ten o'clock of the alleyway. Roddy came to the door but did not put his foot on the sidewalk. He pulled up the awning and then went in and told Reynolds to shut up the house. It still stood at the door. Saunders and his friend did not move. The electric light was burning. Two or three men were standing on Fairweather's corner. In a minute I saw one of them run towards Fairweather's corner and one walked. Roddy pulled up the awning he went back into the sitting room. From where I stood looking at the men I could see Roddy's chair. I saw Roddy sitting and walking inside. When the two men started off I could not say where Roddy was. Right away after the man ran Roddy came and stood by my side. I gave a kind of a laugh and said: "What has happened to them?" I saw one of the men running up street. I saw blood on the walk the next day about half way between Roddy's and Fairweather's corner.

To Mr. Wood.—I heard a noise like a slap and then a man ran. I did not hear any words.

LOTTIE WARNER, a servant at Roddy's, sworn, said that the complainant and another came to the kitchen at 7:30 in the evening. She ordered them out. To the best of her knowledge Saunders was the worse of drink. He staggered up against the back stairs. Roddy swore and asked him what he wanted. They said that they wanted a drink and Roddy told them to go to the pump.

JOHN GOGGIN, merchant, sworn, said that he had sold other coats like that Roddy wore. The kind of goods worn by Roddy was much used for summer coatings.

FREDERICK WEIR saw the complainant after he was hurt, and went to the police station with him.

P. C. McGINNIS, sworn, said that the complainant came to the station on Sunday night. He wanted Roddy arrested. Saunders told him it was Roddy who struck him.

MR. MOORE, for the defendant, submitted that there was no evidence to convict.

THE MAGISTRATE, on this, stated that under the statute he was not bound to give judgment, but might send the case, even at this stage, to be tried by a jury, and that if the counsel desired he would allow the case to be tried by a jury.

MR. MOORE, after consulting his client, expressed his desire to have the case go to a jury. He submitted, however, that there was no evidence on which the case should be sent even for trial by a jury.

THE MAGISTRATE held that the evidence of Saunders and Connell as to the party who committed the assault was unbroken. The evidence was on the face of the complainant. The only question was as to who committed it. He reviewed the evidence of McGinnis, and held that Roddy might have slipped into the archway, committed the assault, and retired to stand at McGinnis' side, as described. In his opinion it was to the interest of Roddy that he should not give judgment, and that he might get the benefit of the trial by jury.

The defendant was committed for trial. Bail was accepted.

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The July number of Harper has for its frontispiece an excellent portrait of Hawthorne, the peculiarly interesting circumstances connected with the photograph being described.

Mr. Warner, in a fresh instalment of "Tour Pilgrimage," takes the reader to other scenic wonders, the latter prose being supplemented by appropriate illustrations, as is the case with many other papers. "The New York Produce Exchange" is made known to us in all its details by Dr. Wheatley. Another of the interesting historical contributions, always a great feature in Harper, is Mr. Ballard Smith's account of the procuring of "The Gunpowder for Bunker Hill." The first of a promising series of "Social Studies" by Dr. E. P. Roe continues his papers on "The Home Acre," this time dealing with the raspberry. Mrs. Miller's account of "A Night Monkey in the House," and Mr. Gibson's "Singing Wings" are widely different, but equally pleasing contributions to natural history. Mr. Wells looks at nature from the sporting point of view in "Salmon Fishing." "She Stoops to Conquer," with Abbey's telling illustrations, is concluded. Mr. Blackmore's serial novel, "Springhaven," is growing in interest as it proceeds. There are some excellent short tales, poetry of a high order, and the editorial miscellanies.

ST. NICHOLAS.—The July number of St. Nicholas opens with an interesting sketch of "La Fayette" and his two visits to America, which is in a way supplementary to Horace E. Scudder's "George Washington," this month's chapter of which deal with the Conway Cabal, Valley Forge, and Monmouth, in which La Fayette took a prominent part. An account of a very high and remarkable flag-raising is contributed by Dan Beard, in "Captain Jack's Fourth-of-July Kite." The leading feature of the number, however, is undoubtedly the first instalment of Rose Latimore Alling's short serial, "Nan's Revolt," a story which in a bright, breezy style deals with the efforts of four society girls to break away from some of the unwholesome restraints of convention and fashion, and become independent and self-supporting. Ripley Hitchcock has a timely article on "Fly-fishing for Trout," in which he shows how boys and girls can become proficient in this attractive sport, and how, when away from streams and lakes, they can practice fly-casting on the front lawn. Among other prominent features of the magazine are the entertaining chapters of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" with a startling development—to be continued; an excellent instalment of J. T. Trowbridge's Maine coast story, "The Kelp-Gatherers" (some more notes on "Wonders of the Alphabet," and a "Ready-for-Business" article on "Best Building" as an employment for American boys. Palmer Cox tells about the "Brownie in the Menagerie," and other poems, verses, stories, sketches, and illustrations are contributed by Mary Hall-ock Foxe, Alfred Brennan, Frank Dempster Sherman, John R. Coryell, F. H. Lundgren, Grace Litchfield, Mabelta Douglas, Rev. Charles R. Talbot, and others.

A FIELD DAY IN COURT.

Several Cases for Infraction of the Scott Act Heard.

To-day with another Scott Act field day at the Police Court.

Five alleged offenders against the provisions of the Act were summoned before His Worship. The first case was QUEEN VS. KEARNS. William Kearns and Patrick Kearns being the defendants. They were charged by Inspector Cochrane with having between June 4th and June 27th sold liquor, contrary to the provisions of the second part of the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. Geo. Edmison appeared for the defendants and pleaded not guilty.

Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the prosecution.

PATRICK KEARNS, sworn, said: I don't know who keeps the boarding house at Burleigh. It is some one named Kearns. My brother is the proprietor. He is in gaol. I work for him. My father has no interest whatever in the business. Before my brother went to gaol I did not run the dining room.

Mr. WOOD—Now, which of you is swearing to a lie? Your brother swore that you did run the dining room.

WITNESS—Did he swear to that?

Mr. WOOD—Yes, he did.

WITNESS—Well bring him down and I'll bet he'll swear over again that I had nothing to do with it. I am watching the place in the absence of my brother.

ALFRED CURSON was the next witness.

He said:—On last Tuesday I drank a glass of soda water at Kearns' place. That was the only drink I had there.

Mr. WOOD—Where did you get your drink?

Mr. EDMISON objected to the question.

The MAGISTRATE overruled the objection. He did not want the witness to commit any one else, but the witness might associate his getting the liquor with some hollow log or back yard.

The WITNESS, continuing, Kearns gave me some liquor on the road last Monday. He gave it to me as a present. He gave me two small bottles of whiskey. I owed Kearns six dollars since last fall. I paid him this debt after I got the whiskey.

Mr. WOOD—Was it the bargain between you that were to pay the debt if he gave you the whiskey? Now Mr. Edmison, you keep quiet. I'm conducting this examination and I want it done right if it takes four years to do it. The witness will tell the truth without your suggestions.

WITNESS—That was the bargain. I got a drink from Mrs. Kearns on Tuesday. She took nothing in payment for it.

Mrs. CURSON, wife of the last witness, sworn, through an interpreter gave testimony that her husband, according to his own story, got a bottle of liquor from Kearns. She had seen people intoxicating coming from Kearns' house.

ALFRED CURSON, recalled, said: I was out with Kearns driving a wagon after I got the two bottles. We talked about whiskey. He promised to get me some. I saw him put something in a bag. He said nothing to me. I went and felt the bag and got another bottle.

QUEEN VS. MILLAR.

The case of Cochrane against William Millar, of Bridgenorth, was adjourned till Monday.

QUEEN VS. KEARNS (resumed.)

S. TASSIE, sworn, said: I was at Kearns' place a week ago last Sunday. Patrick Kearns was in the bar. A friend of mine asked me to take something. I took some wine. It was intoxicating liquor. My friend paid for it.

JOSEPH PICAT was the last witness. He said that he was at Kearns' place on the Sunday mentioned. He got several drinks and paid for them. The party would take pop all round and then Kearns would give the whiskey.

Mr. EDMISON submitted that there was no evidence to convict.

The MAGISTRATE held that there was the strongest evidence. He imposed a fine of $50 and costs against Patrick Kearns, as he was the clerk and agent of his father. The charge against the father was dismissed.

The hearing of the cases Queen vs. Roddy, Queen vs. Daly and Queen vs. Faucher commenced at three o'clock this afternoon.

UNHEARD of bargains to be had now at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

United States Crops.

NEW YORK, July 7.—From over 4,000 crop reports from all parts of the country, the Rural New Yorker concludes that the winter wheat crop is on the whole good, the probable yield being 295,000,000 bushels, against 212,000,000 in 1885, with a slight increase in acreage. Spring wheat has been considerably injured by drought and blight. The yield probably will be 140,000,000 bushels against 145,000,000 bushels last year. The total wheat crop will probably be 435,000,000 bushels, against 357,000,000 bushels last year. In oats there has been a slight increase in acreage. The crop will probably yield 600,000,000 bushels, against 622,000,000 bushels in 1885. Of rye and barley there will be an excellent crop. There is a good stand of corn and the outlook is excellent for a fine crop. Of early potatoes the crop will be heavy, while late potatoes are promising. There has been a large increase in the area of cultivated grass in the West and South, and considerable in clover.

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERY.

Proceedings at the Presbytery Meeting held in Port Hope.

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in the Mill street Presbyterian church in Port Hope at 10.30 a. m. on Tuesday, for the transaction of ordinary business. There was a good attendance of ministers and elders, and a large amount of business was transacted. Arrangements were made for the induction of the Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Cochrane, into the pastoral charge of Brighton, on Wednesday, 21st inst., at 2 p. m., the Rev. D. L. McCre, of Cobourg, to preside. Leave was granted to moderate in a call to the united congregations of Warsaw and Dumfries at an early date. The place of holding the stated meetings was considered at length, and it was finally decided that they should be held alternately in Port Hope and Peterborough. Arrangements were made for the visitation of the missions within the bounds, with a view to the administration of baptism and the Lord's supper, and making the usual returns. The Rev. Messrs. Bennett, Mitchell, Cook and Bell were appointed to this work. A plan of grouping the congregations of the Presbytery with a view to their visitation in connection with the Augmentation of Stipends and other schemes of the church was considered and adopted. Communion, Temperance, Sabbath School, Statistics, Home Missions and the State of Religion were appointed for the year. The Rev. J. E. Trotter who was present at the forenoon session was invited to sit and deliberate as a corresponding member. The Rev. Dr. O'Meara who was present in the afternoon received a similar invitation.

The Presbytery adjourned at 6 p. m. to meet in St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, at 10.30 a. m. on the 21st September. The members of the Presbytery were entertained to dinner and tea, by the two Presbyterian congregations, in the town, at the Presbyterian Rooms, (late St. Mark's Temperance Rooms). The Rev. Dr. O'Meara, and Messrs. Clarkson, Trotter, and Messrs. McKenzie and Hay moved and seconded a cordial vote of thanks to the ladies, which was heartily adopted and conveyed to them by the moderator.—Times.

Murder on the Gatineau.

OTTAWA, July 7.—A resident of the Upper Gatineau, who arrived in the city last night, gives the following information of a fatal affray which occurred in that region a few days ago between two lumber drivers, who were coming down the river. Some little difficulty had taken place between them over the work which each man should do, which finally led to blows and a rattling fight ensued. One of the men by the name of Joseph Phillips was getting the worst of the encounter, when he seized a handspike that was lying near by and struck his opponent, whose name is not known, a terrible blow over the left shoulder, breaking the collar bone and felling him to the ground. He was about to repeat the blow when the wounded man, putting his right hand into his rear pocket, pulled a self-cocking revolver and shot at Phillips. The ball entered just above the heart. Phillips died instantly. The murderer is in a precarious condition. The affair took place some sixteen miles from Gilmour's camp.

A Tailor Suicided.

LONDON, Ont., July 4.—Thomas Edinborough, a tailor, was found drowned in a head of the river about eleven o'clock this morning in London West. Deceased had frequently threatened to destroy his own life and from the water at that point being as shallow as to have made it necessary for him to lie down to get his head under, there is little doubt that it was a premeditated suicide. The County Crown Attorney was informed of the affair and an inquest will be held.

A Lion.

Shortly after seven o'clock on Wednesday evening the fine young stallion "Clausman," owned by Mr. James McLaurin, of Baillieboro, died at the Morgan House stables. His death was caused by an over feed of green clover. Inflammation of the bowels set in, and though the best veterinary attendance was secured, he succumbed. The animal was a six years old, roan grey, heavy draught horse, said to be worth $1,500.

Personal.

Mr. C. E. Brown, of Norwood, son of the County School Inspector, at the closing exercises of the Agricultural College, Guelph, carried off a silver medal and was first on the list for a diploma. In the mid-summer examinations he stood first in agriculture and dairying and veterinary science, and received an honor certificate in English literature also. In the Christmas and Easter examinations he was also very successful.

Shoulder Dislocated.

While the Mikado was being presented at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday night, Mr. J. W. Herbert, playing the part of Ko Ko, had the misfortune to dislocate his shoulder. It was done by a sudden throwing up of both arms. Dr. Halliday, who was in the hall, stepped behind the scenes and drew the limb into position again, while the performance proceeded. Mr. C. L. Harris taking Mr. Herbert's part. Mr. Herbert feels very well to-day. Other than being inconvenienced with a little dull pain, he is all right. The same shoulder was dislocated in Hamilton while on the stage last February. He will appear as Ko Ko again this evening.

Orange.

The Orangemen of West Peterborough will celebrate the 12th of July in Belleville on Monday next. The town Orangemen will meet in their lodge room at 5.30 a. m. and parade to the Murray street crossing to meet the lodges from Nassau and Lakeland. They will then walk to Ashburnham station, from which place the special train will leave at 7 a. m. On Sunday, July 11th, the brethren will assemble at 3 p. m., and will march to St. Paul's Church, where a sermon will be preached to them at 4 p. m. by the Rev. I. Tovell. The Fire Brigade Band will escort the procession on both days.

From the Sanction Oregon.

A letter was received at the Bank of Montreal this morning which had gone down with the steamer Oregon near New York on March 14th. The Post Office Inspector, in forwarding it, wrote that the letter was contained in a bag of mail matter found deeply imbedded in the sand on the beach near Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, U. S., the bag having drifted upwards of 400 miles from the scene of the wreck. Of a total of 800 mail bags decapitated by the steamer Oregon 200 have been recovered. The letter received by the bank was easily read. Although the red lines were blotted out, the black ink writing was still plain and quite clear.

THE MIKADO.

Presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's Latest Opera at Bradburn's Opera House.

On Wednesday night Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, the Mikado, was given at Bradburn's Opera House by the Templeton Opera Company. When the opening chorus was sung the hall was comfortably filled with people. The reserved seats were nearly all occupied, of most of the back seats were filled and the gallery was fairly well patronized. The introductory chorus singing gave a good impression, which it maintained throughout the performance. It was fresh, vigorous, and quite strong enough for the size of the hall. The cast of characters is as follows:—

Mr. Chas. L. Harris, The Mikado
Mr. Geo. Broderick, Poon Bah
Mr. Jay Taylor, Nanki Poo
Mr. J. W. Herbert, the great Nanki Poo
Mr. Wm. Galterson, Fish Tash
Mr. R. H. Dean, Sol Fa
Miss Georgia Knowlton, Yum Yum
Miss Selma Rough, Pili Sing
Miss Hermine Palacio, Peep Bo
Miss Emma Mabella Baker, Katisha

The Mikado, the central figure, is big, fat, and distinguished in appearance. He bears himself so majestically that it is hard to believe he is not a real live Emperor. He carries great weight with his broad smiles, so much so that when he smiles you have to smile also. Even when he gives a low sardonic chuckle and casually reminds the Lord High Executioner and his friends of the doom that awaits those who have had a hand in executing the heir apparent—he thinks the words "bolling oil" and "molten lead" appear in the sentence—you find yourself, though it is a diabolical thing to do, smiling pleasantly over the fate of the simmering victims, to be.

The representative of Poon Bah fitted better to his part than any other of the cast. Poon Bah of long pedigree sits in his very eye and he accepts the insulting bribes with the most graceful dignity. He has a smooth deep bass which he knows how to manage and when he speaks his serious, musical tones remind one strangely of George Tate Blackstock pleading with a jury.

Nanki Poo won the favor of the audience by his powerful tenor, which could be heard soaring above even the full chorus. He took his part creditably.

Yum Yum, though not decidedly pretty, is charmingly evy, arch and naive. She sings sweetly, displaying her little soprano to the best advantage.

Pettli Sing and Peep Bo were both successful in their parts. The only defect in this Katisha is that she is rather too good looking. Her acting throughout was highly satisfactory, especially so in the scene where she is won by Ko Ko. She nurses her contempt of him with supreme hauteur. Their scientific discussion of love is carried on with laughable ridiculousness. Finally she succumbs very gracefully to Ko Ko's pathetic love lay "The Willow."

Ko Ko, the Lord High Executioner, won as many encores as any. In mentioning Ko Ko, a circumstance may be mentioned in connection with his acting. After finally disposing of the love complication by agreeing to take Katisha under his wing, the whole of the intriguers make their exit. Ko Ko adopts a novel stage effect by going out, rebounding from his feet as if they were made of rubber. The audience is thrilled. He is brought back and again goes out, giving another kind of acrobatic performance. Again he is greeted with deafening applause and again he comes back to cater.

Fish Tash and Sol Fa, were each capable in their respective rolls.

Altogether the performance was one of merit. The singing was uniformly good, abounding in brilliant and striking passages well given. The costumes were elegant and the setting as appropriate as the stage admits of.

The Way to Save Money.

C. B. Routley has got a New Carpet Sweeper, claimed to be the best in America. It works so easy that you will sweep your floor in half the time and with more ease than you can with any other sweeper, and time is money. Call and inspect at C. B. ROUTLEY'S.

"Order in the Court."

"I must and will have order in this court room," sternly demanded the Police Magistrate. I must and will have less noise and confusion here. "I have already disposed of three very important cases without being able to hear a word of the evidence." The President of the United States in his message recently delivered, said: We are at peace with all the world, and we seek to maintain our cherished relations with the rest of mankind. Jack and Tom when they first went to school, were asked what were their names. Tom, who was first, replied, "Tom, sir." "You must not say that, my boy! you should say Thomas." Jack determined that he would not fall into that mistake, and when he was asked, proudly replied, "Jack-sir." Jack and Tom have nothing to do with the President, nor has the President anything to do with "Mikado," or the "order of the Court" (Peterborough). Nevertheless perfect order does prevail among the members of Court Peterborough No. 29. The committee in charge of the annual excursion to Toronto via G. T.R. on Tuesday, July 13th, report all arrangements perfected, insuring to all who accompany them on that day an outing of ease, pleasure and comfort. Think off! Return tickets good for eight days $2.15.

A Rare Chance.

The sale will be continued on Saturday at noon and again on Sunday evening at 7.30. Don't miss this opportunity of securing more bargains. Remember it starts this evening.

A Trip on the Dot.

Messrs. G. Smith, W. A. Dixon, J. Little and J. Miller of this town set sail from Belleville to-day with four others, on Mr. Miller's steam yacht "Dot." They will touch Kingston, pass down the St. Lawrence, go up the Rideau to Ottawa, down the Ottawa to Montreal where they will spend some days. They will then go on to Quebec and onward to Tadoussac. They will leave the St. Lawrence here going up the Saguenay as far as navigable, visiting, of course, the far famed Ha Ha bay. They will come back by St. Lawrence, spending some time in the Thousand Islands.

Picnic at Lakeland.

The annual picnic under the auspices of St. Luke's Church Sunday School was held on Tuesday at the point opposite Lakeland. It was intended that the trip should extend as far as Clear lake, but the river was so choked with drives of logs that the steamboat could not get up. When the party of about three hundred got to Lakeland they crossed the point in boats of all sorts and sizes and there remained till the afternoon. They then came back to Lakeland, where the sports were held. The following are the names of the winners of the various events:—

Turf Talk.

Bob Reid has his hands full in bringing into line the horse flesh now under his care at the Driving Park.

There are in all seven trotters and runners getting trained, W. Clancy's "Lulu," J. J. Daly's "Fannie B.," W. Connor's "Clara C.," J. Baty's (Colours) "Tariff," Jr., a promising young horse belonging to Capt. Bottom of Kilmoygan, A. Elliott's "Maggie Roach" and a five year old stallion belonging to Mr. Laughlin of Ottawa.

Arrangements are being made to have a grand summer meet at the Park in August. It is probable that upwards of a thousand dollars will be given in prizes.

Mr. J. L. Palmer has finished a fine etching of the last race between "Maggie Roach" and "Greybird" which shows the finish of both heats. It speaks for itself as to merit—it was an exhibition only a short time when it was bought.

Mr. Palmer has also lately produced a good image in oil of John Simpson's stallion, Lapadist Chief.

The reason given why Maggie Roach didn't give a better account of herself at Port Hope on Dominion Day is that her backer, went prepared to have the rider's weight graded according to age of the horse. This was not done, however, and Maggie carried about 70 pounds more than the others on the field.

A brutal fight in which 12 men were engaged took place in West Brantford on Friday night last. One man was so badly injured that it was an hour before he could be restored to consciousness, and another was terribly punished. The police are investigating.

A NEW DRINK.

Moxie Bites on the Ruins of Montreal Ginger Ale.

At three o'clock on Thursday afternoon the case of Queen vs. Daly was heard at the Police Court. The defendants were charged with selling intoxicating liquor between May 19th, and July 6th. Mr. Edwards appeared for the prosecution and Mr. Moore for the defendants. A plea of not guilty was entered.

J. J. DALY was sworn. Mr. Wood challenged Mr. Edwards's right to act in the case. The case, Mr. Wood said, was one which should be conducted by himself, the County Crown Attorney. If the private prosecutor desired to use his own name as prosecutor he had no objection to others being employed, but when the Queen's name was used as prosecutor he claimed the right to appear for the prosecution.

Mr. EDWARDS was surprised that such an objection be should make.

Mr. Wood asked for the Magistrate's ruling. If the Magistrate ruled against him he would withdraw from court.

The Magistrate did not feel disposed to rule on a matter sprung upon him like this. He proposed the compromise that Mr. Edwards's act as Mr. Wood's deputy.

The proposition was agreed to and Mr. Edwards went on with the conduct of the case.

Mr. EDWARDS—Mr. Daly, you are one of the firm of F. J. & J. J. Daly conducting the Oriental Hotel are you not?

WITNESS—No, Sir, I am not.

Mr. EDWARDS—You are not?

WITNESS—No; we conduct the Grand Central Hotel. (Laughter) I refuse to answer whether or not I have sold liquor from May 19th till 6th July. I refuse to answer any question when my honor is at stake.

RICHARD PHILAN, sworn, said: I am the bartender at the Grand Central Hotel. Not to my knowledge have Messrs. Daly kept liquor for sale from May 19th till July 6th. I have not drunk any of Moxie's Nerve Food; my nerves are in a good condition. I have a little of Triebell's sac-saparilla. Those that drank whiskey before the first of May can get Moxie if they pay for it. This class say, however, that Moxie doesn't hit the right place. I have seen men staggering in the hotel. They also staggered before they came there. They also staggered before they came there.

ALEX. GRAHAM, sworn, said: I got Moxie at Daly's Hotel, May 19th. Moxie is not intoxicating. I got nothing there but Moxie and soda.

JOSEPH LANGFORD got nothing intoxicating to drink at Daly's since May 19th.

DANIEL CROWLEY, who claimed to be a gentleman and a judge of liquor, said that he had drunk Moxie at Daly's. In his opinion Moxie was not intoxicating.

ALBERT WRIGHT said that he had nothing intoxicating to drink at Daly's.

JOSEPH DALY, recalled, refused to answer any question regarding where he got the Moxie or how it was sold.

JOHN MOORE had nothing to drink at Daly's of an intoxicating character. He had drunk Moxie. He had asked for something strong but had been refused.

T. DESAUTELLE had a few drinks of Moxie during the last month. He had ginger ale and soda also. Moxie had not effected him the same as strong liquor.

FREDRICK WIKER got Moxie at Daly's since May 16th, but got no intoxicating liquor there.

CHARLES WALMSLEY had had soda to drink at Daly's since May 19th, he had also had Moxie. He didn't think Moxie was intoxicating.

RICHARD HOOD didn't have anything to drink at Daly's since May 1st, except water. He didn't even have a drink of Moxie.

DAWSON KENNEDY said that a week ago Saturday he had a drink. He simply asked for something to drink. He, and two other friends, got something which he at first thought intoxicating, but came to the conclusion that it wasn't. He didn't know what it was. If there was any intoxicating liquor in it it must have been very very light. He would not say that there was or was not liquor in it.

ALBERT GEDDY got Moxie at Daly's. He was not a judge of liquor but he didn't think there was anything intoxicating in it.

ALEX. GIBSON said he was in the habit of going to Daly's often. With him drinking was a mere matter of form. He considered Moxie an excuse of a drink and a very poor one at that. He had drunk Moxie there.

TIMOTHY CROWLEY did not think that he got anything intoxicating to drink at Daly's since May 19th. He had some Moxie there. It was a very good drink when Moxie better could be got.

JOHN RUSSELL followed in the train. He got Moxie at Daly's etc.

DAVID GARRON was sworn.

Mr. EDWARDS—Did you get anything to drink at Daly's since May 19th.

WITNESS—Yes, I got Moxie, soda water and cigars. Nothing else.

Mr. EDWARDS asked for an enlargement to get the evidence of two more witnesses. The Magistrate did not see fit to make any enlargement. He dismissed the case without costs.

ADJOURNED.
The case of Queen vs. Roddy was adjourned till Monday, and that of Queen vs. Faucher till Wednesday.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—have just received a letter endorsing a bill of exchange of the Bank of Montreal, which was mailed in London, England, on the 6th day of March. This letter went down with the Oregon on the 14th of the same month, and the bag containing it was found deeply imbedded in the sand on the beach near Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, U.S., the bag having drifted up the scene of four hundred miles from the seaward of the wreck. The letter was forwarded to me by Mr. Gilbert Griffin, P. O. Inspector, and testifies to the energy of the department in endeavouring to recover lost or missing mail matter, and to the promptitude with which persons to whom such communications were addressed are apprised of their recovery.

Yours, &c., V. CLEMENTI.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DOMINION DAY.—July 1st was spent as a general holiday by the people of this place. The Lacrosse club went to Norwood to play a picked team. The match resulted in a draw, but the game, when time was called, was decidedly in favor of Keene. A number of persons went with the club. The rest of the people were on the lake or to Hiawatha to see the Indian games, or to Lydie Wild.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. M. Weir and H. G. English are visiting across the lakes. The Rev. Mr. Hughes of Colborne was visiting friends here this week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.—The united Sunday school picnic and excursion is expected to take place on Wednesday next, but full announcements will be made on Sunday.

KEENE MILLS.—Mr. Dickson reports the mills doing good and steady work.

SCOTT ACT.—The Act appears to be working well in Keene, as when any one wants to get on a spree, they have to go elsewhere to get their liquor. This is not in keeping with the stories circulated by scandal mongers who are afraid to back up what they say in the courts.

PORT HOPE.

FINED UNDER THE SCOTT ACT.—Mr. Webster, Garden Hill, appeared before P. M. Haines on Tuesday and acknowledging the infringement of the Scott Act paid his $20 and costs. Mr. William Henry Little, who knew as "Tommy" hotel at Garden Hill, was after Webster's trial, also summoned and fined the usual $20 and costs. Mr. Webster wishes to acknowledge the courteous treatment he has received at the hands of the Inspector and Police Magistrate.—Times.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

As Many Conservatives Elected as were in the House Last Session.

LONDON, July 8.—Midnight.—Up to this hour 302 Conservatives and Unionists, 133 Gladstonians and 63 Parnellites have been elected. The standing of the parties now is:

Total number of seats	670
Number of elections held	497
To be held	173
Conservatives elected	302
Unionists	133
Gladstonians	132
Parnellites	63
Conservative and Unionist majority	107
Conservative majority over all other sections combined	5

Returning received up to six o'clock this evening show a total Conservative and Unionist vote of 994,437, and a Gladstonian vote of 867,725.

LONDON, July 8.—The Gladstonians have gained Cavan, Angus, Fifeshire and Dumfriesshire from the Unionists. The Tories have gained South-East Suffolk, South Lanarkshire and North Camberwell from the Liberals. The net Unionist gain is 23 and the net Tory gain 30. The number of Tories already elected equals the entire number of that party in the last Parliament.

The new Parliament will meet on August 5th.

A BELLEVILLE TRAGEDY.

Attempted Double Murder followed by Suicide.

On Thursday afternoon John Pendleton shot Mrs. Mack, in Belleville, and fired three shots at her husband. He then went into his own house, and when the police arrived threatened to shoot anyone who attempted to arrest him. While Chief McKinnon parleyed with him, Pendleton shot himself fatally. Mrs. Mack was shot in the back while she was on the street. Her condition is very serious and her recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Pendleton, wife of the murdered suicide, is in a low state from excitement. The tragedy occurred on North Front Street, near the bridge over the Grand Trunk, not far from Albert College. The two families had been living on bad terms for some time and quarrelled frequently.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

A Farmer Living Near London Charged with Killing his Wife.

LONDON, Ont., July 8.—Henry Thurlow, a farmer, living a few miles from here, was arrested last night charged with murdering his wife. Ada Pitt, his good looking servant girl, was also arrested as an accomplice. Mrs. Thurlow was found hanging to a beam in the barn on July 1st. A letter left by her said she was tired of life and must die. A coroner's jury found that she had suicided. Yesterday Mrs. Thurlow's brother swore out a warrant for the arrest of the parties, alleging that she had been first murdered and then hung up in the barn. The latter alleged to have been left by the deceased the brother pronounced a forgery, and further states that the inquest was a farce, no post mortem having been made. The body will be exhumed.

Bull Movement in Wheat.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The "bull" movement in wheat was continued yesterday. The sudden change to a season of intense activity from one of settled dullness caused hundreds of members to regret the rashness that caused them to seek a Summit respite from an afternoon session. Not a few express regret that some power was not vested in the President at once to re-establish an afternoon session. There is on every hand the utmost confidence that the "bull" movement has come to stay, and that the tendency will be rapidly upwards. It is reported that the bucket shops are 15-500,000 bushels short to their customers.

Riel the Chief Topic.

SOREL, Que., July 8.—The political demonstration held here yesterday came off very successfully, notwithstanding that a much larger crowd was expected. The following is a list of the prominent speakers who took part: Hon. Messrs. Mercier and Laurier, Hon. Senat. vs. Beaudry and Guertin, Messrs. Bergeron, Desmarais, Cloran, Duhamel, Picaud, Wilfred, Provost, Foirier and Cardin. The speeches were all of a denunciatory character, against the present administration, the Riel execution being the chief subject for discussion. The meeting closed at about 7 p. m. with a vote of thanks to the chairman and cheers for Messrs. Mercier and Blake.

Russia's Breach of Faith.

LONDON, July 7.—The Daily News says Russia's act in closing the port of Batoum is a gross breach of faith, and is most discreditable to the Czar. England, it says, ought not to recognize or condone this action. The News adds, "If Russia continues to act thus, she may find a general league against her, involving an exclusion from international intercourse which she is scarcely able to afford."

OUR CANADIAN FORCES.

WHILE some of the Rielites are belittling our gallant volunteers, and others such as Mr. Mowat's friend Pacaud are stigmatising them as a horde of ruffians, murderers, rascals and thieves, they are more fittingly characterized by a better judge. At a banquet given in London to the Commissioners of the Colonial Exhibition Sir Charles Tupper was entrusted with the duty of proposing the toast of the "Imperial Forces." The London Canadian Gazette gives the following report of the response:—

"Sir F. Middleton, in reply, said that some time ago he had read a statistical account by a German of the forces of Great Britain, in which were allotted so many to the regular army, so many to the volunteers, so many to the militia and so many to the Indian army. Since he had the honour of commanding in Canada he was convinced that there were others who should be put in that list. His task in Canada had been made easy by the good will and obedience of the men of the Canadian militia, and what was true of the Canadian militia would, he was sure, be found to be true of the militia for all the great colonies of the Empire."

Sir F. Middleton is no carpet soldier, he has in various parts of the Empire seen hard fighting, and has personally distinguished himself by his bravery. He is therefore well calculated to judge of the general steadiness of troops and of the individual gallantry of soldiers. Such praise from him is therefore a high honour, and will far outweigh the disloyal carping of rebels and their political allies.

MR. SNEEGROVE has sent to the Mail a letter regarding his speech at the Montreal convention. As we quoted his remarks as reported in the Globe, we give his explanation, which is as follows:—

"Sir,—You report me as having declared at the convention of Young Liberals what I said at Montreal last week:—

"The great majority of the people of Ontario were in sympathy with the men called rebels, but who he believed were greater patriots than the men who conquered them."

"Will you do me the justice of permitting me to state that the latter part of this report is inaccurate? I never said that the rebels were greater patriots than the men who conquered them."

"I am clearly of opinion that such is the case. The votes were given on a certain day, consequently the Act must have been adopted or rejected on that day. It is true there may be a scrutiny, but the result of that was simply to ascertain whether the Act had been adopted or rejected."

According to his own account, Mr. Snegrove's abuse is transferred from the military to the civil authorities. As to which is correct, Mr. Snegrove can settle that point with the Globe. He is careful, however, not to withdraw his slanderous assertion that the people of Ontario were in sympathy with the rebels.

Come with Themands.

LONDON, July 7.—Intense excitement was created in the city to-day by the report that Mr. Edward Harris, of the firm of Harris, Magee & Co., had become financially embarrassed and fled the city. It is supposed that he went to Toronto on Friday. Before leaving he drew $38,000 in cash, but he is thought to take a much larger amount. Several funds in which was interested are left in entanglement. Messrs. James Magee and A. O. Jeffrey withdrew from the firm to-day.

A Young Oshawa Lady Drowned. OSHAWA, July 7.—Miss Nina Pantan, a young lady, formerly a school teacher in this town, left her home early this morning and either fell or threw herself into the South Oshawa millrace, where her body was found some time after.

Diphtheria and Whooping Cough. Kingston, July 7.—Diphtheria is quite prevalent at Bath, while many children about Kingston are suffering from whooping cough.

ONTARIO FORESTRY REPORT.

THE annual forestry report of Mr. R. W. Phipps to the Ontario Government is now before us, and it shows that Mr. Phipps is active and zealous as ever in his conduct of the Forestry branch of the Agricultural Department. His report conveys much useful information which should be attentively studied, and his suggestions are worthy of adoption before it is too late.

The most important improvement recorded for the past year was the establishment of a staff of over forty, at the joint expense of the Government and the Forestry branch, for the purpose of preventing fires and enforcing the Fire Act. The effort made to arouse public opinion on the necessity of taking steps to conserve our existing forests and to form new plantations where required, cannot be said as yet to have had much practical effect, though much has evidently been done already to open people's eyes, and there is some encouragement to continue in this course of education.

With this view Mr. Phipps still perseveres in this report as elsewhere. He again urges the benefit of keeping a part of the land in forests, the moisture supplied in dry seasons, the protection from inundations and the shelter afforded to the crops in winter, both by retaining the snow and warding off cold blasts. The money value of plantations is fully pointed out, information being supplied from various sources, from trips taken by Mr. Phipps himself in several States, reports from other States and details of accounts of the pecuniary results in the mother country. It shows conclusively that plantations can be formed and managed very cheaply, as compared with the satisfactory results obtained.

As to the conservation of our existing forests, though some advance has been made, it is very certain that public opinion has yet to be aroused on this important subject. The interesting report from the State of Maine, under very similar circumstances to those prevailing in a large portion of our own country, shows how easily a great improvement on our present system may be made, even before the time arrives when Canada will be prepared to adopt scientific forestry as practised in Germany, France and other European countries and some British colonies.

Mr. Phipps adds to the value of his report by an almost complete list of our forest trees, with descriptions, use, habitat, &c. There is also an estimate of the pine timber remaining in each of the States, a useful glossary of scientific terms, and that rare and welcome aid to utilizing the information supplied, a very full index.

We have reserved to the last some consideration of the most important subject of all. Mr. Phipps deals with the question of establishing forest reserves, but the restricted territory to which he refers, shows how sadly the field is already circumscribed and how very soon it will be too late to adopt this wise system. It is not a matter that will permit delay. Quebec sets Ontario a good example in this respect, having made provision for extensive forest reserves, where the land is better fitted for agriculture and perpetual forests than for agriculture. What had economy it is to attempt to unite the two may be gathered from many an incidental passage in this report. Burnt timber and poor farms seem to be the result of the combination. In Australia they are now establishing enormous forest reserves with farthest promise; yet, we remain lethargic though it will soon be too late. If Mr. Phipps could succeed in persuading his department to introduce such a system he would add immensely to the value of his already great public services.—(Canada Lumberman.)

THE SCOTT ACT APPEALS.

Full Text of the Judgment of Mr. Justice Galt.

The following is the full text of the judgment of Mr. Justice Galt on the appeals in the cases of Regina vs. Halpin and Regina vs. Daly:—

These were applications made to quash convictions under the Temperance Act of 1878 by G. T. Blackstock. The rules were supported by Robinson, J.C., and Blackstock for the defendants, and cause shown by Edwards for the crown.

There were two questions raised of very general importance particularly as respects the County of Peterborough, and in respect of the first and generally as regards the second.

The first is the Temperance Act is not in force in the County of Peterborough, and the second as to the effect of the 13rd section of the Act as compelling a defendant to give evidence criminalizing himself.

As respects the first it was admitted that the election took place on 24th Sept. 1883, that there was a scrutiny which was not complete until the 1st December. The return was made to the Secretary to the Council on the 17th December. The Order-in-Council was published on 17th December. Blackstock contended that the Act was not adopted until after the return of the Returning Officer.

Edwards on the other hand urged that the adoption of the act is on the day of polling.

It would certainly be singular that the same statute should receive a different interpretation in different Provinces; and if such should hereafter prove to be the case the legislature would probably see cause to make such changes as they might deem expedient to prevent such state of affairs. I therefore give judgment quashing these convictions on that ground.

Two fishermen in Port Burwell had a strange-skinning race. The victor skinned three sturgeon in 4 minutes 35 seconds, and his rival was 8 seconds longer in slaying three fish of equal size.

AUSTRALIAN FORESTS.

In South Australia, as in other Australian Colonies, they have wisely adopted a system of scientific forestry, giving much attention to the conservation of existing forests and the formation of new plantations. Large tracts have been reserved for forests.

From the South Australian Advertiser we take the following extracts from a report of a visit by Ministers and members of the Legislature to some of the forest reserves:

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN FORESTS.

Not long after Mr. Brown's arrival in South Australia the Forest Board was abolished and the department placed under the Commissioner of Crown Lands, with Mr. Brown at its head. Mr. Melville retaining his position as secretary.

From that time to the present the work has made steady and valuable progress, as the following figures will prove:—At the present time there are 139,595 acres of country devoted to forest purposes in this colony, independently of reserves on the Murray Flats, the area of which have not yet been declared. On June 30th, 1885, there were in the northern district the Bundaleer, Wirrabara, Mount Remarkable, Penwortham, and Mount Brown forests, 89,769 acres. Central district—Port road reserve, and Goolwa forest, 203 acres. Western district—Wallaroo forest, 4,174 acres. Southern district—Mount Gambier, Mount Burr, Mount Muirhead, Glenroy Flat, Mundulla, Bordertown, Cave Range, Penola, and Mount McIntyre forests, 45,449 acres. In these various localities the total of lands enclosed for planting amounted to 5,773 acres, which area has been increased since the conservator made his last annual report. Since the organization of the forest department in 1876 the total revenue to June 30th, 1885, shows £50,919 12s 9d; total expenditure do. do., £22,753 8s 6d; revenue last year, £5,202 14s 6d; expenditure last year, £3,028 14s 6d; total number of trees alive from last year's operations, 162,000; total number of trees alive from the planting operations since 1876, 1,300,000; raised by conservation in indigenous forests, 600,000; number of trees reported to be alive of those given away to landowners, 400,000; probable revenue over expenditure this year, £1,900; estimated value of plantations at the end of present year, £130,000. These are figures which speak for themselves, and no doubt when they are presented to Parliament they will occasion close scrutiny, and obtain for the conservator a large measure of commendation. But as to the actual value of the forest and of its real importance to the State, members of Parliament generally have but very vague notions. It is only by a visit and personal inspection that they can form anything like an adequate idea of the work that has been done in connection with the nurseries and plantations. Protecting the natural growth timber is a matter that could be done to some extent by regulations from the department with officers to carry them into effect, but it is in the nurseries and plantations where the skill of the scientific forester is shown, and upon what is done here depends our forests of the future.

TREE PLANTING AT JAMESTOWN.

The visitor who may have known Jamestown a few years ago would find to his surprise its open and dusty streets in the unembraced and pleasing aspect they now present. Tree-planting has been very largely indulged in by the corporation, to whom the young trees were furnished gratuitously by the Forest Department. The enclosures down the centre of the main street, the public reserves, and the sides of the creek all display a very neat growth of forest timber. There are no less than 75,000 forest trees at Jamestown within the corporation plantations, and though their value a few years hence will represent a considerable sum of money, their cost to the Government at the time they were presented to the corporation would not be more than one half penny each. Jamestown is blessed with a stream of water which runs all the year round, and a nice sheet is formed between the railway station and the township where the creek has been dammed back. Forest trees, however, are not dependent on irrigation. If the young plants have been properly reared, and are put in the ground in autumn, or 8 or 10 feet apart at the proper time of year, they will flourish and do well, this being exemplified in the healthy appearance of the trees after the present long dry summer. The owners of various farms around Jamestown have also availed themselves of the chance of procuring plants from the department, and Mr. Brown notes as much value to the country in the dissemination of these plants as he does in rearing them in the forest. He contends that the benefits will be almost incalculable if farmers as a body will plant groves or avenues or rows of trees about their farms. In addition to the protection from the weather which it affords to their stock the rainfall will be increased and become more general than at present. The showers will be less tropical in their character, and consequently the effects of the rainfall will be more lasting. There are dozens of farmers and private people in the Jamestown district who have planted the Eucalyptus globulus (Tasmanian blue gum), and the Eucalyptus corymbosa (sugar gum), which are the two hardiest and best known of their species. One farmer, Mr. Mitchell, has 10,000 trees on his estate, Mr. Crane has a similar number. Mr. Neil about 5,000, and altogether, within a radius of seven or eight miles of the township, there are now 100,000 trees growing, where formerly there was scarcely a tree visible in the landscape. Although the original settlers in the already cut over, the companies now working in the redwoods in the vicinity of Santa Cruz, with the approximate quantities cut annually, are as follows:

Mills	Feet
Luna Prieta	5,000,000
Hptos mill	3,000,000
Ryder and Foster	3,500,000
Olive & Co.	1,500,000
Grover & Co., two mills	8,000,000
Union Mill and Lumber Co.	3,000,000
E. B. Morrill	2,500,000
B. H. Chase & Co.	1,000,000
Pacific Manufacturing Co.	2,500,000
Harmon Brothers	2,000,000

S. C. V. M. & L. Co.	4,000,000
Glenwood Lumber Co.	1,000,000
Charles McKinnon Co.	1,000,000
Whitehurst & Hodges	2,500,000

Total per year..... 36,500,000

In addition to this must be considered the timber cut for fuel and mining purposes. The Santa Clara Valley Milling and Lumber Company take out of the Santa Cruz mountains the equivalent of their sawed lumber in wood and hewed timbers. Every road leading to the redwoods is thronged with wood teams on account of parties not mentioned in the above enumeration, enough to swell the whole annual consumption to at least 50,000,000 feet of timber from the Santa Cruz mountains alone.

REPRODUCTION OF THE FORESTS.

The redwood, unlike all other conifers, propagates itself principally by suckers from the parent stem. When a patriarch dies a thousand young trees so to speak, spring from his joints, the most vigorous surviving. Nearly every cluster of trees is arranged in a circle, the diameter being sometimes as much as forty feet, indicating the former existence of much larger trees than the present, perhaps equal to the sequoia of the Sierra Nevada, where millions of young pines succeeded the scattering trees destroyed by the miners often numbering hundreds to the square rod. If any care were exercised in the preservation of the redwoods not large enough for lumber, the present quantity of growing timber might be maintained, but the lumbermen make it a point to "work the claim out," cutting the timber all away in one season, as the said road is usually destroyed by the winter rains. A few owners are preserving the trees not only for their intrinsic value, but for the benefit they confer on the country by inducing rainfall, preserving the springs, etc. It would be well if more of such men would become proprietors in the redwoods.

Worms often destroy children, but Free man's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

The thermometer is said to have registered 96 in the shade at Ottawa on Wednesday.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

Never drug the stomach with nauseating and weakening expectorants and opiates; Hagar's Pectoral Balsam is pleasant and reliable in its effects, and safe in all throat and lung complaints that, if neglected, end in consumption.

Mr. James Dickinson, formerly of the staff of the Globe, has assumed the proprietorship of the Port Arthur Herald.

The Great Source of Consumption and many wasting forms of disease, is scrofula lurking in the system. The true specific for this condition is found in Burdock Blood Bitters; that medicine purifies the blood and builds up the enfeebled frame.

A SECRET FOR THE LADIES.—The great secret of beauty is pure blood. Eruptions and all blotches that disfigure the face, may be quickly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Annie Heath, of Portland, certifies that she was cured by this remedy, after suffering for two years.

The Government has determined to send a cruiser to the coast of Labrador to protect the local fishermen against outrages by Newfoundlanders.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—There is probably no better relaxing remedy for stiff joints, contracted cords, and painful congestion, than Hagar's Yellow Oil. It cures Mrs. John Hildell, of Orton, Ont., who was afflicted for years with contraction of the bronchial pipes and tightness of the chest. It is the great remedy for internal or external pain.

A USEFUL HINT.—It may be useful for the reader to know that the popular preparation known as Hagar's Yellow Oil has proved a sovereign remedy for deafness, many certified cures being on record. Hagar's Yellow Oil also cures aches, pains, and lameness, and may be used internally as well as outwardly.

Mr. Alex. Kay, of Kincardine, a few days ago found his little daughter's feet sticking out of a barrel of water, into which she had fallen head first, and he just removed her in time to save her life.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cytho Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

A Sensation.
An unparalleled sensation is being created all over Ontario by the wonderful and unequalled manner in which neuralgia, toothache, rheumatism, backache, headache, etc., is removed by but one application of Fluid Lightning. No offensive, disgusting drugs need be taken for days. It is an instant cure. Try a 2-cent bottle from John McKee's Drugist.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil With Hypophosphites.
For Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases.
Dr. J. SIMONARD, New Orleans La., says: "Scott's Emulsion is the finest preparation of the kind ever brought to my notice. In affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, it may be considered our most reliable agent. In a perfectly elegant and agreeable form."

Fluid Lightning.
All suffer from it at one time or another. Neuralgia, can be made happy in one moment by a single application of Fluid Lightning. It is rubbed on the painful part, and with out using any disgusting medicine day after day with little or no result. Fluid Lightning also cures an effectually toothache, lumbago, rheumatism, headache, and is only 25 cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

Don't Be Deceived.
Beware of any druggist who will try to induce you to take anything in place of Mc-Gregor & Parke's Carbolic Ointment. It is a family remedy for Cuts, Burns, etc. No family should be without it. It has no equal. Get McGregor & Parke's, and have no equal. Only 25 cents per box at John McKee's.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

To-morrow (Saturday) at 12 o'clock noon, there will be commenced a great auction sale of dry goods, Ready-made Clothing, etc., at the store lately occupied by the late Isaac Robinson. Immense bargains will be the order of the day. Again to-morrow evening, at 7.30 o'clock, the sale will be continued. Don't let this excellent opportunity of securing genuine bargains pass you.

Landlordism.

Several of a prominent property owner's tenants have received notices that the rent of the George street stores which they at present occupy will be increased in the near future. In one case it is proposed to double the rent. The merchants deeply resent this action on the part of their landlord, and are considering means to fight against it on the grounds that the business they are doing will not warrant the increase. A meeting will probably be held to-night or Monday night.

Peterborough to the Fore.

At the Roman Catholic picnic at Harwood on Thursday, July 8th, our town, through the magnanimity of some of its citizens, again was victorious. There were two prizes to be awarded by popular vote. One was a gold watch and the other a butter cooler. The contestants for the watch were Miss Russell, the local representative, who was most ably assisted by her father and brothers, and Miss Bridget Halpin, who, in the person of her uncle, our old friend Mr. Michael Halpin, found such substantial help that, although she only had about one hour in which to record her votes, she came out far ahead, and consequently returned to town last evening wearing a happy smile and also the watch, while Mr. Halpin had secured the butter cooler.

The Brown Memorial.

The memorial which is to be erected by the people of Peterborough to commemorate the heroism of the late Capt. Brown, is growing satisfactorily in the hands of the builder, Mr. John Burgess. When completed the memorial, which is to take the shape of a public drinking fountain, will be placed in the Central Park. An opening will be made to the Park from George street, half way between Murray and McDonnell streets, and from this opening a broad walk will extend into the Park about twenty-five yards. At the end of the walk the memorial will be erected. It is the intention of a prominent member of the Horticultural Society to see that this Park be suitably improved next year. These improvements would have been made this year had it not been that so much attention was demanded by the Gardens.

Daniel Baird.

At noon to-day the young man, Daniel Baird, of Belleville, who was scalded at the railway accident at Omemee on Tuesday night, was still living and appeared to be somewhat better. The Foresters Excursion.

To-day's issue of the Toronto Mail contains the following:—"Toronto division drilled last night on Spadina avenue and will hold its final drill before the demonstration on Saturday night. Rev. Rural Dean Whitmarsh, Supreme Chaplain, will be in Toronto on Sunday and will occupy the pulpit of St. James cathedral. The Reception Committee have hired about eighty horses for the use of mounted officers in the grand parade. Seventy more are required, making a total of 150 mounted officers. A large excursion of Manitoba Knights will come to Toronto from Winnipeg on Monday. Col. Atwood will have charge on behalf of the Knights. The steamer Athabasca will convey them from Port Arthur to Owen Sound. The citizens' badges which have been prepared by the Reception Committee will be sold at 15c. each. The committee hope to realize a considerable sum by this means to help to defray the necessary expenditure, and it is desirable that citizens should wear them in order to let our visitors feel that they are heartily welcome. It is hoped that the citizens will decorate their residences and places of business in honour of the occasion. The Chicago Board of Trade offered $10,000 if the Supreme Lodge would meet in that city, but Toronto was accepted in preference. Everyone should do his utmost to make the reception a success and give the tens of thousands of Americans who will be here a favorable impression of the Queen city." Get your tickets for the Foresters' excursion to Toronto on July 18th, 1886, via G. T. R. Tickets, good for eight days, $2.15.

Personal.

Messrs. James Alexander, B. Shorty, town, and J. Lamb and party, Montreal, are spending a few days at River Lake. Mr. H. St. George-Slight, who has occupied the position of ledger keeper at the Ontario Bank here for the past six months, has resigned his position to go to Montreal. During the short time he was here Mr. Slight has made himself very popular.

Mr. J. H. Boper, of the Bank of Toronto, has gone to Prince Edward Island, where he will spend a month's holidays.

The Calgary Tribune of July 3rd has the following reference to a son of Col. H. C. Rogers, the postmaster at Peterborough:—"Mr. H. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, one of the new mail clerks on the C. P. R., arrived in town on Tuesday night on his way to Vancouver, which will be his headquarters. He spent a few days in town with Mr. E. R. Rogers, and called on some other of his old Peterborough friends, not forgetting the Tribune office."

Mr. Geo. Stewart, referred to in the following paragraph from the Calgary Tribune, is well known in Peterborough:—"Mr. Stewart, the Government Engineer, is getting on famously with his work of laying out the park at Banff. The floating bridge across the Bow at Moulton's is completed, and looks substantial and quite capable of bearing the traffic over it till the permanent iron structure is completed. The roads are pushed forward, and the whole place begins to assume a more park-like appearance. There are now about seventy-five people at and about the Hot Springs, bathing daily in their health restoring waters." Among the names figuring in the proceedings before the Commissioner appointed to hear the complaints against Spillodiary Magistrate Travis, at Calgary, N. W. T., are those of Mr. Henry Bleecker, who formerly practiced law in Peterborough, as one of the petitioners, and Mr. T. B. Braden, formerly a school teacher here, and now one of the publishers of the Calgary Tribune, as a witness.

Returning the Compliment.

The teachers and pupils connected with the Methodist Sunday School, of Lindsay, are to-day returning the compliment paid by the teachers and pupils of the Methodist Sunday school, of Peterborough, yesterday. At about half past eleven o'clock seven carloads of both little people and big people came to town over the link, or hardly to town either for most of them got off at the quarry and went up to Mrs. Dickson's grove to spend the day in the usual picnic sports. Several prominent members of the Methodist church here paid visits to the picnickers during the day.

Verdict Against Chief Cooper.

At this afternoon's session of the Division Court the Jury brought in a verdict of $25 damages in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Kearns vs. Cooper. The plaintiff claimed $60 damages for alleged injuries sustained, resulting from an assault in the Police Court, June 3rd. Mr. A. P. Pousette, Q. C., acting for the defendant, admitted that an assault had been committed, but held that no damage had resulted. Mr. Burroughs, for the plaintiff produced evidence to the effect that Kearns had got a box of pills. A doctor's bill of one dollar was also produced. Kearns had also a scratch on his hand. It was claimed that the moment's scuffle which ensued between Capt. Cooper and the elder Kearns on June 3rd had completely upset the whole constitution of the said elder Kearns. The assault consisted in Capt. Cooper's trying to wrest the roll of bills which the younger Kearns, just then convicted of having committed an infraction of the provisions of the Scott Act, had slipped over to his father.

Annual Excursion and Picnic.

On Thursday morning a great flock of children, all belonging to the George street Methodist church Sunday school, met at the Grand Trunk railway station on Bethune street. This big flock of little ones was managed by teachers, parents and others commissioned with tutelary powers, the whole party numbering about six hundred. The train was headed and a quick and enjoyable railway ride brought the excursionists to the beautiful Hudson's grove, about a mile from the station. Here the day was most pleasantly spent in numerous kinds of sports, and pastimes. After dinner a well contested list of athletic sports was successfully managed by Messrs. Emerson and Norton. The tug of war contest between the married and single men was an especially interesting feature in these sports. After lunch pulling on both sides for quite a while the married men were at last pulled over the line. The excursion returned to town early in the evening.

A Lake Vessel Missing.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 8.—On Tuesday night the propeller Onondaga, of the N. Y. Co.'s line, struck a rock below Rock Island lighthouse in the St. Lawrence river. She sank yesterday when under way, how up high and dry. Fifteen passengers and twenty-eight men composing the crew were taken off in life-boats to Fisher's Landing. The Onondaga was struck two years ago on the same spot. Onondaga left Ogdensburg for Cleveland with a cargo of silks, cottons, boots, shoes, wire and iron, valued at $50,000. She was a vessel of 300 tons. A hole was stove in on the port side, which is plainly visible. The loss on the vessel and cargo is probably $300,000. The position on the rocks may be such as to break her up very badly before she can be released of her cargo and raised. The shoal where the Onondaga struck is the one on which the tug Conqueror and the propeller Onondaga struck and sank two years ago.

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other Dealers and Millers, a Good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retained at $2.50 per hundred.

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred.

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only preparation in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when their hair was falling from being so bald.
 Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS

As there are many inferior goods, copied with care, and sold as C. Clegg's, by some unprincipled merchants trading on the reputation of our genuine C. Clegg's, we warn the ladies against such imitation by drawing their attention to the necessity of seeing that the name

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS.
It will interest the ladies to know that our principal reason for making such a sacrifice at this season of the year in the above lines is in order to prepare our shelves for the arrival of a large purchase of midsummer

but in the meantime we purpose keeping up
the demand which seems to exist at present for lines of cheap goods. As we said be-

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I shall consider it a favor if you will publish the enclosed article published in Mr. Goldwin Smith's paper, The Week, of the 8th instant. As this is a perfectly independent paper, your readers may accept the matter in said article as the truth related to the so-called outbreaks, the Belfast riots.

Yours, &c.,

W. SAWERS.

Peterborough, July 9, 1886.

It appears from the latest English papers that the origin of the disturbances at Belfast was due to the objection of a number of Catholic natives, engaged in the Protestant, only one of whom was an Orangeman. Being peculiarly obnoxious to his pious fellows this heretic was wanted to leave, and afterwards assaulted and thrown into the river. The day following the assault a number of rioters, employed in a shipbuilding yard, having heard of the proceedings, met for the purpose of the riot, and drove them into the river. This was not, to be sure, strictly legal, but it was very natural; and very naturally, too, they proved too many for the natives, and drove them into the river.

During the engagement many heads were damaged; and one unfortunate youth, of the Catholic side, was drowned. This was

REBELS AND RIFLETS.

THE Ottawa Free Press, quotes our condemnation of the disloyal utterances of Mr. Snelgrove of Cobourg at the Dominion Young Liberals Convention and accuses us of misrepresentation through following the report of the Montreal Gazette. The Free Press especially distinguishes by italics our ascribing to Mr. Snelgrove the assertion that the rebels were greater patriots "than the men who conquered them." We took those words not from the Gazette, but from the Globe report. We have since given Mr. Snelgrove the benefit of his explanation that the rebels were according to him "greater patriots than the lecherous and tyrannous officials of the Dominion Government." And now the Free Press "speaking from direct knowledge" says Mr. Snelgrove's words were that they were "greater patriots than those whose misgovernment made them rebel."

That there may be no mistake as to the responsibility for the first version we will quote the whole report of Mr. Snelgrove's speech from the Toronto Globe where it may be found at the third line of the third column of the first page of the issue of July 1st.

"Mr. Snelgrove supported the resolution. He asked the people of Quebec not to believe that the people of Ontario demanded the head of Riel. It was not so, for the great majority of the people of Ontario were in sympathy with the men called rebels, but who he believed were greater patriots than the men who conquered them."

Thus if Mr. Snelgrove is wronged it is not through any "Tory" misrepresentation by the Montreal Gazette, the Peterborough Review or any other Conservative journal.

We must leave these three shining lights of Rielite and Reform Journalism to decide whether on this occasion the spokesman of the faction slandered our loyal military or loyal civil authorities. Their abuse of all loyal Canadians is so general that they will be at a loss to distinguish what particular portion they vilified on any one occasion.

It will be observed that in these explanations and revised versions not one of the protestors repudiates Mr. Snelgrove's base slander of the overwhelming majority of the people of Ontario, in falsely and insultingly claiming that they "were in sympathy with the men called rebels." To say nothing of Conservatives, thousands of loyal Ontario Reformers refuse to participate in the disgrace into which their leader would drag them, of a political alliance with rebels and murderers.

The Times last night had four editorials, all of which were devoted to making light of the Young Liberals convention in Montreal. The best evidence that the convention was a success is found in the fact that the Tory papers find it necessary to devote so much space to it.—Brookville Recorder.

How very, very successful the National Policy, the Canadian Pacific Railway and other portions of the Conservative policy must be, judged by the standard set up by the Recorder. But the Recorder may want to apply some other test in these cases. Circumstances alter the style of argument used by Reform journals, and even their most firmly established opinions, at times.

The Picton Times says that apart from "two or three variations the Young Liberals are fairly and squarely upon the platform of the Liberal party." The "variations" referred to are independence, prohibition and the abolition of the Senate. Therefore the Times must consider "censure of the Dominion Government for the execution of Riel" fairly and squarely a plank of the Liberal party led by Mr. Blake. The electors of Ontario should bear in mind what they must endorse if they support Mr. Blake's party.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Particulars of the Shocking Tragedy in Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, July 8.—A shocking tragedy, the result of a trifling quarrel, occurred here to-day between 1.30 and 2.30 o'clock. John Pentland, an old pensioner, was an old tenant of Wm. Mack, the parties occupying separate apartments in Mack's grocery building, north corner of Ridley and North Front streets. Pentland some time ago claimed a portion of the garden plot attached to the lot, but his claim was denied. Being of a violent disposition, he threatened the life and property of Mack, who is a cripple, and on Monday he was bound to keep the peace towards the landlord. In the Police Court this morning Pentland charged Mack with having assaulted him, but the charge was dismissed. Pentland on leaving the Police Court, swore he would have vengeance, but no heed was paid to his threats. At about 1.30 p. m., as Mr. and Mrs. Mack were seated in their shop, Pentland approached, and presenting a revolver at Mrs. Mack.

DELIBERATELY FIRED AT HER. She screamed and started to run across the road, when Pentland pursued her, and placing the pistol's muzzle close to her back fired a second shot at her as she fled. The ball struck her between the shoulder blades on the left side, and passing entirely through her body, came out at the left breast, directly above the heart. The assassin then returned to the shop, where Mack was seated, and fired three shots at him, but fortunately without effect. In trying to escape Mack fell, and Pentland thinking he had completed his work, coolly walked to his end of the house and locked the door. Meantime the police had been summoned, and the Chief with Officer Newton, together with two doctors, were soon on the spot. Mrs. Mack, who had been taken to the house of a neighbor, was at once attended to.

HER WOUND IS PROBABLY FATAL. Chief McKinnon and City Solicitor Henderson attempted to hold a parley with Pentland, who appeared at a window when his name was called, and pointing a revolver from the window swore he would not be taken alive, that the first to attempt to enter would be shot down and that he would also shoot himself. The chief told him that matters were not so bad but that they might be made better. Pentland then drew back from the window, placed the muzzle of the pistol over his left breast and fired. He was found stretched upon a bed grasping for breath. On the bed beside him lay a .42 calibre Blue Jacket revolver. He died at 2.30 without uttering a word after he shot himself. Pentland was an old pensioner and had had no employment for some time. He was perhaps 45 years of age. He was addicted to drink, but had not been drinking to-day.

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT FINES.

The Question as to the Disposition of the Fines Discussed.

The Globe's correspondent writes as follows from Ottawa on July 8th.—Mr. J. J. McLaren, Q. C., and Senator Vidal, delegates from the Dominion Alliance, waited on the Minister of Justice to-day in reference to the disposition of fines collected under the Canada Temperance Act.

During the last session of Parliament an Act was passed declaring that all moneys collected as fines should belong to the Dominion Government, to be used as the Governor-in-Council should direct. Messrs. McLaren and Vidal urged that the Government should pass an Order in Council directing that in all cases where prosecutions are brought by Provincial Magistrates the fines collected should go to the Provincial Governments; and that in the cases where the prosecution is brought by private parties one-half the fine shall go to the person giving the information which leads to the conviction.

The Minister said that the views of the delegates from the Dominion Alliance differed from those of the deputations from Peterborough, who a few days ago asked him to order that in cases where prosecutions under the Scott Act were brought by Provincial Magistrates the fines should go to the municipality in which the offence was committed, as the municipalities had to pay the salaries of the Police Magistrates. Before taking any action in the matter he would have to make inquiry as to how the Provinces other than Ontario would be affected by the adoption of either the views of the Dominion Alliance or those of the deputations from Peterborough.

LINDSAY.

FIRE.—On Sunday night last the dwelling house in the north ward occupied by Mr. Farquharson and owned by Mr. Richard Smith, was found on fire. The brigade were promptly on hand, and through the energetic action of Firemen Sinclair, J. Bell, J. Bunting, J. McIntosh, A. Deary, R. Auld and W. Aikens the flames were soon extinguished.

THE THIRD MIDLANDER.—On Tuesday night last while passing Ontario Street, a train ran over a cow on the track. The cow was thrown from the top of a car a brakeman named Powell, of Millbrook. The unfortunate young man fell on his head and neck being instantly killed. On Wednesday Capt. Winslow buried him with military honors. This is the third Midlander killed by an accident since his return from the North-west.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday forenoon last while Mr. Logan was delivering an organ just sold, his horse became frightened when passing Sylvester Bros. Works. They made a spring which upset the organ on top of Mr. Ray, his assistant, who endeavored to hold it. Mr. Logan, too, in trying to hold the organ was thrown out, the horse running into a ditch and upsetting the carriage. He held the horse firmly, though one arm was put out of joint and his right leg was terribly crushed. For a time it was feared the leg would require to be amputated, but danger seems now to be past. We wish Mr. Logan a speedy recovery.—Warrior.

BOBCAYGEON.

LOSS.—M. Boyd and Co's drive of logs arrived on Saturday, and is one of the largest for many years. When in the lake it covered half a mile of water, and it is calculated that the block contains sixteen acres.

SCHOLASTIC.—Mr. T. T. Norgate, Divinity student, at present assisting Rev. Mr. Farquharson, has been elected to a scholarship in Trinity College, Toronto, of $200 per annum, for three years. Mr. Norgate is to be congratulated.

STRAY.—Mr. Wm. Thurston lost a valuable cow in rather a strange manner. The cow was put into a pasture field in which there was a number of scrub cedars, and other trees. On being mislead, search was made, and she was found lying on her back in a clump of cedars dead. Her horns were fastened into the boughs, and it is supposed while losing among the boughs as cattle sometimes do, to rid themselves of flies, her horns became fastened, and falling over she broke her neck.—Independent.

NORWOOD.

DOMINION DAY.—The celebration of July 1st, conducted by the Athletic Association, was financially successfully. Speaking of the baseball match the Register says:—"The Ashburnham team was composed of a very gentlemanly lot of fellows and the game was played in the most friendly spirit."

A STAVE.—On Friday evening last Norwood was well supplied with amusements. The Emma Wells' Comedy Company played at the Roller Rink, Brown's Negro Minstrels in the Town Hall and Misses lectured on temperance in the Methodist church. The temperance lecture was poorly patronized but it was postponed until Sunday.

A PALATIAL RESIDENCE.—Mr. F. H. Birt, the popular manager of the Norwood Flouring Mills, has commenced the erection of a handsome residence on Belmont street. The site is all that could be desired, and the building will equal, if not surpass, any residence in the village. When completed it will be 35 x 37, two stories and a half with cutaway roof, two bay windows, one facing the east and one facing the west, and will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000. The Messrs. Harper have the contract.—Register.

PORT HOPE.

CATCHED ON A SHARP.—Mr. Wm. Douglas, a miller in Barrett's mills, had a close call on Wednesday afternoon about one o'clock. He was bending alongside a shaft that was about four feet from the floor, doing some work and must have raised his back slightly so that a nut head in the shaft caught his clothes. In the twinkling of an eye Mr. Douglas says he was standing in an airy costume or it might be said to be an airy shaft of clothing, for when the covetous shaft had grasped all it could, its victim stood arrayed in the wrist and neck bands of his shirt and one leg of his trousers. That the episode did not result fatally was because the shaft was turned towards Mr. Douglas and was too low to permit of his being carried under it. Just held him pressed to the floor until his clothing gave way. Mr. Douglas says it was as close a call as he cares to experience. No blame can be attached to the mill as the shaft is covered and accessible only to the workmen.—Times.

Two fishermen in Port Burwell had a sturgeon-skinning race. The victor skinned three sturgeon in 53 minutes, and his rival was 3 seconds longer in doing three fish of equal size.

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour.

I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other Dealers and Millers, a Good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retained at $2.50 per hundred.

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred.

BAKERS' FLOUR, (ground from Manitoba Hard and Ontario Spring Wheat), $2.50 per Hundred.

FAMILY FLOUR, (ground from Ontario Wheat), $2.25 per Hundred.

LOW GRADE FLOUR, $2.00 per Hundred.

CALIFORNIA FORESTS.

A special edition of the San Jose, Cal., Mer., an excellent specimen of newspaper enterprise, containing a description of the principal features and industries of the state, gives the following in regard to the forests:

THE REDWOODS.

Eastern tourists find the redwoods in the vicinity of San Jose the most convenient to visit. As it is the only tree of its kind in the world, and the California coast the only place where it grows, our visitors will doubtless wish to know something about it. It is essentially the product of a moist climate, and is practically limited to such portions of the coast range as are composed of or covered by the sandstone of the petroleum formation. In Santa Cruz, Monterey and Santa Clara counties the territory producing this valuable tree is only from three to eight miles wide. It grows in clusters and is not found, like the pine and fir, in forests of a uniform density. Consequently, many portions of the redwood territory contain little or none of the timber which grows most plentifully along the deep, moist ravines. The redwood forests were a wonder to the first immigrants, who had been accustomed to think a tree three feet in diameter a giant, and one twice that a fable, to be told in the same breath as one of Baron Munchausen's stories. When they found trees twelve or fifteen feet in diameter, with a trunk towering a hundred feet high, without a limb, their stories were hardly believed and tested the credulity of our eastern friends, until overwhelmed by the discoveries of their relative, the Sequoia gigantea of the Sierra Nevada.

Notwithstanding the beauty of the forest, the settlers proceeded to chop them down with the same eagerness that they would about a seven pronged buck or a stately elk, until one is about as scarce as the other, though the new railroad recently built from San Jose to Boulder Creek reveals a virgin tract of redwoods. Marvellous stories are told of the amount of lumber obtained from one of these giants. One man in the vicinity of Saratoga built a house and barn and fenced in forty acres with a high rail fence from a single tree. It was common to split straight boards twelve feet long, a foot wide and a half inch thick, which could be easily dressed into siding for a house. It was not uncommon to cut 75,000 feet of plank from one tree. Two hundred thousand shingles, or "shakes," were often made from one trunk. When a tree failed to split freely, it was left to be destroyed by fire, which were thoughtlessly kindled by nearly all who worked in the forests in early days, the victims of fire being as numerous as those of the axe.

METHOD OF LUMBERING.

At first the destruction of the forests was limited to such portions as was accessible to wagons, but as the demand for lumber in creased and railroads facilitated the carrying of lumber to distant points, new methods were invented which made it comparatively easy to strip the ravines and mountains to the very base. This is accomplished by what is called a skid road. As this is in universal use from the most southern point of the redwoods in Monterey and Santa Clara counties to Puget Sound, our readers will be interested in a description of it. A mill site is selected as near the redwood grove as the nature of the ground will permit the building of a wagon road, the place being generally where several wooded ravines converge together. The wagon road is sometimes very expensive, being carried across rocky canyons, or around steep side hills, involving the cutting away of huge redwood roots or the blasting out of hard ledges of rock. Some of these roads are built on declivities where "getting off the grade" means a rough and tumble descent hundreds of feet into a rocky gulch below. The mill being located, then commences the building of a skid road up the ravine to be first worked over. A road eight or ten feet wide is made with a grade as uniform as the ground permits. Sometimes the road-way has to be raised eight, ten, or perhaps fifteen feet, with log rails filled with stones, and the grade is completed the road is laid with timbers resembling railway ties, two or three feet apart, and sunk into the ground the depth of the track. At either end the ties or timbers are held in place by braces extending from one to the other, locked in by bolts and corresponding notches. Without these braces the first log coming down the road would be certain to leave it in ruins; with them a log will bear the transportation of an entire season, or until the gulch is exhausted of timber. When finished the road, with its cross-timbers just above the ground, resembles a winding stair way, and the dense shade of the overhanging trees gives it a romantic and enchanting appearance.

WORK REQUIRING SKILL.
A trip up the stairway a half-mile or less to the scene of active operations takes the romance out of the scene. Great trees are being felled, sawed in proper lengths, and tumbled or slid down to the roadway. Generally the bark is removed from the logs to facilitate their sliding. In case the logs are steep it may be omitted. On a flat road the trees must not only be peeled, but the skids must be greased to facilitate the sliding of the log train, for several are fastened together by dogs and chains, and may be as even run, one log pulling its neighbor along or holding it back, as the case may be. A "bull-whacker," who has worked his team of four yoke of cattle up these stairs with his terrible bunch of beaded things, now hitched to the train and leads an entire team. If the road is well constructed and he has judged correctly of the force of gravity and the resisting friction, he engineers the train safely to the mill. If he thinks the log will slide and overtake his team, he puts a chain around some of them, making what he calls a "rough lock." If the train is too heavy he detaches some of the logs, so the cattle can pull the remaining part. It requires a great deal of experience and good judgment to "peel" logs. Sometimes with all due caution a train of logs will start into rapid motion down the incline. Then the only way to save the team is to lash them into a train to keep them from the logs. If overtaken by the train, the team is likely to be maimed, crushed or killed by being dragged over the rough road. A good teamster, who can guide his team without injury to his cattle, gets the highest wages. When an ox is injured it is slaughtered and dressed for beef. Many of the logs are so large that they have to be blasted before they can be got into the mill. A twelve-foot plank is a useless thing except for a sample of California production, and withal is very expensive. Very little lumber is wanted more than two feet wide, so when a huge log is drawn to the mill it is halved or quartered to reduce it to workable proportions.

Items of Interest Regarding the Peterborough Association.

From the Association notes for July we take the following:

SECRETARIES CONFERENCE.

The last Secretaries' Conference held at Harrisburg, Pa., on June 1st to 5th, was the largest that ever gathered, and according to all accounts was the best. Over 250 were present. The sessions were held in the State Hall of Representatives. The topics discussed were good and the consideration of them very profitable. We refer our members to the Watchman for the list of topics and for some of the best papers in full. The holding of series of evangelistic services for young men exclusively came in for a good share of attention. It is probable that during the coming fall and winter many of our Associations will hold such services. We trust ours will be among the number.

MEMBERS' MONTHLY MEETING.

Probably the best Members' Meeting we have yet had was held on Monday, 14th June. About sixty members came together for business and social intercourse. The chief feature was the presence of Mr. G. A. Kubring, Secretary of the Ottawa Association, who gave an address dwelling on the latest phases of Association work as exhibited in the recent Secretaries' Conference at Harrisburg, Pa. Our brother left a very pleasant impression on our members by his geniality, and they will be glad to welcome him here again. The state of Association finances was brought before the members fully by the Chairman of Finance Committee, Mr. D. B. Gardner. His statement showed that owing to failures on the part of subscribers from one cause or another, there was a deficiency of about $150. He thought that the members present might be able to raise this amount. Mr. J. W. Flavelle, President, then called for pledges, which resulted in the deficiency being made up. So soon as we can get in the outstanding subscriptions we shall be able to pay off all our indebtedness. Several male choruses, and a sacred song by Mr. A. D. Browne, were rendered during the evening, and an hour's social intercourse was had, assisted by ice-cream and cake. Several applied for membership during the evening.

MILITARY CAMP WORK.

It may not be known to some of our friends that, at many of the military camps throughout the Dominion, our Associations go on the field, erecting one tent for a reading and writing room and another one for daily meetings. This work during the past few years has greatly elevated the moral tone of the camps, and the officers are warm in their praise of the movement. Many instances might be given of conversions under these circumstances. At the present time of writing the Y. M. C. A. tents are erected in the camps at Prescott, Ont. and Richmond, Que., the former in charge of Mr. G. A. Kubring, Secretary at Ottawa, and the latter presided over by Mr. W. H. Stevens, Assistant Secretary of the Montreal Association. We have no doubt but that the camps in western Ontario, the Maritime Provinces and Manitoba are also being supplied as usual, though we have not heard particulars.

Two of our workers now living in Campbellford are much interested in a Young Peoples' Meeting there. Campbellford ought to have a Young Men's Christian Association, as it is a progressive place and has many young men.

BURG SERVICE—SUNDAY, AT 8.30 P. M.
This service had an average attendance of 119 during the month of June. The following members will address it on the dates given:—
July 11 Bassett, Sawyer, Albert Johnston.
" 18 Geo. M. Roger, Albert Scott.

Aug. 1 M. Cummings, W. W. Johnston.

YOUNG MEN'S MEETING, SATURDAY, AT 8 P. M.
As our Sunday afternoon meeting has given way during the summer months to the open air meeting, we trust that this Saturday night meeting will not only not decrease in attendance but may have larger numbers than usual. Will each member do his best to keep up the interest. We give below the list of lecturers and topics for the present month:—
July 10 POOR IN SPIRIT, AND PURE IN HEART—Matt. v. 13-8, M. Cummings, Thos. J. Moore, Carl Smart.
" 17 A SATISFYING PORTION—Pal. 107-9, Matt. v. 6, W. F. Hillard, H. D. Adams, W. Adams.
" 24 A WORD TO WANDERERS—H. S. Elv. 47, Jer. iii. 12-23, Chas. N. Brown, A. M. Prior, F. J. Wadley.
" 31 WHAT CHRIST SAID ABOUT FAITH—W. Walbrooke, E. K. Wood.

OPEN AIR WORK.

We began our open-air meetings in Court House Park, for the season, on Sunday after noon, 4th July. The Rev. I. Torrell gave an address from the text, "The way of transgressors is hard." We expect to continue these meetings throughout the summer, except when the weather is unfavorable, at which times the meetings will be held in our rooms.

YOUNG men wishing to become better qualified as Christian workers are cordially invited to attend the Workers' Training Class on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock.

Our parlor windows are now full of flowers, which add much to the attractiveness of the room. The boxes were made by Mr. Fred Wesley, and were filled by Mr. Geo. M. Rogers, to both of whom we tender our thanks.

We have been much indebted during the last three months to Mrs. Jas. Mason, who has regularly supplied the parlor table with a beautiful bouquet. Similar favors will always be much appreciated.

We are obliged to Mr. D. Bellechem for the gift of twelve chairs, and to Mr. E. Courtney for six. We have still need of more, and would, moreover, like to replace the ugly benches in our hall with chairs.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

No More Bald Heads.

Restores the color, gloss, and youthful freshness of the hair; stimulates rich and luxuriant growth; thoroughly cleanses the scalp; prevents dandruff and humors; and is the most cleanly and effective preparation for the hair ever offered to the public. Rev. J. W. Davenport, Illinois Bend, Texas, writes: "Ayer's Hair Vigor, used in my family for several years, has no equal as a dressing, nor for preventing the hair from falling out or turning prematurely gray. It ranks among the first luxuries of our house." Miss Kate Rose, Ingersoll, Ontario, writes: "While keeping my head clear of dandruff, and preventing Scalp Head, Ayer's Hair Vigor has also caused my hair to grow luxuriantly, resulting in my now possessing hair forty-two inches long, and as thick as could be desired." The wife of Dr. V. S. Lovelace, Lovelaceville, Ky., had very bad vertigo upon her head, causing the hair to fall out. Ayer's Hair Vigor healed the sores, and in less than twelve months produced hair a foot long.

thick growth of hair, nearly two inches long, covered my head." L. D. McJunkin, Perryville, Md., writes: "Baldness is hereditary in my family. Five years ago the hair on the top of my head was becoming weak and thin. I procured Ayer's Hair Vigor, the application of which invigorated the hair roots, and went out a new growth of young hair. To-day my hair is as thick and vigorous as ever. I still use the Vigor occasionally to keep my scalp in a healthy condition."

SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1886.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

July the 10th.

The steamer Golden-Eye will run an excursion to Harwood and Idyl-Wild on July 12th, leaving Peterborough at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets, 75 cents.

Hay Cutting.

One of the hottest days this week an old gentleman, 78 years of age, living in the south part of the town, cut nearly a ton of hay, finishing it before 10 o'clock. How does this compare with the O. O. M.'s tree chipping?

Millbrook.

The St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School picnic will be held at Millbrook on Thursday, July 16th. Train will leave the G. T. R. station at 11.35 a.m. Returning will leave Millbrook at 7 p.m. Tickets 40c., children 20c.

The finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

A Slight Error.

The Babaygon Independent says: "Mr. Herbert Rogers, postmaster of Peterborough, has been appointed Mail Clerk between Calgary and Vancouver. He took the first regular mail over the Rockies." Even Mr. Smith sometimes errs. Mr. Herbert Rogers is a son of the postmaster of Peterborough.

This Evening.

Remember the auction sale of dry goods and ready-made clothing, etc., this evening at 7.30 o'clock in the store lately occupied by the late Isaac Robinson, George street. As the goods must be cleared out, the public may depend on getting first class bargains. It will pay you to attend this sale, as goods will be sold at such low prices as to give the utmost satisfaction to all. Remember, this evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

Personal.

In its account of the concert in Norwood on the evening of Dominion Day the Register says: "Mr. W. A. Dixon, of Peterborough, a ventriloquist of considerable note, provoked roars of laughter from the audience in his specialties and the entertainment would have been incomplete without him. The concert was pronounced by all present as decidedly the best ever presented to a Norwood audience."

Messrs. James Henry and Peter Henry, who have been out west for the last month or so on a pleasure tour, have returned to town. Both show signs of how a few weeks' vacation of the hard duties of life will improve the health. During their holiday trip they made Chicago their headquarters. Mr. James Henry will resume the practice of law.

Mr. Robt. Elliott, Right Worthy High Chief Ranger of the Canadian Order of Foresters, was in town yesterday on business connected with the Order. Mr. Elliott is the editor and proprietor of the Listwell Banner.

Agricultural.

A meeting of the Directors of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society was held on Friday evening, to discuss the plan of erecting the new buildings for exhibition purposes. After numerous pros and cons it was decided to build the "annex," as shown on the plans prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher. This building will be 62 x 96, with additions 14 feet wide running along the whole length. The building will be two stories high, well provided with light and galleries. This building, however, will be but a small part of the whole of the buildings to be erected, but at present the finances of the Society will not warrant the carrying out of the adopted plans in their entirety. The main building, which will probably be erected next year, is, in prospect, a handsome, ornamental and commodious structure. It is airy, well provided with courts and galleries, and is well lighted. When the buildings are completed, according to the present plans, they will be a credit to the town and county.

CRICKET AT COBOURG.

The Peterborough Club Wins by Three Runs.

A cricket match was played in Cobourg on Friday between the Peterborough and Cobourg Clubs. The Peterborough players drove to Cobourg on Thursday night, arriving at an early hour on Friday morning. They returned on Friday night after the conclusion of the match. The score was close, the Peterborough team winning by three runs. The batting of Logan, Wilson, Hammond and Ray, of the Peterboroughs, and Trower and J. Hargraff, of the Cobourgs, deserve special mention, the latter making the highest score—35 in the first innings and 3 in the second. Three splendid catches were made, by Dr. White and A. Hargraff, Cobourg, and E. Stratton, Peterborough. The stumping out of Coste by Baker in the first innings was neatly done. Logan (Peterborough) bowled nine wickets for 42 runs, Wilson seven for 33 and Lees two for 33. The score was as follows:

Becher in London.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The World's London special says: "Dr. Parker, of the City Temple, had a platform built in his church yesterday similar to the one in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, as Mr. Becher felt cramped in the ordinary 'pepper box' pulpit. When Mr. Becher commenced his sermon yesterday there were vigorous cries of 'pulpit from the congregation, many of whom were annoyed at the innovation. Mr. Becher, in ringing tones, said: "As to the pulpit, I think about that as Daniel Webster thought, that he regarded continuance of religion in this world, in spite of pulpits, to be one of the signs of its divinity. I suppose pulpits originally were framed after an apostrophic vision of a candlestick, and ministers have been too much like wax candles in candlesticks, hard and stiff, giving out very little light. When a man is in earnest and preaching, he might preach from the top of his head to his toe. It is not the voice alone, but the man that preaches. The pulpit should be subdued, subdued, and Mr. Becher went on with a powerful sermon."

"HACKNEYFACE" a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

A TRAIN BURNED.

The Mails and Passengers Saved With Considerable Difficulty.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 9.—A telegram has just been received by the postmaster from Donald, reporting that the second through train from the Pacific ran off the track near Donald. Several cars, including the mail and the Pullman, were burned. No lives were lost and the mails were saved. A later despatch states that the train was totally consumed by a bush fire. The passengers and mails were saved with great difficulty.

The Cost of the Strike.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—J. S. Delay, a prominent Knight of Labor, said that the cost of the Gould system strike to the general board was $100,000, and in lost wages to the strikers $1,000,000. These figures, he says, are official. The cost of the strike to the railroads had been placed at $3,500,000 by Attorney Purvis and Superintendent Kerrigan.

A Vain Search.

COBOURG, July 8.—Business was suspended here this afternoon and every available craft that could be procured left town in search of the bodies of the missing Lowe boys, who are supposed to have been drowned. Towards evening they returned with the sad news of no discovery having been made.

White vs. Negro Miners.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 9.—The striking miners of Grape Creek are in a state of intense excitement over the report that negro miners are to be imported from Kentucky to take their places, and it is their intention to keep their substitutes from working. Serious trouble is anticipated.

Mr. Samuel Thompson, an old pioneer, of the county of York, an ex-alderman of Toronto, and for several years, editor and proprietor of the Colonist, died on Thursday, aged 78 years. The Ontario Fruit Growers' Association made an excursion to Babaygon on Thursday, and while there closed the business of the summer meeting begun at Lindsay. The fall meeting will be held in Toronto.

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS.

It will interest the ladies to know that our principal reason for making such a sacrifice
at this season of the year in the above lines is in order to prepare our shelves for the arrival of a large purchase of midsummer goods. These will be here in a short time, but in the meantime we purpose keeping up
the demand which seems to exist at present for lines of cheap goods. As we said before, our cheap goods will be new. Remem-

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Foresters' Excursion

Train to Toronto leaves Midland Railway station at 7 o'clock a.m. sharp to-morrow morning. Tickets good for 8 days, $2.15

Adjourned.

At the Police court this morning the cases Queen vs Roddy, and Queen vs Millar were adjourned till Thursday next.

Temperature.

The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock
a. m., 63; 1 o'clock p. m., 75; 5 o'clock p. m., 76.

St. John's Church.

On Sunday at the 11 o'clock service in St.
John's Church the Rector announced that, at the request of a number of the congregation, he had consented to shorten the morning service during the warm weather.

For the next two months, he said, there would be no sermon at the morning service.

Personal.

Mrs. C. H. Sheffield arrived in Liverpool on Saturday afternoon, July 10th, in the Beau-
Montreal on Thursday July 1st. Mr. Romalde was also a passenger as were Mr. Footo and Mr. H. Long of this town.

The Rev. Canon Pott, of Cornwall, assisted in the services at St. John's Church on Sunday. At the evening service he preached the sermon.

A Bad Boy.

Albert Clarke, a boy of 15 years of age, coming from Lakefield, was charged by Geo. Cochran with being a vagrant. His brother and mother applied to have the lad sent to the Reformatory. The brother gave his evidence with such lamentation that the magistrate impatiently commanded him to cease stuffing his handkerchief in his mouth. However, no crime was proved against the youngster and he was allowed to go on promise that he would faithfully and unquestioningly obey the commands of his mother.

A Grand Smash.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says:—"On Tuesday Mr. Ostrom, of Peterborough, was at the railway station here with some cases of eggs bought of our village merchants.
As everybody knows, the eggs are all placed separately in little cardboard compartments, which prevents them from breaking under any ordinary circumstances, and is a great improvement on the old method of packing in oats and chaff. Still, they won't stand everything, and when one of Mr. Ostrom's cases, while being lifted on to the floor of a car, slipped and fell, there was an awful smash, no less than 300 of the eggs broken by 'slipping so suddenly.

As soon as they were picked out a number of boys instituted a sucking match, one of them emptying no fewer than fourteen shells before he was full to the throat."

The New Organ.

Though the new organ at St. Andrew's Church is not yet completed in construction it is so far advanced as to be put into use on Sunday. Those who heard it cannot form a fair opinion of it, for there remains much to be done before it is finally finished, and also because the organist and choir were wholly unacquainted with it.

An Excursion Coming.

The Port Perry Observer says: "A grand excursion to Peterborough and return is on the tapis under the auspices of Warrier Lodge, I.O.O.F., and of Lodge Old England,
S.O.E. Our Oddfellows and Sons of England can always be trusted in getting up a first class enjoyable time, and parties who have gone with them once are always glad of an opportunity of getting with them again.

A Handsome Present.

On Saturday night when the Golden Lion dry goods house closed a very happy event took place. The employees of the house surprised Mr. J. H. Patterson, who was on the eve of his departure to Toronto to fill a responsible position in the wholesale house of Messrs. Wild, Brock & Darling, by presented him with a large, elegant and costly dressing case, accompanied by an address. The present is indeed a valuable and serviceable one, but is doubtless not more prized by Mr. Patterson than the address, which well conveys the kindly sentiments of his former associates toward him.

An Incident.

On Saturday night, Mr. C. W. Sawers, Master of L. O. L. No. 60, celebrated the result of the Old Country elections by profusely decorating the front of his office with flags of different kinds, together with a strip of canvas on which was written in prominent letters the words, "No Hum Rule." The decorations excited much attention during the evening. Before Sunday morning, however, the sides of the building and windows of Mr. Sawers' office were rotten-eggged, and the canvas was pulled down and torn to tatters. It was replaced by another, which has remained until this afternoon untouched.

ing to be contested 51 were formerly held

Unionists and 12 by Parnellites.

It is definitely stated that Mr. Gladstone will resign and that Lord Salisbury will undertake to form a ministry of as liberal a stripe as possible.

Timothy Healy, Mr. Joseph Arch and Sir
W. Ramsden are among the defeated.

The Conservatives and Unionists have gained further county seats.

OLD ODDFELLOWS.

Some Members of Long Standing in Peterborough.

Mr. E. E. Henderson writes the following letter to the Dominion Oddfellows:—I observe by your excellent paper that Grand Master Rev. Bro. Martin wants to hear from the "Oldest Oddfellow," and you also give a general invitation to the Brethren to speak up. In the absence of Bro. William Clouston, P.G., who is now travelling in Europe, I desire to call the attention of the Brethren in this jurisdiction to the claims of Bro. Clouston, P.G., James Stevenson, P.G., and Robert Rowe, Treasurer, being considered among the oldest Oddfellows, if not the oldest, in Ontario.

"Bro. Clouston was initiated into Ontario Lodge, No. 13, on the 11th March, 1844, at the age of twenty eight. Bro. Stevenson (now Mayor of Peterborough) was initiated into the lodge on 4th May, 1844, at the age of twenty-one, and Bro. Rowe is now over sixty-five. These three brethren are to-day active, prominent members of Ontario Lodge, No. 13. I can give some more names of old "stand-bys," Mr. Editor, if required; in the meantime let us hear from other sections of the Province.

"I may be pardoned for mentioning just here that the individual personal wealth of the members of Ontario Lodge, when combined, represents over a million of dollars. This is not for the sake of boasting in any way; only mentioned in connection with the names of our elder brethren in a manner to show younger brethren that, although some of our members are "amazing great wealth, day after day increasing, they take just as much interest in our beloved Order, and their lodges as when comparatively poor in younger days; and it is such men that make our society respected the way it is in this section of the Province. Fraternally yours,"

Forest Forest Fires.

CANILAC, Mich., July 7.—Fire in the wood is burning fiercely, and every one is fighting the flames. The greatest danger seems to be in from the north, and the wind is blowing strong from that way. Having, a small town north of here, is reported in great danger. The water and canal mill a short distance from town is in immediate danger.

EAST TAWAS, Mich., July 7.—Forest fire are raging here. It is reported that large quantities of railway ties are burning along the line of the Detroit, Bay City and Alpena Railroad.
The crops are drying up.

St. LOUIS, Mich., July 7.—The forest fire have nearly burned themselves out after doing an immense amount of damage. The loss is placed at $75,000, besides damage to standing timber which cannot be estimated. No more damage is apprehended. All the crops in this region are parched for want of rain,

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

Jeems Broom, the grocer, is what might be called a cautious and close-fisted man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' if I find anything that suits me better I'll ca' back an' tak' this." Now Jeems is partial to the fair sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm gettin' into years now, an' may as well get married." His business qualities would not let him wait so off he starts, and calling on Peggy Whyte, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Master Broom, that's a matter in which I'm no muckle interested, an' I wad juist leav' it t' yerseel." "But," says Jeems, "ye are interested, by good lass; the fact is, will ye marry me yerseel?" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that offers were scarce, and that Jeems was well-to-do in the world, with a good going business, and some influence in the village she accepted him at once. Whereupon the matter-of-fact lover replied, "Well, weel Peggy, I'll look about, an' if I find anything that suits me better, I'll ca' back again."

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the Jeems Broom stamp, who very often give an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "ca' back again" at Alexander's. His dry goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

THE TIES THAT BIND.

claims of the poor, deaf to the sobs of the brokenhearted, allowing the tempo to go unbridled, craving forbidden pleasures, greedy to become rich, guilty of extortion, devouring widows' houses—these and many other vices and crimes are utterly inconsistent with the profession of godly fear. These never grow to such a vine.

But let a filial fear (God, nourished in truth and sustained in love, reign in the heart; let God be a precious name in the soul, and an indelible factor in the formation of character, and in the evolving of conduct; and what a life will result from His influence over the soul! Not a Herod's life, dark and infamous; but a John the Baptist's, simple, sincere, manly and moral; not a Felix's life, rotten and repulsive; not a Ahab's life, black with licentiousness, and base with moral cowardice; but an Elijah's, bold, majestic and holy. Not a Jezebel's life, jealous, treacherous and full of all manner of uncleanness; but a Mary's of Bethany, refined in sympathy, pure in her affections of sweet devotion to heavenly pursuits, chaste in her purposes, with a Saviour's smile like light resting on her because of her choice of the good. These are the lives that come from the influence of a divine and heavenly fear. These are the attributes that comprise the character of the true children of God.

My hearers, will you not let the fear of God rule in your hearts? Not a slave's fear—not a criminal's fear—being fear like that of a worthy son who would not grieve his father's heart. Let such a fear possess you, and to-morrow—your great day as a society—your conscience will approve of your conduct, for your conduct will be according to the will of God. This fear is the beginning of wisdom and the precursor of celestial blessings.

And now, my friends, having spoken to you of the honor due to all men, of the love we owe to one another, and of the filial fear that leads to practical godliness, I come now to address a few closing words in regard to our duty to our king and country. The text calls upon us to honor the king. Every man should be a patriot. He should love his country. If an American, let him be true to the flag that floats as a symbol of power and protection. If an Italian, let him love her classic shores. If a Hebrew, let him never forget Jerusalem. The spirit of patriotism should glow in every breast. No man can honor the king and not cherish a deep interest in the land of his nativity or adoption.

As Canadian citizens, and subjects of Great Britain we have enough in our history to evoke the interest—enthusiasm as patriots, and I pity that man, nay, I almost despise that man who living on Canadian or British soil has little or no inspiration to cheer at the very sight of his country's flag. What fertile fields, what noble rivers, what beautiful lakes, what vast areas of productive soil God has given to us! All these are dear to the patriotic heart. Then listen to the roar of our factories, the crackle of our furnaces, the beat of our hammers, the hiss of our engines, and these should stir the soul to ADMIRATION AND GRATITUDE.

Better still, what privileges of education are ours! What achievements in literature and science are due to men of our own nation! What liberties in worship we enjoy! how sacred is home! how grand the struggles of the past to give us laws that are just! All these make the subject a debtor to the extent of a patriotic devotion unalloyed by indifference or selfishness, to all the interests of the country.

I am full in accord with these words of the fact when he said: Breathe there a man with soul so dead Who never to himself hath said, This is my own, my native land, As home his footsteps he hath turned From wandering on a foreign strand If such there be, go mark him well, For him no rain-splashed raptures swell; High through his soul, proud his name, Roundless his wealth as with could claim; Despite these titles, power and pelf,

The wretch concentrated all in self, Living, shall forfeit fair renown, And doubly dying shall go down To the vile dust from which he sprang, Unwept, unhonored and unsung.

Now let us not misunderstand what is true patriotism. Do not suppose it means contentment with the past or present. It may glory in much of the past, and it will be true to the good of the present. But patriotism looks into the future and proposes to make it grander than the past. The effort may be a failure; the method may not be the best; but the purpose should be to light the country into a better state than she is at present. There should be no standing still on the part of any nation. Her politics should be pure, her laws just, and her liberties more secure in the next generation than now; her principles and laws sounder and her interests greater in the next decade than they are at present. As a patriot (for I think I have a right to claim the title) I pray

GOD TO BLESS OUR LAND, To lessen the evils of intemperance, to expose and destroy and settle influences at work that may threaten our civil privileges, or religious liberties, to keep us in the proper education of the young, and to build up a nobler race for the future than any who have lived in the past.

And now friends do not these words honor the king! suggest to us the circumstances of the Old Country at the present day. You might naturally expect me to speak of the great political movement in Great Britain at the present time. I do not purpose to discuss the Irish question; I did not intend to take it up else I would not have given the time to the sermon I have given to-day. At one time I was in sympathy with Home Rule—in sympathy with Home Rule commonly defined as giving protection, of course to the minority, in the land which we love, which gave me my mother, and which doubtless gave many of you your birth. And yet after great statements such as John Bright, Gladstone and others—men of such magnitude, of such

MAGNIFICENT TYPES OF CHARACTER have given their varied views, after their manifestos to and discussion among the people, after noting the conclusions reached by the majority of religious bodies in the north of Ireland, I cannot help but think that the circumstance would not justify the adoption of the Home Rule Bill at present, and that the country is not ripe for it. If it ever will be ripe for it. Wisdom is doubtless guiding the people in the use of the ballot at the present time. Doubtless this delay of the question, through the discussions that will follow, will result in ultimately leading the nation to the very wisest conclusion, conducing to peace and prosperity throughout the length and breadth of the country. The tempo of this nation evidently is such that it is unwilling to EXPOSE THE MINORITY to the danger of possibly being oppressed. Certainly there is room for temptation in that direction which it is better to guard against. I believe that God has been in this movement. I believe that He is identifying Himself with the political interests of this great nation at the present time. Whilst we are saddened through the restlessness on the part of some, and that probably there may be cause for it, yet my heart is abundantly rejoiced in this assurance, that the unity of the empire will be preserved.

This is the grandest age the world has ever seen. No such strife

WOULD HAVE BEEN ENDURED 100 years ago or 50 years ago. The spirit of the Gospel is prevailing the nation. This battle then would have been settled by the sword; now it is fought at the polls where all future battles ought to be fought. And I would not hesitate to tell the brotherhood of Orangemen here present that this is not a time for drawing the sword. And if ever a time should come when the ballot would seem to go against you, I would counsel calmness, avoiding all threats of civil war. For believe this, that God reigns; and He will begot down deep in the heart and conscience of this nation such a sense of justice as will secure the peace and just rights of all the people. He will suppress all injustice, tyranny and wrong, and will cause the flag to wave in its power and evoke enthusiasm in every part of the empire. May God bless our nation; God bless our Queen, and save the Empire in its unity, and continue her in her progress.

After the service was over the Orangemen re-formed in procession and marched to their lodges.

THE TWELFTH OF JULY CELEBRATED IN BELLEVILLE.

An Immense Throng in the City of the Day—A Monster Procession—Speeches and Resolutions.

The members of the Orange Order of West Peterborough, and several lodges from East Peterborough, celebrated the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne in Belleville on Monday, June 12th.

Early in the morning a Grand Trunk train went to Lakeside, accompanied by the Fire Brigade Band, and returned at half past seven with the Lakeside, Nassau, Dundas and Harvey Lodges. On the arrival of this train at the Peterborough station it was met by the Peterborough Lodges, and a procession was formed, which proceeded to the Ashburnham station. The following was the ORDER OF PROCESSION:

At Ashburnham station the train for Belleville was boarded, and the start for the City of the Bay was made. At each of the stations until Hastings was reached more people were taken on, the Keene Lodge being among those getting on at Keene, but from Hastings down the excursionists had been taken by a train which preceded this one.

BELLEVILLE WAS REACHED at a few minutes after 12 o'clock. The market square was already crowded with Orange lodges, and people who were not members and the city seemed to be thronged with an immense multitude. Many of the lodges conducted by the Belleville brethren, proceeded to the Agricultural Grounds for dinner, while others went to the Marshes commenced forming the line of procession at the Agricultural Grounds, a work which consumed considerable time. Finally the MONSTER PROCESSION was got in line and proceeded down Bridge street west to Coleman street, north to North Front street, across the bridge to Front street, south to Bridge street again, and back to the grounds. The following was the order of the procession, brass bands only being used. Many lodges had five and drum bands, and almost every lodge had a banner or flag. PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN TREES.

We read wonderful stories of the immense trees one sees in California, but they sink into insignificance beside the Baobab tree, which I found in many parts of Western Africa, principally just south of the desert of Sahara. It is not distinguished for its extraordinary height, which rarely reaches over one hundred feet, but it is the most imposing and magnificent of African trees; many, it is said, are over one hundred feet in circumference, rising like a dwarf tower from twenty to thirty feet and then throwing out branches like a miniature forest to a distance of one hundred feet, the extremities of the branches bending toward the ground. The botanical name of the curious tree in Adansonia digitata. The first in honor of its discoverer, Adanson, and the second, descriptive of its five parted leaf. The leaves are large, abundant and of a dark green colour divided into five radiating lanceolate leaflets. The flowers are large and white, hanging to pendulous of a yard in length which form a striking contrast to the leaves. The fruit is a soft, pulpy, dry substance about the size of a citron, enclosed in a long green pod the pulp between the seeds tastes like cream of tartar, and this pulp, as well as the pressed juice from the leaves, is used by the native Africans for flavouring their food. The juice is greatly relied on as a beverage, and is considered a remedy in putrid fevers and many other diseases.

The Baobab is said to obtain a much greater age than any other tree thousands of years being hazarded as the term of life of some specimens. It has extraordinary vitality; the bark which is regularly stripped off to be made into ropes nets for fishing, trapping and native clothing, speedily grows again. No external injury not even fire, can destroy it from without; nor can it be hurt from within, as specimens have been found in full splendour with the inside of the trunk hollowed out into a chamber which could hold a score of people. One-half of the trunk may be cut or burned away—even the tree may be cut down and while lying on the ground so long as there is the slightest connection with the roots it will grow and yield fruit. It dies from a very peculiar disease—a softening of its woody structure, and it falls by its own weight, a mass of ruins. The native villages are generally built around one of these immense trees, and under its far spreading branches, which form an agreeable shelter from the sun, is the Kofa, or place of assembly, where all the public business of the tribe is transacted. The circuit described by the extremities of the lowermost range of branches is fenced around, so that none but those privileged to attend these meetings can intrude. In thinly populated districts of Southern and Central Africa, where lions, leopards and hyenas abound, the natives live in huts like beehives firmly fixed among the large branches of the tree. On the approach of night they ascend to their huts by means of rude ladders, while the lions roar about their camp fire until the approach of day drives them to their lairs. As many as thirty families have been found to occupy a single tree. In many instances, natives who till the ground at any great distance from their tribe build these huts for nightly accommodation. In travelling through the country one frequently sees these trees alive with baboons and other kinds of the monkey tribe busy in collecting the fruit and indulging in ceaseless gambols and chatter; for this reason it is commonly called the monkey bread tree. When the tree is not occupied as a habitation, the hollow trunk is used by the natives as a sepulchre for executed criminals—the law of the people denying them the right of burial inside of which the bodies dry up and to a great extent resemble mummies. To Europeans this tree is a marvel; coming across one inhabited by monkeys, it is extremely dangerous to shoot any unless one is with a party, for if any are wounded, the whole colony take up the battle, and more than once I found that a retreat in short order was necessary.

My first experience of living in the air was very novel; the first night was one continual growl, roar, etc., so much so that I found it impossible to sleep; finally the most horrible squeal broke out directly under me; it was very dark and being unable to see any object but knowing something was wrong, I threw a can containing water out of the hut door down in the direction from where the noise proceeded, but with little result, though the squealing became fainter; in the morning a small pig we had been keeping and put in a pen over night was missing. What took him nobody ever knew as to how he remained; it only went to illustrate how we might have fared had we been camping on the ground. Having found a friendly tribe who placed their huts at our disposal, this saved us much anxiety of mind, and a few days later a number of them accompanied us a considerable distance to the south not, however, going outside the precincts of their country.

This wonderful tree is also found in India and is there held in great veneration by some natives, so much so that anyone guilty of cutting the tree down is regarded by them with great abhorrence.—American Agriculturist.

Masonic Meeting.

WEDNESDAY, July 14.—There is to be a great meeting of the Masonic grand bodies of Canada at Windsor this week. The Grand Lodge will meet on Wednesday, and the Grand Chapter on Friday. The different committee meetings, beginning with the Board of General Purposes, on Monday, will continue through most of the week. A large attendance of delegates from all parts of Canada is expected.

Traveler.—That suits me. I've unimpeded to many games of ball between the Hamiltons and other clubs to be afraid to get off a train that's only joggling along at fifty miles an hour.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

NO PUBLIC PROPERTY FOR MEMBERS.

The example might be set by a province as well as by the Dominion. If the rule be adopted, it is obvious that it would have to extend farther than the acquisition of crown land. Growing timber is, not less than the soil itself, a part of the reality, and a traffic in timber limits, as well as in land, must be forbidden to members of the legislature. Is public opinion prepared to enforce the rule? Which of the legislative bodies will lead the way and set an example?—Monetary Times.

A CANADIAN OUTRAGE.

The railways running northwest from Chicago are being compelled to reduce their rates on breadstuffs for the seaports. Their managers think an all-Canadian line to the Northwest an outrage, and that we ought to be still dependent upon them for connection with our newer provinces.—Toronto World (Indep.).

WHAT IN THEIR PLATFORM?

The Young Liberal Convention at Montreal, among other things, declared in favor of the abolition of the Senate. Hon. Mr. Blake, at Beverton, declared in favor of making that body elective and thus responsible to the people who pay the indemnity. Which side will the party take?—Newmarket Era (Reform).

THEIR REAL GRIEVANCE.

There are men who, undertaking great things, grow weary and despondent, and who consequently faint and fall by the way. Such are some of the Reformers who had great hopes of confederation, but who seem to have entertained the notion that an ideal confederacy would be one in which no Tory should ever hold office. Finding that in the actual Dominion Tories do hold office, they have angrily reached the conclusion that confederation is a failure, and that it is their duty to seek out some new political condition more perfect from their point of view than the present.—Hamilton Spectator.

GLORYING IN HIS SHAME.

A correspondent writes to say Mr. Cook declared at the Midland picnic, that he "gloried in having voted against the Government on the Riel question." Mr. Cook has much to be proud of.—Orillia Packet.

THEY FOLLOWED MR. BLAKE.

The Young Liberals at the Montreal Convention declared in favor of regarding Riel as a patriot rather than a rebel and voted for the condemnation of his execution. During the late session of the Commons, Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Charlton, Mr. Patterson and other leading liberals voted the other way. The Y. L. convention had no business to allude to the matter at all, and they would have shown both sense and prudence had they resolved about it, one way or the other.—Newmarket Era (Reform).

Slippery Elm.

There is a number of the elm family, the slippery elm (Ulmus fulvus), that is seldom mentioned, although it is widely diffused all over North America, as far as we know, and is one of the best known of all the elm family. Its distinguishing characteristic, leaves broader, slightly inclined to silver beneath, underneath, wood coarser, firmer and more durable, and its foliage more unobtrusive than the other varieties. We have never read a description of this tree and have never known it to be used for any purpose except fence rails, journal boxes, bunting for old time grist mill spindles, cage rounds for "tumble heads" and such like. It is not used for any purpose now as we are aware of, and its growing scarcity will probably prevent its utilization for any purpose. The inner bark contains a very large amount of mucilage that is peculiarly soothing as an emollient to swellings, colds, bronchitis and for many other affections. The demand for bark for medical purposes has almost entirely destroyed the slippery elm in thickly settled sections, and it is now kept for sale in the drug stores. Another cause which operated greatly to destroy this tree in the South was the great fondness of the children and negroes for its inner bark for chewing purposes. Thirty or forty years ago it would have been hard to find a small boy black or white, in Middle Tennessee who didn't have a few pieces of Slippery elm bark about him. It is certainly wholesome and probably nutritious, and in this respect far superior to various chewing gums of to-day.—Southern Lumberman.

Bush Fires on the Midland.

STURTON, Ont., July 10.—Advice from Ravenshoe, York Co., state that bush fires are raging near the Sutton Branch of the Midland Railway. The woods are on fire for miles around that village, and it is in great danger of being destroyed. Scores of settlers have deserted their homes, and are hurrying with their effects away from the bush. The loss to settlers will be very great.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Sore Throat Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer's usage; it induces nature to sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for all the troubles arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Sore Throat Syrup," and take no other kind.

Shortness of Breath.

Caused by death. It is inserted on a tombstone in an English grave-yard. In all probability it would never have been there, if only the unfortunate victim of some disease of the respiratory organs had known of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It is a panacea for all diseases of the throat and lungs. For consumption it is believed to be the only real specific yet known. For all scrofulous and blood diseases it is unfailing.

Field Lightning.

All sufferers from that terrible torment, Neuritis, can be much happier in one moment by a single application of Field Lightning, briskly rubbed on the painful parts, and without using any guiding medicine day after day with little or no result. Field Lightning also cures an effectually toothache, lumbago, rheumatism, headache, and is only 25 cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

A Remedy.

An unparalleled sensation is being created all over Ontario by the wonderful and unequalled manner in which certain rheumatic, rheumatism, backache, headache, etc., is removed by but one application of Field Lightning. No offensive, disgusting drugs need be taken for days. It is an instant cure. Try a 25 cent bottle from John McKee, Druggist.

FROM ALL OVER.

It is said that Mr. O'Brien, the papal legate, carries with him papal decorations for Mayor Beauregard.

Worms often destroy children, but Free man's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

A large gang of cock-fighters were fined by the recorder at Montreal on Monday in sums ranging from $10 to $50 each.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

Never drug the stomach with nauseating and weakening expectorants and opiates; Haggard's Pectoral Balsam is pleasant and reliable in its effects, and safe in all throat and lung complaints that, if neglected, end in consumption.

The Great Source of Consumption and many wasting forms of disease, is scrofula lurking in the system. The true specific for this condition is found in Burdock Blood Bitters; that medicine purifies the blood and builds up the enfeebled frame.

At Essex Centre, as George Dolan, a farmer, from near Cattan, was crossing the track on Thursday, he was struck by engine No. 30 and instantly killed. The horse was injured that it had to be shot. Mr. Dolan has left a wife and several children.

A SECRET FOR THE LADIES.—The great secret of beauty is pure blood. Eruptions and all blotches that disfigure the face, may be quickly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Annie Heath, of Portland, certifies that she was cured by this remedy, after suffering for two years.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—There is probably no better remedy for stiff joints, contracted curds, and painful congestion, than Haggard's Yellow Oil. It cures Mrs. John Siddell, of Orton, Ont., who was afflicted for years with contraction of the bronchial pipes and tightness of the chest. It is the great remedy for internal or external pain.

A scarlet snake, a great rarity, was captured at De Cew's Falls on Sunday, and sent to a museum at Niagara Falls. Snake experts say the scarlet color does not last, and is produced by the reptile eating the buds of the sumach tree in the spring.

To most children the bare suggestion of a dose of castor oil is nauseating. When physic is necessary for the little ones, use Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They combine every essential and valuable principle of a cathartic medicine, and being sugar-coated, are easily taken.

Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this poison develops in scrofulous sores, ulcers, or eruptions, rheumatism, or organic diseases, the suffering is terrible. Hence the gratitude of those who discover that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will eradicate this evil.

At Ottawa on Monday David Menard, aged 18, was showing a revolver to a companion, when it went off. The ball entered Menard's forehead, and he died almost instantly.

A USEFUL HINT.—It may be useful for the reader to know that the popular preparation known as Haggard's Yellow Oil has proved a sovereign remedy for deafness, many certified cures being on record. Haggard's Yellow Oil also cures aches, pains, and lumbago, and may be used internally as well as outwardly.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilburne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

A pear tree belonging to the Hon. James Young, of Galt, has no regard for the proper order of things. The tree was thickly covered with blossoms at the proper time and is now laden with pears. Last week, however, it commenced to blossom for the second time, and blossoms may be seen on the same branches. It means that the tree will soon die.

If any of our readers that are afflicted with rheumatism have never tried West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment, we advise them to do so at once, and be convinced of its extraordinary merits. It is a never-failing remedy for cuts, sprains, bruises and all complaints requiring external treatment. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

For the past quarter of a century West's Corn Syrup has given relief to thousands, and no medicine compound can show such a vast number of unqualified testimonials. Ask your neighbor as to its merits. It is an unfailing cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, consumption in its early stages, and all throat and lung diseases. Price 25c. Sec. and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

The first eastern train which left Port Huron at 13 o'clock on Monday week arrived at Montreal on Tuesday morning, and had time having been kept all along the route. The passenger's book highly of the arrangements made by the company for their comfort.

It is invaluable for Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Rev. D. G. Falls, Dutton, certifies: "For many years my wife has been afflicted with Dyspepsia, and has tried one thing after another recommended with but little or no effect till advised to give McErgor's Speedy Cure a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and can with confidence recommend it to be one of, if not the best medicine extant for Dyspepsia. This invaluable medicine for Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Complaint, is purely vegetable. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottle, given free."

Morseford's Acid Phosphate—Nutriments. Approval of Medical Staff.

Dr. T. J. Coe, Stock, Physician at Grand Sanitarium Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., says: "For years we have used it in this hospital in dyspepsia and nervous diseases, and as a drink during the decline and in the convalescence of lingering fevers. It has the unanimous approval of our medical staff."

Don't Be Deceived. Beware of any druggist who will try to induce you to take anything in place of Morseford's Acid Phosphate. It is a marvel of healing for sores, cuts, burns, etc. No family should be without it. It is unequalled for Gout, Rheumatism, and many other. Only 25 cents per box at John McKee's.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

No More Bald Heads.

Restores the color, gloss, and youthful freshness of the hair; stimulates a rich and luxuriant growth; thoroughly cleanses the scalp; prevents dandruff and humors; and is the most cleanly and effective preparation for the hair ever offered to the public. Rev. J. W. Davenport, Illinois Bend, Texas, writes: "Ayer's Hair Vigor, used in my family for several years, has no equal as a dressing, nor for preventing the hair from falling out or turning prematurely gray. It ranks among the first luxuries of our house." Mrs. Kate Rose, Ingersoll, Ontario, writes: "While keeping my head clear of dandruff, and preventing Scalp Head, Ayer's Hair Vigor has also caused my hair to grow luxuriantly, resulting in my now possessing hair forty-two inches long, and as thick as could be desired." The wife of Dr. V. S. Lovelace, Lovelaceville, Ky., had very bad tetter sores upon her head, causing the hair to fall out. Ayer's Hair Vigor healed the sores, and in less than twelve months produced hair a foot long.

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

Jeems Brown, the grocer, is what might be called a cautious and close-fisted man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' I'll dinna find anything that suits me better 'ill I ca' back an' tak' this." Now Jeems is partial to the fair sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm gettin' into years now, an' may as well get married." His business qualities would not let him wait, so off he starts, and calling on Peggy Whyte, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Maister Brown, that's a matter in which I'm no muckle interested, an' I wad just leav' it wi' yerself!" "But," says Jeems, "ye are interested, by good lass; the fact is, will ye marry me yerself?" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather a strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that offers were scarce, and that Jeems was well-to-do in the world, with a good going business and some influence in the village she accepted him at once. Whereupon the matter-of-fact lover replied, "Well, well! Peggy, I look about, an' I'll dinna find onybody that suits me better, 'ill I ca' back again!"

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the Jeems Brown stamp, who very often give as an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "Ca' back again" at Alexander's. His dry-goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

T. V. C. Lock Gates.
We are glad to learn that the tender of Mr. Chas. Wygn has been accepted by the Department of Railways and Canals for the construction of the lock gates on the Trent Valley Canal at Feneon Falls. There are to be three pair of gates at this point, two lock chambers being combined. It is satisfactory that the contract should have been awarded to a Peterborough man, and Mr. Wygn is well known to be fully qualified to turn out a good job of this nature. Mr. Wygn is starting for Feneon to complete his arrangements for the material and work.

Foresters' Excursion.
The members of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, No. 29, left town this morning at eight minutes after seven o'clock, over the Grand Trunk Railway, on their annual excursion. This year they have chosen Toronto as their visiting point, and it is likely, from the especial attractiveness of the Queen City to-day, that they will spend an entertaining time. The number on board, though not very large, was sufficient to assure excursion goers that at least they were not on a regular train. A run of about three-quarters of an hour brought the party to Lindsay. Here quite a number were taken on, as there were also at Uxbridge. Scarborough was reached at 10:45, and Toronto shortly after.

Fortnightly Regatta.
Mr. G. A. Lech, Captain of the Bowling Department of the Bowling Club, announces the following programme for the fortnightly regatta, which will be held to-morrow evening:

Those whose names are given above have all entered, and it is confidently expected that the regatta, which is to be held off Burham's Point, will be a most successful one. The race will dip promptly at seven o'clock.

SCOTT ACT.

Judgment Resumed in the Condon Case—Queen vs. Faucher.

At the Police Court this morning the case of Queen vs. McFarlane—Condon was called. Mr. Edwards appeared for the prosecution and Mr. O'Meara for the defendant.

Geo. T. Leonard sworn, said: I drew a lease for Messrs. McFarlane and Condon, Mr. McFarlane renting the bar from Mr. Condon. They both came to my office. To Mr. Edwards—The instructions were to draw a lease, the rent to be payable weekly at so much a day. The lease was to be dated from month to month. The reason for Condon's renting the bar as given by him was, that he was going away to work. The lease was incomplete. It has not been completed. It was not signed in my presence. It was drawn up before this information was laid.

Mr. Edwards submitted that a great deal of drinking had been done at Condon's place. He claimed that Condon should not try to shift off the blame of selling liquor on the shoulders of another by means of a bogus license which had never been completed and had never been signed.

The Magistrate reserved judgment until Friday.

QUEEN VS. FAUCHER.
The case Queen vs. Faucher was called. The information charged the defendant with having kept liquor for sale between May 1st and July 6th.

Mr. Moore, for the defendant, pleaded not guilty. Mr. Edwards was for the prosecution.

FRANK PERRY SWORN, said: I was down the river a week ago Sunday. There were about a dozen others with me. We went down on the yacht "Pearl," getting on at the locks. We got a drink at Faucher's. It was lemonade. There was not intoxicating liquor in it.

Eight other witnesses from town were called and gave evidence that they had obtained no intoxicating liquor at the hotel except two of them to whom Faucher had given a glass of whiskey from his own room without charging anything for it. The Magistrate held that a prima facie case was made to put the defendant on his oath. He had allowed his boat to run to bring guests to his house, and while they were there gave them liquor. This was an inducement. Nice lines could not be drawn as to whether the charter of the boat purchase of cigars and lemonade, and the purchase of meals, was connected with the receiving of strong liquors. It might be tacitly understood that this liquor would be forthcoming if a certain amount of business was transacted with Mr. Faucher.

Mr. Moore held that His Worship took an extreme view of the case. If Faucher was to be prosecuted in this way any boarding house keeper might be prosecuted in the same way. Out of ten or a dozen witnesses only two had been given drinks of strong liquor. He held that there must be a sale of liquor proved before a prima facie case could be established.

The Magistrate—Suppose he gave each one a glass of liquor.

Mr. Moore—He might have given five thousand people liquor without being liable.

The Magistrate—What about this man who throws away from the top of the Opera House—doesn't he do it by way of encouraging business.

Mr. Moore—I can't see what coats have to do with the matter.

The Magistrate—I don't think a hotel keeper can give liquor. He does it at his peril. Let one hotel keeper do business by throwing in strong liquor with their temperance drinks and what will be the result? The case of the man who throws in free coats and the man who throws in free drinks is identical. Each do it for the encouragement of business.

Mr. Moore—This is a wonderful stretch of imagination. You are certainly anxious for a conviction.

The Magistrate—I am anxious to establish a precedent.

Evidence was given that the Pearl was not chartered by the party to call at Faucher's. They were to go where they pleased.

Mr. FAUCHER was called by the defense. He stated that he had no liquor on his premises that day. What was in his bedroom belonged to one of the party that went down. He had sold no intoxicating liquor on that Sunday.

The Magistrate reserved judgment.

ANOTHER SACRIFICE.
A few MANTLES and lines of MILLINERY have also been selected and marked down at the lowest possible prices.

THE CAUSE OF ALL THIS.
It will interest the ladies to know that our principal reason for making such a sacrifice at this season of the year in the above lines is in order to prepare our shelves for the arrival of a large purchase of midsummer goods. These will be here in a short time, but in the meantime we purpose keeping up the demand which seems to exist at present for lines of cheap goods. As we said before, our cheap goods will be new. Remember that.

The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock a. m., 60; 1 o'clock p. m., 63; 3 o'clock p. m., 61.

A Narrow Escape.

The Port Hope Observer, referring to the Orange celebration at Belleville, says:—"One of the Peterborough brethren had a close shave at Trenton. As he attempted to jump on the moving train, he missed his hold and fell between the cars and the platform. He fortunately rolled the right way and escaped instant death, by a miracle. It goes without saying that he was the most frightened Orangeman in the Dominion. When will people learn that the time to board a train of cars, is when they are standing?" The Peterborough lodges, town and county, returned on the Grand Junction and, of course, did not go near Trenton. The man referred to was most probably from some other place.

The Turf.

The following letter is published in the Hastings Star:—"I understand Mr. Bibby, the owner of 'Captain Jinks,' is anxious to trot him against 'Lapdiate Chief.' I will match 'Lapdiate Chief' against his horse 'Captain Jinks' for the sum of $250 or $300, to trot the last week of September, or whatever day agreed on, either at Belleville, Peterborough or Woodbine. I will deposit $100 in the Bank of Montreal, and the balance to be deposited three days before the race comes off. If Mr. Bibby is not talking for talk's sake he will put up or hereafter hold his peace. I will expect this match made after so much blowing, or an apology for doing so."

REVIEWS.

GODLEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—The July number of Godley opens its one hundred and thirteenth volume, and is an especially bright and handsome number. The frontispiece, entitled "The Wedding Day," is the companion picture to the one given in the June number. It is a pretty subject well rendered, and is made more attractive by being the subject of an original story from the pen of the well-known author Augusta De Buns. Another pretty illustration, "The Old Story," is a quaint picture of cats, with a fascinating poem written by Mary E. Bradley. The coloured and black fashion designs give innumerable varieties of seaside and mountain costumes. "The Coronet of Thorns," by J. V. Pritchard, sustains its brilliant plot as the story nears completion. A bright translation from the German of E. Laddey, entitled "Found—Not Bought," is to be concluded in the next number. A variety of good short stories and poems complete a number that shows decided improvement under the new management.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil With Hypophosphites.

For Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases.

Dr. J. SIMONARD, New Orleans La., says:—"Scott's Emulsion is the finest preparation of the kind ever brought to my notice. In affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we may consider it our most reliable agent, in a perfectly elegant and agreeable form."

INTERESTING READING.

A Devastating Army.

FARGO, D. T., July 13.—On Sunday afternoon an immense crowd of grasshoppers settled down on a wheat field in the vicinity of Sanborn, on the Northern Pacific Railway. In a very short time it was cleared of every vestige of wheat and several other fields were partially swept. About sunset the "hoppers" flew south-west.

Willful Murder by Drowning.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 13.—At the inquest to-day at Bridgewater the jury brought in a verdict that Stephen McConnell came to his death by drowning, having been willfully thrown over the boom into the water of the LaHave River by Joseph Fenner, of Summerside near Bridgewater. Fenner is now in jail.

An Old Man Drowned.

BRIDGEWATER, N.S., July 12.—As one Connell, an old man, was crossing a mill boom in the LaHave River on his way home to tea he was thrown into the water by a young man named Joe Fenner. When he rose to the surface he stretched his arms appealingly towards Fenner, but the latter rendered him no assistance and he sank to the bottom.

Inoculation Abandoned.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Dr. Mott's experiment of inoculating the seven year old son of Dr. Wm. H. Newell, of Jersey City, to prevent the boy from getting hydrophobia, has been abandoned. The little fellow was inoculated four times, and after each operation became seriously ill. His nervous system varied with the disturbance of his eyes and fingers twitched and the action of the heart was affected. Dr. Mott says the experiments were abandoned on account of the boy's ill health. He said that he could not afford to continue inoculating dog bitten persons unless the public came to his support.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

LONDON, July 13.—Lord Hartington has arrived in London. Lord Salisbury will return here on Friday, and will confer with Lord Hartington and other Unionists on Monday. An agreement has been arrived at by which Lord Salisbury accepts Lord Hartington's Home Rule policy, which involves the maintenance of the full powers of the Imperial parliament. By it the power conferred on local councils in Ireland are delegated, not surrendered, by parliament, which body receives the right to control and revise the action of the councils. The appointment of judges and legal administration are centred in the Imperial parliament. Lord Hartington is still reluctant to join a Conservative ministry, although he has pledged himself to support coercive measures and the general policy of the Conservatives.

Many persons were injured and sent to the hospital.

THE HUNGARIAN CROPS.

PESTH, July 13.—The official report of the prospects of the crops in Hungary estimates the yield of wheat at 28 per cent of the average. In 1885 the yield was 21 per cent. The prospects are excellent for rye and oats, but bad for barley.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Gen. Middleton's Good Opinion of the Canadian Volunteers.

At the banquet given by the Georges Club to the members of the Royal Commission and Executive Commissions of the Colonial Exhibition, Sir Charles Tupper proposed the toast of the "Imperial Forces." Sir F. Middleton, in reply, said that some time ago he had read a statistical account by a German of the forces of Great Britain, in which were allotted so many to the regular army, so many to the volunteers, so many to the militia, and so many to the Indian army. Since he had had the honour of commanding in Canada he was convinced that there were others who should be put in the list. His task in Canada had been made easy by the goodwill and obedience of the men of the Canadian Militia; and what was true of the Canadian Militia would, he was sure, be found to be true of the militia of all the great Colonies of the Empire. Lieutenant-Colonel T. H. Grant responded for the "Reserve Forces." The Hon. Hector Fabre was, among others, present at the banquet. The Montreal Star's correspondent writes from London:—"All reports to the contrary notwithstanding, I am prepared to assert with all sincerity that that portion of the exhibition allotted to Canada is in a far more forward state to-day than that of any of her sister colonies, and has been so from the moment the Queen opened its doors to the public in the beginning of last month. True, at that time shipments of goods were upon the seas, but it must be remembered that the space allotted to Canada, owing to the excess of its exhibits over most all the other colonies combined, had already become so valuable that it had been dealt out in homoeopathic doses, as it were, and the few tons that were on the way, unavoidably detained by action of the wind and waves, were not missed in the vacant spaces which were extremely limited. I allude to this misrepresentation at the onset, because the report originated in a journal not in accord with the Canadian Government, and it has been ardently circulated throughout the Dominion."

SCOTT ACT TROUBLES.

Outrages Committed at Smith's Falls and Hastings.

SMITH'S FALLS, July 13.—The stables and outbuilding belonging to Wm. Graham, license commissioner, were burnt this morning. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary. The building was completely destroyed, together with a horse and other contents. The loss is about $600. In endeavoring to save the horse Mr. Graham was seriously burned that he now lies in a critical condition. Mr. Graham is the man through whom information has been given to the license inspector of breaches of the Scott Act.

HASTINGS, July 13.—This village has become most notorious since the passage of the Scott Act. On Saturday night the glass was broken in the store windows of Mr. G. T. Jackson and Mr. J. W. Doucet, and Constable Striker had two plow stoles, as well as damage done to their property. Last night A. C. Hupkes, J. P., before whom cases of infractions of the law have been tried, had his orchard totally destroyed by some persons, who stripped the bark from every tree. Excitement runs high, and efforts are being made to secure evidence against the parties suspected.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.

Attempt to Wreck a Train Conveying Ottawa Orangemen.

OTTAWA, July 13.—On the Canada Atlantic Railway this morning, a train bringing the Ottawa Orangemen from Kingston back to the capital, suddenly came to a halt between Casselman and Cumberland. It was found that some microbots had placed two ties across the track and secured the same by means of boulders. The engineer on the look out fortunately discovered the obstruction in time. No arrests have been yet made.

EARTHQUAKES IN NEW ZEALAND.

Remarkably Awful Visitations—Graphic Description of the Scenes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The steamer Alamada, from Australia, brings particulars of the fearful volcanic eruptions in New Zealand of last month. The first reports of volcanic disturbances came from Taurogus, in the Auckland Lake district. The natives of that village were awakened from sleep at two a.m. by repeated vivid flashes of lightning, which continued at rapid intervals up to four a.m., when a tremendous earthquake occurred, followed quickly by others. The shocks were so violent that people jumped from bed, and, paralyzed with terror, fled for their lives in their nightclothes, taking nothing with them but one another. The earthquake followed one another in quick succession up to seven o'clock in the morning, when leaden-colored clouds were observed advancing from the south, spreading out until they covered the sky. While still moving they burst with a sound of thunder and showers of fine dust began falling. Accounts from other points state that Mount Tarawera was the first volcano to erupt, and that the entire Paeroa range of mountains belched forth in sympathy, hurling flames, burning lava and stones over the surrounding country. For the first time the extinct volcano of Kuapehu was awakened into activity. The entire country over an area of one hundred and twenty miles long by twenty in breadth, was nothing but a mass of flame and hot crumbling soil, which in places rose to a height of 4,000 feet, capped at the highest point by the Tekapo Geyser, said to have been one of the grandest in the world. During all this time showers of dust continued to fall until they became so dense as to make day dark at night, and not until the second day did the dust cease falling. The dust emitted a strong sulphurous smell. Numerous small villages were totally destroyed. Water was covered to the depth of ten feet with dust and ashes. Rahitohia was completely engulfed, as were also some other small villages. One hundred and twenty persons are known to have lost their lives, among whom were several English residents. The loss of cattle started to death from the destruction of pasture lands by the dust is very great. Great distress exists throughout the Auckland Lake District.

GOT THROUGH IN A BARREL.

A Buffalo Man Successfully Rode the Niagara Whirlpool and Rapids.

PROSPECT HOUSE, Niagara Falls, July 11.—Considerable curiosity was manifested here to-day through the announcement that C. D. Graham, of Buffalo, would run Niagara's famous rapids and whirlpool in a barrel specially made for the occasion. It was in these waters that the late Captain Webb made his fatal swim. About four o'clock this afternoon Graham made his appearance at the old Maid-of-the-Mist landing, a little above the old Suspension Bridge, and entered the barrel which was seven feet long and six feet wide, connected, weighted with ballast. The barrel was towed by a rowboat out into the river, and in a few moments the swift current caught him and drifted him into the fearful rapids. The barrel with its human freight was tossed about like a cork in the angry breakers and shot the rapids with lightning speed. A few minutes later Graham appeared in the whirlpool. He opened the lid of the barrel, took a hurried survey of his situation, and closed it down again. The barrel then made circuit at the pool on the Canadian side, shot out again into the rapids, and continued down the river through Foster's rapids, and was lost to the view of the spectators this evening. Graham announced this as a trial trip, and said if safely made he would make others under regular advertisement. He expressed himself very tired and his nerves very much unstrung. His voyage was hard one, as he felt himself badly shaken up pounding over the rocks going through the rapids.—Mail.

DUNCAN C. ROSS ARRESTED.

An Exhibition of Brutal Ferocity at a Mounted Sword Contest.

A Washington despatch says:—Duncan C. Ross, the athlete, was arrested here to-day for brutally assaulting Sgt. Walsh, his competitor in a mounted sword contest exhibition. The contest was a very tame one. Walsh appeared to be the better of the swordsmen and had the sympathy of the audience. Every point he made was loudly cheered, while the scores made by Ross were unheeded. At the second round, however, and when the contestants were ordered to retire after the ninth round instead of doing so, Ross rushed at his adversary, savagely cutting him right and left with his sword. The force of his attack was such that Walsh's horse was thrown down, and fell on top of his rider, who was knocked senseless by the blows from his assailant's sword. The audience called on the police present to arrest Ross and several officers pulled him from his horse and took him to the police station, where he was afterwards released on bail. Walsh was carried to his dressing room and restored to consciousness, when it was found that he was not seriously injured.

SIR JOHN AT WINNIPEG.

Arrival of the Premier and Lady Macdonald—Sir John in Good Health.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 13.—Sir John Macdonald and lady arrived this morning. A large number of people were at the depot who cheered the party, but there were no formal proceedings, owing to the shortness of the notice. There will be arranged for later on Sir John and Lady Macdonald proceeded at once to Government House. They will remain in the city for two or three days before proceeding west, but a definite programme has not been arranged. The City Council and the Conservatives will each do something formal. Sir John declares himself pleased with the trip and impressed with the magnitude of the work on the line east of here. He says he is in good health at present, though he has been suffering lately from sciatica.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—June in all its beauty, with flowery dells, fields once more covered with the needs of man, with animal and insect life in full force and vigor, has again bid us good-bye till time in its never ceasing revolutions bring it once more around in all its loveliness. But how many now seeing its departure will never see its return it is impossible for us to comprehend. During the beginning of the month the temperature was of medium nature, but on the 12th a change took place, followed by a few days of very hot weather. At 3 p.m. on the 13th the thermometer stood at 89 degrees in the shade; on the 14th at 91 degrees; on the 15th at 91 degrees; and on the 16th at 91 degrees when it again returned to a more comfortable state, the average temperature of the month being 59.30th deg. Rain fell on 12 days, to the depth of 3 inches, being slightly above the June average. There was thunder on 5 days; one severe storm on the 25th, the lightning doing considerable damage throughout the country. There was white frost on the mornings of the 4th and 18th, and fog on one morning. Clover was first in bloom on the 6th; timothy headed out on the 14th, and other crops in their turn showing their welcome appearance. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, namely, south-west, 8 days; west, 4 days; north-west, 3 days; north, 2 days; east, 2 days; south-east, 1 day; and south, 5 days.

THE VOTERS' LIST.—On Thursday, July 8th, His Hon. Judge Weller held a court in our Town Hall for the final revision of our voters list. Nine Reformers and one Conservative were added, 3 Reformers struck from the list and 2 applications rejected with some minor changes regarding description of lots, etc. Three Conservatives were added at the preliminary court, so it leaves us much the same numerically as our original list. Mr. G. W. Hatton attended in behalf of the Conservatives and Mr. W. A. Stratton on behalf of the Reformers. Everyone was fully satisfied with the just and fair proceedings of the Court.

HOT SPELL.—Another hot spell has been all the go lately and on the 8th crowned the climax at 3 p.m., the thermometer reaching 92 in the shade.

COBOURG.

A WEAVER VAG.—A woman respectably dressed was arrested here on Monday as a vagrant. Upon being searched at the police office it was found that her wealth amounted to over one hundred dollars in cash. She was brought before Magistrate Dumble, who fined her five dollars, and instructed her to leave town or she would have to go to jail.

STOLEN GOODS FOUND.—The silverware that was stolen from the residence of Councilor Dainty about a month ago has been discovered by men who were engaged in cutting grass and weeds aside of the Grand Trunk railway. The stolen property was all found under a culvert where, it is thought, the thieves had secreted it until the material had been dropped. Mr. Dainty has been very lucky in recovering his valuables.

A Policy of Vigor.

LONDON, July 12.—Negotiations between Lord Hartington and Lord Salisbury are in progress. It is reported that Lord Hartington has pledged himself to support Lord Salisbury's Local Government Bill and to reject all proposals of Mr. Gladstone. If Mr. Gladstone remains in office the first move of the Unionists will be a vote of want of confidence. In a speech foretelling the Conservative policy, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach said the first measure would be to suppress the Irish National League, exercise the closure and suspend the Irish obstructionists. He said the policy of the new government would be one of vigor.

The 15th in Ireland.

DUBLIN, July 12.—An Orange soiree was given in the rotunda this evening and was attended by two thousand persons. The hall was guarded by police. Thousands of Nationalists surrounded the building. Many placards were posted with the inscription: "We will pay you Orange dogs a shilling a head, the one shilling debt which Ireland all owes bragging of the Boycott." At Armagh Mayor Baunderson presided over a gathering of 2000 enthusiastic Orangemen. There was afterward a procession, the route of which was lined by 600 police and soldiers. Business was suspended.

Embarassing a Resident of Canada.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—In the House the Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of State, touching the House Bill to reimburse Jean Louis Legare for services rendered and money expended in bringing into the United States and procuring the surrender of Sitting Bull and a number of his followers. Legare is a resident of Wood Mountain district, Canada, and his petition is transmitted by the British Minister. Major Brotherton, the United States officer, who received the surrender, endorses the claim, which amounts to $13,412.

FROM ALL OVER.

The Porte has issued orders to have the army placed on a peace footing.

Worms often destroy children, but Free man's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A CHYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. D. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

The Canadian Pacific telegraph system north of Lake Superior is expected to be open within a week or two.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

Never drag the stomach with nauseating and weakening expectorants and opiates; Hagar's Pectoral Balsam is pleasant and reliable in its effects, and safe in all throat and lung complaints that, if neglected, and in consumptions.

The steamship Benona, wrecked in a fog on Saturday at midnight at Asper Bay, will be a total loss. The crew were saved.

The Great Source of Consumption and many wasting forms of disease, is scrofula lurking in the system. The true specific for this condition is found in Burdock Blood Bitters; this medicine purifies the blood and builds up the enfeebled frame.

A SECRET FOR THE LADIES.—The great secret of beauty is pure blood. Eruptions and all blotches that disfigure the face, may be quickly cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Annie Heath, of Portland, certifies that she was cured by this remedy, after suffering for two years.

Last week no fewer than 113 deaths of children under five years old occurred in Montreal out of a total mortality of 157.

WORMS REMOVED.—There is probably no better relaxing remedy for stiff joints, contracted cords, and painful congestion, than Hagar's Yellow Oil. It cured Mrs. John Siddall, of Orion, Ont., who was afflicted for years with contraction of the bronchial pipes and tightness of the chest. It is the great remedy for internal or external pain.

To most children the bare suggestion of a dose of castor oil is nauseating. When physic is necessary for the little ones, use Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They combine every essential and valuable principle of a cathartic medicine, and being sugar-coated, are easily taken.

Krupp has contracted to supply China with a million and a half tons of rails at a price twenty-five per cent. below the lowest English offer.

Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this poison develops in scrofulous sores, ulcers, or eruptions, rheumatism, or organic diseases, the suffering is terrible. Hence the gratitude of those who discover that Ayer's Sarsaparilla will eradicate this evil.

A USEFUL HINT.—It may be useful for the reader to know that the popular preparation known as Hagar's Yellow Oil has proved a sovereign remedy for deafness, many certified cures being on record. Hagar's Yellow Oil also cures scabies, psoriasis, and lameness, and may be used internally as well as outwardly.

The London papers are fairly unanimous in insisting upon the resignation of Mr. Gladstone without waiting for an adverse vote of the House.

A FORGOTTEN ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

If any of our readers that are afflicted with rheumatism have never tried West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment, we advise them to do so at once, and be made happy by its extraordinary merits. It is a never-failing remedy for cuts, sprains, bruises and all complaints requiring external treatment. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Russia in future will not confer orders or decorations on British, American or Swiss subjects, because their respective governments do not decorate Russian subjects.

For the past quarter of a century West's Cough Syrup has given relief to thousands, and no medicine compounded can show such a vast number of unsolicited testimonials. Dr. T. G. COMPTON, Physician at Good Samaritan Hospital, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "For years we have used it in this hospital in dyspepsia and nervous diseases, and as a drink during the decline of the convalescence of lingering fevers. It has the unanimous approval of our medical staff."

"Shortness of breath caused my death." Is inscribed on a tombstone in an English graveyard. In all probability it would never have been necessary, if only the poor unfortunate victim of scrofula had used the respiratory organs had known of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a panacea for all diseases of the blood and lungs. For consumption it is believed to be the only real specific yet known. For all scrofulous and blood diseases it is unfailing.

DUNN'S BAKING POWDER

THE COOK'S BEST FRIEND

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

James Pross, the grocer, is what might be called a cautious and close-fisted man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' I'll ca' back an' tak' this." Now James is partial to the fair sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm gettin' into years now, an' may as well get married." His business qualities would not let him wait so off he starts, and calling on Peggy White, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Maister Pross, that's a matter in which I'm no use, muckie interested, an' I wad just leav' it to ye!" "But," says James, "ye are interested, by good lass; the fact is, will ye marry me yet?" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather a strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that James was a grocer, and that James was well-to-do in the world, with a good going business and some influence in the village she accepted him at once. Whereupon the matter-of-fact lover replied, "Well, Maister Pross, I'll look about, an' I'll ca' back on yonny that suits me better, I'll ca' back again!"

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the James Pross type who very often give an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "Ca' back again" at Alexander's. His dry-goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

Nassau Took the Cake.

The Belleville Ontario says:—"Douro Lodge, No. 457, took the cake for fine looking men. They were all tall, dressed in white vests with black pants, and each sported a glossy tile. The Nassau Lodge certainly presented a very fine appearance, and the exclamations of admiration that were heard along the line of march showed that the Ontario's opinion was shared by the thousands who saw the procession."

Not Altogether Correct.

The Belleville Ontario of July 12th says:—"Owing to delay of the special train from Peterborough thereby detaining several lodges the procession was not formed until long after the advertised time." This is not quite correct. It was announced previously to the 12th that the last train was expected at 10 o'clock. The Peterborough train reached the market square at 10 minutes past 12, and it was not the last train that arrived.

Having a Holiday.

Mr. D. Belleghem's employees, like Mr. D. Belleghem himself, are wide awake enough to take advantage of any favorable opportunity presenting itself. To-day, when some chronics are growling about gloomy weather, they, armed with all sorts of delusive bait, are off to Stoney Lake to haul out the flopping beauties. Mr. Belleghem not having any overseeing to do is taking things easy. He contents himself, in listening to the stories told by clever witted drummers, who are, by the way, always anxious to sell to Belleghem because they know he's solid.

David Beard's Funeral.

The Belleville Intelligencer of July 12th says:—"The funeral of the late Daniel Beard, fireman on the Grand Trunk Railway, took place yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Sons of England Society. Oxford Lodge was well represented, and the employees of the Grand Trunk Company, with whom the deceased was highly esteemed, turned out in large numbers. Funeral services were conducted at Christ Church by Rev. E. W. Ribbald, when the body was carried to the steamer Mary Ethel, which was in waiting at the ferry slip, and conveyed to the cemetery for interment. The boat was heavily loaded when she left the dock."

Midland Railway Extension.

A despatch from Ottawa to the Globe on July 12th says:—"It is reported here that one of the objects of Mr. William Wainwright's visit to England is to make arrangements for the extension of the Midland Railway system to Sault Ste. Marie, and that the Grand Trunk directors propose to extend the Midland road east to Ottawa over the old Toronto and Ottawa route. A part of this road is already graded, and most of the right-of-way secured. The extension of the Midland system to Perth and Ottawa, making connection with the Canadian Atlantic here, would give the Grand Trunk two lines between Toronto and Montreal."

The Market.
To-day's rain may have a good effect on future markets but as for this morning's it had a very bad effect. The square was barely punctuated with wagons, and the attendance at the butter and egg market was much smaller than usual. A quantity of fruit was offered, selling as follows:—black currants, 10 cents per quart; red and white currants from 8 to ten cents per quart; gooseberries, 9 cents per quart; raspberries $1.00 per bushel; fowl was scarce selling at slightly higher prices. Butter sold at 15 cents per pound; and eggs at 11 cents per dozen.

Tennis.

Out of the couple dozen tennis players who entered into the competition for the H. A. Hammond medal only three now remain to dispute the honor of winning it. The first two primary draws have been finished and the third is almost closed. At the latter part of the third draw there were some very close contests, notably between Messrs. Carter and Geale on Saturday evening. These draws were won by Messrs. Peck and Geale by only a few points. Mr. Betalack, who is the bye in this draw, and Mr. Geale, will play off on Friday. The day for the final draw has not yet been agreed upon.

Reverend's Resolution.

Mr. Richard Reeves, who has been identified with base ball interests in Peterborough, for the last few years, has become tired, and feels quite unwell over the record which the Peterboroughs have made this year. He now proposes to import a nine from Bridgton, Douro, Toronto, and other points, for the express purpose of taking in Lindsay, Uxbridge, Port Hope and Cobourg. The nine of all these places he will defeat, will come home to be received with brass band, fireworks, etc., and then his sole object in life will be accomplished. He even remarks that then he wouldn't much object to taking a ride in Belleghem's best hearse.

The Foresters.

About a hundred of those who went to Toronto with the Foresters' excursion returned to town on Tuesday night at 11 o'clock. The mail to-day says:—"A large excursion from Peterborough arrived yesterday by the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways. There were about a thousand excursionists. The band of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, which accompanied the excursion, serenaded the Mail Office. Aid. McNail, Past Chief Ranger of Court Peterborough, C. O. F., accompanied the excursion from Peterborough." Those who have returned say that the trip was a most enjoyable one, and that the Knights of Pythias demonstration was a brilliant spectacle.

Personal.

Mr. Michael O'Brien, Principal of the Lindsay Separate Schools, is in town spending a few days.

Mr. Frank Henry, formerly of Messrs. Hutton & Wood's law office, now of Toronto, is in town. He will stay a week or two.

Mr. Frank Hughes, of Belleville, is back to town to spend a couple of weeks. Belleville air certainly has not the properties of anti-fat, to judge of its effects on Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Aaron F. Hoover, late of Uxbridge who has recently arrived from Germany, where he has spent two and a half years in the Conservatory of Music, Leipzig, is completing his education as a pianist, has decided to locate in Peterborough. He will teach the use of the piano alone, making a specialty of bringing on advanced pupils. Should Mr. Hoover receive sufficient encouragement he will become a permanent resident of Peterborough. It is to be hoped that such will be the case, as to secure him will be a decided acquisition.

More Orders.

Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson & Co. have received orders from Liverpool and Glasgow for eight car loads of flour, additional to that received a short time ago. The same flour has been purchased from Matthews & Co. of Toronto, through their general agent, Mr. A. McDunnell, seven thousand bushels of Peterborough wheat, now stored in Mr. Stevenson's elevator. This circumstance goes to show why Peterborough has a better market for wheat than other places in the district. There is a local demand for it.

THE LUMBERMAN'S OCCUPATION.

Bangor, once the greatest lumbermarket in the world, though doing a much smaller business than in Penobscot's palmy days, is still the home of expert loggers and drivers, and the headquarters for the most approved kinds of lumbermen's implements. Such is the fame of Bangor's cant dogs and axes and batons that operators in the comparatively new logging regions of the west and far off Pacific slope send here for them. But the men of the Penobscot who are principally sought, not for cutting the logs, for almost anybody can swing an axe, but for the perilous work of driving the logs through rapid waters and over roaring falls and swift rapids. Every spring, when the trees have been felled and when the warm sun has transformed frozen streams into rushing torrents, men from the Kennebec and Connecticut come to Bangor to hire crews who are handy with the axe and cant-dog, and who are not afraid to break a jam or sleep on the hard ground in a single blanket. They are especially anxious to get Bangor boys when they have a hard drive in prospect, for they know that the Penobscot red-shirts will pull through it in a possible time.

Not many people understand how logs are driven from the wilds where they are cut so many miles to the great bosom near the mills, where they are sawn into lumber. It is a peculiar and a hazardous work, and when a lot of drivers start away for the headwaters with their pike poles, cant-dogs and axes it is just as natural to expect that some of them never will come back alive as it would be in the case of a company of soldiers starting for a battle field. After the loggers get through dumping the logs over into the frozen streams and but a brief period ensues before the snow and ice melt and carry the big spruce sticks in great masses down stream and create big jams, backing the water up so that many of the logs are floated over submerged dams, to be left high and dry when the first detachment of drivers break the jams and let the water loose. Then the drivers' work begins. The grounded logs in the upper country where horses can not be used, must be carried to the streams by men, and often it requires 20 strong drivers, wading knee deep in mud, to carry a single stick to the water. The farmers whose meadows are thus strewn with logs often claim the timber as a recompense for the obstruction it causes to their operations, and at times they appear with shovels to prevent the drivers from carrying off the logs. But the boss driver orders his men to "bring that stuff down," and the "stuff" generally comes.

Several crews are employed on a drive of any considerable size or at the head or lower end, others along the line or at the rear. There are many rocks, rapids and falls where the moving mass is likely to jam, and these places must be carefully watched to prevent a general "hanging up" of the logs. Sometimes the big stick caught on a rock will hold back hundreds of thousands of feet, and then some daring fellow is ordered out with an axe to chip away the obstruction. It is at the risk of his life. He must be quick, for at the last stroke of his axe the big log snaps asunder with a boom like that of a cannon, and then there is a tremendous stampede of all the logs behind it. If the driver is lucky and agile he gets ashore all right, leaping from log to log, but one misstep, or a little awkwardness is likely to precipitate him into the seething mass, and if it is ever found below, his body is mangled almost beyond recognition. Generally it is never found.

As the drive progresses the men follow through to the woods or along the rocky, uneven shores after it, and "wangan," or commissary departments of the different gangs, going on before. The driver works as long as it is light enough to see a log, and the moon is bright they often go to work at 3 o'clock in the morning and continue until the last glimmer of twilight. They eat their plentiful but coarse evening meal and, wrapped in their blankets, lie down to sleep. While they sleep, which comes to them but an hour, the "wangan" moves ahead five or six miles, and when they awake there is that distance to walk through the woods before breakfast.

I saw a Bangor man who had just returned from the Connecticut, where he had driven six weeks. Sundays included, for $2.50 a day, and he brought a sad story with him. After escaping several perils himself he had seen one of his camp mates go down to a cruel fate while another was barely saved alive. These two a Bangor boy and an old driver from St. John, N. B., had come up from the lower end of a drive, near North Stratford, Vt., to help break a jam near Bangor. They walked through the woods to the point just above the jam and then started down stream for it on a log apiece. Before they knew they were in "white water" around some rocks; one log was lost and the two were clinging to the other. When they reached the jam the Bangor boy was crushed up against it, while the St. John man was swept under and at beneath the wilderness of the logs. The young fellow, pained by the big stick to which he clung, cried in vain for help, for the crew were out of hearing, and was just about to go under when another floating log struck him and swung it around in such a way as to liberate him. Then he managed to struggle ashore and terribly injured was conveyed to the nearest house. River driving is a dangerous business, but there are plenty of men here ready to take its chance. —Lumberman's Gazette.

Cowboys Fight for a Pretty Girl.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Wm. Morley and Michael Gilligan, cowboys, fought 12 rounds on the prairie yesterday for the favours of a pretty girl named Rose Riley. A large crowd was present, including Rose. Both men were badly bruised. Morley received a large share of the punishment, but was encouraged by the girl, who clapped her hands whenever he got in a good one on his antagonist. Gilligan was unable to respond to the thirteenth round, and amid the roars of cheering of the spectators Rose was placed in the arms of the bleeding conqueror. She was last seen tenderly wiping her bruised lover's brow, where Gilligan's knuckles had knocked the skin off.

EDUCATE THE MIND AS WELL AS THE HAND.

Every man who is engaged in any kind of mechanical labor should cultivate studios and observant habits. There is scarcely a description of knowledge but which he will at some time have use for, especially if he ever hopes to rise above the position of ordinary mechanical labor. No man can ever hope to attain distinction as a mechanic unless he educates his mind as well as his hands.

One of the most important requirements of a mechanic is that he should be able to readily and lucidly convey ideas to another. There are indeed many men who while otherwise competent to direct others have failed from lack of this faculty, or have refused good positions because they knew their weakness in this respect. Perhaps as many foremen fail from this cause as from any other. Undoubtedly, this faculty is one to be acquired; it is not one, if there are such, that is born with a man. Every man who works at a mechanical business should labor in the direction of acquiring the habit of concisely expressing his ideas, making this a part of his mechanical education. Talking of such subjects will help a man; writing of them is excellent practice.

A good mechanical eye is also a most essential requisite in a good mechanic. No one can ever attain distinction as a mechanic unless he is able to detect ordinary imperfections at sight, so that he can see if things are out of plumb, out of level, out of square and out of proper shape, and unless he can also detect disproportioned or ill-shaped patterns. This is a great mechanical attainment, and one which can be readily attained by any ordinary person. Of course there are defective eyes as there are other defective organs; the speech, for instance is sometimes defective, but the eye is susceptible of the same training as any organ. The muscles, the voice, the sense of hearing, all require training. Consider how the artist must train the organ of sight in order to detect the slightest imperfection in shade, color, proportion, shape, expression, etc. Not one blacksmith in five ever attains the art of hammering square, yet it is very essential in his occupation. It is simply because he allows himself to get into a careless habit; a little training and care is all that is necessary for success.

But in these cases the fact is, that eye is not half as much at fault as the heedless mind. Some carpenters acquire the careless habit of using a try square every time they plane of a shaving, in place of giving their minds right to their business and properly training their eyes, and unless they cultivate this power of the eye they will always be at journey work. Look at the well-trained blacksmith; he goes across the shop, picks up the horse's foot, takes a squint, returns to his anvil, forges the shoe and it exactly fits the foot. Contrast him with the bungler who looks at the foot, then forges the shoe, then fits the foot to it, often to the ruin of a fine horse. Now, the fault lies in ever allowing himself to put a shoe on that is not in proper shape for the foot; he should determine to make the shoe fit the foot instead of the foot fitting the shoe, and he should follow it up until the object is accomplished.

A very good way to discipline the mechanical eye is to first measure an inch with the eye, then prove it with the rule, then measure a half inch, then an eighth, and so on, and you will soon be able to discover at a glance the difference between a twelfth and a sixteenth of an inch; then go to 3 inches, 6, 12, and so on. Some call this guessing; there is no guess work about it. It is measuring with the mind and eye. Acquire the habit of criticizing for imperfections every piece of work that you see; do everything as nearly as you can without measuring (or spooling it), or as nearly as you can trust the eye with its present training. If you cannot see things mechanically do not blame the eye for it; it is no more to blame than the mouth is because we cannot read, or the fingers because we cannot write. A person may write a very good hand with the eyes closed, the mind, of course, directing the fingers. The eye is necessary, however, to detect imperfections. Every occupation in life requires a mechanically trained eye, and we should realize, more than we do, the great importance of properly training that organ.—Mining and Scientific Press.

PLANTING TREES FOR TIMBER.

Prof. Leach, of Carroll University, says: To make timber plentiful, and to render our climate more genial, we must reclothe all rugged broken land and rocky crags; in fact every acre that is not cultivated, or is cultivated as a lawn, with valuable forest trees.

First—All ravines and steep hill-sides, all land too rocky to be thoroughly cleared of stone and plowed, should be devoted to trees.

Second—Protecting belts of trees should be planted wherever buildings, orchards, gardens, etc., are exposed to cold, sweeping winds.

Third—The banks of streams, ponds, open ditches, etc., should be planted with trees that they will be protected from abrasion by floods and rapid currents.

Fourth—All public roads should be belted by graceful, stately trees.

We should preserve, improve and extend our existing forests by keeping up a constant succession of young growing trees of the best varieties. To do this it is necessary:

First—To allow no stock to run in woodlots for purposes of forage. This should be a rule inflexible and relentless.

Second—Young growths in forests should be thinned moderately and judiciously. Weeds and varieties should be cut out and the valuable sorts should be trimmed up so that they will grow tall, forming trunk rather than branches.

Third—Timber should be cut with intelligent reference to future growth. Valuable trees that you wish to propagate should be cut in the spring. Those that you wish to exterminate should be cut in August.

That Hacking Cough can be so quickly cured by Shill's Cure. We guarantee it. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

Building in New York.

The Record and Guide, of New York, states that the June returns show a larger business in buying of real estate and building, than did the corresponding month last year. There were during June 1,244 conveyances of property, or 230 more transactions than for the corresponding month of last year. There was also an increase of investment amounting to $600,000. Plans for building were filed to the number of 495, to cost $6,732,755, against 330 plans in June last year, costing $3,151,435. Our authority concludes from this showing that the effect of the May strikes was not so serious as many had supposed. For six months, ending July 1, building operations in New York called for an expenditure of $37,500,000. On this basis it is estimated that about $75,000,000 will be expended for new buildings in New York the present year, against $44,000,000 last year. In Brooklyn, however, building shows a falling off, in the month of last year. In the first six months of 1885, 2,036 structures were projected, calling for an outlay of $10,567,022. This year plans filed were for but 1,878 buildings, to cost $9,207,417.

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

Jeans Broom, the grocer, is what might be called a cautious and close-fisted man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' if I dinna find anything that suits me better, I'll ca' back an' tak' this." Now, jeans is partial to the fair sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm givin' into years noo, an' may as weel get married." His business qualities would not let him wait, so off he starts, and calling on Peggy Wylie, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Maister Broom, that's a matter in which I'm noo much interested, an' I wad just leave it to ye!" "But," says jeans, "ye are interested, by good lass; the fact is, will ye marry me, ye?" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather a strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that she was a grocer's daughter, she thought it was a bit odd. "Whereupon the matter-of-fact lover replied, 'Well, I'll look about, an' if I dinna find anything that suits me better, I'll ca' back again!'"

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the jeans Broom stamp, who very often give an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "Ca' back again," at Alexander's. His dry-goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Picnic.
The members of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Sunday School are holding their annual picnic at Lakefield to-day.

Millbrook.
The St. Andrew's Sabbath School picnic, which was to have been held yesterday at Millbrook, was postponed till next Thursday on account of the wet weather.

Temperatures.
The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock a. m., 66; 1 o'clock p. m., 67; 8 o'clock p. m., 73.

Organ Recital.
Dr. Davies, who gives the organ recital on the beautiful new organ in St. Andrew's Church on Monday evening, 19th inst., is the peer of any organist on the continent. Don't fail to hear him. Admission 25 cents.

The Finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at Andrew McNell's.

At the Lake.
Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls Hotel, was in town to-day. He says that up to about a week ago his hotel was filled to the garret with summer tourists, but that just now there is a lull in his business. The islands in the lake are well dotted with camps.

The Way to Save Money.
C. B. Routley has got a New Carpet Sweeper, claimed to be the best in America. It works so easy that you will sweep your floor in half the time and with more ease than you can with any other sweeper, and time is money. Call and inspect at C. B. ROUTLEY'S.

Entertainment.
The Howard Clifton Church Choir and Opera Company showed in the Lansdowne rink on Thursday evening. No admission was charged, but a collection was taken up at the door in the interest of the fund to pay for the Fire Brigade Band uniforms. There were several hundred people present. Another performance will be given this evening.

Didn't Like the Whip.
To-day as a horse belonging to Mr. John Bertram was being driven down George street, the boy in charge of the lines and whip gave him a slight cut with the latter. The horse resented by springing forward and throwing up his hind feet, one of which caught on the cross bar of the phaeton shafts. This placed the horse in a rather stationary position—he could not move till half a dozen bystanders released him.

An Infant's Death.
This morning at seven o'clock the little daughter of Mrs. John S. Wilson, of Detroit, Mich., died very suddenly at the residence of Mrs. Johnston, George street. On Thursday evening it was noticed that the child was unwell, and medical aid was at once summoned. At an early hour this morning a change for the better took place, but only to be followed a little later on by the child's death.

35 to 50 per cent saved now by buying special goods selected for sacrifice at the Golden Lion. B. FAIR.

Pensioners Paid.
Lieut. Col. Milligan, Staff Officer of the Pensions Department, Toronto, arrived in town on Thursday evening and registered at the Oriental Hotel. During to-day he has paid out about $700 to the Imperial pensioners who live in Peterborough and the surrounding country. The number of old British soldiers residing in this vicinity who enjoy these bequests from the Imperial Government is about 175. Most of them have served in the Crimea and India, and some in other parts of the world. Lieut. Col. Milligan leaves town this evening for Lindsay, where there are about the same number of pensioners.

No. 6 Company of the City Battalion will meet for drill at the drill shed this evening.

Square Timber.
A large quantity of square timber from Waubesaene is passing through town by Grand Junction railway for Belleville, en route to Quebec.

Improvements.
Considerable improvements are in progress at the Peterborough Gas Company's Works, at the foot of Simcoe street. A new iron roof has been placed over the entire works, three new retorts have been added, and a new gasometer, capable of holding 30,000 feet of gas, is nearly completed at the Central Iron Works. When this gasometer is put in use the holding capacity of the Works will be about 80,000 feet. The improvements are expected to be completed by November. The total cost will be about $9,000.

USE MIKADO BAKING POWDER, absolutely pure, at Hawley Bros.

Well Managed.
The Lindsay Warder says:—"The Foresters' excursion from Peterborough to Toronto last Tuesday was well managed. It stands forth as the only excursion that started on time from here, or left for home on time. We need only mention that Mr. Geo. Mims was the driver of the engine, and Mr. Bill Rowden conductor of the train. The actual running time from Lindsay to Toronto was two and three-quarter hours, including a delay of thirty-five minutes west of Uxbridge, at a gravel pit, and another of fifteen at Scarborough."

An Honor for a Councillor.
In its account of the picnic of the Lindsay Methodist Sunday School, which was held in Dixon's grove, Peterborough, the Post says:—"The committee are indebted to Mr. A. Rutherford, better known as Coun. Rutherford, of Peterborough, who provided certain luxuries of great merit, and went to considerable trouble to attend to some matters that added greatly to the comfort of those present during the day, and in the recognition of his kindness it is proposed that one of the stops in the new organ of the Lindsay church should be called the 'Rutherford stop.'"

Town Talk.
Hal! hal! ho! I've won my case—Adolphe Faucher.
Didn't I manage it about right?—Mr. Moore, counsel for the defence.
Let's shake all round.—The Pearl picnic party.

No thanks; I don't feel joyful.—Mr. Condon.

Don't you wish you were me.—The missing McFarlane.

Wonder if we'll catch him.—The P.C's.

Why weren't the gas lamps lit on Wednesday and Thursday nights?—The townspeople.

Col. Milligan's a fine fellow.—The old soldiers.

Personal.
Messrs. John Macrip and S. Wright, of Milwaukee, are back to town to spend a week or two.

Miss Annie Delaney has returned from Boston, where she has been attending the Conservatory of Music for the last four months. She took up three branches of study—harmony, voice culture and instrumental music, and made very gratifying progress in each, especially in voice culture to which she paid special attention. She will remain at home for three months, during which time she will resume the duties of her profession. She will then go to Boston again to take another course at the Conservatory.

Mr. Henry Denne has gone on a months trip through the Canadian Northwest, partly for pleasure and partly to look after his property interests there.

Mr. James Meuzies, formerly of the Review, now news foreman of the Ottawa Free Press, has been spending a fortnight's holidays in and about Peterborough. He will return to assume his duties to-morrow.

On Monday morning, Mr. W. Flavell and Miss Flavell, of Lindsay, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Flavell, of Peterborough, will start on a canoe trip over the chain of waters between Lindsay and Lakefield.

The World's Biggest Raft.
A St. John, N. B., despatch on July 13th says:—"The huge timber raft concerning which so much has been said and written, and which is expected to work such a revolution in the timber carrying trade, still lies high and dry on Joggins' shore, at the head of the Bay of Fundy. Albeit it is in a measure ready for launching and has been in that finished state for a month, it cannot start because the tide has not risen high enough and there are legal difficulties in the way. The latter consist in the builders' claim to be allowed for surplus lumber left over after building the raft. It is believed all will be settled by the end of the month."

The raft is now practically completed, only the outside chain fastening remaining to be put in place. This work could be done in a few days. The raft is 420 feet long, 50 feet wide and 36 feet deep. It is shaped like a torpedo and at its largest part has a circumference of 135 feet. Some idea of its immense size may be obtained from the fact that a mile of timber has been used in constructing launchways for it. There are 300 upright timbers to be cut away before the raft will descend on the slides. It is estimated that three days will be consumed in this job alone.

The raft will weigh 7,000 tons. Great interest has been manifested in this new enterprise, people are coming from the United States and distant parts of Canada to study the construction of the raft.

Forest Fire.
MILWAUKEE, July 8.—At a fire at Romeo eleven dwelling-houses, one boarding-house, two warehouses, a sawmill, a planing mill, eight million feet of lumber and five million shingles were burned. Loss, $130,000; insurance, $50,000. About 60 men are thrown out of employment and 27 families left destitute. The woods south of Romeo are all on fire, men and women are out fighting the flames. Van Hooker's mill and buildings have been destroyed. Loss, $100,000.

Destructive Fire.
STANTON, Mich., July 15.—A destructive fire occurred at Fish Creek, five miles east of here, yesterday afternoon. It originated in Wagar's lumber yard, adjacent to his mill, and soon licked up about 5,000,000 feet of lumber, over 4,000,000 shingles and a large amount of lath, tramways and everything about the mill. The mill was all that escaped. Loss, about $40,000; insurance about $50,000. A high wind prevailed at the time, and the fire was carried into the woods south, and is still raging there, and is likely to do great damage yet. Ten cars standing in the lumber yard, were burned.

The Quebec Traders.
The London, Eng., Timber of June 20th says:—"The Hovding, Captain Beck, which ship is known as the 'Lightning Express' amongst the numerous timber ships that ply between the port of Quebec and the United Kingdom, arrived in the Thames on Wednesday afternoon, having experienced the longest voyage since she has been in the Quebec trade. She went along at her usual speed until she arrived off St. Paul's, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, when she experienced strong northeast winds, and in consequence three vessels that sailed many days after her came up in the race, and several boats arrived in the Thames the same time. She has a cargo of Quebec spruce deals consigned to Messrs. Bryant, Potts & Bryant, limited. Owing to neap tide, she was unable to dock, and cannot do so until Tuesday or Wednesday next. The Carin and Craigellion have also arrived from Quebec, and are now discharging in the Millwall docks on account of Messrs. R. R. Dobell & Co., as also the Clara, in the Surrey Commercial docks, for the same firm."

SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1886.

A TYPICAL RIELITE.

Capt. H. J. Snelgrove of the Cobourg World writes a personal explanation to the Sentinel-Star. In which he repeats his denial that at the Young Liberal's Convention at Montreal he said that the Northwest rebels were greater patriots than the men who conquered them, and he protests in his statements that his insult was aimed at the civil not the military authorities of Canada.

This is a question of veracity between Capt. Snelgrove and the Toronto Globe which reported him as thus slandering our gallant volunteers. Either way it is a pitiable exhibit of Reform Journalism. (Either a Reform Journalist who also wears (and disgraces) the uniform of the Militia of Canada, grossly insulted his brother volunteers because they defeated his political allies, or the leading Reform Journal falsified the words of a journalist of its own party in order to make use of him for the purpose of holding the Canadian forces up to public contempt in the hope thereby to make political capital.

Capt. Snelgrove is great at repudiating. Having been accused of clamouring for Riel's death at an earlier period, he denies this on the score that the particular words quoted were published during his temporary absence. He therefore repudiates responsibility for them for himself and all connected with the Cobourg World newspaper, though he did not disavow them at the time and the World then teemed with demands for Riel's punishment or regrets that he was likely to go unpunished. The Cobourg World was in strict accord with the policy of the Rielite press, of clamouring for Riel's punishment when they thought that the Macdonald Administration might spare him, and denouncing Riel's death as a judicial murder when the Macdonald Administration allowed justice to take its course. Either way they were determined to make the murderous rebel of use, by attacking the Administration on his account whatever determination it adopted.

While Capt. Snelgrove is this busy with his repudiations we notice that he carefully abstains from repudiating his gross insult to every loyal man in Ontario when he said in the same speech, as reported by the Globe, "that the great majority of the people of Ontario were in sympathy with the men called rebels." To say nothing of Conservatives, the loyal Reformers of Ontario are leaving in troops the Rielite faction of which this rebel in uniform is a typical specimen.

The Globe is very anxious that every advantage should be given to importers defrauding the revenue. It owns that those who are proved guilty of fraud should be punished, but wishes hard and fast rules to be laid down so that their exact lines may be more easily evaded. There is a Mr. Nelson of Edinburgh from whom, if the Globe puts itself in communication with him, it might learn something about defrauding the revenue, that is the people of Canada. Forged title pages to make dutiable goods appear as free, undervaluations based on cost instead of value, and similar subterfuges, as employed by the friends of the Globe and of the Ontario Administration, may be very ingenious, but it is as well to guard against them.

CHRISTIAN BAPTISM.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I am as well acquainted with Mr. Olmsted and Strong's Cyclopedia as I wish to be. Its editors were Methodists. The passage that has been quoted is a fair sample of the work. It could not be denied that the Greek Church in her rubric prescribes immersion. But it is asserted that sprinkling, or affusion, is regarded as equally valid "in Russia," but by whom "in Russia" we are not informed. When the compilers of a book of reference resort to a trick like that they destroy the value of their work and bring upon themselves the contempt of honest men.

There is not a shadow of doubt concerning the practice of the Greek Church in relation to Baptism. In the year 1860 Macarius, Rector of the Ecclesiastical Academy of St. Petersburg published in Paris his Theologie Dogmatique Orthodoxe. In vol. 2 page 376 he says: "By the word Baptism is understood the sacrament in which the sinner, instructed in the Christian faith, is immersed thrice in the water." On page 385 in a passage too long for quotation, he speaks of aspersion as the form of Baptism in the Roman Catholic Church, and says that anciently it was admitted only in the case of bedridden invalids who could not be immersed. So much for sprinkling and affusion "in Russia." As respects the rest of the Greek Church, this will settle the matter. In 1851 the Rev. W. Palmer, a brother of Sir Roundell Palmer, applied for admission into the Greek Church. It was refused because he had not been baptized by immersion. The patriarch in reply to Mr. Palmer's memorial said "Our church knows only one Baptism, and this without any subtraction, addition or alteration whatever."

The argument in favor of sprinkling, based upon an absurd interpretation of the apostle's words in I Cor. 10, 2, is almost too ridiculous for any serious treatment. Its contradiction of scripture is simply amazing. The apostle says that they were all under the cloud and all baptized in the cloud and in the sea. In Ex. 14, 22, it says that they went over on dry ground. In Psalm 77, 20, it is said that God led them like a flock. And now we are told that they were not under the pillar of cloud, but under rain clouds; that they did not go over on dry ground, but that rain poured down upon them; and worse still, that the fearful tumult of pouring rain, whirlwind, thunder and lightning accompanied by an earthquake, of which we read in Psalm 77, 16-18, befell the Israelites in their passage. In my simplicity and want of acquaintance may be with eminent Methodist scholars, I had supposed that all this had happened to the Egyptians, and that it accounted for what we read in Ex. 14, 24-25. But now we are informed that this terrible storm was sent upon the people when the Lord was leading like a flock and was a model for us to imitate in our own baptism. The argument is a little too much for me.

Seriously nothing can be plainer than the apostle's meaning in I Cor. 10, 2 to any one willing to see it. When the Israelites were rescued from bondage they went down into the bed of the Red Sea, as a person goes down into the water to be baptized. There the chosen people had the waters of the Red Sea like a wall on each side of them, and the pillar of cloud over them. It was as if they were in a vast baptistry, out of which they came up on the other side, rescued from people to live a new and purified life. So, says the apostle, they were all "under the cloud and all passed through the sea; and all were baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea."

In my last letter I said that the supposition that God could be sprinkled or poured on men like water out of a basin or pitcher was only saved from being blasphemous by being called a metaphor. I am now saying that this is the figurative use of the words sprinkle or pour in relation to the Holy Spirit. I have no right to assume that this is a figurative and not a literal presentation. But whichever it may be, like much more associated with it that is equally foolish or equally malicious, it is unworthy of further notice.

In compliance with the desire of a number of persons who have spoken to me on the subject, I will state as briefly as I can what Baptists believe in relation to Baptism and why they believe it. First then we believe that immersion and only immersion is the Scriptural mode of Baptism. Why do we believe this? Our Saviour was baptized in some one way, not in two or three ways. The Greek language was the most copious and exact that man has ever spoken. It must have contained a word to describe accurately the act of baptism, whatever it was. If it had been sprinkling, there were rhantizo, and half a dozen more words to say so; if it had been pouring, there were echudo, and at least six or eight more words to say so. But because it was neither sprinkling nor pouring, but immersion, the inspired writers used the verb baptizo. The definition of baptizo, given in no less than thirty lexicons, is that its primary meaning is to dip, to plunge, to immerse. No learned man will risk his reputation by affirming the contrary. It is no answer to this to say that in some rare instances the word baptizo has been used in a secondary or figurative sense. That is true of all words. But the primary sense is always to be understood when the nature of the subject does not indicate otherwise. In our English Bible the word baptizo is not translated, it is simply changed into baptize. Whenever, therefore, it is said in the New Testament that any one was baptized, it is said that he was dipped, plunged, immersed.

We read that the people came to John "and were baptized of him in the river of Jordan." (Mark 1, 5.) Jesus when he was baptized "went up straightway out of the water." Matt. 3, 16. Philip and the eunuch "went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him." And when they were come up out of the water the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip (Acts 8, 39, 40). "John was baptizing in Enon near to Salim because there was much water there." (John 3, 23.) The Greek words are baptizo, baptisma, literally many waters. The same words are used in Rev. 18, 4 "the voice of many waters." In both passages it is abundance that is denoted. Why was John under the necessity of baptizing where there was an abundance of water if the mode was not immersion? 3. All the allusions to baptism in the New Testament suggest immersion. In Romans 6, 4 it is spoken of as a burial. Could the writer have had sprinkling or pouring in his mental vision when he spoke of burial? It is no use saying that he refers to spiritual and not water baptism, for it does not alter the fact that he alludes to baptism as a burial. Tyndale, Luther, Baxter, Whitfield, Dr. Adam Clarke, Dr. Chalmers, Alford, Coleridge, Plumptre, Meyer, Lange, Tholuck, and many other prebaptist writers admit that the apostle is alluding to the primitive mode of baptism. Howson and Conybeare (Episcopalian) say "This passage cannot be understood unless it be borne in mind that the primitive mode of baptism was immersion." Bishop Elliott, one of the best of critical commentators on the Greek Testament, superior even to Alford, commenting upon the similar passage in Col. 2, 12 says that the apostle here alludes to the descent into the water and the ascent out of it in baptism. To economize space will the reader compare for himself the following passages: Matt. 20, 22; Luke 12, 50; Ps. 42, 7; Ps. 69, 2, 3, 14, 16; Ps. 84, 7, 16, 17; Ps. 124, 4. Because all trustworthy authorities of every denomination admit that the primitive mode of baptism was immersion. This admission is made by Schaff, in his History of the Apostolic Church, first edition, vol. 2, p. 294; by House, in his Early Years of Christianity, p. 374; by Kurtz, in his Church History, p. 70; by Stanley, in his History of the Eastern Church, vol. 2, p. 254; by House, in his History of Christian Theology, vol. 2, p. 165, and by many more that I have not space to mention. But I cannot deny myself the luxury of one more reference. In John Wesley's Journal (Works, vol. 1, p. 100) there is this record made by himself of a baptism at Savannah in 1736: "Saturday, 21st Feb. Mary Welsh, aged 11 days was baptized according to the custom of the first church and the rule of the church of England, by immersion." In a record of May 5, he tells how he had refused to baptize a child because the parents would not allow it to be dipped. Such things as these being found in the writings of John Wesley, is it possible to conceive of anything more comical than a Methodist minister denouncing immersion as popery and answering at my lack of acquaintance with Methodist literature?

Because the antiquities of the Christian Church indicate that the primitive mode of baptism was immersion. The oldest pictorial representation of Christian baptism is a painting in the baptistry of St. Pontianus in the catacombs of Rome. It was made by some of the early Christians not long after the martyrdom of the Apostle Paul. It represents Christ standing in the water up to his waist, John has his hand, palm downwards, on the Saviour's head. The picture has no hint of sprinkling or pouring. That, however, may be found in a Roman Catholic initiation of the catechumens, at Ravenna, and which has been copied in McKay's shameful pamphlet. The reader can refer for his own satisfaction to the article on the catechumens in the fifth volume of the ninth edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The oldest baptisteries are also in the catacombs. Probably none of them is later than the second century. They are like that of St. Pontianus, which is a tank cut in the rock, about 10 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 4 feet deep, with steps to go down into it, its top being level with the floor. The baptistry of St. John Lateran at Rome, was originally a circular tank in form, 20 feet in diameter and nearly five feet deep. Similar baptisteries exist at St. Marks, Venice, at Florence, Ravenna and other places. They have ceased to be used since the Church of Rome introduced sprinkling instead of immersion.

FINE PLANTATIONS.

In his official report Mr. R. W. Phipps gives the following account of his personal inspection of pine plantations on the Massachusetts coast:—

All this country around was occupied long ago by the earliest settlers—the men of the Mayflower period. This is the "old colony" of Massachusetts. This rolling land near the sea was rich, was heavily forested, was cleared, cropped and re-cropped, till its fertility was gone. Long lines of ruinous stone fences, centuries old, recall the period when the soil was worth such careful division. Much of it had long lain idle and barren, the home of a few wandering sheep, in great ranges of wind-swept hills and hollows, with in sheltered places, some growths of oak and poplar. Just here was peculiarly barren. Twenty-five years since one gentleman, Mr. Fay, began to plant pine trees largely, and still more largely to sow their seed broadcast. Many followed his example, and groves sprang up in all directions. There are now more than ten thousand acres of pine plantations, sown or planted, in this vicinity alone, many of them containing trees forty feet in height.

This planting has greatly sheltered and improved the country, and re-settlement—the influx of the clam residents before mentioned—followed fast on the growth of the trees. In one place I was shown what conclusively proved the case of tree planting on hills to hold moisture. "This twenty acres," said one resident, "which, as you see, is high land, when treeless, every spring poured down such floods as filled all the deep gullies around. Now that I have had it for years in groves of pines, the moisture is held in the land, and there are no torrents in spring whither. The water goes the year round to nourish the creeks." The result of planting in this district is, in fact, that while here twenty years ago was little but a succession of bleak and barren hills, there is now such scenery as my first paragraph described. Nor are the planted groves of small extent. One gentleman, showed me eighty, another one hundred and twenty acres, in one block each, planted by themselves, of rich pine plantations, the trees being 30 and 40 feet in height.

What I want to give my readers an idea of in the way in which this result was secured. Either the seed was sown broadcast on the rough pasture field, or it was sown in the bottom of plough furrows run across the field five feet apart and covered half an inch, or the small pines were taken less than a foot in height and planted with the space five feet apart each way. These methods have each met with excellent success. The land is a light and rather barren sandy loam, much of the same kind as our poorest Ontario soils. As to the kinds used, they are the Scotch, Austrian, Corsican, and our own native white and red pines. Planting and sowing are each done in early spring.

There is no reason why these methods should not succeed in Ontario. Whoever wants a good plantation along the north or west of his lot, or has anywhere—in gully, or field, or hillside—land which gives little return, could not do better than sow it with pine seed. It is easily obtained, easily sown, and in a few years the annual thinning will give all the pine fuel he can use, and sticks for many building purposes besides, while as shelter the trees will be invaluable. Words can hardly tell the difference in climate obtained by a thick pine wood along the north and west of a farm. Of course if the planter be disposed to purchase young seedlings—which can be had at less than a cent apiece—be sows some years. But many rough places could be much more easily sown than planted.

James H. Bowditch, Esq., gives the following valuable statistics in reference to these plantations:—

It is here we find the native pitch pine (Pinus rigida) grown from seed almost as easily as the ordinary garden vegetables the sandy soil and moist atmosphere favoring its early growth. No older planter on the Cape would think of planting saplings; he invariably sows the seed. Now, where are these plantations, how are they managed, and who are the owners? Let us begin at the end of the Cape and work south.

A five hours drive from Boston on the Old Colony railroad brings you to north Truro, the next town to Provincetown, at the extreme end of Cape Cod. Near here we find twenty different parties whose plantations cover in the aggregate 563 acres, all planted from seed, and all consisting of the common pitch pine, in the various stages of growth, from 1 inch to 16 or 20 feet. As our object is to know just how these plantations are cultivated artificially, we will explain briefly in detail.

Ten years ago these well high barren and entirely profitless lands could be purchased for 25 cents per acre, now, in the same unimproved condition, they are worth in no case less than $9 per acre; not a very heavy price you may think, but when a man sells by the hundred acres it makes a difference in the value received.

These broad acres have usually no vegetation whatever, save a light growth of the coarse beach-grass, and, in some localities, the low spreading poverty grass, so-called, and a little moss.

In most cases there is no fencing whatever, a fact really to the advantage of the planter in his profit account; the division line between different owners being frequently a simple plowed ridge. We now have the land for planting.

Just before the first heavy frost, usually the latter part of October, the seed is gathered in burrs, balls or cones (thus variously called) from the pitch pine trees, put up in barrels or boxes, away from mice and squirrels, in a cool place, and before spring they will have mostly opened, when the seeds can easily be taken out. Some people beat them a trifle in the oven to make the seed render a trifle more easily, but this is a dangerous practice, and likely to injure the germinating power.

RIVAL C. P. R. POLICIES.

MR. BLAKE has been addressing the electors of West Durham, the constituency in which a vacancy was purchased for him by his friends in the Mowat Administration, with the public funds of the Province. The Rielite leader dealt at considerable length with the question of the construction of our great inter-oceanic railway. With a cloud of words he invited his hearers to consider the policies of the two parties in this respect. It is a matter which the country has already considered in the light of accomplished facts, and the people of Canada have seen the result of the rival policies. It is very easy for Mr. Blake, in an enterprise of such magnitude and difficulty, to find some slight flaw, to suggest that in some details some trifling changes might have been adopted with advantage, some improvement might have been made if everything could have been foreseen. That is only to say that it was subject to the limitations of all complicated and extensive human undertakings. But the people of Canada have had an opportunity of seeing what Mr. Blake would do when it was not a question of mere criticism, but of action. He and his friends were in power for some years, and they built a branch to take the Northwest traffic through a foreign country, started another branch to be abandoned and paid for, carried rails and dumped them where they did not intend to build, surveyed routes that practical men could not accept, and advertised in vain most liberal terms to any contractors who would come and relieve them from their difficulty by taking the thing off their hands. That is about the same way that the Macdonald Administration was fortunately entrusted with the management of this among other Canadian affairs. In little more time than Mr. Blake and his friends consumed in these abortive attempts, a strong company was formed, satisfactory arrangements made, and the great Canadian highway opened for traffic from ocean to ocean in spite of all obstacles and to the wonder and admiration of the whole civilized world with the exception of Mr. Blake and his political friends. Of course the cost of such an achievement has been large, but it is unprecedentedly light compared with the work done, and with the advantages secured. It would have been even lighter if some Canadians, with Mr. Blake at their head, had not from political jealousy banded with the business rivals of the C.P.R. to thwart the company in every possible way and especially to prejudice them in the money markets of the world. Happily, however, this difficulty, like others, was eventually overcome.

The rival policies of the Conservative and Reform parties have been tested by the people of Canada, and no special pleading by Mr. Blake will blind them to the truth.

A PLAN THAT DIDN'T WORK.

The Campaign Originally Proposed by the Chicago Anarchists.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Engel, president of one of the Chicago Anarchist groups, testified in the Anarchist trial to-day that it had been decided before the Haymarket riot that in case of trouble with the police, the Anarchists were to storm the police stations, cut the police wires, disable the fire department, and mow down the police and militia with bombs or other weapons. This plan was to be carried out in the event of the police interfering with the strikers, or in the event of their interference in a row if one originated in the city or at McCormick's works.

CHRISTIAN BAPTISM.

The following is the continuation of the Rev. Mr. Munro's letter, commenced in Saturday's DAILY REVIEW.

However important the mode of baptism may be, still greater importance attaches to the subject. Baptists believe that only those who make a credible profession of faith in Christ should be baptized. This is what the Great Commission in Matt. 28, 19, 20 teaches. "Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations; baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." A disciple in the New Testament sense is one who not only listens to a teacher but who understands and adopts what he teaches. Mark the distinction between the multitude who merely heard Christ and the disciples who accepted his teaching. Matt. 13, 12, and 13, 10, 11. Notice the conditions of discipleship in Luke 14, 27. First we are to make disciples and then baptize them. That is Christ's order. Even if the doctrine of baptismal regeneration were true, no one could pretend that baptizing an infant would cause it to take up its cross and follow Christ. The original shows more plainly than the translation can that the disciples are those who are to be baptized. In the Greek "Nation" is a neuter noun; "disciple" or "make disciples" is made from a masculine noun, and "them" is a masculine pronoun.

2. All the instances of Christian Baptism recorded in the New Testament are those of believers. Acts 1, 28-31; 8, 12, 37; 16, 33; 18, 24-26; 19, 6. In this connection read also Romans 10, 9-17.

3. No one pretends that there is any command for infant baptism in the New Testament. Neither is there a single instance of it recorded. In every mention of a household baptism care has been taken to supply evidence that the persons baptized were believers in the gospel. Cornelius was a devout man with all his house to all of whom the Holy Ghost was given, Acts 10, 2, 47. The members of Lydia's house are designated brethren and sisters as such, Acts 16, 40. The apostles preached to all who were in the jailer's house and they all believed, Acts 16, 32-34. Crispus believed with all his house, Acts 18, 8. And the members of the household of Stephanas gave themselves to the ministry shortly after their baptism, 1 Cor. 1, 16 and 1 Cor. 16, 15.

4. There is positive proof that infants were not baptized by the apostles. There was a great revival in Samaria under the preaching of Philip. Particular care is taken to let us know that only men and women were baptized, Acts 8, 12. Will any one believe that none of those were the parents of young children? Why were they not baptized? Because infant baptism is not apostolic. The Gospel is not addressed to infants; they do not need it, and cannot receive it. They no more require to be baptized than they do to believe. They are saved without either. The infants were given an assurance of the salvation of all who die in their infancy that is more insured than helped by the unauthorized and useless performance of infant sprinkling.

5. The argument that baptism has taken the place of circumcision is not tenable. The inspired Apostle Paul did not admit that circumcision had been abrogated, but insisted that it was still in force, so far as the Jews were concerned, but was not to be imposed on the Gentiles, Acts 21, 21-23. He circumcised Timothy after he had been baptized, Acts 16, 1-3. If baptism had taken the place of circumcision, it must have been so stated in connection with the controversy about the imposition of circumcision upon Gentile converts, that took place at Antioch. But it was not mentioned on that occasion, Acts 15, 5, and 15, 23-29.

6. The sentimental argument about the wrong and cruelty of excluding children from the church is more clap net. Praying for the dead is as scriptural and rational as infant baptism, and as strong an appeal to the feelings may be made on behalf of the one as for the other. What benefit does baptism confer upon infants? In the very nature of things it cannot make them members of the visible church, which both the articles of the church of England and the discipline of the Methodist, define as "A congregation of faithful men in which the pure word of God is preached, and Sacraments duly administered." Does baptism make infants, faithful men; is the word preached to them; is the ordinance of the Lord's supper administered to them? What visible grace, or visible right, privilege or good, does baptism bestow upon infants? Does it make them better children, or better men and women? I appeal to the common sense and experience of the reader. Does his observation satisfy him that any physical, mental, moral or spiritual benefit arises from infant baptism? I appeal to the pages of history that all can read. What is their darkest and foulest stain? Not the tyrannies and atrocities of the ancient empires, nor the crimes of Roman imperial monarchs; not pagan persecutions nor medieval superstition and misery; not the centuries of oppression, slavery and war through which the nations have passed; but worse than this, more to the shame of man and to the dishonor of God, is the crimson record of the persecution of God's people by those who had been baptized in their infancy. Those who were persecuted to death Northerners and Donatists, Waldenses, Wickliffites, Hussites, and Covenanters, who perpetrated the murders of the massacre of Saint Bartholomew's day; who lit the fires of Smithfield in old England and hounded to death Quakers and Baptists in New England had all been baptized in their infancy. There is not a country in the civilized world that has been settled one hundred years, in which those who were declared to have been made members of Christ and his church by baptism have not caused the blood of God's people to flow like water. Longer, more widely and deeply than any other, Baptists have suffered from this persecution. When at last they had fought out and won the battle of civil and religious liberty, there were but few of them left to enjoy the fruits of victory. But God has greatly honored them. Finally accused of owing their origin to Roger Williams in America, and to the Anabaptists of Munster in Europe, though they can trace their connection in the past with many of the followers of Huss, Wickliffe, and other "reformers" before the reformation, with the Paulicians, Donatists and Novatians, they prefer going to the New Testament to explain their origin and to justify their faith and practice. No denomination has a more honorable history than the Baptists. One which has had a Milton and a Bunyan among its writers, a Hall and a Spurgeon among its preachers, and to which Sunday schools, Missions to India, the British and Foreign Bible Society, and the revision of the English Bible, owe their origin. Almost within the memory of living men, Baptists numbered but a few thousands, and to-day they have over two and a half millions of members on this continent. Their principles are permeating every evangelized denomination. I have never known a Baptist that said that Pedobaptists were right. But I have never been in any place long without finding many Pedobaptists who would voluntarily admit that Baptist principles are scriptural. If every one in this town who has made this admission were loyal to his convictions of truth, the Baptist Church would be the largest in Peterborough.

Is it the knowledge of this fact that makes some of our Pedobaptist friends so angry at the very mention of baptism by a Baptist? Why may not a Baptist minister preach on the subject in his own pulpit. Why cannot a discussion like this be carried on without wrath, malice and evil speaking? Why cannot it begin without false charges and nasty, unfounded stories, and end without ill feeling? As I did not begin it and am not to end it, let others answer these questions.

A. H. MUNRO.

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

Jeems Broom, the grocer, is what might be called a cautious and close-minded man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' if I dinna find onything that suits me better I'll ca' back an' tak' this." Now Jeems is partial to the fairer sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm gettin' into years now, an' may as well get married." His business qualities would not let him wait, so off he starts, and calling on Peggy Whyte, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Malster Broom, that's a matter in which I'm no mackie interested, an' I wad just leave it to yerself!" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather a strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that others were scarce, and that Jeems was well-to-do in the world, with a good going business and some influence in the village she accepted him at once. Whereupon the matter of fact lover replied, "Weel! weel! Peggy, I'll look about, an' if I dinna find onything that suits me better, I'll ca' back again!"

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the Jeems Broom stamp, who very often give an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "Ca' back again" at Alexander's. His dry-goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

Knights of Pythias.

A Knight of fifteen years' standing, residing in Peterborough, is thinking of organizing a branch lodge of the Knights of Pythias here.

Open Air Meetings.

On Sunday afternoon religious meetings were held in both of the parks. In the Central Park the Salvation Army drew quite a crowd around them. In the Horticultural Gardens the Young Men's Christian Association male choir had a song service.

The finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

Postponed.

On account of the sickness of Mr. Miller, the bandmaster, the Fire Brigade Band will not give its usual open air concert to-morrow evening. Mr. Miller took ill quite suddenly on Friday evening, and since that time has felt unwell. A concert will probably be given on Friday evening.

The Organ Recital.

If you have not yet decided to attend the Grand Organ Recital to-night in St. Andrew's Church, do so at once, and not regret it to-morrow, when your friends tell you of the musical treat they enjoyed. Beautiful sweet-toned organ and most accomplished Organist. Admission only 25 cents.

A Heavy Importation.

On Saturday Mr. R. Fair, of the Golden Lion, received such a heavy consignment of goods from the Old Country that the services of a black and tackle had to be brought into use to lift the goods to their proper departments. The consignment consisted of floor oil cloths, some pieces of which were over twenty feet in width, and in weight over a ton. Quite a crowd gathered to see the raising of these weighty rolls to the carpet department on the second flat.

A Capture.

A Frenchman named L. L. L., somewhat intoxicated and perhaps a little tired, leaped up against a tree box at the corner of London and George streets on Saturday afternoon. In this position he pleasantly conversed with a crowd of wondering juveniles for about half an hour. Then he bade good bye to his hearers abruptly and accompanied P. C. McGinty to the police station. He had in his possession a quantity of fine cut, some tin types and a ticket for Baginbaw. He was sent on.

Where to Buy.

If you want to buy a buggy, carriage, phaeton, wagon, or any kind of a summer vehicle, go to Porter Bros., where you will get a good choice at the cheapest rate. Now that the season is so far advanced this firm is clearing out their stock at prices away down. A magnificent phaeton built last year at a cost of $300, will be sold. It was used only a few times and left at Porter Bros. for sale. Those intending to get out and sleighs would do well to leave their orders, as winter goods are now under way.

Professional Visit.

We direct special attention to Dr. Potts' advertisement in another column, and bespeak for him a continuation of the great success in Peterborough which attends the Dr. in the other towns and villages he visits. The Norwood Register, the Campbellford News and Herald, are out last week with highly commendatory notices of the wonderful success Dr. Potts is having. Several very rare and skillful surgical operations have been performed successfully, and a number of chronic cases recovering that were abandoned as hopeless by the local physicians.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

An Indian has his Arm Cut off by a Railway Train.

On Saturday evening Alexander Commego, an Indian, came within a hairbreadth of losing his life. Commego and a companion had been at Hastings and had left that place by way of the railway track. When about two and a half miles this side of the village Commego fell on the track, and so drunk was he that he was unable to get up. His companion lay down near the track. Fortunately for Commego he fell with his body, except his right arm, outside of the rails. Both Indians were in sound slumber when the evening train came along. The train hands saw the men, but before the train could be stopped it had passed them, clipping off Commego's arm which rested on the rail.

A couch was soon fitted up in the baggage car, the injured man was lifted in and the train proceeded to Peterborough. Arrived here the Indian was conveyed to the Nicholas Hospital, where the medical attendant, Dr. Fife, together with Drs. Boucher and Pigeon, dressed the arm. The flesh was in a very ragged state, but the bone was not much splintered. Two and a half inches of the bone which protruded was cut off. The patient was placed under the influence of chloroform while the operation was performed.

When interrogated this morning Commego stated that he had drunk no whiskey. He was then asked how he came there. He replied that he fell. And why didn't he get up? Because he couldn't. He afterwards acknowledged that he had been drinking "Red Ribbon."

The companion was so tightly in the embrace of Orpheus that he did not hear the train rattle by. The train hands did not disturb him, but left him to sleep off the influence of the "Red Ribbon."

Personal.

Mr. J. E. Kelso and wife are in Peterborough on a visit, and are stopping at the residence of Mr. A. Dixon.

Dr. Davies, late organist of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, arrived in town on the noon train and registered at the Grand Central Hotel. This afternoon he tied the new organ at St. Andrew's Church.

Messrs. Harry Stock, T. Barrie, town, and Mr. DeBorham, New York, went out on a two weeks holiday trip through Muskoka on Saturday afternoon. They will camp along Rosseau, Muskoka, on Joseph Lake.

Church Notes.

Dr. Burwash, Professor of Theology at Victoria University, Cobourg, preached both morning and evening in St. Paul's Church, on Sunday. Both sermons were evidences of deep thought. That preached in the evening was especially a masterly effort. In a most elaborately colored discourse he taught that the strength of the individual as well as of the nation was to be attained through the unvarying practice of Christian morality.

At the Charlotte street Methodist Church on Sunday evening about 85 new members were received into the membership of that church. Three were received by letter, three on probation and the rest were given the right of full membership. The sermon was addressed specially to the new members. After the usual service, the greeting from the ritual was read by the pastor, the Rev. F. H. Wallace. After the new members came to the altar rail, when the pastor extended to each the right hand of fellowship, while the church members rose to their feet in token of cordial reception. There are about 15 more new members to be received.

The Rev. I. Tovey, in his sermon at the Charlotte Street Methodist Church Sunday morning said that a great proportion of atheism and skepticism of the age was the result of sheer laziness and neglect. If people would only read the Bible with half of the attention with which they read a novel they could not help being Christians.

Prof. Burwash, on Sunday evening, defined religion as "a love of God." It was neither the syncretistic desire to gain admittance to heaven nor the dread of going to hell that prompted men to do right. If that were the case the most hardened sinner was religious, because when brought face to face with his future life he would be found to plead just as hard either the syncretist on the one hand and the cringer on the other. But it was the love of God that made him do right. God is the embodiment of right, and in loving God men are simply loving right.

One Crash Makes Many.

BUFFALO, July 15.—A Niagara Falls correspondent says that a man named George W. White is there investigating the rapids, with the intention of swimming through them in a cork suit. It is also announced that a trip is shortly to be made through the same waters by some unknown in a boat. The swimming and rowing race has certainly been revived, and it will not be long before the coroner will summon his jury to decide upon the manner of some venturesome person's death. A prominent citizen proposes to establish a company to be known as the "Maid of the Rapids Barrel Company," the object being to furnish barrels to parties desiring to take the excursion through the whirlpool by water for $1 each.

SCOTT ACT.

The Roddy Case Called at the Police Court.

The case of Queen vs. Roddy, adjourned from Friday, was called this morning. R. N. RODDY was sworn. He recognized the lease produced by Mr. Moore. Reynolds was the lessee. When Reynolds took the bar there was two dollars worth of stock, pop, etc., which was left there. He had observed the terms of the lease since it was made.

To Mr. EDWARDS—I did not sign the lease the day it was made. It might have been a month after it was made that I signed it. It might have been signed within the last month. It was signed a day or two before that assault case. Before I signed the lease Mr. Reynolds acted as bartender for me, but was not hired. He was merely giving me a hand as a friend. On the 24th May the lease was not signed, but Mr. Reynolds and myself understood that the provisions of the lease were to be observed by both. I did not sell anything on the 24th of May at the bar.

Mr. EDWARDS produced the evidence of the last case, in which Mr. Reynolds swore that Mr. Roddy was behind the bar.

R. N. RODDY, continuing—I didn't remember being behind the bar. I decline to say what I did with the liquor I had in stock on April 31st. I have it stored away safely. If I told what I did with it the Scott Act party might go and look it. These temperance people have injured my business. The people are afraid to come into my house to get a meal, because they think they will be hauled up as witnesses. The lease is bona fide.

To Mr. MOORE—By the terms of the lease I was to get $5 per day for every day. This I have received. Reynolds is wrong when he states that he did not pay me for Sundays. I have got $35 per week in rent from him.

The counsel on both sides submitted arguments. The MAGISTRATE reserved judgment until to-morrow.

For Revenge.

New York, July 17.—A special from Petersburg, Va., says that Sol Joyner, an aged citizen of Southampton, was murdered in bed by his daughters Mattie and Addie, aged respectively 12 and 15 years. The girls had been severely whipped by their father during the day, and at night they entered his bedroom while he was sleeping and chopped his head to a jelly with an axe.

"Hail! Horror, Hail!" Is an expression of Milton regarding the "infernal world." It is not too much to say that those who suffer from catarrh would thus express themselves about that disease. Torture and despair mark their daily existence. However, every case can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. THE FRANCHISE EXTENSION.

As a number of Canadians have been given a voice in the management of public affairs through the widening of the Franchise by the Macdonald Administration, the Globe tries to offset the effect of this boon by gross misrepresentation. In an article attacking the Franchise Act and all connected with it, the Globe says:—

"Sir John Macdonald made no serious attempt to establish a Dominion franchise until the Ontario Legislature introduced an Act extending the Provincial franchise almost to universal suffrage. The truth, as the Globe well knows, is that Sir John Macdonald had introduced a bill for the extension of the Franchise, and though it was not carried, its re-introduction the following session was promised. Mr. Mowat positively refused to extend the franchise at that time, and with his followers voted down the resolutions of the Conservatives in favor of extension. Mr. Mowat only followed the example of Sir John Macdonald in providing for an extension of the franchise when he found that he would be placed at a political disadvantage by the greater liberality of the Conservatives. If his Act was passed first it was only because the session of the Ontario Legislature was shorter than that of the Dominion Parliament; it was the direct consequence of that of Sir John. Thus the people are indebted to Sir John Macdonald, his colleagues and supporters, for the extension of the Provincial franchise as well as that of the Dominion."

The Globe also says:—

"It was more in consonance with the spirit of Federal institutions that the Province should regulate the franchise. This might be fittingly characterized as silly, were it not so dishonest. What is the sense of talking about the 'spirit' of institutions, when our written constitution, with the consent of the leaders of both parties, expressly provides for the regulation of the Dominion franchise by the Dominion? Are we to suppose that these statesmen made the letter of their legislation in direct contradiction to its spirit?"

In reference to the Revising Officers the Globe now admits that many of the appointments were respectable. It is driven to this by the fact that in every locality those interested express satisfaction with the Revising Officers for their impartiality. So the Globe indulges in general abuse, hoping that its readers may think that there is something wrong elsewhere, though they know that they have no cause to complain in their own localities. The only name the Globe ventures to specify is that of Judge Morgan, and in his case we have the certainly unbiased testimony of Mr. Mulock, a Reform member of Parliament.

The liberality and fairness of the Macdonald Administration cannot be assailed by means of such transparent misrepresentations.

The amnesty for the Northwest rebels, except those guilty of murder, will give general satisfaction. The insurrection having been suppressed, and justice having been done to its leader, mercy may now be allowed to prevail. At first sight it appeared that the pardon was too sweeping in that it included the Honorable Wilfred Laurier, but a more careful perusal shows that only traitors in the Northwest are included. It is not fitting that an avowed rebel should be on the roll of the Privy Council of Canada.

The leading Rielite journal in Toronto gives Mr. Mulock, M.P., the lie, for saying that Judge Morgan was fair and impartial as a Revising Officer. The Globe has not forgiven Mr. Mulock for declining to vote that the murderous rebel Riel was a martyr, and Sir John Macdonald should be banished from power in disgrace for allowing justice to take its course.

That the Orangemen are a political organization was admitted by Hon. M. Bowell, ex-grand master, at Belleville on the 12th when he spoke of "the young men of another political party," and of the gathering which he addressed as a Tory demonstration.—Brockville Recorder.

The Hon. M. Bowell did not speak of the young men of another political party and he did not speak of the gathering as a Tory demonstration. The latter of the two charges was fabricated by the Recorder, and both are untrue.

EXTRADITION AMENDMENTS.

A Provision Before the U. S. Senate Covering Dynamiters and Bank Thieves

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The senate had before it the outline of an additional provision to the existing treaty stipulations between this country and England. Nothing has been officially given out concerning this treaty paragraph, but through recommendations of the President and through the cable reports from London enough has been made up to suggest the character of the proposed changes. The addition of existing stipulations is made especially for the purpose of extraditing dynamiters. It covers this and all persons guilty of the embezzlement or larceny above the sum of $50, and burglary. The dynamiter provision is considered under the charge of malicious injury to property and endangering the life of any person where such acts are made a crime by the laws of either country. Of course this relates only to future offences, as it is outside of the power of the United States under the Constitution to ratify any act which is retroactive in its character.

GATHERING IN SOUTHERN PINE.

A dispatch from New Orleans, of July 4th says:—On Monday last 20,000 acres of pine lands were entered in a body in Calcasieu and Vernon parishes in this state by a firm from Grand Rapids, Mich. During the last three or four years western firms, mainly from Chicago and Michigan, have gobbled up all the good pine land in this state and Mississippi. This has been done so quietly that the local saw mill men awoke to the fact that all the good timber in Louisiana had been cornered by Chicago dealers. The fiscal year for the Louisiana land office expired June 30th. From 1882 to June 30th, 1886, no less than 1,150,532 acres of pine lands have been purchased, largely by western speculators and investors. This includes one-fourth of the long-leaved pine lands of Louisiana and about one-half of what the Government owns in the state.

As the land entered is all selected, it naturally embraces the best. What remains unsold is generally of inferior quality and poorly wooded. The purchasers sent surveying parties down here to examine and report on the yellow pine of the south, the quality of the lumber and the value of the land. These reports were favorable and the western men went to work at once buying right and left, but very quietly and without attracting attention. The cost of these initial surveys and selections was only $70,000. The lands themselves were purchased from the Government at $1.25 an acre and probably cost the purchaser altogether not over $2 per acre, making the total cost of these tracts $2,300,000. They will average 10,000 feet of merchantable timber to the acre, 11,000,000,000 in all, or nearly one-half the amount of long-leaved yellow pine in Louisiana. The lumber at the mill is worth $7.50 per M feet, so that the owners of these lands can hope to receive $80,000,000 for their purchase, even if there should be no improvement in the value of their lumber, which is highly probable. It will be seen, therefore, that they have made extremely good investments, from which they may be expected to receive handsome profits at an early day.

The system pursued in Louisiana has been similarly carried out in the Mississippi and Texas. In Mississippi western men have bought 775,000 acres of pine lands, and in Texas 900,000 acres. There have been recently large shipments of this southern pine north. Only a few weeks ago 3,000,000 feet of it were shipped on one contract to Philadelphia, while Texas is sending a large quantity to supply Kansas and other prairie portions of the far west. But comparatively little has been done to develop these lands, and the purchasers seem disposed to make no attempt to do so, but to wait for an increased demand for lumber and improved prices in consequence of a smaller supply from the western states, like Michigan.

The recent heavy purchases have been due to the fear that Congress would withdraw the lands from the market and place them among the homestead entries. The investors are accordingly taking up all the best lands so as to secure them before Congress passes one general law prohibiting the sale of tracts larger than a few hundred acres. This they have very effectively done, and Chicago, Saginaw and Grand Rapids capital will control the lumber industry of the southwest as effectively as it does to-day the lumbering in Michigan and the west.

A Self-Confessed Murderer.

Samuel Luttrell, aged about 23, whose folks live at Scarborough Junction, surrendered himself to Detective Reburn in Toronto, Saturday afternoon as a murderer. He said that in September, 1883, he stabbed and killed a man on State street, Chicago. In front of Pugilist Paddy Ray's saloon. The two had quarrelled over a game of pool, and settled the dispute with the knife. Luttrell left his victim lying on the sidewalk. A man came along, and being caught in the act of robbing the corpse was arrested, tried and sent down for twenty years as the murderer. Luttrell, who had been wounded in the fight, spent a few weeks in a hospital and then fled the city. A while ago he came to Toronto and experienced religion, being converted at the camp meeting at Wesley Park. He confessed his crime to Rev. Wm. Savage and Rev. C. H. Ryder and they advised him to give himself up to the police. This is the substance of the story Luttrell told Detective Reburn. Chief Draper telegraphed to the Chicago authorities, and was answered that they had no record of any such case. It would therefore seem that Luttrell is either slightly off or trying to perpetrate a joke on the police. He will be held until further word is received from Chicago.—Toronto World.

A Bag that Will Float.

OTTAWA, July 15.—As an outcome of the recent loss of the great Atlantic liner, the Oregon, and the inconvenience to commercial men both in Canada and the States, consequent on the sinking of the mail bags on the ill-fated steamer, many of which have not been recovered and probably never will be, an application has just been made for a Dominion patent for a buoyant mail bag. The inventor is Mr. Charles E. Knight Gregson, a valued officer of the Allan line. The bag is a double one, the inner lining being of corrugated rubber. It is entirely impervious to water and can be used as a pillow or even a life buoy. The invention is intended to obviate, as far as possible, any such catastrophe as that which happened to the Oregon mail.

THREE WEEK'S AFFAIRS

NO VERY IMPORTANT, BUT MANY MINOR MATTERS DWELT WITH.

Mr. Thos. Beavis and the Dog Henry—A Tag of War about Hydrants—The Brown Memorial—Accounts, etc.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening. There were present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Rutherford, Davidson, McNeil, Moore, Cahill, McNaughton, Menzies, Hartley, Yelland, and Kelly.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read as follows:—From W. H. Moore demanding $37.50 on behalf of Queen vs. Morgan on account of the conviction being invalid by which the town got that fine, and threatening an action of the fine is not paid back.—Town Solicitor.

From John and Geo. Fowler asking for street improvements on Ridgeway street—Street and Bridge Committee.

From John J. McElroy stating that one of the town officials had told him that the building he was erecting was in contravention with the building by-law, and asking that the matter be referred to the building Committee—Building Committee.

From E. F. Torrance and seven others asking that the Peterborough Water Company be instructed to extend their mains along Reid street to King street and along Reid street to King street—Referred.

From Chas. Wynn and nine others asking that a grade be struck and a water table be constructed on Ridgeway street between London and Edinburgh streets—Referred.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were submitted as follows:—Mrs. Adlam, $1.00; Royal Insurance Co., $1.00; Fortye & Elliott, stove blacking, $1.00; Robt. Duncan, burying bad meat, $1.00; Wm. Lech, police benefits, $1.00; Geo. Hilliard, lumber, $1.00; Metropolitan Grocery, charity, $1.00; Breeze & Bain, pipe for watering cart, $2.00; Canadian Rubber Company, repairs, $1.00; W.A. Seaton, $1.00; Mayor's office, $1.00; Henry Best, account, $1.00; R. H. McKee, account, $1.00; J. R. Stratton, account, $1.00; Times Printing Co., account, $1.00.

FAMOUS QUESTIONS.

The Mayor called attention to the fact that some time ago the town had agreed to give $100 toward the Brown Memorial Fund. He asked for instructions as to location. It was understood that it was to be placed in the Central Park.

The Memorial Committee were anxious to have Mr. Hayes, who takes care of the drill shed, appointed to take care of the park.

Nothing had been done in the matter of giving aid to the homeless in the town of Vancouver, B. C.

At a meeting of the School Board, held recently, a resolution was passed favoring a joint meeting of the Council and School Board in reference to the building of a new Collegiate Institute. When instructed he would call the meeting.

A communication had been received from the Government stating that the request in reference to Scott Act fines would be carefully considered.

FINANCE.

Councillor Davidson, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read the following report:—

To the Mayor and Councillors of the Town of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN.—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

Central Iron and Bridge Works, $104.15; B. Beilham, $7.00; Canadian Rubber Co., $54.40; All of which is respectfully submitted, R. H. Davidson, Chairman.

Peterborough, July 5, 1886.

Councillor Rutherford held that the account of the Canadian Rubber Company should not be paid till they carried out their contract. They had not yet satisfied the Council their hose would stand 400 pounds pressure.

Councillor Davidson said that the Company was responsible, as they had given a guarantee.

The report was adopted.

Councillor Rutherford wished, as chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, to be freed from responsibility.

HYDRANTS.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Davidson, that the petition of the Fire, Water and Light Committee be referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee with instructions to place two of the hydrants not now required within the limits originally agreed upon between the Water Company and the corporation, in the area covered by their petition and report to this Council.

Mr. Moore was willing to give this part to the town one of the three hydrants yet not disposed of, but he thought No. 4 ward was entitled to some consideration. He mentioned several localities in his ward which needed hydrants.

Councillor Cahill agreed with Mr. Moore that all parts of the town should be fairly dealt with. No. 4 ward was the most neglected ward in town. If they could get two hydrants they would agree to take one.

Councillor Hartley said that No. 4 ward had three hydrants out of six.

Councillor Moore moved in amendment seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the petition of E. F. Torrance and others be granted when it is ascertained that a sufficient number of hydrants are on it.—Carried.

SURRETIES REQUIRED.

Councillor Davidson moved, seconded by Councillor McNaughton, that all officers of the town holding positions of trust be required to give security for such amounts as the Council may require.—Carried.

Councillor Davidson announced that there seemed to be two or three Treasurers instead of one. If there was any absconding Mr. MacDonald could not be held responsible. Mr. Beavis, for instance, now held about $300 of the Town's money in his own name.

Councillor Moore, addressing Mr. Thomas Beavis, said gravely: Mr. Beavis, it is currently reported that you have refused to hand over the dog money. Is that so?

Mr. Beavis wiped his eyes, came confidently forward, and returned: yes I have, and I'll tell you the reason why.

But his reasons were summarily shut off by Councillor Moore coolly addressing the chair. Without once looking at Mr. Beavis he went on to say what Mr. Beavis should wait until some charge was brought against him before he put in his defense.

It was certainly a high handed action on the part of Mr. Beavis, holding the responsible officer that he held—Local License Inspector McNeil—to such a thing. Then Councillor Moore continued with dire sounding diction to point out the heinousness of the offence. It was really dreadful to listen to. Mr. Beavis grew quite concerned. He watched every movement of the councillor's lips with the closest attention, but the councillor never even glanced at him.

Councillor Hartley thought it a very censurable offence.

Mr. Beavis, who sat still until now, could be restrained no longer. With a flourish of his handkerchief he told the Council that he waited only for an order from them to hand over the money. If he handed it over without their receipts he was in a position to be sued for one dollar by each of these two hundred owners of dogs.

The motion was carried.

PAY OVER THE DUCATS.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY, that the moneys collected by Mr. Thos. Beavis, Local License Inspector, be paid over to the Town Treasurer at once, and that the Town Treasurer give him receipts for the same.—Carried.

HONORED.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor MOORE, that Chief of Police Cooper be appointed Building Inspector.—Carried.

WM. MANNING.

Councillor HARTLEY submitted a communication from the hospital for sick children, rendering their account for $133 for the maintenance of the boy Wm. Manning.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES, that the account be paid to the Treasurer of the Protestant Home.—Carried.

A CASH BOX.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor McNEIL, that the request of Mr. White, in reference to a cabinet of the Clerk's office, be referred to the Property Committee, with power to act.—Carried.

SIDEWALK.

Councillor McNEIL moved, seconded by Councillor KELLY, that a sidewalk be laid out from Mr. Geo. Hutchinson's residence on Sheridan terrace.—Carried.

TRUSTIES AND WERDS.

Councillor MOORE moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND, that the Street Inspector be instructed to have thistles and weeds cut down on the principal streets.

Councillor MENZIES: This is a good deal, won't it?

Councillor MOORE—Oh pshaw, no! It won't cost five dollars. A good man can cut them in two days.

Councillor McNAUGHTON—I want a good man employed this year.

A clause, "and that a good man be employed," was added and the motion was passed.

MR. LEWIS' DRAIN.

Councillor McNEIL asked the chairman of the Property Committee what had been done in reference to Mr. Lewis' drain.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the Street and Bridge Committee had met and seemed to run the whole business. Nothing had been done in the matter of the drain.

Councillor CAHILL denied that his Committee had assumed responsibility in reference to the Lewis drain. The Government had the permission to tap the George street sewer to carry off sewage from the Post Office, but as that sewer was fully taxed already to carry off existing sewage, the Committee have refused permission. The Committee told the Government to run the drain down to Water street to tap Mr. Lewis' drain.

The Mayor stated that several parties interested had volunteered to give their share toward widening Mr. Lewis' drain.

BROWN MEMORIAL.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES, that one hundred dollars be given toward the Brown Memorial in Central Park in conjunction with the Brown Memorial Committee and that a further sum of $25 be given to the Committee toward beautifying the front of the ground.—Carried.

TO TAKE CARE OF IT.

Councillor MOORE moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND, that Mr. Hayes now occupying a part of the drill shed in the Central Park be and is here by appointed caretaker of that Central Park without salary and that he be requested to prevent games being played in the park and prosecute any person for injuring the property now or that may hereafter be placed there.—Carried.

TAXES.

Councillor Davidson moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES, that the matter of the Town Solicitor's taxes on the town building be referred to the Finance Committee.—Carried.

WHERE ARE THEY?

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be and they be here by directed to furnish to this Council at its first meeting a statement showing the number of hydrants in each ward of the town, and the number of hydrants proposed to be erected, where to be placed, and the number of feet between each hydrant.—Carried.

RELINQUISHED.

Councillor McNEIL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD, that Mr. Beavis be relieved of the duty of granting dog tags, and that the Town Treasurer assume the duties of Mr. Beavis in that respect.—Carried.

AN AMBUSH.

Councillor MOORE moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND, that the clerk be instructed to issue posters stating that unless dog tags be procured at once that dogs will be destroyed.

TO CALL A MEETING.

The Mayor was given permission to call a meeting of the Council to meet the School Board in reference to the proposed Collegiate Institute.

The Council adjourned for three weeks.

Trotting Horse Killed.

CHICAGO, July 17.—A collision occurred on a bridge at Lanark Junction last night, between freight trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, the wrong signal having been given. A car containing jockeys and horses for the Freeport race was thrown into the creek. Two jockeys were badly hurt and a horse, valued at $7,500, owned by Mr. Taylor of West Union, Iowa, was killed. Another valuable trotter, was also killed. A horse owned by Otto Kirkbush of Wausau was badly injured. The train men jumped a tramp who was stealing transportation was fatally injured and died this morning.

FROM ALL OVER.

Gladstone says he will die in harness. Lord Salisbury is returning to England. Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A crying evil. Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Lewis' Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

The Servian Parliament opened yesterday. To remove Dandruff—cleanse the scalp with Prof. Lewis' Magic Sulphur Soap—a delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

National Pills is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

Mr. Gladstone is moving out of Downing street.

The Cholera.—Possibly the cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

The Mexican insurrectionists have been routed.

In IT ACTING RIGHT.—If you are troubled with inactive Liver, your complexion will be sallow, frequent sick headache, aching shoulders, dizziness, weariness, irregular bowels, and many other serious complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the Liver and all the secretions to a healthy action.

The French Ambassador at Berlin has resigned.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera Infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and most reliable remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

A QUADRUPLE FORCE.—The reason why disease is so soon expelled from the system by Burdock Blood Bitters is because that excellent remedy acts in a four fold manner—that is to say, upon the Bowels, the Liver, the Blood and the Kidneys, driving out all bad humor, and regulating every organic function.

D'Lesseps will issue Panama Canal Bonds in August.

AN OLD FAVORITE.—An old favorite, that has been popular with the people for nearly 30 years, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all varieties of Summer Complaints of children and adults. It seldom or never fails to cure Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

The Greek gallees at Liverpool, Eng., have been sent to the Zoo.

KNOWN BY THESE SIGNS.—Dyspepsia may be known by Heartburn, Sour eructations of food, Wind Belching, Weight at the Stomach, variable appetite, Costive Bowels, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters will positively cure Dyspepsia, although in its worst chronic form.

For the past quarter of a century West's Cough Syrup has given relief to thousands, and no medical compound can show out a vast number of unqualified testimonials. Ask your neighbor as to its merits. It is an unfailing cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, consumption in its early stages, and all throat and lung diseases. Price 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

REMOVED.

A MATTER OF FACT LOVER.

Jeems Broom, the goocor, is what might be called a cautious and close-fisted man of business. He always gets at the lowest cash price, and then says, "Well, I'll look about, an' I'll dinna do anything that suits me better 'ill I ca' back an' tak' this." Now Jeems is partial to the fair sex, and quite lately he said to himself, "I'm gaein' into years noo, an' may as weel get married." His business qualities would not let him wait, so off he starts, and calling on Peggy Whyte, the milliner, he opened the conversation by remarking that he would like to know what she thought about his getting married. "Oh, Maister Broom, that's a matter in which I'm no aye muckle interested, an' I wad just leav' it wi' yerseel." "But," says Jeems, "ye are interested, by good lass; the fact is, will ye marry me yerseel?" Peggy blushed, and thought this rather a strange way of popping the question, and when she remembered that offers were scarce, and that Jeems was well-to-do in the world, with a good going business and some influence in the village, she accepted him at once. Whereupon the matter-of-fact lover replied, "We'll weel; Peggy, I'll look about, an' I'll dinna do onybody that suits me better, 'ill I ca' back again!"

The generality of storekeepers frequently meet customers of the Jeems Broom stamp, who very often give an excuse if goods don't altogether suit, "I'll ca' back again," when they perhaps never intend to do so. There is no need to "Ca' back again" at Alexander's. His dry-goods are reliable and prices as close as is consistent with fair trade, and if anything is not right, he will make it right.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Temperature.
The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—3 o'clock a. m., 64; 1 o'clock p. m., 87; 3 o'clock p. m., 89.

W. C. T. U.
Flowers for the hospital will be received at Miss Henderson's store as usual on before Wednesday evening next. It is earnestly requested that those having flowers to spare will help in this work.

Baseball.
The first baseball match of the season will likely be played in the Riverside park on Saturday. The Bethany's and Peterborough's will be the contesting teams. The Maple Leafs, of Guelph, want to arrange match.

Not a Philosopher.
How do you know he bit you? questioned Mr. Moore at the court this morning. The defendant addressed did not reply that the nerves along his back and shoulder conveyed to his mind the outward notion of pain, associated with the idea that an incision was being made by the other fellow's fangs. No; he simply looked at Mr. Moore for a second and shouted. How do I know? Haven't I got flesh to feel? I guess I know when I'm being chewed up. You're just giving a little too far.

Another Purchase.
Our enterprising fellow citizen Mr. M. Carton has purchased the very valuable stock of dry goods, boots and shoes and groceries of the Bon Marche store (about eleven thousand dollars worth) and purposed to clear it out in double quick time. From Mr. Carton's well known ability and courtesy as a merchant we think we may safely recommend our friends to be on hand early and participate in the great bargains he proposes giving.

Cut With a Knife.
On Sunday afternoon as Tommy McGill a son of Mr. C. McGill, of the Ontario Bank, was about to pass through a doorway he stumbled and fell against the open blade of a penknife which he held in his hand. The blade entered his right shoulder, just below the collar bone and outside of the ribs, inflicting a deep cut. It happened that a vein was opened, and the blood rushed out with alarming profusion, saturating his clothes in a very few minutes. Dr. Fife was called and succeeded in stopping the flow.

Gun Club.
In place of the usual weekly meet of the Gun Club a match between Peterborough and Ashburnham was held on Monday afternoon. The result was as follows:—

Professional Visit.
We direct special attention to Dr. Potts' advertisement in another column, and bespeak for him a continuation of the great success in Peterborough which attends the Dr. in the other towns and villages he visits. The Norwood Register, the Campbellford News and Herald, are out last week with highly commendatory notices of the wonderful success Dr. Potts is having. Several very rare and skilful surgical operations have been performed successfully, and a number of chronic cases recovering that were abandoned as hopeless by the local physicians.

25 to 30 per cent saved now by buying special goods selected for sacrifice at the Golden Lion, R. FAIR.

Attention Oddfellows.
The attention of the members of Ottonabee Lodge is called to the fact that the Oddfellows of Port Perry will arrive in Peterborough on a visit at 9 a. m. on Thursday 22nd inst. Members of Ottonabee Lodge are particularly requested to meet at the G. T. R. Station at the above named hour to give the visiting brothers a fitting reception.

Death of Dr. Norris.
Dr. George A. Norris, of Omomee, a gentleman who was well known in this section of the country, died in Ottonabee on Sunday morning. Dr. Norris was Reeve of Omomee at the time of his death, and had held that position for seven years, and he was for a time Warden of the County of Victoria. He was a prominent member of the Methodist Church, having for a number of years been on the Missionary Committee of that Church. He was a graduate of Victoria University. Dr. Norris was 61 years of age, and was highly respected.

Local Lumber Interests.
This year's drives of logs which have passed Peterborough, or which have reached, or will reach their destination here, number about a dozen, belonging to six lumbering firms. The aggregate number of pieces of timber belonging to each of these firms, which have come down the Ottonabee, or shortly will come, are as follows:—Messrs. Rathbun & Co., 100,000; Mr. D. Ulyott, 50,000; Messrs. Gilmour & Co., 25,000; Mr. T. G. Hazlett, 70,000; Mr. George Hillard, 45,000; Mr. James Irwin, 85,000. The figures as given are simply approximate. Messrs. Rathbun manufacture at Deerfont, Messrs. Gilmour & Co. at Trenton, Mr. Ulyott at Rice Lake, and Messrs. Hillard, Hazlett and Irwin at Peterborough.

Penal Point.
—No one seemed to notice the boat put off by Councillor Menzies on the thirteenth night at last night's Council meeting.
—At least if they did they were too serious to laugh.

—Several complaints have been made as to the non-enforcement of the cow-by-law.
—A by-law to regulate the extent in which a small boy may be permitted to commit depredations is urgently needed.

—A resident of the west end found on Sunday evening that two sons of respectable people had, during his absence from home, almost completely destroyed a valuable flower garden.

—One of those gentlemen whose name appeared in "town talk" yesterday was quite angry about it. He didn't mean to say it in the way it was said.

—The fortnightly regatta is to be held tomorrow evening.

Fined.
The Police Magistrate delivered judgment in the Queen vs. Roddy case this morning. He held that Mr. Wm. Reynolds was Mr. Roddy's agent and that the lease was invalid, being concocted to evade the law. Mr. Roddy paid his landlord $750 a year rent while under this lease. Mr. Reynolds was to pay $1,700 a year rent. He could not understand how that rent could be paid for a room in which only soft stuff was sold. The selling of lemonade and giving whiskey was merely selling whiskey by subterfuge. He found the defendant guilty and fined him $100. Mr. Roddy was called and admitted that he had been unlawfully fined before. The offence having been admitted the judgment was confirmed. Mr. Roddy stated that he was innocent of both charges, and that he had not been in the hotel business for the last four years. He asked the court whether, if he moved into a private house, there would be any danger of his being hauled up again.

Town Talk.
Here's a pretty mess—Councillor Cahill. Never mind; you'll see I'll do my duty—Councillor Moore.
Me too—Town Solicitor.
Well, frim, Tommy, they've put you out of the dog tag business—Inspector Wilson.
Yes, I believe they have got me on their list this time—Thomas Beavis, Local License Inspector.
Deliver up your two hundred and the dog tags—Councillor Menzies.
This gentleman, Mr. Beavis, seems to be a prominent character—The people that don't know him.
Wasn't the recital grand?—The people who want to hear the music.
Don't you think Mr. Davies looks a little like Mr. Fred Bell?—Those who want to see Mr. Davies.
He called me an animal and then went and fined me $20—The defendant.
Well, why didn't you fight fairly?—The Magistrate.

Personal.
The Brookville Recorder says:—"Three Peterborough canoeists, Messrs. C. A. Lawford, W. F. Hamilton and J. Morris, arrived here on Saturday and intended remaining for a week. They are encamped on Refugee Island. Mr. Hamilton is a brother of Mr. R. M. Hamilton of the Bank of Montreal, who will spend the week with the campers."
Miss Jennie Ford and Miss Emily Lipkey, of Milwaukee, are in town on a visit. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Rutherford.
Mr. Rufus Stevenson left town to-day on a trip to the eastern Provinces. He sails from Port Hope to Montreal, from Montreal to Quebec, and thence to Halifax. He will be absent for about two weeks.
Mr. Bruce A. Ludgate has passed his final examination before the Board of Provincial Land Surveyors. Mr. Ludgate has given much time to attain proficiency, and he is be congratulated on this visible sign of it. He intends locating in Peterborough.
Mr. Robert Rankin, of the Ottawa Journal, passed through Peterborough on Monday to attend the funeral of his uncle, the late Dr. Norris, of Omomee.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

TUESDAY July 17.—Robt. Henderson, of Smith, was charged by Fred Spratt, with having committed an assault on him.

The circumstances as given by the complainant was as follows:—Alick McNaughton and me were talking about the Protestants and Catholics, at Nassau. While we were talking Henderson came up and hit me on the ear and said that I was not worth licking. I then went away a few yards and told him to keep away. He then came at me again and started to bite. He bit me in four places—three times on the shoulder and once on the back.

To Mr. Moore.—I deny that I threatened to drown a boy. I did call a boy named Gilroy a Protestant b—ch. There were several around but they told him to put it to me. They didn't try to take him off.

ROBT. HENDERSON, the defendant said that while he was passing Spratt he heard his name mentioned. He turned around and asked what he was saying. He then asked Spratt about Gilroy and then hit Spratt a tap on the ear. When turning to go to the pump for a drink of water Spratt grabbed him by the legs. He hit Spratt a few times.

The MAGISTRATE—Did you bite him?
DEFENDANT—Well, not to my knowledge I didn't.

The MAGISTRATE—But could you bite a man four times and chew him all up without remembering it? Is that the kind of an animal you are? Have you any doubt about having bitten him?

DEFENDANT—I couldn't say.

MAGISTRATE—Well, I'll deal mercifully with your case. I have tried it as a common assault, else you wouldn't be permitted to give evidence. I don't much mind a couple of fellows having a square fight, if they have something to fight about; but you have chosen to believe what some one else has said, and have taken upon yourself the responsibility of beating a man. You are big enough to have beaten him in a square fight. I fine you $20 and costs, to be paid forthwith, in default of payment imprisonment for one month.

USE MIKADO BAKING POWDER, absolutely pure, at Hawley Bros.

The Mikado.

A little scene from the mikado was acted at last night's council meeting. Mr. W. H. Moore, counsel for Mr. Morgan, sent a request to the council to refund a fine paid under protest by Mr. Morgan. As counsel for Mr. Morgan it was Mr. Moore's duty to make all possible effort to obtain the remission of the fine; again, as a member of the Council he was in duty bound to see the town come out first best. The Council disposed of the matter by referring it to Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor and Counsel for the Scott Act Association. Councillor Cahill doesn't know exactly what to do under the circumstances.

A Murderer Lynched.

Is an expression of Milton regarding the "infernal world." It is not too much to say that those who suffer from catarrh would thus express themselves about that disease. Torture and despair mark their daily existence. However, every case can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. It specially cures all bad smut, is thoroughly cleansing, antiseptic, soothing and healing in its effects.

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as has been reduced, to $2.25 per one hundred pounds. This is a mistake. I offer, in common with all other Dealers and Millers, a Good Family Flour at $2.25, but the brand "Bakers" is still retained at $2.50 per hundred.

"BAKERS"

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred.

BAKER'S FLOUR, (ground from Manitoba Hard and Ontario Spring Wheat), $2.50 per Hundred.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 21, 1886.

MR. BLAKE'S ALLIES.

The electoral campaign in the Province of Quebec is now being conducted with vigor. Though in the theory it is a Provincial contest, it throws a very strong light upon Dominion politics. In fact hardly a single local question has any prominence or excites any vivid interest, so completely are they overshadowed by the absorbing topic of whether vengeance shall be obtained for the execution of Riel. The Rouges and their allies, the Rielites Bleus, are avowedly directing all their energies to the defeat of the Quebec Administration, because it did not insist upon immunity for Riel. They are equally explicit in their threats of banding themselves together on the same issue against the Macdonald Administration till they avenge Riel's death at the hands of justice by bullying it from power.

Mr. Blake's old supporters from Quebec and his new allies in the House of Commons are in the very thick of the fight. As they clamor for vengeance upon Sir John Macdonald for not having snatched Riel from the hands of justice, so they promise to reward Mr. Blake with office because of his course in Parliament on this question, his sympathy for the murderous rebel and his hostility to the authorities of Canada for permitting his execution. On this ground they band themselves together and ask their compatriots to band themselves together under the leadership of Mr. Blake, their chosen chief, as the leading advocate of rebellion and murder, of treason to our country and hostility to its constitutional authorities.

As the fate of Riel is thus made the leading question in Dominion politics, it is important to ascertain what is the meaning of the Rielites, what their motive and aim. In Quebec they are not at all reticent as to their meaning. Those friends and supporters of Mr. Blake openly proclaim that their object is to avenge the punishment of Riel, because he was of French extraction and a Roman Catholic. They declare that his execution was an insult to their race and their creed that can only be expiated by the political ruin of those who suffered it, and the political promotion of the leader who sympathizes with their claim for the immunity of a criminal who happens to be French and Roman Catholic. This is the issue in the second Province of our Dominion; it is on this issue that the political leaders are to be supported or opposed. It is idle for Mr. Blake and his lieutenants in the other Provinces to endeavor to mystify the electors, and to pretend that this is not the true question at issue. The new coalition supporting them, in return for aid and sympathy, have made it the question on the platform, and will make it the question at the polls. They declare that Sir John Macdonald and his friends are to be opposed because they treated Riel as a rebel and murderer; that Mr. Blake and his friends are to be supported because they treated Riel as a martyr.

The Rielite Reformers in Ontario declare that the question of Riel's execution is a dead issue, and that the Conservatives should let it drop—in Ontario. This will not do; Mr. Blake and his friends cannot be permitted to play fast and loose in this manner, however convenient it may be for them. As Mr. Blake formerly clamored for Riel's punishment for the murder of Scott in order to gain votes in Ontario, so he denounced the punishment of Riel, with additional crimes on his head, in order to gain votes in Quebec; as the champion of immunity from punishment for a French and Roman Catholic criminal he has obtained the benefit in our sister province of this ill-considered bargain, though probably not to the extent that he anticipated when he thus degraded himself. He cannot secure this dearly earned advantage in Quebec and then pretend in Ontario that it is a matter of no importance, a dead issue, a question that should not be discussed. In Ontario as in Quebec Mr. Blake is the Rielite chief.

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—The motives that actuated C. W. Sawers in having published an extract as the true account of the Belfast riots, taken from the Week, whose columns are teeming with insults against every thing Catholic and Irish, were nothing more or less than to fling insult in the face of every Catholic reader of the Review.

If Mr. Sawers had such deep interest in the Belfast riots and was anxious that the readers of the Review should have the true facts of the case he should have placed himself in a position to obtain the truth and not attempt to palm off on an intelligent public a cock and bull story prepared by the incendiary editor of the Week, whose aim is not to supply the truth, but to supply readable matter cooked and seasoned by prejudice and bigotry to suit the majority of its readers.

By kindly inserting the enclosed article published in the Dublin Weekly Freeman on June 12th, as the true account from aye-ye witness, you will oblige him whose object in having the same published is to expose the falsehood in the Week's extract.

Yours truly,

J. M. QUINN.

Keele, July 17th, 1886.

Belfast, Friday night.

This afternoon an outrage was perpetrated and cowardly has been equalled in the annals even of Belfast. At the Queen's Island, when a body of men marched on a number of workmen at the Alexandra Dock, and attacked them with sticks, stones, and other weapons, assaulting several very seriously, and compelling others to fly for their lives into the mud accumulated in the river. The deplorable occurrence originated, it would seem, in a personal quarrel between two workmen on the previous day. Different versions are given of this row, but all the accounts tally in the main particularly that it was of a party nature. The two men in question were employed at the Alexandra Dock, the construction of which is being carried out by the Harbour Commissioners. On Thursday they disputed over some trivial circumstance in connection with the making of a drain, and the religious or political element was introduced, with the result that blows were exchanged, and some excitement created among the workmen. The affair, so far as the dock hands were concerned, would soon have been forgotten had it not been for the conduct of a few bigoted persons who, availing of the opportunity for outbreak on religious grounds, reported the matter. Youths, actuated by a desire to do a good deed, and of the Catholic employees, were not long about settling to work. They possessed their souls in patience until the dinner hour yesterday, and then, at about half-past one, formed into something like a procession, and made a deliberate onslaught on the companions of the man who was supposed to have given offence.

It is at this point that the line of demarcation as regards religion entered into the cases. The men at the dock were chiefly Catholics, and their assailants were exclusively Protestants, many of them being, it is understood, members or adherents of the Orange Institution. The Catholics numbered about one hundred, and the Protestants who participated in the disorderly proceedings are variously estimated at from two to three thousand in number. That the attack was premeditated is admitted on all sides. The attacking party had laid their plans with a certain degree of skill. It was intended to preserve the secret of the plot in order to facilitate the decisive completion of the task, but a rumour got abroad, that they would probably receive a visit of an unusual character during the day. They, however, placed little reliance on the statement thus conveyed to them, and went to work, and continued at it up to the mid-day meal hour. At that time they sat down, according to custom, to partake of refreshment, and were engaged along the banks in this manner on the approach of the Protestant party. The approach of the latter was signalled by shouts of "To it with the boys," and "No Home Rule," and threats of vengeance on the Catholics were uttered by several of them as they rushed towards the men. In less time than is occupied in writing it, the onslaught was begun, the vast body of men falling on the Roman Catholics, and beating them with sticks, stones, and iron bars, as must be expected, the Roman Catholics, finding themselves hemmed in at all quarters, and quite at the mercy of their assailants, attempted to make good their escape. The fiery spirit of the howling mob were determined that none should escape, and every possible effort was made to ensure their remaining on the ground.

Driven to extremities, the defenceless Roman Catholics, who had no weapons whatever near them, were compelled to make for the river, where a raft was obtained, upon which a few scrambled at great risk. Others were driven into the mud, and in the confusion more than one fell into the water and narrowly escaped drowning. Those who had the hardihood to remain on shore were dealt with in a savage fashion. One man was knocked down and kicked by a crowd of ruffians, and another, who had previously received a severe wound from a blow of a stick, was felled to the ground by a stone, and while down had a large stone thrown on top of him.

A series of accounts have been received from eye-witnesses, all of whom agree that the Catholics, because of their numerical weakness, were unable to resist the outrageous assault leveled against them. The deliberate attempt to sink the raft, of which I have already spoken, was perhaps the worst feature of the attack. Not content with driving the unfortunate laborers into the river, the cowardly band, when they got them there, pelted them with stones, and danced with frantic delight at the prospect of consigning them to the depths of the Lagan. A young lad who was roughly treated and then driven into the water, was stoned by the mob on the bank, who shouted, "There's another Home Rule gone!" Luckily, however, he succeeded in gaining the bank, and afterwards in escaping from the scene of action. Numerous instances are given of wanton assaults on mere boys who had come to the place with dinner for their relatives. After ten or twelve minutes of hot work the attacking party withdrew, cheering, yelling and cursing as before, satisfied that they had achieved a conquest.

This day at two o'clock being held for the funeral of the boy Carran, who was murdered, the worst apprehensions were entertained as to rioting, as the Catholics determined to murder in great force and make an imposing demonstration. The deceased resided in French street. Ballymacarrett, and not less than seven thousand people had assembled in the neighborhood when the funeral procession started. The funeral went by way of Short strand and Bridge end to the Antrim side, and the road was lined with police and detectives. On reaching the Queen's bridge an immense contingent from the Market district joined the procession, and again at Castle place a contingent was added, which swelled the number present to something like thirty thousand. The processionists were respectable and orderly, and their appearance was really imposing. They marched steadily and with a solemnity that belittled the occasion. They went up Mill street and Davis street, the windows all along the route being filled with sympathizers with the cause. A great number of the Orange party had gathered at Dover street, which is on the route of the procession, but they thought it inexpedient to interfere with so vast a multitude of people.

There was some commotion at this point in the rank of the procession, and it was found to arise from the fact that some stones were thrown at the hearse, but nothing serious.

The procession then proceeded by way of Falls-road to the Catholic cemetery, the numbers increasing as it went along. Near the cemetery, a number of the Orange party made a more audacious attack on the procession and threw stones towards the coffin which had been carried all the way from the deceased's house, a distance of three miles. The processionists in large numbers broke out of the ranks and pursued the Orangemen, chasing them a very great distance, and then rejoined the ranks. The rest of the way was completed in peace.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to take, soothes the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for all the troubles which arise from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Receipts of lumber at Selkirk, Manitoba, are now considerable, and a large force of men is engaged in unloading barges and piling in the yards.

Reports from Temiscamingue state the timber drives on the Kippewa and Upper Ottawa are successful this season, notwithstanding that fears were entertained at an earlier date concerning the insufficiency of the spring floods.

JOHN O'NEILL, a river man, was with a companion piling a log off a rock in the Snake rapids, when the stick swung around and knocked both into the water. The other man swam ashore but O'Neill was drowned. The Enterprise says he belonged to Eganville and was the sole support of his aged mother.

On July 16th a young man named Hunter White, engaged in taking float wood from the river at Miller's dam, Trenton, Ont., fell off a pier into the slide, through which a drive of logs for the Gilmour Co. was running, and was crushed to death. The body has not yet been recovered. Hunter was 19 years of age and only out from Ireland a few days.

On July 19th a large party of men reached Ottawa, who had been at work on French river, on the drive of Emery & Co., who are cutting an extensive limit situated on the tributaries of that stream and shipping to Michigan. They report the drive as a very successful one. Eugene Marcier, the foreman of the gang, though a young man, has for some time been looked on as a first-class man.

The first through train on the Canadian Pacific railway, from Montreal to Port Moody, which lately made the run, accomplished the distance, 2,775 miles, in 134 hours, or at an average speed of 21 1/2 miles an hour. This is said to be better time than is made on the older transcontinental lines, but not so fast as it is intended when arrangements have been perfected.

MR. R. M. MARCHANT, says London Truth, has perfected an engine in which the steam is returned to the boiler, and so, to say, used over and over again. The saving in coal thus to be effected, is calculated at eight per cent. Besides saving coal, this invention will upset a pet theory of the engineering fraternity, who have always considered this problem as impossible as perpetual motion.

The Campbellford Herald of July 15th says: Rathbun and Gilmour's large drive of logs is still on the move. The tail end is now at Beaver Creek, and will not arrive for about three weeks. It is said to be one of the largest that has ever come down the Trent. Another drive will follow it from the Ottonabee river. The drive which passed here last year contained nearly five hundred thousand pieces.

MR. H. P. McCRAE, son of Mr. W. McCRAE, M. P., was in Vancouver during the first conflagration. He had a narrow escape with his life, and, as it was, but all his clothes, except those in which he stood. Mr. McCRAE having finished a heavy contract on the Vancouver Island Railway, recently purchased an interest in a saw mill in Vancouver city. He was one of the few fortunate ones whose premises were not burned out.

The Ottawa Citizen of July 15th says: Very few lumber sales are reported of late weeks. The excessive shipping during the early part of the season was owing to large contracts which had been made in advance during the fall and winter by American buyers, who seem now to be fully supplied. A very considerable quantity of three-inch lumber is being put through the saws for a Quebec dealer.

A LETTER from Tadoussac, Que., says the cut of saw logs in that section has been very large this year. At Chicoutimi for Price Bros., 300,000 were cut, and Grand Bay from 60,000 to 80,000; 120,000 at L'Anse St. Etienne; 18,000 at Little Bergeronnes and 81,000 at Sault au Cochon. Messrs. Price also purchased the deals from the logs cut for the English company of the seignior of Mille Vaches at Port Neuf, where they are loaded for the English market.

An exchange says:—Years ago two fences on a we farm were built of basswood rails. In one, the rails had been cut in summer; in the other the rails had been cut in winter. The winter cut rails rotted, but the summer cut became hard like iron and lasted for a very long time. It is explained that in the rails cut in winter the sap was a long time in drying, and that in consequence it fermented and spoiled the wood; while the rails cut in summer seasoned rapidly in the hot weather and hardened.

Operations on the Saguenay.
QUEBEC, July 17.—Numbers of vessels are loading this year in the Saguenay for the account of Messrs. Price Bros. & Co. The cut of logs in the Saguenay district was very large last winter, and in most of the establishments on the North Shore, operations were conducted entirely on Messrs. Price Bros.' account. In the vicinity of Chicoutimi three hundred thousand logs were cut, and from Grande Baie from sixty to eighty thousand. At St. Etienne Bay the cut was over a hundred and twenty thousand logs, the St. Marguerite river, and at Sault au Cochon eighty-one thousand. At the little Bergeronnes, eighteen thousand logs have been cut. The Messrs. Price have also bought the deals produced by the logs cut by the English company of the seignior of Mille Vaches, the site of whose operations is Portneuf en bas.

A Railway Collision.

STRATHROY, Ont., July 19.—This morning, while a freight train was pulling into the station to clear the east-bound express, it broke loose, and before the train could be got clear of the main line it was run into by the express, which set fire to the conductor's van and one car of freight. The Strathroy Fire Brigade were called out to extinguish the fire. The engine was thrown across the track, the driver of which had his arm broken in jumping. The baggage-man was also slightly bruised. No passengers were injured or cars damaged on the express.

A ballot box from the Chilcoteen polling booth in Lillooet District, B. C., is missing, and is supposed to have been lost in crossing a river.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

At Summerside, P. E. I., during a recent storm a cow, a cat, fifteen sheep, a horse and a dog were killed by lightning. The dog was trotting along under a wagon when struck.

IS IT ACTING RIGHT.—If you are troubled with inactive Liver, your complexion will be sallow, frequent sick headache, aching shoulders, dizziness, weariness, irregular bowels, and many other serious complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the Liver and all the secretions to a healthy action.

Brampton has a dog that has howled regularly every night for twelve months, and the effect on the dog has been to reduce a powerful baritone voice to a hoarse yelp. The animal's early disease is anxiously desired.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera Infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and most reliable remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The Sabbath School statistics of the Nova Scotia Methodist Conference show an average attendance of 1,000 in excess of last year. The number of conversions reported was 64, and the number of children pledged against intoxicating liquors, tobacco, and profanity, 3,197, an increase of 1,329 over the previous year.

A QUADRUPLE FEVER.—The reason why disease is so soon expelled from the system by Burdock Blood Bitters is because that excellent remedy acts in a four fold manner—that is to say, upon the Bowels, the Liver, the Blood and the Kidneys, driving out all bad humor, and regulating every organic function.

MR. GEORGE PEARL, a leading farmer of East Garafraxa, was found dead in a field a few days ago. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of death. He was a native of Scotland, much respected in the community in which he was known, and a zealous Liberal in politics. His widow and family are well provided for.

AN OLD FAVORITE.—An old favorite, that has been popular with the people for nearly 30 years, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all varieties of Summer Complaints of children and adults. It seldom over fails to cure Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

The city of Albany, New York, will hold a bi-centennial celebration next week.
KNOWN BY THESE SIGNS.—Dyspepsia may be known by heartburn, sour eructations of food, Wind Belching, Weight at the Stomach, Variable appetite, Costive Bowels, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters will positively cure Dyspepsia, although in its worst chronic form.

Killed by Indians.
TOMBSTONE, Ariz., July 20.—It is reported that the Prefect of Opocura, Sonora, and four companions were killed by Apaches last week while on their way to examine mining property. They had an escort of fifteen men. The others escaped. It is said there were eighty Indians in the fight.

Killed by Lightning.
St. Hilare, Minn., July 20. During a violent storm on Sunday afternoon four Indians were killed and ten injured by lightning in the Red Lake reservation. Some of the injured will die. It is reported a settler and his wife were killed in the same way.

Probably Would Be.
Miss Joy—"Madam, Mr. Foster has come to take me for a drive, may I go, madam?"
Madam—"You know, Miss Joy, the rules of Vassar do not allow it, unless you are engaged—are you engaged to Mr. Foster?"
Miss Joy (doubtfully): "No, but if you let me go I shall be by the time we get back."

Forest Fire.
MUSKOGEE, Mich., July 17.—For the past twenty-four hours this city has been enveloped in smoke from fires in the surrounding forests. It is impossible to see any distance at all and it was not for occasional puffs of air from the lake, the atmosphere would be almost suffocating. There has been no rain for weeks and no sign of it. The crops are suffering severely. From all quarters come reports of extensive forest fires. The farmers about Twin Lakes, Holton, Whitehall and North Holland have been battling with the flames for days, and many of them have been obliged to move their families and household goods on account of the threatened danger.

For the past quarter of a century West's Cough Syrup has given relief to thousands, and no medicine compound can show such a vast number of unqualified testimonials. Ask your neighbor as to its merits. It is an unfailing cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, consumption in its early stages, and all throat and lung diseases. Price 25c. and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by D. J. Tully.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorder of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

CURE BILIOUSNESS.

John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebr., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor. I feel certain that I owe my recovery to your invaluable Pills."

CURE INDIGESTION.

Ayer's Pills act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, influencing healthful action, imparting strength, and eradicating disease. G. W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T., writes: "I have suffered from Dyspepsia and Liver troubles for years past. I found no permanent relief, until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, which have effected a complete cure."

CURE RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is among the most painful of the disorders arising from vitiated blood and derangement of the digestive and biliary organs. Ayer's Pills relieve and cure Rheumatism when other remedies fail. S. M. Spencer, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I was confined to my bed, with Rheumatism, three months, but, after using a few boxes of Ayer's Pills, became a well man."

CURE GOUT.

S. Lansing, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "Recommended to me as a cure for chronic Costiveness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me not only from that trouble, but also from Gout. If every victim of the disease would heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. Those words would be, 'Try Ayer's Pills.'"

CURE PILES.

Piles are induced by habitual constipation, debility, indigestion, or a morbid condition of the liver. A cure is best effected by the use of Ayer's Pills. John Lazarus, St. John, N. B., writes: "I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only cured me of that disagreeable disorder, but gave me new life and health."

THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1886.

DOMINION, NOT SECTIONAL.

ACCORDING to the report of the Globe Mr. Blake made some most extraordinary admissions in his recent public speech at Newcastle. Speaking of the people of Manitoba and the Hudson Bay route, he declared that he had supported them in their efforts to obtain it. He added, however:

"But you will see that the consequences of their success may be serious to us all. If that is the way for wheat to go, it is the way for manufactured goods to come, and instead of a true connection between the west and the older provinces, we establish a trade connection between the west and Britain."

So Mr. Blake to curry favour with Manitoba pretended to favour their views as to the Hudson Bay route. Then in Ontario he laments that this was forced upon him, and bewails the damage that it is helping to do to the trade of "the older provinces."

This is quite in keeping with Mr. Blake's tricky conduct as a politician, any quibble is acceptable that will for the moment help his own side and tell against his opponents, even though the grossest inconsistency, to meet the present emergency. But we believe that Mr. Blake's view of the question is as restricted, as his devices are paltry. We have never hesitated to insist that the Hudson Bay route should be tested and opened if practically possible, nor to express our belief that it will be of service to our great North West, even if it should not fully attain the anticipations of its most sanguine advocates. And we have done this with no view of popularity hunting among our friends in the Northwest, while really believing that if successful it would be injurious to Eastern Canada. We spurn these party sectional cries, having faith in our Dominion as a whole and its thriving with the progress of its several parts. The Canadian Northwest is too vast, will be too rich to have only one outlet, and soon not two or three will suffice. Open communications for the Northwest by the Hudson Bay and the Pacific. The only effect would be, as regards these provinces, that the increased progress and prosperity of newer Canada, would inevitably increase their transactions with us. Even from selfish motives alone we need not grudge them any such accommodation. But beyond that we believe in our Dominion, its prosperity as a grand whole, and have no sympathy with these narrow sectional views of the future of our country.

SARDINE-BERRINGS.

THE Yankee fishermen have another outrage to lay to the charge of Canada. It seems that the Canadian authorities have been so unkind as to refuse to allow Yankee fishermen to buy small herrings from Canadian fishermen in order to convert them into sardines. This they represent as a restriction of trade, which the United States should resent. So far the people of the United States do not seem to be greatly distressed at being deprived of the luxury of Canadian herrings, converted by Yankee ingenuity into the best French or Italian sardines.

This talk of the fishermen (and sardine manufacturers) of Maine and Massachusetts about refusing trading privileges is very absurd. The law of nations, the law of the United States and the law of Canada, all make a distinction between trading and fishing vessels. Different regulations affect the two classes of vessels, and these regulations have to be observed. Yankee trading vessels, observing the necessary formalities and complying with our laws, can enter Canadian ports and there trade without hindrance. Yankee fishing vessels, not entering as traders, cannot trade even in the raw material for sardines, neither can they be allowed to obtain bait under cover of this subterfuge.

It must in fairness be said that the United States authorities, the United States press and people, take as a general rule a very sensible view of this fishery question. They manifest little sympathy with the preposterous claims of the Yankee fishermen and sardine manufacturers. They begin to see very clearly that the Maine and Massachusetts fishermen obtained the abrogation of the fishery clause of the Washington treaty by false pretences, alleging that the privileges we give were valueless though now they are confessed to be all-important. The idea was that they could withdraw all privileges granted to Canada and at the same time retain all privileges granted by Canada. It was ingenious but it has not been successful, and hence the outcry.

HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ORANGE CELEBRATION.—Our township was well represented at the gathering at Bobcaygeon in honor of the memory of Boyne water. Several lodges had assembled at that village and formed a fine procession headed by the village band, as they proceeded to the park to give audience to the several speakers who were to address them. The speaking delivered in the park was the prominent feature of the day. The honored gentlemen of the village were present, and delivered addresses, of which the Rev. Mr. Farncomb's address merits special mention. He spoke very impartially, stating first the particulars of the siege of Londonderry, thus showing very vividly the heroism and honesty of purpose displayed in the characters of those who had undergone famine, peril, etc., rather than have given up their town to the ravages of the enemy; last, the narration of the penal laws placed upon the Romanists in retaliation for the wrongs suffered from their hands. He said "A Roman Catholic has feelings, and we cannot bring them back from their faith by trampling on them. Those who have suffered should know how to deal with those suffering. If Orangemen take the sword to put down Catholicism, they must hope to perish by the sword. This he proved, quoting our Saviour's words in reply to the disciple who smote the ear of the servant of the High Priest. The sword should be the last resort, and as we have done in the past, so we will do in the future—trust in God." Rev. Mr. Pearson, of Lindsay, spoke very emphatically in favor of Orangemen.

HYMNICAL.—On Monday, July 12th, Mr. Wm. Beattie, head sawyer in "Port Nudge Mill," and Miss Victoria Brumell, daughter of Geo. Brumell, Esq., of this township, joined hands and pledged their vows for better or for worse. They received the best wishes of their friends for their future welfare, and a long and happy married life.

EXAMINATION.—The public examination of pupils of S. S. No. 2, Harvey, held at the close of the term, was a great success. The children are to be commended for their regular attendance during the last term, the average daily attendance being 39 for the term. The parents showed a deal of interest in the educational progress of their children, there being over 40 visitors in attendance.

Lumber by Railway.

The Montreal Star of July 20th says: A new departure has taken place in the shipment of lumber from the western districts. Previous to the opening of the C. P. R. the whole of the lumber and square timber was forwarded by water to the loading port. Mr. G. M. Bowditch, the freight agent of the C. P. R., stated to a Star reporter this morning that the great lumber merchants in the districts round Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing had forwarded no less than 3,500 car loads of square timber, representing 2,000,000 square feet, to Montreal within the last two months. The timber consists almost entirely of pine, and is sent on to Quebec for shipment to various ports.

A Drowning Accident.

OTTAWA, July 21.—Additional particulars received of the drowning accident at Rock's mill, on the Lemoine river, state that a jami took place Monday week. The gang went to work to break it up. The jam broke suddenly, and the men made a rush for the banks. All succeeded in escaping except two men one of whom, named Fred Whistler, after rushing down with the current for some considerable distance and being terribly knocked about by the mass of logs, lost his hold and vanished. Shortly afterwards some of the gang succeeded in saving the other man who was terribly bruised and knocked about, and was carried 120 miles to the hospital in this city.

Supposed Wreck.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Captain Reuch, of the tug Morford, yesterday picked up in the lake, of Kenosha, the pilot house and poop deck of a lumber barge. The house was painted red and on either side of it were the letters "S.S.", but Captain Reuch was unable to trace the rest of the name. In the pilot house he found the wheel intact, and took it aboard the Morford and will bring it to Chicago. It is feared some vessel with her crew has gone to the bottom.

Capture of Revolutionists.

St. LOUIS, Mo., July 21.—A telegram from Matamoros, Mex., says it is reported that Colonel Hernandez has captured fifteen revolutionists, among them the leader, Adolfo Gonzalez, whom it was reported he had hung, but the report is not given much credence to. The prisoners now here have not yet been shot.

Accident to a Circus Train.

HOULTON, Maine, July 21.—Europeau's circus train, while running five miles below Woodstock this morning, jumped the track. One car was smashed and several horses killed.

Some Miraculous Results.

Have followed the use of Dr. Doremus's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of persons from dandruff and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Doremus, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. Tully, agent for Peterborough.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for all disorders of the system, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MISS S. ARMSTRONG

FLOUR.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as

"BAKERS"

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred.

The Irish population of England is 600,000, being 4000 less than it was fifteen years ago. During the general election the leading journal spoke of "hundreds of thousands" of Irish voters. A competent authority says that there are not 30,000 Irish voters scattered over the whole of England, and a sixth part of that number live in Liverpool, where, at the general election, the Irish voters were given against the Tory candidates, all of whom won.

Lady Dufferin's Peril.

According to a report just to hand, Lady Dufferin is indebted to the tact and courage of Lord William Boreford for a escape from imminent peril at Simla. Her Ladyship was, it appears, driving on the Mall, when her pony became unmanageable, and bolted off at a furious pace. Attempts to stop the animal were made in vain, but at the critical moment Lord William Boreford came along on horseback, and instantly dashed at the runaway, but could not restrain it. Quick as thought, his Lordship went ahead, leaped from his horse, and threw himself on the pony as it came up, by a desperate effort, stopped it in its headlong career.—London Society.

Wooden Turbines. Wooden turbines have of late been proposed to meet the demand for an efficient and cheap water motor for small powers, and there is every reason to believe that within certain limits they will meet with a very favorable reception. Turbines, it must be remembered, have the advantage of being small in bulk for their power, and equally efficient for the highest and lowest falls, and were it not for the fact that they are constructed wholly of metal their use would probably have long since become a general. Wooden wheels can in some cases be readily procured at a comparatively low price, and as the question of first cost and ease of repairs enters very largely into the problem of successfully utilizing small water powers for some purposes, and is of greater importance than a high efficiency, turbines have often been unable to compete with wheels of other types. This state of things, it is thought, can be changed by using wood as the structural material, thus securing the advantages of turbines without their drawbacks, and it has been found that in this way their cost can be reduced to about one fourth of that of iron turbines. In some parts of Europe wheels of this class have been constructed partly of oak and partly of yew, and the results are understood to have been highly satisfactory in every respect.—Carpentry and Building.

Sons of What?
At the drill shed this forenoon both the Mayor and Bro. Sproule persisted in calling the Sons of England the "Sons of Temperance." The men who wear the red roses, good naturedly repudiated the title and then Bro. Sproule committed himself again in favor of the S. O. E. by saying that he called them the Sons of England because there was so much need of such an organization just now.

The party got home just in time to be caught in the rain storm at the station. The Rev. Mr. Beck and the Rev. Mr. Gibson, of Norwood were present at the picnic.

SECOND FORTNIGHTLY REGATTA.

A Title for a New song: "Rowing in the Rain."

The people who devised such a dreadful thing as to exhume the body of St. Swithin and carry it off to somewhere else have made themselves forever unpopular with those who wanted to see the regatta on Wednesday evening. They think that these people might just have let the pious saint rest where he was and not make future generations stay at home when they wanted to see a regatta.

At seven o'clock the races were to have commenced. At half past five it was quite clear and bright. At half past seven it was thundering and kicking up all sorts of rows up in the clouds. Quite a lot of people got as far down as the Canadian Pacific Railway station where they suddenly came to a halt on that discretion was the better part of valor. Others, a few, wanted to see the races so bad that they took their umbrellas, dared the storm, and went and sat on the bank at Burnham's point.

At the signal J. Sheehy and W. Mathews, F. Mercer and H. W. Kent, and A. Stevenson and G. Stevenson all started off in double sculls. The first pair soon dropped out, leaving the contest between the other two. In anything but a walk over the two Stevensons won the race.

N. H. Rainer and F. Stevenson pulled for honors in the single scull race. Both went off together and both rounded the buoys together. But the bow of the light boat in which the latter pulled in, unfortunately stuck up out of the water on account of not being properly ballasted, and the high wind blew it all over. The former pulled a good oar, steered like a professional, and won the race. A match has been made between these two for the next regatta.

The four oared came next. The crews were: J. Sheehy, bow, P. Henry, A. Stevenson, and G. Stevenson, stroke; J. McDonald, bow, F. Mercer, W. Mathews and H. W. Kent stroke. The race was a first rate one. The two crews strained every muscle without either gaining scarcely an inch of advantage all the way to the buoys. At the buoys the Kent crew by a clever turn gained a full length. This, but scarcely more, they held till the finish.

Thus ended the regatta. The people on the banks who had the luck to stay there through the rain, and the oarsmen who had the nerve to carry out their promises regardless of lashing waves and a gale of wind, all came back to town.

It seems that the superior prowess of the Kent crew is not yet ascertained to by the other crew. The Stevenson crew hereby challenge the Kent crew to row the same race at the next regatta for a barrel of flour, to be given to the Protestant Home.

Decided.
The proprietorship of the H. A. Hammond model, so long in dispute, was decided in the P. A. A. grounds on Wednesday afternoon. The final draw was played by Messrs. Peck and Retallack, resulting in a win for the latter of the two first sets by 6-1, 6-1. Mr. Retallack is to be congratulated on his success. Several tennis players watched the contest with much interest, marking the clever, quick play of the "best tennis player in the Association." It was to find out who was the best player that the model was given.

Lawn Picnic.
The Mission Sunday School children had their annual picnic at "Oakhurst," the residence of Mr. W. W. Johnston, on Wednesday afternoon. The Mission School, situated in the lower part of the town, is a non sectional Sunday school, being managed by members of different denominations. At one o'clock the girls gathered on the lawn at "Oakhurst" while the boys were taken to the "daisy" field to play ball and engage in other sports. At about five o'clock all sat down to a beautiful repast spread on tables over the lawn. After tea all took their departure to reach home before the storm came on.

Town Talk.

Nearly as nice a town as our own—The Port Perry people.

And the Englishmen here are real Englishmen; drum major for instance—The visiting S.O.E.

We like to have our brothers come to see us—Local Oddfellows.

Look here, do you know (private now, mind) my crew's going to win that barrel of flour—H. W. Kent.

Are you? Just wait—Stroke Stevenson. Weren't we brave?—Those who stood on Burnham's Point.

But weren't we wise?—Several who didn't stay for the rain.

Oh! we got caught in the rain, and it blew awfully and we got wet, but it was fun anyway—The St. John's Church S.S. children.

Final Court of Appeal.

The appeals relative to assessments, carried by the appellants from the Court of Revision, came up for a hearing before His Honor Judge Weller, in the Council Chamber this forenoon. The first appeal dismissed was that of Mr. Elias Burnham. Mr. Burnham appealed for the assessment of his park lots, claiming that his land, situated near the western limit of the town, should be assessed as farm land instead of as building lots. The Court held that according to the recent changes in the law Mr. Burnham's assessment would have to remain as it was. The property is assessed at $13,000, or about $655 per acre. Last year it was assessed at $7,000. In Mr. Croft's appeal case $100 was taken off income assessment. In Mr. Best's case $300 was taken off real estate assessment. The Court adjourned at noon and is sitting again this afternoon.

In Imminent Peril.

St. PAUL, Minn., July 21.—Bishop Whipple warned the Chamber of Commerce yesterday that the Leech Lake and Winnebagoish Indians are in starving and desperate condition because of the overflow of their lands caused by the Leech Lake dam, and that there is great danger of their cutting the dam. In that case, the Bishop says, Minneapolis would be swept away, and only the hill parts of St. Paul would escape. The Lake has a coast line of 350 miles. The Indians believe there was no authority for the dam being built, and the Attorney-General pronounced the law authorizing it unconstitutional. The dam has completely destroyed the means of subsistence of the Indians by overflowing their lands. They have set fire to the forests around the lake as the beginning of retaliation upon the whites for the injury done them. The Chamber voted to use its best endeavors to influence the Government in doing justice to these Indians.

A Widow's Rank.

An Ohio widow owned a large gravel-bank which a certain railroad company was very anxious to secure. Several propositions were made and rejected and the president finally sent his private secretary down with instructions to offer up $14,000. The young man returned after a couple of days, and when asked how the business had turned out replied:—"I will accept your offer."

"You?"

"Exactly. I married the widow and own the bank."

Found in a Mill Race.

St. CATHARINES, Ont., July 21.—The body of a man named Robert Kitchin, a barber by trade, but of late very much dissipated, was found in the mill race near Neelon's cigar shop about noon to-day. He was seen on the streets at 10 o'clock this morning. It is probable he fell into the race while under the influence of liquor. The owner was notified, but as there was no evidence of foul play an inquest was not deemed necessary.

Found in the Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 20.—Some boys found the body of a man floating in the eddy in the river near the Maid of the Mist landing at Suspension Bridge, N.Y., this afternoon, with shirt and drawers on. He appears to be about 45 years old, with grey whiskers. The body was taken in charge of by the coroner who held an inquest, the result being a verdict that deceased met his death by some unknown means.

The Dangers of Bathing.

LONDON, Ont., July 21.—Last night the only son of Mr. Wm. Uglow, of North Dorchester, aged 22, went to catch some horses and in the chase he became very warm. With the view of cooling himself he stripped and waded into the River Thames at a point where the water is cold and deep. It is supposed he took cramps, for he immediately sank out of sight.

ANOTHER ROSSITER ROW.

Attacked on Hunter Street Rossiter Pulls a Revolver.

At about two o'clock this afternoon Mr. Henry Rossiter was walking up Hunter street. When passing Cavanagh's Hotel some boys, so say the bystanders, called out "Rate! Rate! Rate!" Rossiter stopped, turned, and came back.

Mr. Ted Cavanagh, who was standing near the door of his hotel, entered into a discussion with Rossiter, when the latter came back, about evil spirits. One of the parties near at the time says that Rossiter accused Cavanagh with selling "the devil" to the people, whereupon Cavanagh suggestively rejoined that he was not selling a drink called Rossiter just now. One word led to another, when at last a scuffle took place between Rossiter and another man who sided with Cavanagh. Together they tumbled around on the street, both covered with dust, while a big crowd soon clustered around them.

Among the crowd and in the midst of the scuffle Rossiter was trying all the time to get his revolver out of his pocket. At last he succeeded, but before he could use it Cavanagh jumped at him, grabbed his arms from behind, and pushing and running with all his might, literally ran Rossiter out of the crowd. The latter did not know who was shoving him, and made strenuous efforts to release himself, but his tugging was of no avail when in the iron grip of the Irishman. Mr. Cavanagh says: "I tell you he kicked like a lion. Look at my shin (and here he pulls up his trousers to show a very much abused left leg from the knee downward). My other shin is just as bad and he kicked my knee. When I got him away from the crowd I let him go. He turned and looked at the forces like a man who was going to use his pistol on me, for mind you I didn't take it away from him."

Rossiter went to Mitchell's store on Water street, but soon reappeared. He strode defiantly back to Cavanagh's, and flourishing his revolver, dared any three men to come out. None accepted the invitation. After a while he walked away.

During the time the row was in progress Mr. Mitchell, the saddler, ran over with a stick in his hand. Mr. Cavanagh asked him what he wanted with the stick, and one took it from him. The next minute some form struck Mr. Mitchell and felled him. Mr. Mitchell then went back to his store.

This affair created a sensation. For two hours after the row took place a crowd stood discussing the matter.

The question "who hit him," appeared to be about as insolvable a question as the old but never answerable "Who struck Billy Patterson." This matter was, however, settled at the Police Court at three o'clock when the Clerk drew out an information entitled Rossiter vs. Whelan, the defendant being Wm. Whelan. Mr. Cavanagh's former back driver.

This afternoon Rossiter met the Irishman and expressed his thanks for his being thus summarily separated from the crowd. Mr. Cavanagh accepted the thanks, but felt that gratefulness did not by any means purchase sticking plaster for sore shins.

A Prayer in Season.

The superintendent of a Sunday School in this city, it is reported, yesterday prayed for all the boys and girls who had failed to pass the entrance examination to the High School, asking that the failure might not prove to them to be a disadvantage, and that "Give to the persons who prepared some of the examination papers, what they evidently lack, a splendor judgment, and more common sense." Belleville Intelligencer.

Canadian Artillery Team.

QUEBEC, July 22.—The Sheshbury team left by steamship Vancouver this morning. The men as they marched to the ferry were loudly cheered. They made a fine appearance. The officers of the battery accompanied them to the steamship. In conversation Capt. Drury said that the men were almost perfect in their drill, etc., and that he felt certain of success. Sir A. P. Caron, Dr. C. S. Sewell and other prominent citizens are passengers by to-day's outgoing steamer. As the steamer left the wharf the band struck up some lively airs, which, together with the loud cheers of the people, caused quite a scene of animation.

Murder of an Editor.

SACAGHEW, Tex., July 22.—Parson Jim S. Smith, editor of the Simpson Times, Simpson, Tex., was murdered on Tuesday evening. Smith and his wife were sitting in their room talking. Mr. Smith had his back close to an open door. The murderer placed the muzzle of his pistol close to the head of his victim, who turned, and at the same moment the ball entered his head just above the eye. Smith died within five minutes. Just before dark a man rode up and paid a negro fifteen cents to show him where Smith lived. He did his work in a short distance away, noiselessly crept up and fired the shot, then mounted his horse and fled.

Smallpox at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—Another case of smallpox has been discovered, this time near the heart of the city, and there are grave misgivings in the minds of the members of the health department as to whether or not Detroit will escape an epidemic scourge. The victim is a young girl of twenty-one, named Mary Arnold, employed at a picture-frame factory. The patient is isolated and members of the family, all the employees of the factory and neighbors who have been exposed to the contagion, have been vaccinated. There is considerable excitement in the neighborhood over the discovery, as there are thirty or forty girls in from one with whom he has had an opportunity of discussing the question, that in England, Scotland and Wales 1,250,000 votes in round numbers were given for Home Rule while only 1,200,000 were given for the Tories and Secessionist Liberals combined. Now, add to this the fact that the overwhelming majority of the votes in round numbers were given for Home Rule, and you have given for the Tories and Secessionist Liberals combined. Gloucester in Spirit.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Justin McCarthy, in a despatch to the Herald, says that Gladstone never looked better, of late years at least, than he does now. He is not in the least cast down, although unquestionably the result of the elections was a surprise to him. Now he has entirely got over that shock of surprise, he is well satisfied with what he has done, and is full of energy for the general conflict. He points out from one with whom he has had an opportunity of discussing the question, that in England, Scotland and Wales 1,250,000 votes in round numbers were given for Home Rule while only 1,200,000 were given for the Tories and Secessionist Liberals combined. A PARTICULARLY SAD DEATH.—It is with unforgotten sorrow we chronicle this week the death of Miss Emma Biekie, which sad event took place on Tuesday evening last. JOHN STONE DISCHARGED.

After being in Jail the Principal in the Beamsville Tragedy Goes Free.

BALTIMORE, July 22.—The case of John Stone, demanded by the Canadian authorities for shooting his niece, Maud Hodge, at Beamsville, Ontario, on January 5, was again up before United States Commissioner Rogers yesterday. Miss Hodge and her mother, the only witnesses to the shooting, were examined and detailed the actions of Stone at the time he did the shooting, after which he shot himself. The meeting between Stone and his sister and niece was very affectionate, and there was no disposition apparent on the part of either to push the prosecution. The testimony was voluminous, and the defence urged the plea of insanity, which was resisted by the prosecution. The case occupied the entire day, and resulted in the discharge of Stone from custody. He had been under arrest 140 days in the house of his brother-in-law, as his physical condition was such that else imprisonment, it was thought, would prove fatal.

AT WIMBLEDON.

LONDON, July 22.—The match for the Kolapore cup was shot at Wimbledon yesterday. The teams consisted of eight men each, and seven rounds each at 300, 500 and 600 yards were fired. England was victorious, with Canada a close second. The Canadians won the chief prizes in the Corporation series. The Duke of Cambridge subsequently inspected the Canadian camp, and afterwards the colonels were drawn up in three sides of a square in full uniform. The Commander-in-Chief congratulated them upon their splendid appearance, and praised their love for the mother country.

NOT FAR REACHING.

LONDON, July 22.—The Daily Telegraph, commenting upon the new extradition treaty between the United States and Great Britain, says the convention is not as far reaching as desirable. It only touches refugees; it fails to touch the gang of dastardly conspirators who devise outrages from the safe sanctuaries of America, but never risk their own skins in executing them. Such a salutary convention we must hope to obtain in the future.

CANADA UPHELD.

LONDON, July 22.—In the Wesleyan Methodist Conference yesterday, Dr. Sutherland was introduced as representing Canada. He recited an address by correcting Dr. Fies, who had said that he believed that Providence designed America to be the home of a great nation. Dr. Sutherland reminded Dr. Fies that there are two nations there, and that Canada is larger in extent.

MANCHESTER SHIP CANAL.

LONDON, July 22.—The issue of Manchester Ship Canal bonds has been badly received on the Stock Exchange. The shares, which were first offered at 25s. and 26s. and were sold at 24s. and 25s. are a dead failure. The opposition is said to be due to the railway interest, which the canal is expected to injure.

A PRESENT FOR THE SHAH.

BREMEN, July 22.—The Emperor William has presented by the Shah of Persia the principal works of Frederick the Great. They comprise 33 volumes, printed on parchment.

A MEAN ATTACK.

LONDON, July 22.—The News, referring to the Times demand that Sir Robert Hamilton be transferred to another post because of his connection with Mr. Gladstone's party, says: "We are convinced that some of the staunchest Unionists will regret the mean and malignant attack made in their behalf on Sir Robert Hamilton."

ROYAL PORTRAITS.

DUBLIN, July 22.—The Mayor of Waterford presided at a crowded meeting of citizens to day, held for the purpose of taking steps to compel the corporation of Waterford to remove the Royal portraits from the Council Chamber and hang in their stead a portrait of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagh, who was convicted of sedition and sentenced to death for participation in the rebellion of 1848. Resolutions in accordance with the object of the meeting were passed.

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

BELFAST, July 22.—Another of those injured in the riots has died. Judge O'Brien has acceded to the request to postpone the trial of the riots to the next session on the ground that the present excitement would interfere with an impartial trial. The accused have been released on bail.

UNRIPE FOR ACTION.

LONDON, July 22.—Minister Phelps denies that he has prepared a brief on the fisheries question for submission to the British authorities. Nor has he, as has been reported, communicated with American fishery firms to obtain their views. "Secretary Bayard," he says, "retains the control of the entire question, and all the international discussion and negotiations respecting it are in his hands, and are as yet unripe for action by the American Minister to England."

TUG OF WAR COMING.

DUBLIN, July 22.—United Ireland, Mr. Parnell's organ, commenting on the political situation, says: "The Marquis of Salisbury will be compelled ere long to produce his manifesto. During the past year the Irish people have submitted to the different privations and extortions patiently. The judicial rents are becoming daily more impossible for the tenantry to pay, and the unbearable. It is absolutely hopeless to expect any redress from an English Parliament. It is not in human nature for the Irish tenantry to linger in pain from being themselves. Landlords will fight for their rents with fire, sword or crowbar, thus obliging Lord Salisbury to pray Parliament against the landlords by some newangled Corn Law Act. Then will come the tug of war."

MORROW, THURSDAY & Co. are now offering special inducements in Tea, Sugar and General Groceries. Call and inspect.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

The question of the Federation of the Empire is undoubtedly attracting more and more attention. It is being much discussed in Canada, and still more in the Mother Country, while in Australia and other British Colonies it is exciting increased interest. The advocates of some plan for binding more closely together the different members of the British Empire are increasing in number, they are becoming more outspoken, are organizing themselves, and are obtaining the co-operation of men of high standing and influence.

Those who are opposed to the Confederation of the Empire, more especially those Canadians (chiefly members of the Reform party), who aim at independence or annexation, base their opposition mainly on two grounds. They aver that the advocates of Imperial Federation have not produced and cannot produce any detailed plan, and they not very consistently argue that the plan, when devised, must be prejudicial to Canada; that it must involve, for instance, the surrender of our right to formulate our own tariff, and that our small number of representatives would be swamped in the vast majority of the Old Country members.

It is very true that no detailed plan has been adopted by the advocates of Federation as a body, and that such speculative plans as have been suggested by individuals have not met with general acceptance. But there is no hurry to draw up a plan in detail at present. Such constitutional changes should grow, should be slowly matured, instead of being hurriedly improvised, if they are to be lasting. There are several steps to be taken before we can be ready for such a change. Canada might advantageously make greater progress in settling her vast territory before entering into such a partnership. It would be well that the mother country should first solve the question, now rapidly becoming ripe for settlement, of the method to be adopted for regulating the local affairs of the three kingdoms, Australasia, South Africa and perhaps the West Indies should establish their Dominions, like that of Canada, before looking to the more extended scheme of Imperial Federation. Another reason for delay is that those who would have a share in the control of Imperial affairs must also bear their share of the responsibility and the expense, and this the colonies are hardly yet prepared to do.

But though the matter is not urgently pressing at the present moment, there is no reason why it should not be discussed, or why British subjects, to whatever part of the Empire they may belong, should not learn to regard it as a development at the accomplishment of which we should aim. Details will arrange themselves when the time is ripe and cannot be cut and dried in advance. Some points however, are obviously fixed beyond discussion. We cannot, for instance, relinquish the right we have acquired to fix our own commercial policy and frame our own tariff. If we modify it, this must be done by arrangement, by bargain, with other members of the Empire, on principles of mutual advantage. Nor does it necessarily follow that our representatives would have to join and be swamped in an overgrown Parliament at Westminster. An Imperial Council to have jurisdiction in Imperial affairs, and adequately representing each portion of the Empire, might be an available alternative of a less cumbersome nature.

The details may wait, as the time for them is not yet come, but patriotic Canadians, who are at the same time loyal subjects of the great empire of which we form an integral part, may well look forward to such a grand federation as a future development to be desired and to be aimed at, instead of advocating disruption either in the form of independence or annexation.

EXTRADITION.

Text of the Convention Between the United States and Great Britain.

The Tribune, New York, publishes the full extradition treaty with Great Britain. The following are its provisions:—

Article 1.—The provisions of the tenth article of the said treaty will be and are hereby extended so as to apply and comprehend the following additional crimes: 1, manslaughter; 2, burglary; 3, embezzlement or larceny of the value of $500 or more; 4, malicious injuries to property, whereby the life of any person shall be endangered; 5, such injuries constitute a crime according to the laws of both the high contracting parties, and the provisions of the said article shall have the same effect with respect to the extradition of persons charged with any of the said crimes as if the same had been originally named and specified in the said article.

Article 2.—The provisions of the tenth article of the said treaty, and of this convention, shall apply to persons convicted of crimes therein respectively named and specified, whose sentence thereupon shall not have been executed. In the case of a fugitive criminal, alleged to have been convicted of a crime for which he is sought, a copy of the record of conviction and of the sentence of the court before which such conviction took place, duly authenticated, shall be produced, together with evidence that the prisoner is the person upon whom such sentence was pronounced.

Article 3.—This convention shall not apply to any of the crimes herein named and specified, which shall have been committed, or to any convictions, which shall have been procured prior to the date when the convention shall come into force.

Article 4.—No fugitive criminal shall be surrendered under the provisions of the said treaty or of this convention if the crime in respect of which his surrender is demanded, be one of a political character, or if he prove to competent authority that the said requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for a crime of a political character.

Article 5.—A fugitive criminal surrendered to either of the high contracting parties under the provisions of the said treaty or of this convention shall not, until he has had an opportunity of returning to the State by which he has been surrendered, be detained or tried for any crime committed prior to his surrender, other than an extradition crime, proved by the facts under which his surrender was granted.

Article 6.—The extradition of fugitives under the provisions of the said treaty, and the present convention shall be carried out in the United States and in Her Majesty's Dominion respectively, subject to and in conformity with the laws regulating extradition for the time being in force in the surrendering state.

Article 7.—This convention shall be ratified and the ratifications exchanged at London as soon as possible. It shall enter into force ten days after its publication in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the high contracting parties, and shall continue in force until one or the other of the high contracting parties shall signify its wish to terminate it, and no longer.

In witness whereof the undersigned have signed the same, and have affixed thereto their seals.

CARDINAL OF CANADA.

Conclusion of the Brilliant Ceremony of Consecrating the Baretta.

QUEBEC, July 22.—The scene presented at the Basilica, when the procession receding Cardinal Taschereau arrived, almost exceeded power of description. Long before the procession appeared at its portals the sacred edifice was well filled, the admission being by ticket, and the coup d'oeil presented by its interior was of the most striking character. The numerous assemblage of expectant humanity, the wealth and tasteful decoration amidst which Cardinal Taschereau stood in bold relief in festoons and otherwise, the glitter of gold from the altars, the herald devices, including the Papal and the new Cardinal arms in great profusion, all combined to form a spectacle which only once by the year is witnessed in a life time. Immediately in front of the communion rail, seats of honor had been provided for the more distinguished spectators.

The solemn procession into the church was announced by the booming of the heavy guns and the simultaneous ringing of all the bells in the city. It was filled up by the main aisle every eye in the spacious building was fixed upon it, while the impressive notes of the Grand Cardinal's march, special compend for the occasion, the organist of the Basilica, Mr. Gagnon, were being executed. First came the celebrant of the mass, Archbishop Taché, with his two assistants in their gorgeous vestments, followed by the different bishops in attendance to the number of twenty-five, one by one with their several assistants, and all in their mitres and copes of gold, who in their turn were followed by his Grace of Toronto, (the Apostolic Legate appointed to place the baretta) the Grand Noble Count Gervais, his striking uniform and with his sword drawn, two priests carrying the casket containing the baretta; the Papal Ablegate, Mr. O'Brien, in scarlet soutane with velvet capote and ermine trimming; the cross bearer and acolytes, and, lastly, Cardinal Taschereau in his Archiepiscopal dress, and carrying his cross, attended by Monsseigneur Power, of Halifax, and Father Tisdale, superior of the Bonaparte, in charge of about 500 priests, brought up the rear of the cortege from St. Anne des Beaupres. On entering the church the Cardinal took his seat on the sumptuous throne, on Epistle side, supported by his two assistants, and the Ablegate similarly supported on a throne on the Gospel side. In front of him the casket containing the baretta was placed, along side of it, as rigid as a statue, the grand Noble took up his position with drawn sword. The attending bishops, with their assistants, were assigned seats on either side from the foot of the high altar to the communion rail, and the scene presented by the church was one of extraordinary animation and brilliancy. Archbishop Taché, as already stated, acted as celebrant of the solemn Pontifical Mass, and Vicar-General Langlois, of Rimouski, as principal assistant and Vicar-general. Laurent, of Toronto, as deacon, and Roulier, of Ottawa, as sub-deacon. All that the gorgeous ritual of the Roman Catholic Church could do to enhance its effect was put into aid in that direction. The musical service was particularly brilliant. When the elevation of the host was announced by the usual ringing of the bell, the grand Noble, instead of kneeling down like the rest of the immense host of worshippers present, saluted with his sword, remaining standing in the same rigid attitude which he had occupied from the beginning of the service.

(On the conclusion of the mass, Mr.

Gravel, Bishop of Nicolet, ascended the pulpit and preached a brief but eloquent sermon in eulogy of the Holy See and its present occupant, of the remarkable growth of the church in Canada, and of the attachment of the Canadian people to the chair of Peter. The ceremony of conferring the baretta upon his Eminence was then begun by the Papal Ablegate advancing to the foot of the Cardinal's throne and handing to his Eminence the Papal brief, which was read by the secretary, Rev. Mr. Maréchal, first in Latin and then in French. The cardinal then advanced to the altar with the legate, the grand noble and the Apostolic Legate, who had the sword borne before him, and then followed by the other officials, placed on his head by Mr. Lynch, with the customary ceremonial, while a solemn hymn prevailed the whole edifice and every eye in the multitude was fixed upon the group at the altar. He then withdrew into the sacristy and shortly afterwards reappeared in the chancel in the gorgeous state robes of a prince of the Roman Church, seated, from head almost to foot, when a solemn "Te Deum" was chanted and the religious ceremony ended. The procession back to the palace was a magnificent sight, and was saluted by the booming of heavy guns and the cheers of multitudes along the entire route.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Temperature.

The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock a. m., 60; 1 o'clock p. m., 73; 3 o'clock p. m., 76.

Personal.

The Omelette Herald appeared in mourning this week on account of the death of Dr. Norris.

Mr. D. A. O'Sullivan, of Toronto, leaves for Europe to-morrow from New York, and will be absent on business for six weeks.

Another Large Excursion.

The Rev. Mr. Manning, formerly of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, now of Ottawa, is arranging for running an excursion under the auspices of the combined Methodist Sunday schools of Ottawa, Kilmarnock, Whitby and Newcastle to Peterborough. The date is not yet fixed.

The Eleven.

The following are the names of those composing the eleven who will play against the Toronto cricketers to-morrow in the P. A. A. grounds:—S. Ray, H. Ray, G. J. Logan, J. E. Hammond, H. B. Carter, R. H. Rogers, Jas. Baker, J. Stirling, Max Hamilton, P. E. N. Cooper, and G. W. Hutton.

Building.

The Building Committee met on Thursday evening to consider the matters of Messrs. J. J. McElin, in reference to the extension of his storehouse, and H. Bush, in reference to building a stable, both within the fire limits. Councillor Rutherford occupied the chair. After considerable discussion it was decided that no action be taken till the next meeting, when Mr. McElin and Mr. Bush will cover their buildings with galvanized or corrugated iron.

Honored.

Mr. Chas. Porter, of the firm of Porter Bros., a leading member of Ontario Lodge of Oddfellows, was honored on Thursday afternoon by being serenaded by the Warriner Lodge band. After serenading May or Stevenson, and being acknowledged by Mr. C. H. Clement, who performed the office of host in the absence of the Mayor, the band insisted on serenading Mr. Porter, who had done so much to make them feel at home. They carried out their wishes in that respect, after which they were entertained by Mr. Porter in a becoming manner.

Honoring an Old Member.

Mr. E. E. Henderson, of this town, has been elected the delegate to represent Oldfield Star Encampment, No. 22, Independent Order of Oddfellows, of Lindsay, at the annual convention of the Grand Encampment which meets in London, Ont., immediately previous to the Grand Lodge meeting on August 9th. This is a graceful recognition of the services of a member of long standing. Mr. Henderson being one of the charter members of the Guiding Star Encampment and keeping up his connection with this Encampment ever since it was instituted. He represented the same Camp at London, in 1875, and at St. Catharines in 1876.

At Millbrook.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School was held at Millbrook, on Thursday. Five carloads of these youngsters, this institution went down on the noon train and arriving at the village broke the weariness of the ride by taking a brisk walk to the grove, situated a mile distant. Here during the afternoon the usual festivities connected with such occasions were indulged in; the crowd diverged into groups to make the baskets lighter, the games were entered upon with delight by the youngsters and watched with interest by the elders, and those who did not care to be amused by these spent the time in promenading under the trees. The party reached home early in the evening.

Summer Goods.

Messrs. Brown & Bain have just received a splendid new assortment of Arctic Refrigerators and Ice Cream Freezers, for the summer use. Call and inspect.

Hot Water Heating.

Mr. Geo. Bolton shipped another of his celebrated hot water boilers to-day, this time to Messrs. Butterworth & Co., Ottawa, for the new residence of Mr. Wm. Hodgins, architect. He now has orders from Belleville, Hamilton Toronto and the United States, and says that the demand for hot water heating in the United States is unprecedented since the use of steam in tubular boilers has been prohibited by law in schools in New York and Brooklyn, even with a competent engineer or boiler attendant in charge.

Pencil Points.

A letter from the Rev. Mr. Davis on the subject of Baptism will be published in the Review to-morrow.

There were two out-excursions yesterday and in excursion.

Grip had a large circulation here yesterday, especially at the Grand Trunk station just before the evening train left.

Art.

A specimen of plain crayon work, exhibited in the window of Mr. A. Clogg's furniture store, has attracted considerable notice during the last two or three days. It is entitled "Jack in the Box." Two little girls are portrayed; the one sitting with careless ease, holding in her lap a most startlingly frightful Jack, who has apparently just popped up out of the box, and the other, a child at the age in which everything makes an impression, standing beside her. The mischievous miss holding the box looks back with a sly consciousness of having played another prank—she laughs all over at the wide open-eyed amazement and wonder of the other. The details are well attended to and altogether the work is creditable. Mr. N. H. Ramer is the artist.

Spending It.

The twenty five dollars granted by the Town Council for improving the border of the Central Park, is being spent under the supervision of the Inspector. The sidewalk will be raised along the George street front about three or four inches higher and a boulevard is to be built along the same front. An opening will be made in the wall half way between Murray and McEwen streets and a wide roadway will be extended inwards for several yards at the end of which the new memorial drinking fountain will be placed. Hetchmen are, in general, well versed in the art of making a little go a long way, but if Inspector Wilson can do all this at the Council's estimate he certainly deserves a prominent position in the Government Finance Department.

At Crawford's Grove.

More than three hundred people, young and old, patronized the excursion down the river, run on Thursday, under the auspices of the Baptist Church Sunday School. The Golden Eye, thus freighted, sailed down the river past Crawford's Grove—just for the sake of the sail and then turned back and all disembarked to take lunch and otherwise regale themselves. The races, jumping, etc., were much enjoyed by the children, especially by those who carried off prizes. Besides races for the children, there were events provided in the programme to test the endurance of the grown up ones. Mr. A. H. Stratton succeeded in coming in first to the winning post in the single men's race, while Mr. C. B. Boutley distanced his competitors in the married men's race. After spending a very pleasant few hours the boat again set sail with all aboard. The Wolfe Street wharf was reached at eight o'clock.

ENGLISH WAR OFFICE.

Notions Charged Which the Department Refuses to Investigate.

LONDON, July 22.—The War Office announces that in consequence of an article published in the Times of the 19th inst., charging the officials of the Ordnance Department with corruption, Generals Campbell, Kelly, and Alderson, successively chiefs of that department for the past twelve years, demanded an inquiry before a competent tribunal, and that Mr. Campbell-Henricman, War Secretary, refused to grant it, because the charges were vague and were not supported by any statement of facts. The Times article referred to declared that the War Department is composed of military men without mechanical, chemical or metallurgical knowledge, of men who are babies in the hands of subordinates, who are shareholders in a private gunnery company. If England should become involved in a war to-morrow she would be compelled to become a supplicant to Krupp to supply means of defending her national existence. High officials of the department are said to carry on quiet trade in buying condemned stores, and one depot and selling them to another new store. It is a common belief in garrison towns that nothing is saleable to the War office except by bribery.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The New York Sun Mill Gazette says:—The semi-annual report lately issued by the mercantile agency of R. G. Dun & Co., shows a material improvement in the business outlook throughout the United States. Notwithstanding the strain resulting from labor troubles the record of business failures during the first six months of the present year shows a marked decrease as compared with the failures of the same period in the preceding year. The liabilities of insolvents for the period referred to in 1886 were considerably smaller in amount than they were in the corresponding period of 1885.

The report calls attention to other encouraging features of the times among which are the virtual decision of the conflict of labor against capital, and the fact that values of all kinds have apparently reached their lowest point. The power of the labor organizations to resist the ordinary laws of trade is not so seriously estimated as it was a few months ago. Confidence has been restored and there is a manifest disposition to extend business operations and engage in new enterprise. Good crops are now assured, generally speaking, and the fall season is looked forward to as likely to yield satisfactory returns in trade circles. The abundance of money, the result of the growth of the country in wealth, is one of the characteristics of the times and is also a most influential factor in the business situation. In confirmation of the views expressed in this report Messrs. Dun & Co. present statements by their agents with reference to the condition of trade at all the leading business points in the country.

As regards the lumber trade, the outlook is in most respects encouraging. The temporary check to building operations caused by the labor troubles, has been succeeded by a marked activity in this trade throughout the east and west. The present consumption of lumber in the building trade is almost equal in amount to that called for at the same period last year, and it is possible that the demand for lumber for railway construction will soon exceed the mills. In hardwoods the transactions are moderate but the market is firm. Walnut is in special demand, and holders of good lots are not inclined to make concessions in price. In ash, doors and blinds the business being done is not large, but much activity is not to be expected at this season, and it is evident that prices are being fairly sustained.

"Hall's Mucous, Hall's"
Is an expression of Milton regarding the "infernal world." It is not too much to say that those who suffer from catarrh would thus express themselves about that disease. Torment and despair mark their daily existence, however, every case can be cured by Mr. Hall's Catarrh Remedy. Its proprietors have for years made a standing offer in all the newspapers of $500 for an incurable case. It speedily subdues all bad humors, is thoroughly cleansing, antiseptic, soothing and healing in its effects.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once. It produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

OLEOMARGARINE AND PROTECTION.

One would scarcely expect to find in the Globe an exponent of protectionist ideas, yet the chief Globe organ has shown itself to be a stronger believer in the benefits of protection than are the Conservatives. At the last session of the Dominion Parliament the Government proposed to impose an import duty of 10 cents and an excise tax of 5 cents on oleomargarine, which they said would be sufficient to exclude that article from the Dominion. But the Globe contends that the Government were mistaken, and that the "Government measure would have stimulated the manufacture of this spurious article in this country." It is very strange to see the Globe arguing that an industry can be stimulated or benefited by a customs tariff, but that is its argument. It will occur to those who have been accustomed to consider the Toronto organ a free trade advocate, that if the manufacture of oleomargarine can be so easily stimulated by the operation of such a tariff, other industries can also be benefited by the imposition of duties, and they will wonder that the protectionists' arguments are sound. The chief exponent of the benefits of protection does not appear to have much regard for consistency. Its consistency being of an oleomargarine character, as it were.

SLANDER appears to be the common bond of union between the Unionists of Great Britain judging by the Tory attacks upon Mr. Gladstone and the Times attacks upon Mr. Joseph Arch. It is a poor material upon which to build a strong government.

SLANDER is a poor material upon which to build a government or to base hopes of electoral favor. For that reason, among others, it would be unwise for the people of Canada to entrust the government of this country to the hands of Mr. Blake and his party, and that party cannot hope to succeed in establishing itself in popular favor.

SEVERAL Reform papers are publishing an alleged extract from a speech by Mr. Chagnon, a candidate for a seat in Parliament in Chambly, regarding female employees in the civil service, and accompany it with the statement that he is a Conservative candidate. Mr. Chagnon is not the candidate of the Conservative party, but is running in opposition to Mr. Jodoin, the candidate regularly chosen by the Conservatives. It is stated that Mr. Chagnon is endorsed by the Hon. Mr. Chapleau, but Mr. Chapleau has spoken in support of the other candidate, Mr. Jodoin.

THE London Advertiser's comment on the rumors regarding Sir Richard Cartwright's hunt for a constituency is simply, "He's all right." The Advertiser is satisfied. Sir Richard disagrees with it on the right question. But are Sir Richard and his friends so easily satisfied?

A Remarkable Anniversary.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The twenty-first of July was the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the first railway in Canada, that from Laprairie, above this city, to St. John's, fifteen miles. Among those who took part in that important event were the Governor-General, Lord Gosford, Sir George Gibbs, Sir Charles Greville, Hon. J. P. Papineau, as well as a number of members of the Legislature and Council, Rev. Mr. Quibbler, Superior of the Seminary of St. Sulpice, the officers of the then Montreal garrison, and many distinguished foreigners. Dr. Brisson, the Mayor of Laprairie, has addressed a communication to the press in which he appeals to the public to celebrate some time before the end of the present year the anniversary of so important an event. He remarks: "How many things have happened between the building of this humble Laprairie railway and the gigantic Pacific! It is almost the history of civilization in this land of Canada."

NOTES FROM THE WORLD OF WOOD.

A process has been discovered by which wood may be compressed into various designs, having all the appearance of carving, and with a finer finish. The process consists in piling hardwood shavings as thin as wafer, which are then placed in a chemical solution. When in a perfectly pliable condition, the mass is introduced into molds made from steel plates, and pressure is applied, which forces the wood pulp in every line of the mold. When it becomes dry, it is removed from the mold and has exactly the appearance of a wood carving with the grain of the wood as perfect as though it had never been reduced to a pliant condition. The process is a German invention, and large numbers of different designs are now being manufactured in the city of Berlin.

The tradition is, if the oak gets into bed before the ash, we may expect a fine and productive year. If the reverse is the case, a cold summer and unproductive autumn are anticipated. Statistics have been collected on this point extending over 30 years. The oak point displayed its foliage several months before the ash in 1818 to 1820, 1821 to 1827, 1833 to 1837, 1842, 1846, 1854, 1858 and 1859, all inclusive, and the summers of those years were dry and warm, and the harvest abundant. The ash displayed its foliage full a month before the oak in 1816, 1817, 1821, 1823, 1828 to 1830, 1838, 1840, 1845, 1850 and 1859, and the autumns were unfavorable.

The forest trees east of the Rocky Mountains have been divided into four groups, as regards their geographical distribution within the Dominion: (1) A northern group, including the white and black spruce, larch, loblolly pine, balsam fir, aspen, balsam, poplar, canoe birch, willows and alder. (2) A central group of about forty species, occupying the belt of country from the white pine line to that of the buttonwood. (3) A southern group embracing the buttonwood, black walnut, the hickories, chestnut, tulip tree, prickly ash, sour gum, sassafras and flowering dogwood. (4) A western group, consisting of the ash-leaved maple, burr-oak, cottonwood and green ash.

Of a monster oak felled in England in 1810, the main trunk, 30 feet long, produced 450 cubic feet; one limb 472 cubic feet, and other limbs respectively 355, 235, 156, 113 and 106 cubic feet; six other limbs of inferior size averaged 93 feet each, making a total of 2,445 cubic feet of sound timber. The bark was estimated at six tons. It took five men twenty days to strip and cut down this tree, and two sawyers were five months without losing a day (Sunday excepted) in converting it into timber. The main trunk of this tree was 95 feet in diameter. The whole produce of the tree in the market brought about $3,000.

A distillery has lately been put in operation at Charleston, S. C., for manufacturing oil from pine wood. The material is subjected to intense heat in sealed retorts, and one cord of it is said to yield fifteen gallons of turpentine, eighty gallons of pine wood oil, fifty bushels of charcoal, 150 gallons of wood vinegar, and a quantity of inflammable gas and vegetable asphaltum. The oil alone is worth about 25 cents a gallon and is used by painters and shipbuilders.

There is a small tree growing in a gulch near Tuscarora, Nevada, the foliage of which at certain seasons is said to be so luminous that it can be distinguished a mile away in darkest night. In its immediate region it emits sufficient light to enable a person to read the finest print.

It is said that one of the properties specially conducive to durability in timber is its resistance to decay. It is also said that the increase in strength due to seasoning in different woods is as follows: Elm, 12.3 per cent.; oak, 25.6 per cent.; ash, 44.7 per cent.; beech, 61.9 per cent.

The comparative value of different woods in respect to crushing strength and stiffness is thus shown: Oak 40.74, ash 35.71, elm 3.48, beech 3.073. Regarding relative degree of hardness, shell hickory stands the highest, and calling that 100, white oak is 81, white ash 77, Lieutenant Lamer (Guesende), of the German navy, and Dr. Kummel have explored North-east Guinea. They report that they reached a spot twelve days' march from the coast and discovered that their compass was useless, owing to the presence of a tree which possesses the properties of a highly charged electrical battery. Dr. Kummel was knocked down when he touched it. Analysis showed it to consist of almost pure amorphous carbon. It has been named Klaasia electrica.

The American Architect says that the Southern pine seems to be the natural habitation in this country of the ciner lectularius, or bed bug, which is found in immense numbers under the bark of old trees of that species. If the wood contains natural clefts, the insects and their eggs remain in these after sawing and are often carried in that way in the seams of large timber into buildings. It is worth noticing that living trees of yellow pine sometimes keep houses near them infested with the vermin, which stray in all directions from their home.

The inventive genius of the Yankee is constantly widening the use for lumber. Last year a concern in Maine got up, in the aggregate, 1,200 cords of white birch logs into shanks and counters for boots and shoes. Special machinery was used for the purpose, and the white birch is displacing leather board to a considerable extent. The more extended use of the hard woods in shoe making is among the possibilities of the near future.

Among the latest inventions is that of a match which may be used over again an indefinite number of times. The wood is soaked with a peculiar chemical solution which renders such reusing practicable.

The following trees were in ancient times dedicated to heathen gods: The cornel, cherry, tree and laurel to Apollo, cypress to Pluto, myrtle to Venus, oak to Jupiter, olive to Minerva and Pallas Athene. It is curious to note that the laurel, cypress, myrtle, oak and olive are all funeral plants. The olive with the Greeks was an emblem of chastity.—Kirkcaldy.

The Mexican-Indian War.

CHICAGO, July 23. A Tombstone, Ariz., special says: "Advises from Sonora say that Mexican army officers are thoroughly disheartened and disgusted with the Yaqui war. The Yaqui number about 6,000 well armed men, and have defeated the Government troops lately. Orders were given to shoot all the Yaqui found. This was met by a counter order by Cajeme to kill all Mexicans. The result is that many more Mexicans have been killed than Yaquis."

An Infernal Machine.

CHICAGO, July 23. Two little boys, Norman Jacobs and Ed. Krosche, while playing in an alley yesterday, found a small tin box. On forcing it open a fearful explosion occurred, and both boys were badly wounded. The box was evidently filled with dynamite, and it is supposed to have been thrown in the alley by the anarchists.

CHRISTIAN BAPTISM.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir, I cannot but congratulate myself and felicitate your readers that my last letter has roused the Rev. Mr. Munro to make a more determined effort in the way of argument to sustain himself; for really otherwise there was a danger lest the gentleman's reputation for logical acumen should have suffered a sad depreciation.

We regret, however, to observe, that the spirit and animus of the gentleman's production evinces no improvement. Its true inwardness of exceeding distaste and dislike for everything Methodist excites our deepest sympathy, as in your former letter we were affected by a like manner.

To allow this disposition, however, so to prevail as to denounce in so flippant and contemptuous a way such distinguished and learned gentlemen as the Rev. Drs. McClintock and Strong is only to be excused on the ground of that ignorance or non-acquaintance which has been avowed. To counteract this somewhat, I take the liberty to introduce the latter gentleman Dr. Strong to the readers of the Review, as a distinguished member of the Bible Revision Committee, Chairman of the Archaeological Council of the Oriental Topographical Society, and one of the compilers of the Cyclopaedia of Biblical Theological and Ecclesiastical Literature, a man it will be seen deserving of something other than contempt; though a Methodist.

To elucidate a little more the manner of baptism in the Greek Church the following letter on the subject may be interesting. It was written by a Protestant missionary, the Rev. E. Briggs, and describes a baptism he saw in Smyrna, performed by a priest of that church. "The priest," he says, "taking the infant, perfectly naked in his hands and holding it over the font, said, 'The servant of the Lord, Iphigeneia, is baptized (placing it within the water up to its neck, and three taking up water with his right hand and pouring it upon the child's head) in the name of the Father; then he repeated the placing the child in the water and the affusion, in the name of the Son, and again in the name of the Holy Ghost.' I have before me other testimonies of a like nature, and it is said in Greece to-day the priests thus baptize. But is this anything like the Baptist's immersion or rather submersion. It is true there is a partial immersion, the child being put in the water thrice; but the baptism is the pouring of the water on the head in the name of the Trinity. This corresponds to the ancient pictures, and to the Rev. D. Hodge's statement of the ancient Greek font being too small for immersion.

Leaving the Greek Church we return to Scripture. In my last letter I showed how God baptized the Israelites—men, women and children, in the sea—not by immersing them in the waters, but by a gracious rain from the cloud as it passed over them to their rear, and then became a cloud of tempest and fiery indignation to the Egyptians. Denouncing to this and pronouncing it ridiculous, a mode of baptism is suggested, the like of which, I am bold to affirm, is not known in any church under the heavens—a baptism without water, a baptism without immersion, or pouring or sprinkling, with the liquid element touching the persons at all, wetting even the soles of their feet. They went into it, said, into the bed of the sea, "as into a vast baptisery;" or "as a person goes down into the water to be baptized;" but the bed of the sea being dry, they went into water at all, so that the baptism is very characteristically designed by a leading Baptist writer, Dr. Chalmers, himself, "a dry baptism." And now let the reader only just think of it, thousands upon thousands of the people being thus baptized in the night, without being in the least or in any way affected with the liquid element. Is not the extravagance and the thought sublime? Yes, and sublimely absurd!

We now hasten to consider the special and strong reasons advanced to show that immersion is undoubtedly and surely Christian baptism.

The first is, the signification of the term in Greek "Baptizo." Whenever this term or its English, "baptize," is used in the New Testament, it always means, says the Rev. Mr. Munro, to "immerse," "to dip," "to immerse." How is this proved? It is not proved at all. Not a single case is adduced from the New Testament in which this appears.

The term itself is used in the New Testament about ninety times. But the Rev. Albert Barnes in his commentary on Math. 3, 6, says, "It cannot be proved from an examination of the passages that the idea of a complete immersion ever was connected with the word; or that it ever in any case occurred." Dr. Chalmers, in his profound learning, says, "No instance can be given from scripture where 'baptizo' necessarily means to dip or plunge." And Dr. Hodge, one of the editors of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and one of the most learned of men, says, "I have not fallen in with a single instance in which this term 'baptizo' can be satisfactorily proved that it signifies the submersion of the whole body, unless it be to rise no more. The distinguished Presbyterian theologian Dr. Hodge testifies in like manner. "There is no passage," he says, "in the whole of the New Testament where 'baptizo' or 'baptismos' is used so as necessarily to imply immersion." Vol. 3, p. 331. And now we put it to the common sense of the reader of any man to judge whether, if by this term "baptizo" is always meant, as Rev. Mr. Munro says, to dip, plunge or immerse, these common Greek scholars who in past times and recently gave us our translation would not have discovered it, and have so rendered it? No much for the gentleman's first reason.

The next relative to the language employed in the New Testament accounts given of baptisms performed. Our attention is called to the fact that John is represented as baptizing in the River Jordan. But we do not see how this proves immersion. It is said, Mark 1, 4, that he baptized in the wilderness. What does this prove? That he immersed the people in the earth? In both cases it simply denotes the place where he baptized. But we are reminded that they who were baptized are described as going into the water and coming out of it, signifying either one or the other. The passage relating to the baptism of Christ is as strong in this particular we are considering, and as seemingly in favor of immersion as any, see Matt. 3, 16, "And Jesus, when he was baptized went up straightway out of the water." But now if the reader will refer to the revised translation made by the most eminent Greek scholars of the day, it will be found to read as I have said: "And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway from the water;" and it is admitted by many eminent Baptist writers themselves that this is the proper rendering of the original. So with all similar passages. How, then, do they prove immersion? They prove nothing of the kind. Dr. J. A. Morrison, one of the most learned biblical scholars and writers of this age, in his commentary on Matt. 3, 6, says, "John stood, as we conceive, on the edge, or within the margin of the river, and as the people came down to him into the water, he poured or threw or sprinkled upon them the symbolical element." This is probably correct; and thus the baptized person would literally go into the shallows of the river and then come up out of it, ascending to its banks, and would be immersed.

Another passage advanced and specially relied upon is John 3, 23, where we read, "John was baptizing in Enon near to Salomon, because there was much water there." We are asked, what could much water be required for except for immersion? Our reply is: The name, Enon, signifies a place of many springs of waters; and travellers, as Drs. Robinson and Barclay, say that this place is about six miles northeast of Jerusalem, and that many springs burst from the rocky crevices at various intervals and for miles. Now John would not require these many springs to immerse people in, but they would be of great service to supply the wants of the multitudes who attended his ministry. Indeed, if these many springs were as represented, simply small streams issuing from under the rocky hills, we do not see how John could immerse in them at all. They might send forth much water, and it would be easy to baptize by sprinkling or pouring from them, but how immersion could be performed in springs or streamlets is not easily conceivable. To say, therefore, that John's baptizing in Enon, a place of many springs, proves that he therefore immersed the people, is a process of reasoning that may please and satisfy our Baptist friends, but will be appreciated only by those who have a theory to uphold.

We come now to the chief passage relied upon, viz., St. Paul's utterance about being buried with Christ, by baptism, into death. See Rom. 6, 4. At first thought this seems to settle the matter. The reader will observe, however, that the language here employed is figurative in a high degree, and refers to the spiritual resurrection of a true believer. He is represented as dead to sin, as baptized into Jesus Christ; and so, as to be buried with him, so far as his former carnal self or the old man, with his affections and lusts, is concerned; and all this, says the Apostle, by baptism. But what baptism? do men experience this death unto sin, a burial of the old man with Christ, and a resurrection to a newness of life by water baptism. No enlightened Christian will say so; not even Rev. Mr. Munro. The baptism that is connected with a true believer's life, is spiritual, and must be of a nature spiritual, and is unquestionably that washing of regenerations, and renewing of the Holy Ghost, referred to in Titus 3, 5, which, says St. Paul, he who is abundantly. It is by the spirit we are baptized into Jesus Christ, into his death. Col. 2, 12, and Titus 3, 5, and 6. And it is by the spirit the old man is crucified and buried, and the new man is raised to life. Gal. 2, 20, Eph. 4, 22. Suppose it were even allowed that all this took place by the ordinary or ordinary baptism, or rite of baptism, would that prove anything as to the mode in which that rite was administered? Would it not all be just as real and true if the outward baptism by water corresponded to the spiritual and divine, which the Apostle says was by abiding? Undoubtedly. So that after all this highly figurative and mystic passage—passage as relied upon by those who profess to be of the other side as to mode of baptism. Indeed many candid and eminent Baptists themselves, as Drs. Judson, and Robinson, the learned Baptist historian, and others, frankly admit that there is after all no reference whatever in this passage under consideration to outward water baptism, so that the reader who thus fails to find ground, having no proper basis or foundation in truth, for the theory of immersion. We here conclude the scripture argument.

On this subject the reader will remember I challenged the Reverend Mr. Munro to produce a single case, clear and unmistakable, where baptism was performed by divine authority by dipping. He has not done so. And as no scripture has been adduced or can be adduced to sustain this mode of baptism, it will be obvious it is not obligatory. And to the reader who is a Christian, and who is necessary is therefore adding to the word of God, which is forbidden.

[NOTE.—The remaining part of Mr. Davis' letter relating to the authorities, the Rev. Jno. Wesley, the catechisms, and infant baptism will appear in Monday's issue.—Ed. Review.]

THE ROSSITER AFFAIR.

INFORMATIONS BROUGHT AGAINST THREE MEN.

A Charge Laid Against Rossiter by Timothy Cavanagh—The Judge's of the Court in the matter.

T. Cavanagh was charged by Henry Rossiter with having on Friday July 23rd committed an assault on him.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Edwards appeared for the prosecutor and Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., for the defendant.

WM. MITCHELL SWORN said: I was present at the corner of Cavanagh's hotel yesterday. I saw the complaint. I did not see anything taking place between Cavanagh and the defendant. I did not see one shove the other. I did not hear anything said by either.

HENRY ROSSITER SWORN said: I was at the corner of Cavanagh's hotel yesterday. I was standing talking to a man named Cavanagh. I was up the street. Mr. Cavanagh came up and said "have you caught any rats lately?" I said "by the way you call rats here there must be a lot of them here. You better give over shoving rats or I'll take proceedings in law against you." He replied: "You may go to hell for all care" and with that he shoved me off the sidewalk. This is the assault I complain of at the present time.

Mr. Poussette—Didn't Mr. Cavanagh tell you to go on after you spoke of taking proceedings?

WITNESS—No.

Mr. Poussette—And you say he shoved you?

WITNESS—Yes.

Mr. Poussette—How did he shove you?

WITNESS—Come here and I'll show you.

Mr. Poussette went across and the witness demonstrated the manner in which he was shoved to the amusement of all in court.

Mr. Poussette—Do you mean to say he shoved you as violently as that?

WITNESS—Yes.

David Cavanagh was called, but it appeared he was not served.

Mr. Edwards asked for an enlargement.

HENRY SHEPHERD was sworn, said: I heard Cavanagh say to Rossiter, "Clear off the sidewalk. I don't want any such things as you around here." I was standing across the street when I heard this. I didn't hear what Rossiter said. I turned to lay a tonk at the post office ways. When I looked up again I saw Rossiter staggering.

Mr. Poussette—Did you not hear Cavanagh tell Rossiter to move on and not stand there drawing a crowd?

WITNESS—No.

Mr. Edwards—I will not call any more witnesses just now.

The DEFENDANT—You'd better call them all up now.

The MAGISTRATE—Adjourned till Monday.

INSULTING LANGUAGE.

WM. LEAHY was charged by Henry Rossiter with having used toward him on Friday, grossly insulting and abusive language.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

HENRY ROSSITER SWORN said: As I passed the door on Friday afternoon the defendant shouted: "Rats! Rossiter the informer! Scat!" He came to the bedroom windows near Butler's store and shouted the same words. I know the shouts were directed toward me because my name was compared with them. This was done three or four times during the day. The defendant is Cavanagh's bartender.

To Mr. Poussette—I don't know what rats mean, you had better get a dictionary.

Mr. Poussette—I know what the word rats means, but you can't be rats. You can be only one rat.

WITNESS—I won't tell you the meaning of it. I don't know what it is. People were fined $40 and costs for using such language in Toronto.

The definition of the other two terms was ordered on?

Mr. Poussette—You can't say that the term "informer" was insulting. That is your legitimate occupation is it not?

WITNESS—I gather information and give it to others. You get information and work on it yourself.

Mr. Poussette—Now, if I was to go up to you and say "Mr. Rossiter you are informer aren't you?" you would not be offended?

WITNESS—I could shake hands with you.

To Mr. Edwards—These insulting expressions have been repeated every time I passed that corner for the last month, evidently with the intention of provoking me and encouraging the boys to call me some names.

Mr. Poussette—Now it seems that you pass up and down past Cavanagh's quite frequently.

WITNESS—Some days I do.

Mr. Poussette—What is your business?

WITNESS—That's my business.

Mr. Poussette—Come, come now, you must answer that question.

Court—Answer it.

WITNESS—My business in going up and down past there is to see whether or not there is any violation of the Scott Act going on.

Mr. Poussette—Now don't you think that Mr. Cavanagh is annoyed at having a detective over him all the time. If you passed up and down by my house that frequently I would feel like asking you what you wanted.

WITNESS—If he was not guilty he would not object. I pass up and down past your office that often every day.

The MAGISTRATE delivered judgment as follows:—The complaint is an informer or inspector, an amateur, a volunteer and not a Government official, acting as inspector to see that the Scott Act is enforced.

In order to do so he is in the habit of passing by, or remaining in the neighborhood of places where liquor is sold thus exercising a surveillance on the house. The right to enforce the law of the land cannot be questioned. Some people might not relish the job which the complainant has assumed, but if the law is right no person trying to enforce it can be condemned. The complainant in this case was on the highway where he had a right to be. He has a right to pass Cavanagh's house as often as he pleases so long as he does not make himself a nuisance.

Mr. CAVANAGH—He does make himself a nuisance. Your worship, he draws crowds around and insults me every day.

MAGISTRATE—Continuing the complaint may make Mr. Cavanagh feel uncomfortable inasmuch as he may not have his own way, but it is not Mr. Cavanagh's comfort we are consulting. Rossiter had a right to be where he was and to walk up and down the sidewalk like any other citizen in the enjoyment of that right, and any person calling scurrilous names breaks the law because he is taking away the right of the enjoyment of peace and making it uncomfortable for him. The by-law of the town respecting this provides that anybody who takes away a citizen's pleasure and enjoyment of his rights of citizenship, interfering with those rights which the town guarantees to every citizen, is liable to a penalty for such interference. Using scurrilous language to a man is a breach of the peace, for this reason,—that the man who resorts to scurrilous language is guilty of the crime of depriving a fellow citizen of the enjoyment of his rights as a citizen. Such action also leads up to another breach of the peace, such as occurred on Friday.

This man who is charged in this matter is Wm. Leahy, Mr. Cavanagh's bartender. He shouted loudly at the complainant. The word "rats" is an innocent word in itself but it depends all upon the manner in which it is said. To repeat it in bad feeling it becomes abusive. Then the word "scat" implies dirtiness and filthiness. Such action takes away the free enjoyment of a man's rights and leads up to rows. In order to make an example so as to prevent the repeating of this sort of thing either against Mr. Rossiter or anybody else I find the defendant guilty and impose a fine of $20 and costs to be paid within ten days, in default of payment distress and in default of distress, imprisonment for 20 days.

ASSAULT.

Wm. Whalen was charged by Henry Rossiter with having on July 23rd committed an assault on him.

The defendant pleaded guilty.

The MAGISTRATE asked to have the circumstances of the case gone into.

Mr. Poussette objected.

It was agreed that the circumstances of the case be heard.

HENRY ROSSITER SWORN said: After Cavanagh shoved me off the sidewalk I told him I would have him up. I heard someone say "give it to him. If he's going to shove you for that you might just as well give him all you can." I was just going out into the centre of the road saying "you are not man enough to beat yourself" when this man (the defendant) came up behind, hit me on the side of the head and then threw me down. I could not see him. He was a former driver for Mr. Cavanagh. I never spoke to him in my life. I then heard shouts of "give it to him! kill him!" I got a bruise on the forehead and a bruise on the leg.

To Mr. Poussette—I did not pull my revolver out before this. I did not pull my revolver out when he struck me. After Whalen struck me I pulled it out. I did not dare any three there to come out. Five or six had piled on me and I was just regaining my feet and staggering towards the house when Mr. Conroy caught me and shoved me out of the crowd. I came back and I might have dared any three men to come out. I did say that if I could have used my revolver I would have shot the man.

Wm. WHALEN stated that before he struck Rossiter Rossiter was out in the road during any three men in the house to come out and fight him.

The MAGISTRATE said that this matter looked like a conspiracy on the part of Mr. Cavanagh's servants. He committed the defendant to gaol for one month at hard labor.

A charge of grossly insulting language preferred by T. Cavanagh against Henry Rossiter was adjourned till Monday.

AN ANGRY CROWD.

Displeased with Whalen's Sentence and a Rescue Threatened.

After the police court adjourned at noon today a large crowd formed outside and threatened to rescue Wm. Whalen, who was sentenced to a month in gaol, from the police. The Chief and Constable Pidgeon came to the door with the prisoner, but the surging crowd presented such a threatening aspect that, instead of proceeding, the door was locked. One venture some friend of Whalen's tried to catch him by the hand, but the Chief drew the prisoner back.

Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., who was Whalen's counsel, addressed the crowd from the Town Hall steps. He said that the law must be carried out. The sentence could not be changed, and the Chief had to do his duty, even if he was compelled to call out a regiment of soldiers to assist him. He advised the crowd to disperse.

The few words of Mr. Poussette had a good effect, but the censures of the severe character of the sentence were not silenced.

Constable Pidgeon appeared with the prisoner and proceeded up Water street, surrounded by the crowd. Arriving at Cavanagh's Hotel he entered there and remained until after one o'clock. The crowd still hung around, but gradually diminished.

Mr. Cavanagh in the meantime endeavored to have some move made in a legal way in the prisoner's behalf, but Mr. Poussette informed him that Mr. Whalen having pleaded guilty there was no appeal.

Constable Pidgeon again went out on the street with his prisoner, and along Hunter street to Halpin's Hotel, the intention being to slip out the back way from there and avoid the throng, but that was found impossible. A return was made to Cavanagh's and soon after, the numbers on the street having diminished and it being now evident to them that peaceful counsels had had an effect, the officer and Whalen again came out, at about half-past two o'clock, and went to the gaol unmolested. Mr. Cavanagh coming out with them and telling the officer to see that Whalen had comfortable quarters.

Constable Adams, who was not on duty, had been called up, and a messenger sent for Constable McIntyre, but the latter had not arrived when the order was countermanded.

Immediately after the Court adjourned it looked as if there would be trouble, but caution and prudence on the part of Chief Cooper and his staff, and the returning calmness of the crowd after the excitement were over, avoided the danger. Whalen was willing, from the first, to go quietly to gaol, and gave no trouble himself to the police.

Horses for the Army.

Col. Ravenhill, of the Royal Horse Artillery, and Col. Phillips, of the 4th Hussars, are at present making a tour through Canada, accompanied by Mr. Matthews, veterinary surgeon, of the Horse Guards, for the purpose of purchasing horses for the Imperial Army. They have so far only bought eight horses, seven at Cobourg and one at Millbrook. Their visit to Peterborough was productive of no good so far as buying is concerned, not one out of the many horses examined being fit for the army purposes. About twenty horses were looked at at Dr. Stephenson's stables, a number at Mr. Snowden's, Mr. Morgan's and Mr. Croft's, the buyers being accompanied by Mr. Harry Welch, Lt.-Col. Harry Rogers, Dr. Stephenson and others. None were found up to the proper standard, most of them being rejected on account of blemishes, and the rest for either being too small or too large. The blemishes complained of, they say, are the result of breaking in colts at too early an age. The officers are now moving towards the west. Col. Ravenhill and Col. Phillips were sent here as a board of officers to see if Canada can supply the army with horses, two thousand being required yearly, and are purchasing three hundred now as an experiment. If they consider that Canada can supply the demand representatives of the Imperial Government will come to Canada annually. The demand heretofore has been supplied principally by Germany, Austria, France, the United States and Ireland. What is wanted are bay, brown, chestnut and black horses, from 15 hands 2 inches high to 16 hands high, not under 5 nor over 8 years of age. A few superior grey horses would be taken. The prices paid range from $150 to $100. Lieut.-Col. Rogers advised the board to come here again in September when the farmers will not be so busy and so will have time to show their horses.

SAW MILL AT CAMPBELLFORD.

On Tuesday last we spent a few minutes looking at the operations of Rathlin & Co.'s saw mills in this village, and while there learned from Mr. Joseph Clairmont, the trustworthy manager, that the average daily product of this manufactory is 800 railway ties and between 10,000 and 11,000 lath, besides a quantity of lumber.

There are 25 men now working steadily every minute of the day, as busy as the machinery beside them, handling the logs which come down the river, and cutting them up into ties, lath and lumber.

Ten saws are in constant motion. Two large saws are rapidly revolving on the first floor, at the north end of the building, hatching and edging the logs which come up from the water where they are loaded with care by the dexterous workmen, who first saw off the ends and then slide them on a truck which moves backwards and forwards on a track to and from the edger. This large saw does rapid execution; and the railway ties are cut as quick as thought and removed by men at the other end of the track who slide them through an opening in the building and deposit them on wagons which are drawn to the cars. The slabs from the logs are then put through a planing machine and converted into lumber, while the small pieces are placed on a carrier and deposited on the second floor where men quickly cut them up into lath. They are as busy as bees too, turning out 10,000 per day.

In front department of the building is a machine for planing and edging lumber, which is fed by Mr. J. D. Anney. Near it is the invention of one of the Rathlin company, a gunner, for sharpening saws, which is worked by Mr. Duchemin. By the aid of this machine which carries an emery wheel making 1,000 revolutions per minute, a large saw is sharpened ready for work in twenty minutes.

The shingle machine is not yet in operation but will be shortly. The engine which drives the machinery, with improvement and the care of a tidy engineer, looks like a new one. Near it is a pump and hose ready for use to quench a fire.

The railway track has been laid along Ramsey street to the mill and will be laid out and completed in about ten days. A switch is to be laid in front of the mill, and another at the rear, on which cars will be run and loaded as the ties come from the saws. Fifteen car loads of ties were taken away on Monday. Heald.

THE ROSSITER AFFAIR.

DECISION OF THE MAGISTRATE IN THE CAVANAGH-ROSSITER CASES.

Mr. Poussette claims that his Worship reversed his Decision—Cavanagh says he can't get Justice in this court.

The hearing of the Timothy Cavanagh assault case was resumed at the Police Court this morning.

DAVID CONROY sworn said: I was at Cavanagh's on Friday. I was standing on the corner. Rossiter came up from the south on Water street. I spoke to him. Mr. Cavanagh made some remark to me—I don't know what it was. Some little boys were there calling rats; I saw the boys. There were three or four of them. They were not Cavanagh's boys. When Rossiter turned round the boys ran into Cavanagh's yard. I don't mind what Cavanagh said. There was a big fuss and it kind of took everything out of my mind. I think he said something about rats—"I smell rats," or something of that kind. They both talked and jawed around there for a while. I don't think the assault amounted to a church going man and should mind his own business. Rossiter said "I'll watch around here as long as you sell the devil to the people." Cavanagh then said, "move on, move on" and at the same time made a motion of his hand. I don't know whether Cavanagh touched him or not. I think he did. Rossiter neither stumbled nor fell.

The MAGISTRATE—Did he stagger? Some of the witnesses say they saw him stagger. (Laughter.)

Witness—No. If this man Whalen hadn't come up it is my opinion that the every thing would have been settled.

Mr. Poussette—Then Cavanagh only touched him?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Poussette—Just show me how it was done. (Witness pushed Mr. Poussette with his hand.)

Mr. Poussette—Rossiter gave an ocular demonstration here on Saturday of how Cavanagh shoved him. He shoved me and sent me nearly as far as that table.

Witness—I didn't think it was a serious affair at all. If Whalen hadn't come up the whole thing would have been settled. When Whalen struck him he pulled out his revolver. There was only one man at Rossiter but he hadn't any friends there. It would have been a bad job for him if I hadn't been there. The reason why Whalen hit him was, that Rossiter made some remarks in a defiant way.

To Mr. EDWARDS—I can't say I heard anyone shout "kill him."

Mr. EDWARDS—Now, Mr. Conroy, did you not say on your oath it was only a gentle push. It was a medium kind of shove.

Mr. EDWARDS—Was it like this (taking Conroy by the coat and shoving him.)

Mr. Poussette—Mr. Edwards, I'll show you how Rossiter shoved me on Saturday.

Mr. Edwards declined, and laughter.

Mr. Conroy sworn, said I heard Cavanagh and Rossiter jangle for some little time. I was at my own house. I saw Cavanagh make a motion at Rossiter. It did not have any effect on Rossiter but to make him move back a little.

Wm. DELANEY was sworn. He arrived there after the affair was over.

T. CAVANAGH, sworn, said: I was sweeping out the bar. Rossiter passed up and down two or three times. Some boys commenced to holler "Rats!" Rossiter stopped and asked me who it was. I told him to go to h—l and shut out. He said, "I'll haul you up." I said, "Haul up and be d—d, for all I care. You go around to churches and school houses preaching, but your religion doesn't stop you from coming around here to provoke me." He said, "I'll provoke you as long as you sell the devil to poison the people." With that I waved my hand and told him to go on. I didn't shove him. He then went out to the street and dared any three men to come out and fight him. Whalen went out and hit him a slap, knocking him down and jumped on him. I did not shout to Whalen to beat him; not that I mind of.

HENRY ROSSITER, re-called, said: I did not use the expression stated during any three men to come out at the time stated. I am here to tell the truth, and I will do so whether it is for or against myself.

The counsel submitted arguments.

The MAGISTRATE held that there was an assault committed. When Mr. Cavanagh made the motion he was angry, and what he did when angry was capable of a quite different interpretation than acts committed when not angry. The seriousness of the offence consisted in Mr. Cavanagh doing what he did when surrounded by sympathizers and support. Under other circumstances the row he precipitated might have resulted in Rossiter's death. How could he do this, imposing only a money fine sufficient to touch Mr. Cavanagh that he should be careful in the future not to excite these men against Rossiter. He would impose a fine of $20 and costs to be paid forthwith. In default of payment imprisonment for 20 days.

INSULTING LANGUAGE.

The case of Cavanagh vs. Rossiter, in which the latter was charged with using grossly abusive and insulting language, was called.

Mr. Poussette applied for an enlargement on account of the absence of material witnesses.

The Magistrate would not allow an enlargement. The case was opened.

T. CAVANAGH sworn, said: Rossiter told me that I sold the devil and poisoned the people. I neither sell the devil nor poison the people.

DAVID CONROY, sworn, said: I remember Rossiter saying that Cavanagh sold the devil. I don't remember about poisoning the people.

The MAGISTRATE—I am sure that anyone who would sell him and get him out of the way would be a benefactor.

Mr. McNULTY sworn said: I heard Rossiter say you are selling the devil and poisoning the people. Cavanagh told Rossiter to move on.

This concluded the evidence.

The MAGISTRATE dismissed the case without costs.

Mr. Poussette—Your Worship, I think that the language used by Rossiter is as much calculated to incite a breach of the peace as that used by Leahy on Saturday. I don't believe in you making fish of one and flesh of another. What could be more provoking than for Rossiter to tell Mr. Cavanagh that he was selling the devil and poisoning people? If that language was not dangerous to the commission of a breach of the peace, under the circumstances, I don't know what would be.

The theory you plainly laid down on Saturday was that the language might be innocent in itself, but yet tend toward a breach of the peace. I think that Mr. Cavanagh would be justified in striking Rossiter under the circumstances.

What could be more provoking to a tavernkeeper? I claim that you are entirely reversing the decision given in the Rossiter vs. Leahy case. Even if tended more toward a breach of the peace than the language used in the case cited. Leahy was quite a distance away—50 or 100 yards—while Rossiter stood face to face with Cavanagh.

The MAGISTRATE held that there was a difference. Leahy had kept it up continuously; Rossiter had not. Leahy had called out so loud that people looked around for bricks away; Rossiter was speaking to Cavanagh privately.

The complainant, Timothy Cavanagh, left the Court stating that there was no use in coming here for justice as he couldn't get it.

Russian Jews.

New York, July 24.—Two hundred Russian Jews arrived by State Line steamer State of Georgia yesterday morning. Fifteen of them had nothing but the dirty clothes on their persons. They will be sent back at the expense of the steamship company.

On the morning of July 12 the body of a white man was found two miles south of Lytton, B.C., with the skull crushed in and part of the scalp lying five feet away. CAUSES OF TRADE DEPRESSION.

POWER, July 24.—The commission on trade depression has made its third report. It found the supply of gold had decreased, that the demand had increased, while the returns from external trade showed little diminution. The volume of money values, owing to the fall in prices, appeared to be greatly reduced. It is the opinion of the commission that the fluctuations in the relative value of gold and silver caused serious losses, leading in certain cases to divert the course of trade and aggravate the depression. The commission strongly advises that a searching enquiry be made into the currency question.

AT THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

The following notes are taken from a letter the Montreal Gazette's correspondent at the Colonial Exhibition in London:—

NEW BRUNSWICK WOOD TROPHY.

But the most distinctive feature of the whole of the central gallery is the admirable trophy of the New Brunswick woods. It has been my advantage to see many exhibitions, and I can without hesitation say that one so compact and yet so complete is variety and beauty can rarely be seen. The trophy has already been described in detail by the Canadian press. Suffice it to say that it embraces all the larger or commercial woods that are sufficiently abundant to form an important item of trade, as well as many smaller woods. The object of the display is being well accomplished. It arouses much enquiry as to the woods themselves and the manufacture made from them, and should largely assist in opening up extended markets for the wooden manufactures of New Brunswick. The painting of the fruit, foliage and flowers of each variety appearing on the panels has aroused general admiration such as would be gratifying to the artist, Mr. John C. Milos, A. R. C. A., could he but hear it. For the design and construction we have to thank, among others, Messrs J. & J. D. Howe, of St. John, N. B., and Mr. Ira Cornwall, the agent for the province at the exhibition.

CANADIAN FURNITURE.

It is well arranged that, close to the commanding British Columbian pine trophy and to the next wood display of New Brunswick, the Canadian furniture exhibit should be shown. Messrs. Ties & Co., of Montreal, have an excellent collection of writing desks and revolving bookstands full of ingenious devices. The desks are highly finished and have attracted as much notice on account of their ingenuity and comparative cheapness, that a large demand is anticipated from this side. Messrs. Simpson & Co., of Berlin, Ont.; Messrs. Stewart & White, of St. John, N. B., and Messrs. McGarvey & Son, of Montreal, also have excellent furniture exhibits. It is true that in design some of the goods do not affect the latest London and

CHRISTIAN BAPTISM.

The following is a continuation of the Rev. Mr. Davis' letter, commenced in Saturday's Review.

We proceed now to consider the authorities referred to, the Rev. John Wesley's views, the catechisms, and infant baptism.

First, as to the authorities of the churches, whatever may be said, it is known to everyone, as we have already set forth, that with the exception of the Baptists themselves and a few others, they all favor and practice the mode of pouring and sprinkling, and with respect to the list of learned names mentioned we will add the following:

There is no command given, says Mr. Munro, to baptize children. Even were it so, the will of Christ is the law of the church, though there were no commands. There is no command to baptize women specially. They are both included, however, under the general command "Go ye and baptize all nations, men, women and children, baptizing them." Math. 28, 19.

Now, Wesleyan. And then there is further, that most beautiful and pathetic injunction, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not." This through addressed to his first Ministers, expressed his mind and is in force through the ages. But how can they come to Him, except they be brought? His church is His body, in whom He dwells. He and she, as His bride, are one in a mystic, but real unity. And how can they be brought to Him more surely than when they are brought to Him by the baptism of Christ?

There is no exception made in the case of the Lord's own, and enrolled in infant discipleship. They were recognized as members of the Church under the Abrahamic and Patriarchal dispensation, and received the seal of the Covenant. So later, under Moses, and in the Jewish Church, Christ and His apostles were all due to their infancy, introduced into the Church and sealed to God by the initiatory ordinance. And are we to suppose that under this more glorious and liberal and loving economy and dispensation Christ intended that polluted and blasphemous heathen and idolaters, upon their repentance and faith, should be welcomed to His Church and receive the seal of His covenant, but that his redeemed innocent ones, the little children, should be debased and excluded? Instead of a particular and positive command, above what has been advanced being required to admit them, surely a most clear and positive declaration of Christ should be necessary to forbid and deny them this his sealing ordinance. It is the opinion of many wise and eminent Christian Ministers who reside in the neighboring Republic that this ordinance is to be attributed the prevalence of that wide spread infidelity and vice and irreligion pertaining to the large cities and villages of the west. The children are treated as unbaptized, as children of the Evil One, and they become such.

The other objection is, it can do them no good, they cannot understand it, and the Apostles did not baptize them; nor are they to be found in any of the baptized households mentioned in the New Testament.

No man can say that the baptism of a child will be attended with no good. The baptism of an adult only does good to it is attended with the Divine blessing. And if Christ crowns the baptism of an infant with his blessing, who can say what good shall result.

Munro himself nearly lost his own son by neglect of the ancient initiatory ordinance. See Ex. 4, 21-24. And we believe today life or death frequently depends upon this matter.

But they cannot understand. Neither could the infants they brought to Jesus of Nazareth, and they were baptized. And if the Apostles did not baptize them, nor are they to be found in any of the baptized households mentioned in the New Testament.

ought not then His ministers to be the first to receive such and welcome them into His fold, and set the outward sign and seal of His covenant and grace upon them? And ought not every church of His to extend her arms and receive these His lambs to her warmest embrace, and see to it that they are duly cared for and recognized as His by having His own name, in His own ordinances, duly and solemnly given to them? And now, in the face of these and other like utterances of the Saviour, any ministers of His can be found, or any church, to shut them out and deny them in that respect as unworthy and adult, and although they pertained to Satan, is marvellous.

Let us see how it is attempted to be justified.

There is no command given, says Mr. Munro, to baptize children. Even were it so, the will of Christ is the law of the church, though there were no commands. How does the rev. gentleman know? He is mistaken. The fact is, that the Christian people in this community are in their sympathies, liberal in their sentiments, and opposed to bigotry and exclusiveness, and this is manifest. It is not dissonant; it is of the nature of the highest virtue; it is charity.

And now, in conclusion and in reply to what is said about anger, malice and evil speaking, etc., these suppositions and insinuations are like evil birds on a troubled sky. They come and go with the clouds, and will, we doubt not, soon disappear. In the meantime, notwithstanding this discussion, our Baptist friends may be assured there is no feeling among the churches in Peterborough, but respect and good will personally, the writer knows no other, nor has he heard any other expressed.

My reverend opponent has displayed considerable ability and learning, and has presented all the strength and force of argument the subject admits, but he has failed by reason of his position, having arrayed against him the simplicity and might and majesty of truth, and truth is great and will prevail.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy and the privilege so kindly afforded me, I remain, yours most respectfully,

G. H. DAVIS.

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

How Magic!

It is the only preparation in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable dandruff and has saved many when their hair was falling from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you will lose it forever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

There seems to be some misapprehension relative to the price of Flour. I find a number of purchasers stating that the grade of Flour known as

P. P. FLOUR for Pastry, $2.75 per Hundred.

Camp Bellegue.
Fourteen of Mr. D. Bellegue's factory hands who have been at Stony Lake for the last ten days returned to town on Friday night, a fatter and even jollier lot than ever, filled with stories of camp life and big fish yarns. They camped on Hurricane Point and during their stay dispensed hospitality in their tents to everyone who favored them with a visit. They were successful in getting sundries and lots of fish. Mr. Sandy Stewart officiated as captain.

Final Appeals.
The revising of assessments for this year is finished. All appeals have been dealt with. Those remaining over from the session of the Court of Appeal held on Wednesday are all settled on Friday. Messrs. R. B. Landy, John Doherty and the Chamberlain estate, own park lots in the lower part of the town, which were assessed at various figures. The appeals were considered and the assessment so revised as to place it at a uniform rate of $10 per acre. The assessment of Mr. T. Menzies was confirmed.

The Post-Office, Florida, Advance published the following: "Mr. John Curran, who has for some time been general foreman of the shops and roadmen of the L. & N. Railway at this place was yesterday presented by Division No. 275, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with a handsome gold finger ring as a token of their respect and esteem. The ring is broad and heavy, with an exquisite cameo set, and bears the inscription 'J. C. from Division 275.' Mr. Curran leaves this place for Palatka, where he will enter the service of the Florida Southern Railway. He carries with him the good wishes of all who have been connected with him, and prizes highly the souvenir referred to." Mr. Curran is at present in Peterborough, on a visit to his father, Mr. Owen Curran, of the Midland Railway. His friends will be pleased to learn of his success and will be glad to see him.

ELOPED WITH ANOTHER.

A Peterborough Man's Frau From Leaves him.

Mr. Geo. Wasmouth is a German. Since last fall he has been living in Peterborough as agent for the Singer Sewing Machine. Before coming to Peterborough he took unto himself a German wife, who had, to quote George, "three children and not married before." They took out the license at Windsor, were married at London a day or two after, and then came to Peterborough. Their domestic life was even and blissful until a short time ago, when Mr. Wasmouth introduced another gentleman "to his family." It happened like this: Mr. Wasmouth drove up to the Grand Central Hotel one evening in his sewing machine delivery, having returned from the country. A fine pompous looking man accosted him saying "your a German, are you not? The response came in the affirmative. The fine specimen of pomposity then proceeded to tell that his name was Cox.

"What" broke in the other, "any relation to the Cox's here? I rented a house from Mr. Cox?"

"Never mind" returned the fine specimen of pomposity in an unbecomingly manner. "I am from Montreal, I represent the Wanzor Sewing Machine. Then the two became quite intimate, and it was agreed by the so-called Mr. Cox that the agency of the Wanzor Machine now in the hands of another here, should be taken out of his hands and the agency bestowed upon Mr. George Wasmouth. Then Mr. Wasmouth took Mr. Cox around to his house and introduced him to his wife. He remarked this morning that at the time of the introduction he noticed them looking at it they knew each other for a while, but he paid no attention being absorbed in his in his new speculation.

Some time after Mr. Wasmouth wanted his wife to go with him to Toronto on the Forester's excursion, but she wouldn't go. "Very well" he returned "I won't go either." Then she asked when he was going to the country. Was he going to-morrow? He said that (though at the same time he intended to go the next day) that he was not going out for the next week.

And he did go the next day, and she went off to Toronto, where Mr. and Mrs. Cox registered at a leading hotel. She went on the Forester's excursion train, and returned two days afterward. Then she said she wanted to go to see her sister in Toronto. She went to the Grand Trunk station on Thursday morning, taking her children, and Mr. Geo. Wasmouth went to say good-bye. When in the train, he took the little baby in his arms to kiss it, he was surprised at the sudden appearance of Mr. Cox. He was confounded and disgusted when Mr. Cox took the baby from him and asked him what business he had there. But before Mr. Wasmouth could formulate an answer Mr. Cox had placed his arm lovingly around Mrs. Wasmouth's waist and then the train left the station. Mr. Wasmouth did not go with them. He has found out that Cox was not the man's name. It is Preveaux. Preveaux lives at Havelock, being here on business connected with the sale of wool.

He says that his wife came from Berlin, that she goes under the name of Annie Raymond and Annie Jones; that she has a sister living at 52 Nelson Street Toronto and that he wants the Berlin papers to copy this item.

FIVE AGAINST FIVE.

This is the Score of Saturday's Game of Baseball.

On Saturday the best baseball match of the season was played in the Riverside Park between the Janetteville and Peterborough nines.

At three o'clock the teams took their positions in the following order:
Janetteville: 1 base, Mills; 2 base, C. Sykes; 3 base, C. Sykes; 4 base, C. Sykes; 5 base, C. Sykes; 6 base, C. Sykes; 7 base, C. Sykes; 8 base, C. Sykes; 9 base, C. Sykes.
Peterborough: 1 base, Mills; 2 base, C. Sykes; 3 base, C. Sykes; 4 base, C. Sykes; 5 base, C. Sykes; 6 base, C. Sykes; 7 base, C. Sykes; 8 base, C. Sykes; 9 base, C. Sykes.

Peterborough went first to the bat, Landy winning the first club for a twopenny. The pitcher must have qualified when Fligg followed by ditto. Cameron hit the ball but was caught out at 1st, and the side retired with Galley and Motheral being struck out. Burns was the only man for the visitors who got in to home plate in this inning. Sisson and Real were struck out and Mills was caught out by Motheral.

In the second innings the pitcher catcher and first baseman did all the work. Not a man got by first base. Craig, Landy and Fligg were the victims. It was much the same for the visitors, Gilles, and Wilson striking out and C. Sykes by being out at first.

The score stood blank for the visitors for the next three innings and during that time Peterborough got only one more around. In the sixth innings the visitors evoked the score and both made one in the seventh. It was decided to play another inning to decide the contest, but both got duck eggs. On account of it being rain time the game had to be declared a draw, the score standing 5-5.

As the score shows, the play was exceedingly good. The visitors batted surprisingly well. In several of the innings they retired the Peterboroughs all at first base. The fielding on the Peterborough side was also good. Landy distinguished himself by unerring catches, and both he, Fligg and Cameron got in double plays by catching out and putting it to first base.

Cameron in the pitcher's box did remarkably well. Out of the total twenty-four who were retired, sixteen struck out, while only one went to home on balls. Real and Gilles each pitched half of the game. They succeeded in striking out six men.

Billings caught the whole game through except one inning, and only once or twice did the ball get past him.

In the seventh innings the visitors did a very sharp thing. The bases were filled and three strikes were called on the batter. Some one shouted, "Don't run," and the batsman didn't. But even though the visitors did come from the country they showed themselves posted in ball. The catcher walked up to the plate, touched it, threw to third, third throw to second and second to first, putting out the whole four men.

Mr. D. Haw, of Janetteville, umpired the match very fairly.

A FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE.

The Body Found Behind a Barn Near His House.

The startling news of the death of Lewis Davies, a prominent Smith farmer, reached town on Sunday evening.

Mr. Silvanus Davies, son of the deceased, was in town this morning. He says that on Saturday between nine and ten o'clock in the forenoon he last saw his father alive. He spoke to his father on a matter of business and then went away for the day. At the time he spoke to his father, the latter appeared to be quite cheerful. Silvanus returned in the evening, but his father was not there. He asked his sister where he was, but she did not know. She supposed he had gone over to her brother's place, but far distant. As Mr. Davies was in the habit of doing this, no uneasiness was felt, but as evening wore on and he did not return the family began to entertain fears as to his safety. A messenger was sent to the brother's place and it was ascertained that he had not been there. A search was instituted, lasting till Sunday forenoon, when the body of the deceased was found behind a barn on a neighboring farm, not far from the home place. The throat was cut and marks of blood were plainly visible.

The cause of the suicide is supposed to be the result of business troubles. The deceased was the owner of land in large quantities in Smith, Vernon, and other places, much of which he purchased with borrowed money. The revenue failed to pay the interest on the money, and last fall some of the land was sold. Since then Mr. Davies gave frequent signs of mental aberration, and his memory failed him almost altogether. He was often seized with fits of melancholy, and though on Saturday morning he appeared in good spirits, it is supposed that he was overtaken with gloomy thoughts, and in this frame of mind put an end to his life.

The deceased was highly respected throughout the vicinity. During life performed his business engagements in such a way as to gain the confidence of those he dealt with.

He made his will about a year ago, but added a codicil some months later. He was a Welshman, about 70 years of age.

Monster Picnic.

The largest picnic that has ever visited Idyl-Wild took place on Saturday. The employees of the Crossen Car Works, of Colongue, and their friends, to the number of eleven hundred, went for a day's holiday to this favorite resort. The steamer Golden-Eye conveyed the party from Harwood to Idyl-Wild. It took her three trips to convey them all. There were all sorts of games and sports, and everything passed off very pleasantly. It took two trains to convey them to Harwood from Colongue. When will we have a car works picnic from Peterborough?

TREE CULTURE IN THE WESTERN STATES.

We had a visit yesterday from Mr. G. E. Brown, from Larchwood, Lyon Co., Iowa, who with Professor Brown, of the Ontario Experimental farm, had been at the funeral of his father, Dr. Brown, of Port Elgin, the well known British authority on arboriculture. Mr. G. E. Brown is practical forester to Mr. R. Sykes, an English gentleman of wealth, who possesses 22,000 acres in the State of Iowa, 20,000 in Dakota, and 40,000 in Manitoba, almost all prairie. A work of great importance is being conducted at the former place, under Mr. Brown's management. Mr. Sykes is adopting the share system of farming with settlers, usually in quarter sections (160 acres) for each family, the settlers paying for the land in kind, the grain crops, which are principally wheat, corn, oats and barley. Perhaps the most important feature of the extensive improvements being carried out is the clothing of the prairie with plantations. Already, in two years, there is a nursery of 20 acres devoted to the rearing of forest trees, from the seed list as well as by selection from other parts of the States and importations from Britain. Mr. Brown has on hand now about 2,000,000 plants preparing for next year's operations. In systematic order they propose enclosing and planting chips, belts and various sized plantations for the purpose of shelter, and directly remunerative results from sales of thinnings. The kinds of trees being tested are spruce, Scotch pine, larch, white pine, soft maple, white ash, box elder, European sycamore, mountain ash, horse chestnut, birch and catalpa species. An enterprise of this kind cannot fail in immense practical national benefits, and that very soon. Mr. Brown is but recently from Scotland, having been engaged there by Mr. Sykes to superintend the tree culture solely.—Guelph Mercury.

BATTLE OF SEA MONSTERS.

A Deadly Struggle Between a Swordfish, a Thrasher and a Whale.

The British steamship Humboldt, from Rio de Janeiro to this port with a cargo of coffee, has come up to the city from quarantine station, says a New Orleans despatch to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Capt. Grimes and his officers relate an account of a marine combat witnessed by them on the morning of the 18th of July. The vessel was ploughing ahead in latitude 13° 25' south, longitude 36° 16' west, off San Salvador, Brazil, when the attention of officers and crew was attracted by a furious commotion of the waters a short distance ahead. As they neared the spot they saw that a terrible combat was going on between monsters of the deep. The sea was lashed into a seething foam. It fairly boiled within a circumference of a hundred yards, and myriads of mad whitecaps floated away beyond this circle. Moving closely up and slowly down, they stopped to watch the battle. It was one to the death. A swordfish and a thrasher had tackled a tremendous sperm whale. The strength, size, and force were with the swordfish, and he was making frantic efforts to annihilate his foe; but science, skill, and maneuvering were on the side of the sperm whale. The thrasher, springing upon the back of the whale, clung there, at the same time lashing the unfortunate creature with its tail, actually whipping it to death. The great sea animal with its most gigantic efforts was not able to cast it off. There it held and lashed, while the swordfish drove his sword time after time into the side of their big antagonist. The swordfish was a very few weeks' time to the side of their big antagonist. The swordfish was a very few weeks' time to the side of their big antagonist.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

EXAGGERATED statements regarding the debt of a country, as in the case of an individual, are calculated to injure the country, but this consideration does not prevent Reform journals from misrepresenting the financial position of Canada. This, from the Brockville Recorder, is a specimen of their libels.

"Since the present administration came into office they have added to the public debt four times the amount that was added by Mr. Mackenzie."

The Recorder says that Mr. Mackenzie's Government increased the debt of Canada by $33,000,000, but it does not give any figures as to the increase after the Knight of the Reversible Shield resigned control of the Dominion treasury. However, its statement is not correct, as we shall see by examining the public accounts up to the close of the fiscal year 1885, the accounts for 1886 not having yet been published.

If the gross liabilities of the Dominion were alone considered, the Recorder's statement, that the Mackenzie Government had added to the public debt four times the amount, that was added by Mr. Mackenzie, would be about $30,000,000 astray—not a very insignificant sum. But the better way to ascertain the financial position is to take the net debt, after deducting the assets which the Dominion can place against them. The net debt in 1873 was $91,448,462, and in 1874 it was $140,262,062, an increase of $48,813,600, or an average increase for each year during the five of $9,762,720. The net debt in 1885 was $196,407,692, an increase since 1878 of $56,045,630, or an average increase each year of $8,006,518. So that the Reform Administration, which the Recorder thinks was so careful regarding the people's burdens, increased the debt of the country at a more rapid rate than has the Conservative Government, which it would have the people believe to be extravagant. The Recorder's statements are economical—of truth.

This subject may be still further examined. The increase of debt under Sir John Macdonald's Government has been incurred for the purpose of supplying the country with railways and canals, and needed public works. During the time the debt was increased by $40,313,607 by the Reform Government, the expenditure on capital account was $36,515,901, and while the debt was increased by $56,045,630 by the Conservative Government, the expenditure on capital account was $40,736,172. The Reform Government not only increased the debt more rapidly than the Conservative Government has, but they also expended less on public works and kindred interests, the remainder of the debt being incurred to meet deficiencies in current expenses. All the debt incurred by the Conservatives has been for public works and similar purposes, while by a beneficial fiscal policy they have been enabled to expend on capital account $4,736,519 more than the amount of the debt incurred. In view of these facts it would be showing wisdom on the part of the Reformers if they avoided the subject of the public debt. If patriotic considerations will not restrain them, this fear of certain exposure of their misrepresentations should.

ALWAYS more or less ludicrous, the Globe at times makes special attempts to be humorous, but it is none the less unfair. In a criticism of the Hon. Thomas White's speech at Victoria, B. C., it pretends that Mr. White claimed to be the "first cause and main spring" of the railway, and goes on to say:

"Understanding this, one may easily discover another illustration of Mr. White's illustrious modesty in that part of his speech where he described the railway's originator as a statesman in everything which makes statesmanship valuable—a statesman having the courage to work for the future of his country. Prodigious and Only Thomas! when humility was divided up thou didst well to stand behind the door."

The Globe cannot be truthful even when it tries to amuse. What Mr. White said was:

"If Sir John's health permits, and I feel that it may permit, you will have an opportunity of seeing him here, and he will be able to see the full fruition of the greatest event which has made him a statesman in everything which makes statesmanship valuable—a statesman having the courage to work for the future of his country."

Mr. White, nevertheless, deserves credit for advocating the claims of this great work out of Parliament in Parliament and in the Cabinet.

It has been charged that a portion of a sum of money paid a lawyer by a firm in Montreal charged with frauds on the customs was paid to two Cabinet Ministers and an M.P. The story first appeared in the Truist Bulletin, and it has done duty since in all Reform papers. In its last issue, however, the Truist Bulletin says:—"So far as the insinuation regarding two Ministers of the Crown and an hon. M.P. is concerned we do not believe that any one of them received a portion of the money." Such charges are easily made, but not so easily sustained.

The Kingston Wag wished to make use of the slanders in Mr. Chagnon's speech, and commenced as follows in its issue of July 23rd:—"Mr. Chagnon is the Tory candidate in Chambly, whose nomination occurred to-day." Mr. Chagnon was not the candidate of the Conservative party and his nomination did not occur that day, nor any time. He was called the Parti National candidate by the Montreal Star, but he was not nominated by anyone Mr. Jodoin is the Conservative candidate.

FROM THE ROCKIES.

The Magnificence of a Forest Fire on the Mountains.

Rocky Mountains, July 18, 1886.

FROM ROCKY MOUNTAINS, July 18, 1886.—I have found time to drop a few lines to let our friends know that the boys from our town are still doing well, and have not yet forgotten their old home. They are likely to do so for when they get a letter from us they will find out everything that has happened from the year one of our memories up to the time we left home. There are six of us in Peterborough in the one ship. The last of the gang, made up of men from Winnipeg, Toronto, London and Bruce County. They are all good-hearted, good-looking, well-built fellows, and our ship is a fine-looking, six-foot-two Scotchman, and can do up a song or come speech in proper style. The only time any of them got kind of cranky like, is when we had from Peterborough a letter from our old times. We keep up the talk and laugh so long and late that they get upon their mettle and fire out of their mouths, and then they look into our faces and pray for us to give our tongues a rest and go to sleep. Their prayers are not always answered, for I can't sleep much. There is no strange news to tell this time except about the fire, and that you will no doubt have heard before now. There was a small fire about our camp the other evening, but I can assure you that they are a pretty slight, grand beyond description. It swept over the side of the mountain like a flash and showed us how impossible escape would be had anyone chosen to be before it. The prettiest sight was after dark, and we stood outside our shelter until after bed time looking at it.

The whole mountain seemed to be a bed of glowing coals, with tongues of flame shooting up here and there and all over it. Near the top the fire was so close together and looked so small that they might easily be mistaken for stars, except that now and again they would burst into a streak of flame and looked more like comets. Now and again the fire would catch a tall spruce tree, and the flames would shoot up to the height of 40 or 50 ft., then one of the large trees would fall and come crashing down the steep mountain side, leaving a streak of flame and sparks behind and looking just as though one of the mountain streams had caught fire and came rushing down amongst trees and rocks, setting everything ablaze until it reached the river in the valley below. We got sleepy at last and went inside, shook up our footings (banish laughs) and got into bed. We didn't sleep long, for when someone's back was still outside followed on us to come out and look at it now. We all tumbled out of bed and made for the door. We were well rewarded for our trouble, for the night was darker, the fire seemed brighter and more of them, and it was a scene that I don't think any of us will ever forget. The lake said that someone had taken a picture of it. I was just thinking that if we had a picture of the burning mountain and the twenty-five men who were standing looking at it, some of our Peterborough storekeepers would be glad to get hold of it, for there wasn't a man who had more than a shirt on and some of us only a piece of soap. Most clean now, dear papa, and go and do my washing. Sunday is my washing day here, it is the only day we can get a chance to dry them. If we were to wash them after work and have them back all night the chances are we wouldn't have a piece of shirt in the morning. Someone would be sure to steal them.

So now I'll say good-bye for the present, hoping this finds the town and surrounding country in a healthy and prosperous condition.

Yours truly,

R. SHERBROOK.

P. S.—One of our lads has just come in from washing his shirt in the river. He was standing on a corduroy bridge with a rope tied to the shirt letting the swift stream rip the soap out, when the shirt slipped and the garment with a twist took leave of the coast. C. made a dash for the other side of the bridge, but the shirt was in his course at the rate of six miles an hour.

FISHERMEN FAMISHING.

Terrible Distress in Newfoundland and Labrador.

Ottawa, Ont., July 24.—Mr. Andrew Widdell of St. John's, Nfld., who was in the city this forenoon on his way to Boston, gives a heartrending account of the distress prevailing among the fishermen on the coast of Newfoundland and Labrador. The distress is more particularly confined to Labrador, but a great deal prevails on the northern coast of Newfoundland. In the White Bay region, along Cape Bauld, Nfld., there is hardly a family that is not in danger of starvation. The seal catch, which runs from March to May, was very small, and so the fishermen have nothing to exchange for food or clothing. He says that out of 500 persons in less than 1,000 are in a starving condition and many more will be reduced to the verge of starvation. On the Labrador coast the ice has not yet broken up, and the Esquimaux families are suffering greatly. There is no fishing except along the Hamilton Inlet, from Cape Mudgeford to Cape Charles. Terrible distress prevails, 100 families having died outright in this vicinity. Parties were arriving at St. John's before he left from Indian Harbor, Wolsck Harbor, Nain, Hopedale and Okayook with terrible stories of suffering from the lack of food and clothing. On July 10th there was a sign of the ice breaking up, and the thermometer at St. John's registered eight below zero. Winter set in the last of last October. To illustrate in a small way the suffering that is prevailing, he said that on the Labrador coast, at a place of forty-two inhabitants, no fewer than twenty-four deaths had occurred during June. In another settlement of 53 persons 11 persons had died. In another of 72 inhabitants 23 had succumbed to hunger.

The Daily Review.

TUESDAY, JULY 27, 1886.

Dismissed.
The cases Queen vs. Brennan and Queen vs. Coughlin, involving infringements of the Scott Act, were heard before Justice Huxley at Hastings on Monday. Mr. Kerr, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the prosecution and Mr. John O'Meara for the defence. The cases were dismissed.

Camp Minerva Returned.
"Camp Minerva," which included Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown and Miss Brown, Miss Fraser, of Toronto, Miss Kent, of Newcastle, Mr. A. Thomas and Mr. (Charles) McClelland, returned to town on Monday night from Bochart, where they had been camping for two weeks. They report having had a very pleasant time. The fishing was very fair.

The finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW McNEIL'S.

A Distinguished Position.
In its account of the cricket match between the Peterborough and Toronto clubs the Toronto Mail says:—"Peterborough was thus left victorious by an innings and 32 runs, and gained the distinction of being the first club to lower the colours of Toronto during the present season. They are now entitled to rank as one of the best teams in Canada, and would doubtless make a good show against any club on this side of the Atlantic. The bowling of Logan must not be forgotten, as he secured 11 wickets for only 33 runs."

A Gallant Act.
We take from the Bradford Express the following paragraph in reference to a son of Mr. Walter Rubridge formerly of Peterborough:—"A letter has been received from Fred Rubridge, who is now express messenger on the C.P.R. from Grayhurst to Callander, in which he gives particulars of the rescue, by himself and another young man of a party of five, two women and three men, from drowning. It will be remembered that Fred has a record in this respect, having a year ago saved Miss Kerr from drowning near Watts' mill in this city. He appears to be a proper candidate for the medal of the Royal Humane Society."

Returned.
Mr. D. Bellegem has returned from Newwood where he has been acting as valuator in the matter of the transferring the effects and good will of the McGregor Hotel from Mr. McNeil to Mr. McGreggor to Mr. Hugh Drain, Jr. Both parties interested chose Mr. Bellegem as valuator and it was agreed to abide by his choice, letting Mr. Bellegem value the effects without the assistance of the usual other man. Both parties were perfectly satisfied with the valuation. This speaks well both as to the confidence reposed in Mr. Bellegem and the belief that he is a man who knows his business. Mr. McGreggor has gone west.

Scene in the South End.
On Monday evening between seven and eight o'clock quite an excitement lingered around the corner of Dalhousie and Stewart streets. A gang of boys were lying around the fence enclosing Mr. Lewis Spry's premises fighting matches. Mr. Spry went out and seeing some one on the corner, ordered him off. The youth refused to go. Mr. Spry left him there and went into the house. Seeing that he was so pig headed he would have to be dealt with like a pig, but water would be resorted to. But Mr. Spry did not administer any hot water. He came out again, and seeing the youth still hanging around, ordered him away. The young fellow, whose name is English, doubtless provoked by his Worship's decision, and bold that he had a right to stay on the sidewalk as long as he liked. Mr. Spry pitched him off, but the young fellow regained his feet again and springing at Mr. Spry caught him by the whiskers. The job developed rapidly, ending in a scuffle between Mr. Spry and young English's father.

"Rats."
Mr. John Craig, confectioner, George street, put out a big wire rat trap baited with cheese, on the street, to-day.

Professor R. Watkins.
Veterinary Dentist, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, will be at the City Hotel until Saturday evening. Parties having horses with bad mouths will do well to give him a call.

P. A. A. Excursion.
Be sure to keep your engagements open for the P. A. A. Excursion to Orillia and Sturgeon Point, on the Civic holiday, August the 19th. Cheap rates and first class accommodation by special train.

Garden Party and Sale of Work at Hazel House.
The Ladies' Committee (Mrs. Capt. Willis, President), intend holding a Sale of Work and Garden Party at Hazel House on the evening of the 5th of August. Particulars later.

Commenced.
The brickwork of Mr. D. Bellegem's additions to his factory was commenced this morning under the superintendence of Mr. Adam Dawson. No doubt that, under the superintendence of Mr. Dawson, the building will speedily be completed.

The Gun.
The regular meet of the Gun Club was held in the Riverside Park on Monday afternoon. The scores are as follows:

12345678910
H. T. Strickland	0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 2
G. Tacey	1 0 0 1 1 0 1 1 0 6
H. Calcutt	1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 1
G. Hartley	1 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 1 4
C. Deale	1 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 4
R. Neil	0 1 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 0
H. W. Kent	1 0 1 0 0 1 1 0 0 1

Escaped from the Gaol.

A notice has been sent to the police office stating that on July 23rd Wm. J. Farwell, lately of Snowdon and formerly of Kirkhill, had escaped from the Minden gaol, where he was imprisoned for forgery. He is 30 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches high, stout, erect in figure, and wears black hair and a black moustache. Wm. Gainer, Esq., Warden of Haliburton, offers $25 reward for the apprehension of Farwell, and the gaoler supplements the reward with $5.

Hog Ball.

The Mud Lake Indians went to Hiawatha on Monday to play ball. Hog ball, as they call it—with their brethren of that place. The game is much like ordinary ball, except that it is not ruled down so fine. Base running consists in taking a hundred yard race and back. If, during the time of going out or coming back, the ball is caught on the fly, or the base runner is hit with the ball, the next batsman takes his turn. The Mud Lake Indians won. None of the base runners were hurt.

Building.

An agreement has been come to by Mr. J. J. McNeil and the Building Committee in regard to the erection of an addition to the former's grain warehouse, Charlotte street. Mr. McNeil has consented to cover his whole warehouse with corrugated iron except the roof, which is well protected by shingles laid in mortar. This sheeting will be painted and will give the building a very handsome appearance, as well as protecting it against fire as effectively as a veneer of brick. The addition to the warehouse will be 72x26.

Personal.

Dr. Neide, Secretary of the American Cancer Association, is in town visiting friends.

Mr. Wm. Wood, of Peterborough, who has recently returned from British Columbia, left town this morning for Woodstock, Ont., where he will enter into the insurance business. Mr. Wood has had a considerable experience in underwriting.

In the list of students of the calendar of the Ottawa Ladies' College appears the name of Miss Annie Hamilton, daughter of Mr. Wm. Hamilton, of Peterborough, who obtained a prize in history.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Machin arrived home on Monday evening.

At the Colonial.

In its notes on the Colonial Exhibition, the London Eng. Canadian Gazette says:—"In connection with the 'Studies of Plant Life in Canada,' by Mrs. C. P. Trail, in it may interest some of our readers to know that Mrs. Chamberlain's drawings, consisting of the originals, both of these in 'Plant Life' and of a former volume, 'Canadian Wild Flowers,' as well as a large collection not yet published are on view at the Colonial Exhibition. A number are framed, and hung in the West Quadrant, and an even larger number are in portfolio, and can be seen at Dr. Selwyn's office. For those interested in the subject the collection should prove of much interest."

An Invitation.

We have received the programme of the annual swimming races of the Montreal Swimming Club at St. Helen's Island on August 7 and 14th. Mr. D. English, formerly of Peterborough, is on the executive committee, is the starter of the races and the donor of one of the prizes. Mr. R. B. White is one of the judges. Mr. English writes that these two Peterborough "boys" will be glad to extend the privileges of the bath to any of the Review's readers who may visit Montreal during the swimming season. The Club has 1,500 members and owns the finest fresh water private swimming bath in America. On behalf of our readers we return thanks to Mr. English for the kind invitation.

Change of Time.

The noon train on the Canadian Pacific Railway will reach Peterborough from this time at half past eleven o'clock instead of half past twelve o'clock, as heretofore.

Temperature.

The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows: 8 o'clock a.m., 69; 1 o'clock p.m., 80; 4 o'clock p.m., 85.

Going.

Out of the hundred and seventy-three girls received at the Barnardo Home on Sunday only about half are left, homes being found for the rest. A number will leave the Home to-morrow.

Steamer Golden-Eye. will leave the Locks on Wednesday at 7 a.m. instead of the regular time, 7:30. A mass will leave Snowden's Hotel at 7 a.m. to take passengers free of charge to the boat. The reason of leaving so early is to convey the St. Andrew's picnic of Cobourg to Idyl-Wild.

Ton Talk.
Look out for my rat trap. John Craig I saw it, too. Henry Bossiter. My man got away from me. The Minden gaol. We'll keep our eyes open for him (and the $30). The police all over the country. Farewell to Haliburton. Farewell.

A Fine Poster.

We have received a poster announcing the annual excursion of the Women of Midland. It was printed at the Free Press office in that village, and is a first-rate production. Many city offices could not surpass it, and Midland should feel proud of having a printing office that can turn out such work.

A FULL line in all widths of the best English Body Floor Oil Cloths at K. FAIR'S.

Entertainment.

A vocal and musical entertainment, for the benefit of the library of the Roman Catholic Separate School, will be given at the Murray street school grounds on Thursday evening, the 27th inst., in which the leading amateurs of the town will take part. The band will also be present. Refreshments can be obtained on the grounds. Admission 15 cents; children 10 cents.

Royal City Aldermen.

Ald. Skinner, Ald. Bruce, and Ald. Cullen, the Finance Minister, of the city of Guelph, are in town, their specific mission being the inspection of the Peterborough electric light system. Guelph has the ball system now, managed by a company. But Guelph is thinking about taking the management of the electric light business, like the water works management, in its own hands, and in its view of this the delegation are looking around the country to see what would be the best system to establish. So far they like the Royal system (Peterborough system) best for two reasons. As compared with the ball system, the light can be produced with less power, and the machinery can be run at a much lower rate of speed, thus involving less wear and tear. The "Finance Minister" is looking up the town's standing. He says taxes are certainly low here, but then they don't pay their Mayor anything here, while in Guelph the Mayor gets a salary, etc. The members of the delegation, who are staying at the Oriental Hotel, will start for home in the morning.

Successful Candidates.

The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Local Secretary for the Church of England Sunday School Institute, London, has received particulars of the examination held in connection with the Institute in Peterborough on 21st May last. The papers are sent out from England and the answers returned at once. Certificates are issued, signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York and are naturally very highly valued by the successful candidates. Subjects of examination are scripture, prayer book, and a sketch of lesson. At the last examination for teachers belonging to St. Luke's Church all were successful in obtaining second class, one first, and one obtaining honours. The names of the successful candidates are: Mrs. Jackson, Messrs. W. Wallbridge, J. J. Rooney and W. Pakenham.

REVIEWS.

DOMINION OF CANADA.—We have received from the Department of Agriculture "The Dominion of Canada," a guide book containing information for intending settlers. This work contains a fund of valuable information, clearly and methodically arranged, and containing all the information that can be desired by those who contemplate making Canada their future home. Especial attention is given to the enlightenment of those who purpose to settle on the land of our vast and fertile territories. The book is illustrated with admirably executed views of Canadian scenery, so as to afford to those who are still strangers a more complete idea of the country. A very clear map also ably greatly in this direction. This guide book should help to augment that interest in Canada, which is at present being aroused by the Colonial Exhibition in London, the completion of the C.P.R., and other causes, bringing us more under the notice of the civilized world. It will, therefore, contribute its share towards promoting that settlement of our country which is already making greater progress this year than ever before in our history.

HORSE DENTISTRY.

How the Operations are Performed—A Novelty.

Prof. R. Watkins, veterinary dentist, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is at present in town. Trainers, livery men and horse owners generally are taking a considerable interest in him.

What is he here for? This is what he says: "Horses' teeth are the cause of many diseases and disagreeable habits, such as coughing, drooling, frothing at the mouth, tongue rolling, shaking the head, champing of the bit, shying, weak eyes, driving on one line and pulling, driving unsteadily, indigestion, colic, high wind, weak lungs, stocking of the legs, if poor, impossible to get fat. I have cured all the above by operating on the teeth. I remove the jagged edge from the molars, thereby enabling the horse to masticate his food properly and drive steadily."

This morning the Professor opened up his chest of instruments in Connor's livery stable. The first brought out was a little bay mare. The Professor did not administer chloroform or gas, and yet the little thing did not think of doing such a ridiculous thing as to scream, especially when there was such a number looking at her.

The Professor approached her kindly, the groom took off her halter and there she stood, as docile as a lamb, submitting to have her teeth cut and filed for fully fifteen minutes. She didn't even move out of her tracks.

After standing steadily admiring the treatment and the mode of handling adapted by the operator for some time Mr. Chase, Stapleton remarked to Mr. Harry Winch: "I have seen just enough of this man to convince me that he knows his business."

Mr. Winch, who is delighted with having his own three horses attended to, is convinced that Prof. Watkins will do a great good in the community. He says that it is quite reasonable to suppose if a horse's teeth are jagged, ulcerated and irregular, that the foot cannot be properly masticated, and as a result will do no good.

Several other horses were brought out from the stables to be treated. The first, the ex-crescent-proprietor, which were hurting either from the inside or outside of the jaw were neatly snipped and smoothed down; while on the same time the Professor went on to "relieve his experience." Among other odd cases he said he came across one at Orangeville where the horse was being treated for glanders. "And what do you suppose was the matter with him?" he asked, pausing a moment and looking at the crowd.

No one ventured to guess. "Why?" he said continuing to rasp away at the teeth again "nothing more than a badly ulcerated tooth. The pus broke through and discharged from the nostrils."

In taking out a tooth it requires considerable muscle on the part of the operator. But the horses stand it with apparent fortitude, and seem to be pleased when the tooth is out.

Prof. Watkins has operated since Monday on the teeth of Mr. Lundy's two horses, Mr. B. A. Morrow's three, Mr. H. Winch's three, Mr. J. Simpson's two, three at Boyd's training stables, including the trotter, "Taffy Jr." of Colborne, several at Connor's and has taken a painfully ulcerated tooth from Connor's trotting mare, Clara C.

Prof. Watkins will remain in town for some days.

THE MEXICAN WAR CLOUD.

Feeling Among Mexican Masses Very Bitter Against Americans.

El Paso, Tex., July 27.—Paso del Norte continues full of Mexican troops. The feeling among the Mexican masses is very bitter against Americans. They are quite defiant and say that it will be an easy matter for their country to whip the United States. They believe the firing of the first gun would be the signal for the Southern States to come to their assistance to revenge themselves upon the Northern States for the disastrous outcome of the civil war. They feel convinced that England would at once take their part and blockade the Atlantic and Gulf ports of the United States. Senior E. Spor, Mexican Consul at El Paso, says: "Mexico will never comply with the demand that has been made. If it must come to that you may be sure that Mexico will accept war first. The Mexican press wants their Government to listen to no negotiations whatever."

PLEASURE INTENSE.

Robert Burdett's Idea of the Pleasures of Camping.

My boy, when you go out a camping, don't "rough it" too much. Don't go without tents. A camp without a tent is like an orchard without apples. And don't move into a hotel cottage and call it "camping." That is about as much like camping as paying a dollar a pound and fishing in a stocked fish pond is like trout fishing. Take a tent, the army wall tent is the most comfortable and enjoy yourself. The guide book will tell you as it told us, that a tent is unnecessary. That "the author and his friends have camped in the Adirondacks sleeping in the open air every night, for," I forget whether it was three months or three years, and never felt a drop of rain. Well, maybe that is true. We caught about five weeks of rain in the month of June, but then this was an unusually rainy June. You had better take a tent. There may be some rare June where this one came from. But the great charm of the tent does not lie in its utility as an umbrella. It shows off to best advantage on a windy night. That is why I recommended the wall tent, rather than the "A" or wedge tent. We have both varieties in our camp, but when the winds are boisterous the wall tent has a few fancy steps that the A tent can never hope to imitate. Night has fallen, and the other hand the wind has gotten up. I retire to the cot that sags down like a waterbed to receive me, and the circus begins. I am not afraid that the tent will blow over—it takes a terrific wind to capsize a well-pinned, neatly anchored tent, but I don't see why it can't stand still. I hear the wind waving among the trees. I look at the cot where the Prince is sleeping, and half wish I hadn't brought him out into this land of furious storms. I lie down again, look at the way the light comes in through the tent, and put it out. Suddenly the tent sags down like a balloon, and then before I can throw my arms over the Prince to keep the ridge pole from hitting him, the tent stands straight up three feet higher than its best standing record. Another roaring tempest through the trees; the four sides of the tent bulge out until it is as big as a ship, then it collapses and sucks in until there is hardly room inside for the lantern. Then three sides stiffen up like steel rods, while the fourth flaps itself mad for no particular reason. The tent sags again, and when it stands up this time, the fly begins to flap and pound over your head, faster than you can think, with the roll of a muffled drum, varied now and then by a crack like the shot of a gun. A moment's lull, suddenly the winds seemed to be rending the forests, and both tent poles, fore and aft, are seized with the delirious tremors, and shiver and shake and tremble in oscillating spasms, while the walls dance up and down, lighter, bulging, collapse and stretch, and the frantic fly "as fast as mill wheels strike," smites the top of the tent in furious, loud sounding whacks, that make the very lantern burn blue with fear; the moaning of the wind in the woods raises to a shriek; under the impression that the whole mountain is flowing away, I spring to my feet, rush to the tent door, tear it open. The bluest skies, the brightest stars, the loveliest night in all this land greets me with the blessing of peace. The night wind is singing softly in the gently swaying tops, a jubilation of the summer night, a liquid whisper; the very undertone of the zephyr, scarce so loud as the purring murmur of the drowsy little brook, crowding itself to sleep in the starlight. That is all. But why should it sound so much like Bedlam inside the tent? That's what I want to know.

EARLY CLOSING.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Permit me to ask through your columns what has become of the "Saturday night early closing" question? Months ago we heard the echoes of some of our local pulpits on the subject. I fairly expected that something would be done. These echoes don't seem to have had any answer, and nobody, as you show the least sign of moving. The question is surely of too much importance, not only to the storekeepers and their assistants, but to the whole community in view of a right and proper preparation for keeping the Sabbath, to be allowed thus to go by default.

And now, when the people all round are crying for short services on the Sabbath—can we stand an hour—would it not be a good time to move, and to ask them to extend a little of the same consideration which they claim for themselves, to those to whom the present long service hours of the Saturday must of necessity be very exhausting?

HUMANITAS

Rebanded on the Track.

MONTRÉAL, July 27.—On Monday night as the Central Vermont train, due here at 11.30, was nearing Waterloo Junction, the train derailed a man who was lying on the rails. The body was horribly mangled beyond recognition. The head was severed from the body. The arms and legs were broken. Search was made but the head could not be found. The remains were left in charge of Sectionman Butler.

MOVEMENTS OF DILKE.

LONDON, July 26.—Dilke left town on Saturday, presumably for the continent. On the same day, anticipating his removal by the Queen from her Privy Council, he resigned, and is no longer even technically a "Right Honorable." Many clergymen yesterday, under ingenious veils of rhetoric, made his fall the leading topic of their sermons.

NEW GOVERNMENT BANK.

BERLIN, July 26.—Germany has decided to establish a new bank in Berlin on the mode of the Paris Comptoir d'Escompte, in order to avoid the making and the resending of payments abroad in English sterling from which the German Government thinks England derives some commercial advantage abroad. The proposed capital of the new bank is 50,000,000 marks, to be issued in shares of 10,000 marks each.

CAVALRY HORSES.

We would invite the attention of our farmers to the recent visit of cavalry officers to Peterborough for the purpose of purchasing horses for the British army, and ascertaining whether a sufficient number of the right stamp can be obtained in Canada. It is true that the result was not satisfactory, and little more so in the other localities that they have thus far visited, but a useful lesson for the future can be learned from this failure. What were the reasons that the horses offered in our town were not satisfactory, how can the objections be obviated, and what stamp of horses is required?

For the British cavalry horses are required that are from fifteen and a half to sixteen hands high, from 5 to 6 years old, bay, chestnut, brown or black, perfectly sound, and able to carry a considerable weight without being clumsy. Most of the horses offered here were either too light or too heavy. Neither speedy trotters of light built nor heavy draught horses would suit the intended purpose. The horses not thus disqualified were declined because of blemishes chiefly caused in the opinion of these experts by the knocking about on hard roads at too early an age.

If our farmers wish to contribute recruits for the British army it is evident that they must be prepared to raise a different stamp of horse to the present. Some suitable stallions must be obtained, possibly from England, for they are not too plentiful in Canada nor are they superabundant in the United States. These young horses should not be broken too early, it is not indeed necessary that they should be broken at all for this purpose. They should not be used as roadsters, though they may be even beneficially employed at light work about the farm. It is useless to offer an unsound animal, for the purchasing officers are lynx-eyed.

Some of our farmers might well embark in this enterprise. We learn that at least 3000 of these horses are required yearly. The price, from $150 to $180, should be remunerative, and any of the young horses that may be slightly above or below the standard would be far from uneasable. The local demand and that of exporters to the United States would secure the disposal of any probable increase of such horses.

It is likely that most cavalry horses supplied by Canada will be obtained from the ranches of the Northwest, where they could be advantageously raised. Many of the horses for the cavalry in India are from Australia, "Walers" as they are called from the days when New South Wales comprised several of the present Australian colonies. These come chiefly from the "runs" or "stations," the equivalents of the ranches of this continent.

But even if our great North-West prairies should be the chief source of supply, that is no reason why the farmers of Peterborough should not share in the remunerative business of providing horses for the British cavalry.

LIBERAL REFORMERS.

The London Advertiser is not pleased with our remarks about the franchise, and vainly endeavours to show the greater liberality of the Reformers. It falls altogether, however, to meet our charge that Mr. Mowat and his supporters voted down Conservative proposals for extension of the franchise until forced to legislate by the unpopularity thus incurred, and by the announcement in the speech from the throne at Ottawa that the Dominion Conservative Administration intended to re-introduce the franchise extension bill that had formerly been introduced and relinquished through pressure of time. Mr. Mowat's bill was thus the outcome of the Conservative proposals to extend the franchise, forced upon him unwillingly after he had resisted as long as he dared.

The Advertiser also dwells upon the fact that the retention of manhood suffrage in Prince Edward Island was not placed in the Franchise Bill till after its introduction. The privilege, however, was willingly granted as soon as the Island members in the discussion in the House showed sufficient cause. The Advertiser of course fails to remind its readers that the Reformers had previously made a desperate attempt to deprive Prince Edward of its manhood suffrage. By the way, the great majority of those whom the Reformers would thus have disfranchised were Irish Roman Catholics, a class of voters to whom the Reformers showed a strong antipathy, couched in most insulting language.

The truth is that the Dominion Franchise Act greatly extended the franchise throughout Canada, and thus is very distasteful to the Liberal Reformers.

THE REV. E. P. HAMMOND.

The following letter, dated London, Eng., June, 1886, is taken from the Montreal Witness and is republished by request:—

Sir,—The Rev. E. Payson Hammond has been holding services in and around this metropolis of England nearly every day during the space of seven months. Some days there have been two services, and frequently there have been three services in one day in the same place of worship, and occasionally as many meetings, but distributed over a given area of the district he was visiting.

Early in the fall of last year a committee was formed, consisting of clergymen and of laymen belonging to various denominations so that the method of procedure should be known from the first. The arrangements made then have been adhered to throughout. Important centres were chosen by localities, and the services as they come to be held in rotation were always made widely known by full advertisements.

Some of the leading religious papers in London have contained full reports of Mr. Hammond's meetings, sometimes collected by the editors themselves, sometimes by ladies or gentlemen who attended the meetings and had space to observe throughout their course, and were well able to gauge the extent of the work done.

These different sources of testimony have much value as attestations of the reality of the work done.

It is seen by that that a band of skilled and earnest workers gathered round him, and have greatly assisted in leading souls to Christ.

There are so few evangelists in England who have the faculty of addressing children in large numbers that the Standing Committee have urged Mr. H. to turn his attention especially towards the children and young people of this vast metropolis.

Never before has there been such a marvellous work among the young. The Spirit of God has rested with conspicuous power upon the daily meetings. Frequently two and three thousand persons have been present at the meetings at one time, and sometimes nearly all have remained to the enquiry meeting, where there has been found the rich and the poor, the young and the old, side by side, all enquiring the way of salvation and earnestly desiring to enter upon it.

In some parts of the metropolis Mr. H. has conducted drawing-room meetings—private services wholly and composed exclusively of the higher classes, and sometimes the Gospel has come with great power to those gatherings, many of those present becoming convinced of sin and seeing Christ as their Saviour and their Living Lord.

People of rank and of high hereditary titles—Lords and Ladies—have taken part in these services. Again, Mr. H. has held meetings in some of the poorest districts in London, where the walls and strays were gathered in. At Dr. Bernard's Homes for outcast boys he labored for three weeks, and in the large hall, notorious once as a drinking saloon, known as the Edinburgh Castle, but now the property of the Bernard's schools for homeless boys, he held meetings, the great hall being filled to overflowing; many thousands being present at a time, all eager to hear the Gospel and to sing the praises of Jesus as their Saviour.

Several hundreds of those very boys have been sent since to Canada. These past seven months spent in London and the suburbs seem as if they had been as precious as the apostle's gift as any period throughout the six years which Mr. Hammond has spent in Great Britain at different times in the past on this side of the Atlantic.

It is no exaggeration to say that we may safely reckon that thousands have been converted, for which God's name be praised, and to which all the glory be given for he has done wonderful things amongst his people everywhere.

WARSAW.

BASEBALL.—A baseball match was played here on Saturday, July 24th, between the Douro and Warsaw clubs, which resulted in a victory for the Warsaw Club by 2 runs. There was very good play on both sides, and without going far into particulars the playing of James, of Warsaw, and Shaver and Morgan, of Douro, might be especially mentioned. The teams were composed as follows:—

WARSAW. DOURO.

Warsaw 5 1 0 0 0 2-1
Douro 1 1 1 2 1 1-9

Awfully Punished for Blasphemy. BRADFORD JUNCTION, O., July 26.—Milton Wilcox, a well-to-do farmer, is a raving maniac, his mental malady being the direct outgrowth of a stroke of paralysis visited upon him, it is generally believed, by the Almighty as a punishment for blasphemous language on Tuesday last. Wilcox's farm, with others in the vicinity, was visited by a heavy storm of wind and hail on Tuesday afternoon, which beat down and ruined nearly all his crops. Wilcox was absent from home at this time, and when he returned and surveyed the ruin in the fields about him he gave vent to the most fearful oaths, cursing God for allowing and causing the destruction. In the midst of his ravings he fell to the earth, and when his family and neighbors ran to his aid he was suffering from a stroke of paralysis. On attempting to raise him from the earth they found the soil so hot about him that they could not tread upon it with comfort, and the end of a pole with which he was pushed away was charred and blackened. Wilcox was finally got home, and where, Thursday night, he went crazy and is now a maniac.

PETERBOROUGH.

A PRINTER'S PATENT.

A Compositor that cannot Join a Typographical Union.

A large number of people visited Ault's armory yesterday to witness the operation of the machine invented and developed by Mr. Joseph Thorne, which sets and distributes type at a great pace, and which has had a practical test of more than a year in New York where several have been steadily in use during this time. The machine looks like a round tower with a keyboard in front and shelves at the side. The operator plays on the keys, and type is carried out to a trough and on to a shelf where the procession of pieces of metal is cut at intervals, each corresponding to the length of the line. Here another operator justifies the matter, that is, takes out or puts in spaces to make the words come to proper distances from each other and the type exactly fill a line. While this is going on other type is being distributed. To understand this it is necessary to go back to the upright cylinder first mentioned. This is divided in two parts, one revolving about the other and each having ninety vertical grooves in the lower cylinder, which is stationary, has grooves within it which correspond to the projecting timbers in a lock, these in each groove being different from those in any other. Each type has corresponding notches cut in it, like words, and as the cylinder revolves the type falls from the upper revolving cylinder only when its notches correspond to the words in the lower cylinder over which it is passing. Now by a simple arrangement a whole line of type is thrust into the open cylinder. This is revolving fast and when the lowest type finds its appropriate groove in the lower cylinder it drops into it. Then the one just above it goes the same performance and then the next and so on. There is an ingenious arrangement by which the type that are set are got into the trough against its circumference where at a certain point they are shunted into the trough and go on to their final places. The machine was set at a rate of 6,000 ems an hour, 1,000 being good work for a man. A book printed from type set by the machine was exhibited and was a very creditable piece of work. Mr. Thorne has been for years engaged in developing and perfecting the machine, which is said to be now perfect as far as any mechanical tests that seems to support the claim, as a number of the machines have been at daily work in an office for more than a year, and some improvements have been made since they were built. These are incorporated in the machine shown yesterday, which was put together a week ago. (Hartford Observer, Sept. 1, 1884. Address the Principal.

The Fire Brigade Band gave their regular open air concert in the Gardens on Tuesday evening. The walks and upper portion of the grounds were thronged. There must have been fully two thousand people present. It is hardly necessary to add that the music was highly appreciated.

Green peas, shelled, sold at nine cents per quart, and new potatoes at $1.50 per bag. Eggs brought 12 cents per dozen and butter 15 cents per pound. Town Talk.

Watch for our excursion posters, and come for a pleasant trip with us.—The Little John Foresters. And see the archery contest.—Those that plume themselves on their archery.

No Meeting.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was called on Tuesday evening to select a teacher to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Horning. At eight o'clock there were seven members of the Board present. Mr. Weir, who was there, protested against a meeting of the Board being held to make so important an appointment when several members, not notified, were out of town. Just then Mr. Rutherford came up. This would have made a quorum, but Mr. Weir refused to sit at the Board unless all of the members were there, or duly notified. The remaining seven went inside and Mr. Weir went down street. After sitting around the board for a while Mr. Errett entered into the first order of business—enquiries—by asking what they were sitting there for. They all arose and Mr. Tighe put out the lights.

THE HAVELOCK ELOPEMENT.

The Dutchman's Yarn Wide of the Mark—A Cool Letter.

It appears that the story told by George Wasmouth in regard to the departure of Mapeoleon Preneveau from Havelock was wrong. How he made the mistake is not so plain, but it is evident that Preneveau did not go away with Wasmouth's wife.

That Preneveau did not leave his wife and her eight children in Havelock and cross the lines with another woman is too true. The woman he went with had lived with a man near Havelock as a wife. Preneveau and she went to Rochester, where Napoleon still is. But the woman returned. Preneveau's stock was advertised for sale. The day arrived and a number of men had gathered, but just as the sale was about to commence the woman, who is sometimes known as Miss Winnie O'Brien, appeared on the scene. She made her way through the throng to the front, and, on behalf of Preneveau, succeeded in having the sale postponed. She was not the least backward in speaking out for Preneveau's interests.

This woman also wrote a letter to Mrs. Preneveau, authorizing her to collect the rent for several houses in Havelock owned by Preneveau, for which service she would allow Mrs. Preneveau something! The coolness of this proposal astounded Mrs. Preneveau, but Miss O'Brien appeared to consider it business-like and nothing extraordinary.

Preneveau's affairs are said not to be in a very bad state, and if he had remained to straighten them up he might have left his wife in a better position.

Miss O'Brien expresses regret for only one thing, and that is that she should be the cause of trouble for Mrs. Preneveau. But that does not appear to cause her painful regret.

Mrs. Wasmouth, who has lived here for about a year, is said to be a very respectable woman. She worked in a tailor shop, earning $7 and $8 a week.

A FULL line in all widths of the best English Body Floor Oil Cloths at R. FAIR'S.

Look Out!

Mr. Macdonald, Town Clerk, has issued an order to each of the policemen for two hundred cartridges. The meaning of this is, that to-day is the last day which the freedom of the town is conferred on the great untapped. Booming of small ordnance may be expected to-morrow. All dogs found not wearing the corporation label will be shot down.

The Coming Race.

It was at first intended to hold the coming meet at the Driving Park, Monday and Tuesday, August 23rd and 24th, but since negotiations have been opened with the railway companies as to rates, it was found that Thursday and Friday, August 26th and 27th would be preferable. Accordingly it was finally decided that the meet should be held on those days. This will without doubt be the biggest undertaking ever attempted by the Driving Park Association and it is expected that not only horses, but spectators also by the hundreds, will be attracted from all over the country to Peterborough on those days.

Don't fail to see the new stock of English Floor Oil Cloths at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Entertainment.

A vocal and musical entertainment, for the benefit of the library of the Roman Catholic Separate School, will be given at the Murray street school grounds on Thursday evening, the 28th inst., in which the leading amateurs of the town will take part. The band will also be present. Refreshments can be obtained on the grounds. Admission 15 cents; children 10 cents.

Fixing up the School.

The public school and Collegiate Institute are now being cleaned up and tinted under the supervision of Mr. Wrighton and the Property Committee. The rooms of the South Ward School is being whitewashed and calcimined. The desks are being planned down so as to take out the disfiguration and will be repainted. The West Ward School is to be whitewashed and calcimined throughout. The desks do not need fixing. The Central School will be calcimined and tinted. The large building will be so altered as to meet the requirements of the Government. The upper flat and our large room on the middle flat will be set apart for Institute purposes. Provisions will be made for a library reception room and a teacher's assembly room on the middle flat. The divisions of the upper flat will provide for a special department for chemical experiments. The desks will be all planned down and repainted.

25 to 30 per cent saved now by buying special goods selected for sacrifice at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Their Worship.

His Worship the Mayor and His Worship the Police Magistrate are both members of the Board of Education. His Worship the Mayor was standing on the platform in front of the school at a few minutes to eight o'clock on Tuesday evening (talking to Messrs. Deane, Wrighton, Errett, Weir and others when a voice from the other side of the fence was heard to condemn the Mayor. Presently the form of His Worship the Magistrate appeared in view. Walking directly up to the group the Magistrate said, without looking at His Worship the Mayor, "I wish we could get a Mayor in this town who would see that the sidewalks are kept in repair. There's four planks out there." The Mayor looked thoughtfully at a nail in the platform for a moment and then said quickly "I'll tell you, I'll tell you how it was. Some fellow has been up around here looking for rats." A vague look came into Mr. Errett's eyes. Mr. Wrighton suddenly became interested in the tuck pointing on the big building. Mr. Deane looked at their Worships seriously, while the rest smiled faintly.

Personal.

The Rev. T. B. Angell, formerly curate of St. John's Church, and Mrs. Angell, are in town on a short visit from Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania. They are the guests of Mr. Harry Clouston.

The Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Baptist church, Murray street, will leave town this evening for a few weeks sojourn at the seaside. He goes to Portland, Maine.

Mr. Wm. Coulter, druggist, who left Peterborough about twelve years ago, is in town on a visit. He is now located in Blue Rapids, Kansas. Mr. Coulter seems in the best of health, and attributes his good health to the rare salubrity of the Kansas climate.

Mr. R. Ritchie and wife of Cincinnati, have been visiting friends in Peterborough. They return home on Friday morning. at the matriculation examinations in connection with the University of Toronto among those who passed were Mr. F. C. Armstrong, of Millbrook, who obtained first class honors in English, history, geography and German, and second class honors in French. Miss L. Gardiner, of Cavan, who took second class honors in English, history, geography, French and German, and Mr. H. E. T. Haultain, of Peterborough, who took a high first in mathematics. Each of these successful candidates studied at the Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

The Cardinal at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 27.—The street decorations in connection with to-day's ceremonies were very elaborate. The banquet at the Seminary Hall this afternoon at which Cardinal Taschereau, Archbishop Fabre, Mgr. O'Brien, Papal legate, and about 350 prelates and clergymen sat down, occupied an hour and a half. No toasts were proposed. After the banquet the Cardinal and party proceeded in carriages to the city hall, escorted by a number of the cavalry dressed in costumes of Louis XIV., where a levee was held at 4 o'clock. An address was also presented to the Cardinal from Laval University. The city hall was profusely decorated, opposite the mayor's throne in the council chamber being the arms of the Pope, Cardinal and Archbishop Fabre. The city was illuminated to-night, and a display of fireworks in Dominion square took place.

The First Tea Shipments.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 27.—The first tea shipped passed Victoria yesterday on the way to Burrard Inlet. The general feeling is that it is fitting that its arrival should take place almost at the same time as Sir John's first visit.

Drowned in the Thames.

MISCELLANEOUS.

STUBBS, Smith & Summers, lumber merchants Toronto, have assigned Liabilities, $19,000; assets $18,000.

A FIRE in Knapp, Spout & Co. Company's yard, at St. Louis, July 18, consumed about 25,000,000 feet of lumber in pile, involving a loss of $400,000.

LAMOURIERE, Bros., of Edmonton, are preparing a second raft for shipment to Battleford. It will consist of 175,000 feet of lumber, 100,000 lath and 100,000 shingles.

By a new process hats are now made of wood pulp. They are said to be very fine, and more serviceable than anything heretofore on the market. Great is wood pulp.

CAPITAL is said to have been secured for building a railroad from Fargo, Dak., northwest by way of Turtle Lake, to the boundary of Manitoba, 600 miles. It is said that a survey will at once be made.

MR. JAMES CHORSEY, of the Cobourg Car Works, obtains the contract for rolling stock of the Northern & Pacific Junction Railway. The specifications are said to conform to those of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

THE contract of the locomotives for the Northern & Pacific Junction Railway has been let to the Kingston Locomotive Works. It calls for the delivery of two engines in Sept., three in October, and remainder in November.

MESSRS. HARKIN, ASHER & HENDERSON, of Dover, Ont., are erecting a saw mill on lot 19 con. 9, Dover, with a capacity of 12,000 daily. Messrs. McKough and Trotter have the contract for the machinery, and will have it running for the fall work. The erection of the mill promises to prove a great convenience.

MESSRS. MAXON & Co., says the Ottawa Journal have received an order from Messrs. Hutchison & Wood to supply 1,000,000 ft. of lumber for the construction of the bridge on the new Short Line Railroad between Merrierville and Kenneville which is the extent of their contract. Messrs. McKee & Co., of Ottawa, have also received an order from the same firm for a large quantity of Portland Cement for the same work in connection with the bridge.

The Monetary Times says:—The effect of the export duty, placed by the Dominion Government upon pine logs exported from this country has already been that of increasing the manufacture of sawn lumber on this side of the border. We are told that more than one firm in the Georgian Bay district whose pine was expected to go to the American side to be manufactured, will be converted into lumber in Canada. Evidently there firms regard it cheaper to pay $2 duty on lumber than to pay the same duty on the logs aside from the additional cost of manufacture, arising from the higher price of labor paid on that side. It is decidedly clear that the doubling to the duty will materially check the exportation of logs.

CARDINAL TASCHEREAU.

Arrival at Ottawa to confer the Pallium on Archbishop Duhamel.

OTTAWA, July 28.—His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau, accompanied by a large number of bishops and clergymen, arrived at the Union Depot at 1230 this afternoon. He was received by His Grace Archbishop Duhamel, Mayor McDougall, Messrs. P. Baskerville, M. P. P., and Dr. St. Jean, President of the Reception Committee, and the secretary of the committee, who escorted His Eminence to Wellington. Here they were joined by a very large procession, composed of the national societies, the reception committee, the city council, etc., which escorted the visitors to the Palace on St. Patrick street. The Cardinal will hold a levee at 4 o'clock. At seven o'clock the Cardinal will be brilliantly illuminated, and His Eminence accompanied by the Archbishop, Monsignor O'Brien and about 25 archbishops, together with a large body of clergy, will be in attendance while the decrees from Rome announcing the creation of the new archbishopric are read, afterwards taking part in the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. A magnificent display of fireworks will take place from the river.

At half past eight o'clock to-morrow morning the members of the procession will re-assemble on the vacant ground at the rear of Sussex street opposite the convent of the Grey Nuns, and having formed the Mass of the Holy Spirit, the Cardinal will deliver a sermon. At nine o'clock a magnificent display of fireworks will take place from the river.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

RAILWAY GAINS AND LOSSES.

All railway losses, or nearly all, in Canada, are made on American freight, while the gains are made on Canadian freight. It is the home business that pays, and the railway men know it. Why, then, don't they acknowledge it both in word and deed?—Canadian Manufacturer.

THE REFORM PLATFORM.

The Reformers of North Grey have nominated Mr. B. Allen, the present representative of the riding, as their candidate next election. Mr. Allen voted in Parliament that Riel was a martyr and a lunatic, and that the Dominion Government should be put out of office for allowing the law in his case to take its course.—Toronto Mail.

VAIN AND FOOLISH.

The Chronicle makes a vain and foolish attempt to justify the insults offered to Mr. Chapleau and his friends at the Chamby domination—vain because the evidence of the reporters of the independent press is against it, and foolish because it identifies the chief organ of a great party with the misdeeds of a band of blackguards who are dragging their creed and nationality through the mire in the name of a convicted and executed felon.—Toronto World.

THE ROUGE PLATFORM.

Dr. Forest, the Liberal candidate for Assumption, has issued a lengthy circular to the electors of the county, in which he refers to the necessity for a true patriot, in the interests of religion and nationality, to join together in a protest against the insults thrown upon them by enemies of their race and religion, through the said events in the North-West.—Montreal Tribune (Reform).

A FUTILE FIGHT.

There is no more serious error reported in the whole history of the Reform party than its futile fight against a thorough and vigorous C. P. policy. Wise leaders do not protest against accomplished successes, no matter how confidently they may have previously predicted their failure.—Toronto World (Indep.).

FACTS AGAINST MR. BLAKE.

Mr. Mitchell gives the leader of the Opposition a stinging shot. He says that the "sea of mountains" offered an impassable barrier to railway construction; yet the mountains look down upon a completed road. He predicted that the line north of Lake Superior would never be built; yet trains ran on this line last winter regularly. He spoke of the "worthless character of the prairie lands" yet these lands are today yielding bountiful crops. He prophesied that the company would not build the prairie line; yet the through road is completed five years in advance of time. Mr. Mitchell says people think Mr. Blake's vanity is wounded because the railway has been built despite his assaults upon it. He will not endorse this view, but his opinion is that having done his worst the bon gentleman should now discontinue his attacks and bow gracefully to the inevitable.—Toronto Mail.

PROOF OF PROSPERITY.

In the Government Savings Banks the deposits during the past year have increased over two millions, being now $1,150,000. There can be no better proof of the well-being of the country. The money put in the Government banks is money saved by the people and laid by for an hour of need.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

GRAHAM'S IMITATORS.

Two Men to Make a Trip Through the Rapids in a Barrel.

BUFFALO, July 27.—During the time Graham was employed in a cooper shop here he had as fellow-laborers Wm. Potts, aged 25 years, and George Hazlett, aged 22 years. Both men were born at Chippawa, Ont., and knew the river well. Instead of trying to deter Graham from attempting his perilous feat they aided him in every way. On the return of the two men from the falls on the day that Graham made the trip they began to devise a way in which a new barrel could be made so that two men could go through safely. A design was decided upon which followed the shape of a boat. At the cooper shop of Holmes & Adams work was begun and pushed so successfully that the barrel has been practically finished. In order that it may be thoroughly seasoned it has been taken apart, and will be allowed to stand for a week before being put together permanently. It is the intention of the two men to make the voyage in the early part of August. They will be dropped from the present Maid of the Mist landing on the Canada side by Hamilton Hazlett, a brother of one of the men, and who looked after Graham on his trip. The two men will sit on the top of the barrel until they reach the cantilever bridge, when they will drop into it, close themselves in, and so pass through the rapids. Both men are fearless and confident of a safe trip.

The Hop Crop Ruined.

CANAJOHARIE, N. Y., July 27.—The last ray of hope entertained by the great body of hop growers throughout New York State vanished this morning. During the night a heavy rain occurred. Growers thought this would have a good effect. Instead, yards which yesterday appeared green and healthy, are now black and utterly ruined. Many growers in this section destroyed their yards a week ago, and now slashing them down will become general. Where one week ago it was thought a quarter of an average yield would be harvested, it is now believed not a pound will be picked. Growers are very much disheartened, and their predicament is only equalled by the condition of the big-pickers. Good eighty-five hops now bring 30c. to 32c. against 6c. and the six weeks ago.

Burglary and Highway Robbery.

Oshawa has been excited over attempted burglary and highway robberies. On Saturday night Mr. Nesman was knocked down by two men, who attempted to rob him, but were prevented. Joseph Hurdy was arrested. On Sunday night three men went to rob Mr. Glendinning while he was driving from Bowmanville to Oshawa. By using his whip on the robbers and on his horse he got away. On the same night burglars entered the office of the Oshawa Milling Company and blew open the safe, but were unsuccessful in getting any of the contents. It is an on-again-off-again remedy for crime, against business and all criminals requiring external treatment. Price 75 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Salisbury's Warning.

"Tried in the balance and found wanting," is the general verdict rendered against most of the so-called cures for lung troubles. Such a decision has never been given against Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." On the contrary, it is conceded by thousands who have tried it, to be the only remedy for consumption (consumption of the lungs) and all other diseases generally. It will not cure when both lungs are most gone, but if taken in the disease in its first stages it never fails. It is also specific for such serious affections as fever-sore, white swellings, hip-joint, and great eating ulcers, and for blood taints generally, from whatever cause arising. By druggists.

IF any of our readers that are afflicted with rheumatism have never tried "Woods' Great Peppermint Cure," we advise them to do so at once, and be convinced of its extraordinary merits, and all complaints requiring external treatment. Price 75 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

GERRYMANDERING.

A DESPERATE effort to defend Mr. Mowat as to his gerrymandering is made by the London Advertiser. As no fair defence is available, the Advertiser adopts two ingenious but dishonest devices. One is to create a diversion by making a false charge of unfair readjustment of the constituencies against Sir John Macdonald. The other is to pretend that the gerrymander last year was Mr. Mowat's only performance in that line.

As to the readjustment of representation by the Macdonald Administration, the facts of the case are suppressed by the Advertiser. It was a duty imposed upon the Dominion Administration to make some alteration in the constituencies, for the decennial census gave Ontario (among other Provinces) a right to increased representation. To provide the additional seats, the benefit of which our Province could claim, some rearrangement was inevitable. With this object, and with the additional one of making an approach to equalization of the population of constituencies, changes were made which involved in some instances interference with county boundaries. This was nothing unprecedented, as that plan dated as far back as Confederation in regard to several counties, Peterborough, for instance, being among them. On these general principles the changes were made in a fair spirit and without injustice. We would ask the Reform objects in what manner they would have better provided for the additional seats to which Ontario was entitled? They talk about repealing the "Gerrymander Act"; would they deprive our Province of the added seats to which we were entitled to give us a fair proportion of the representation in the Dominion Parliament?

As to the other point of Mr. Mowat's recent gerrymander being treated as his solitary performance. Bad as it was it was by no means so wholesale as his former interference with the constituencies. He was then in a very different position to Sir John Macdonald. There was no necessity for the Mowat Administration to increase the representation in the Local House, for no such increase was demanded by the constitution. As a matter of expediency he was no more justified, the general feeling being that an increased number of seats in the Provincial Legislature, and consequently augmented expenditure, should be avoided as far as possible. Being thus under no compulsion, but with the sole object of gaining an unfair political advantage, Mr. Mowat deliberately interfered with nearly half the Ontario constituencies. He did this with the most barefaced injustice. He abolished a small constituency because it was hostile and retained a small constituency because it was friendly; he rearranged constituencies so as to give an unfair preponderance to Reform votes while increasing rather than diminishing the inequality of population; he was so far from respecting municipalities that he actually went so far as to cut in half townships, the municipal unit, placing one half in one constituency and the other half in another. The result was, as intended, that at the last general election without an electoral majority, he obtained a working majority in the House.

Mr. Mowat's latest gerrymander was devised on the same lines. His only valid excuse for any interference was that it was desirable to give more adequate representation to North West Ontario. This might have been done without any further rearrangement, but Mr. Mowat with his incredible love of political chicanery seized the opportunity to secure further unfair advantage. So he altered several constituencies with the view of strengthening friends or weakening opponents without reference to the convenience of the electors or inequalities of representation. We will take as an example from a locality most familiar to our readers, the adjoining county. As Victoria County extends a long distance from North to South, as is far narrower from East to West it was naturally and conveniently divided into North and South Ridings. Mr. Mowat, to strengthen the chances of a friendly candidate deliberately ignored the convenience of electors, fairness, and even common sense, by dividing this long and narrow county into two long, ribbon-like strips, the East and West Ridings. Nor in doing this did he attempt to adjust the inequality of population existing in North and South Victoria.

But the most striking instance of Mr. Mowat's pettifoggery, trickery, of his paltry dishonesty, was his treatment of the Conservative of Toronto. He was determined to punish by disfranchisement those Conservatives for opposing him, but not being courageous in his iniquity he craftily effected his purpose by the mean trick of pretending to confer a favour on Toronto. Adopting a plan that had been tried and condemned in the mother country, he gave three seats to Toronto as a whole, instead of dividing it into constituencies. Thus he ensured that his Reform friends in the city should be able to elect one candidate, the representation of Conservative Toronto thus counting for only one on a division instead of two as before. He thus actually cheated the Conservatives of Toronto out of a vote under the subterfuge of favouring the city. There could be no pretence of adopting minority representation for Mr. Mowat and his colleague positively refused to adopt the same method in the case of populous Reform counties with large Conservative minorities. It was the trick of a political sharper to use his delegated power unfairly for his own advantage.

It would be strange that Reformers with such a record should have the effrontery to mention gerrymandering, were it not that it is in accordance with their conscience practice of slandering and howling at their political opponents in the hope of deluding the people.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SALVATION ARMY.—The Salvation Army appeared for the second time before Mr. Golborne, J.P., on Tuesday evening, charged with disturbing the peace on Sunday by drum-beating, etc. The case caused a great deal of excitement, the court room being crowded during the hearing. The Magistrate considered the offence proved, and imposed a fine of $20 or two months' imprisonment. Mr. W. A. Stratton, of Peterborough, appeared for the Army.

A BOY IN TROUBLE.—Young Clarke, who has been unfortunate enough to get into trouble before, was put in the back-up on Tuesday morning. This arrest caused a considerable amount of comment, many people holding the view that he should not have been committed to goal even for a day without going through some form of trial and that his detention was illegal. Mr. R. C. Strickland and Mr. William Cox went bail for the boy and he was released about six o'clock in the evening. On Wednesday morning he was taken to Peterborough to appear before Mr. Dumble.

BREAK DOWN.—On Wednesday, July 21st, the steamer Cruiser, while taking the Methodist Sunday School picnic up to Stony Lake, broke her shaft in Clear Lake. The Fairy took charge of the row with the excursionists on board and brought them home, while the steamer yacht "Union" towed the cruiser down. This breakage was most unfortunate for Capt. Eden, happening as it did during his busiest season. However, damages have now been repaired, and the Cruiser is running again as usual.

THE SCHOOLS.—The following are the names of the pupils who were successful at the promotion examinations of the Lakefield Public School. Second to Third: John Nelson, Wilhelmine Kemp, Fanny English, Ella Northcutt, Minnie Brown, Sara Alcornbrach, John Simpson, John Voysey, William Nicholson, Mary Snares, Harry Smith, Third to Junior fourth: Dorcas Watley, John Bell, Minnie Charlton, Evelyn Dudgeon, John Campbell, Thomas Caldwell, Fred Dymond, Edith Haple, Junior to senior fourth: Eva Macfarlane, Minnie Graham, Norman Macdonald, Annie Hillman, Albert Dodge, Bert Sherwin, Emma Mason, Nellie Bell, Lucy Mellor, Nina Lunden. Average attendance for June, 292. Average attendance for half year, 197.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MISTAKE.—In last week's issue of one of our local contemporaries we noticed among the Keene items that Dr. Harrison and Shaw were at Mud Lake on Tuesday, and also an intimation that they were looking after votes. Dr. Harrison and Shaw wish it to be distinctly understood that they were minding their own business and not looking after votes. We think that it is best to pay your own party's correspondent here to look after his own business and leave others to mind theirs.

VANDALISM.—Sometime on Saturday night or Sunday morning a pleasure boat owned in this place was destroyed by fire. Such wanton destruction of property should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.

METHODIST CHURCH.—Dr. Williams is expected to preach in the Keene Methodist Church on Sunday next. Very interesting sermons may be expected.

Young, Robert Wright. From second to class second—Lily M. Farlane, James Bellingham, Lottie Kearney. Part first to part second—John Bellingham, Kate Pope, Gertrude May Hewitt, Robert Plymth, George Ayotte.

Royalty Meet Give Way.

WATERFORD, July 27.—A special meeting of the municipal council of Waterford was held this afternoon for the purpose of taking action concerning the portrait of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, recently presented to the city. The "favor" presented. The council finally resolved to have the portrait of Gen. Meagher in the council room and to make way for it by removing to another apartment the portraits of King George III, King George IV and King William III, which now hang in the council chamber.

The Weakness of Two Women Results in the Loss of Four Men's Lives.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 27.—Just before noon today John Koehler, a baker, shot and killed John Carter and mortally wounded Peter Haupt. Several days ago Koehler left his young wife, charging her with infidelity and with love for Haupt. He went to see her to lay at his old home and found Haupt and Carter in the house. He tried to make them leave and they threatened to eject them, whereupon he pulled his pistol and killed Carter and shot Haupt through the head. Koehler gave himself up.

Shortly after the Louisville tragedy a similar one occurred across the river at New Albany, where Prof. J. G. Strunk shot and killed Chas. Hoover and seriously wounded his father, Dr. Hoover. It is charged that young Hoover had been too intimate with Strunk's wife. Only a short while ago Strunk shot at Hoover but with no serious result. Hoover and father were returning from dinner at noon when they met Strunk, who began shooting. Dr. Hoover was shot through the groin. Young Hoover started to run but was struck by four bullets and fell dead. Dr. Hoover is a well-known physician and is professor in a medical college.

Cremation at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 27.—The remains of Adolph Minski of Milwaukee were incinerated at the Buffalo crematorium this afternoon. Fifty minutes were consumed in reducing the body to ashes. Minski was a prominent Free Thinker, and a delegation of the men and three women representing the society to which he belonged, came here with the body. Deceased was a bachelor, 65 years old, and died July 23rd, of a cancer of the stomach. No services were held in the cemetery. The incineration was perfectly successful, with no disagreeable accompaniments whatever.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Professor R. Watkins.
Veterinary Dentist, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, will be at the City Hotel until Saturday evening. Parties having horses with bad mouths will do well to give him a call.

The finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW McNAIL'S.

Good Wishes from Oshawa.
The Oshawa Vindicator says:—"In another column will be found the marriage notice of Mr. Hudson, of Peterborough, to Miss Butcher, of the same place. Miss Butcher was for many years a teacher at the Central School, and by her amiability won the hearts of many of the students, who will be pleased to hear of her marriage. We wish the happy couple every happiness."

Commencing Work.
The members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery have received their examination papers for this year. The questions set down are to be answered on inspection day at the fall camp, which commences on September 7th at Kingston. This division will commence drill on Friday evening of next week, to brush up for camping duties. The Durham and Kingston Field Batteries, the 4th Regiment of cavalry and four Battalions of Infantry will form the camp.

The Liberal Ladies.
It is proposed by some of the ladies of the different churches in town, to hold a meeting to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A. room, to devise ways and means whereby something may be done to assist the Fire Brigade Band to pay off the balance of the debt on their new uniforms. The Band have always assisted the different churches in town whenever called upon gratis, and doubtless the ladies who are taking this matter in hand will arrange so that a handsome sum will be realized.

Rare Bargains.
Mr. M. Carlton will have finished stock-taking on Friday, 30th inst., and will open out on Saturday in the premises lately occupied as the Bon Marche. The stock will be disposed of at the most reasonable rates and in as short a time as possible, as Mr. Carlton's motto is, "Quick sales and small profits." This is an opportunity not likely to occur every day for purchasers getting real good bargains. From Mr. Carlton's well known enterprise and energy the public may rest assured that he is not likely to hold on to any goods for which he can get anything like reasonable offers.

Personal.
The success of Mr. F. C. Armstrong, of Millbrook, at the matriculation examinations of the University of Toronto, deserves special mention. He is only fifteen years of age, yet he stood second in first class honors in English (only one in the Province being ahead of him), and took first class honors in all other subjects except French. His success speaks well for his abilities and assiduity, and volumes for the tuition afforded in the Collegiate Institute. Mr. H. E. T. Haultain's success, especially in mathematics, in which he stood second in first class honors, calls for the same remarks.

Wedding Bells.
On Wednesday at three o'clock in the afternoon one of those events at which orange blossoms form the principal decoration took place at the residence of Mr. Wm. Yelland, George street. Dr. Graham, of Fenelon Falls, was the groom, Miss Yelland, Mr. Wm. Yelland's only daughter, the bride, Miss Laura Branch, the bridesmaid and Mr. Benjamin Yelland supported the groom. The marriage ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Baptist Church. Dr. and Mrs. Graham left town on the 4:15 train for their new home. The presents sent to the bride were very beautiful and almost without number. While extending congratulations to Mrs. Graham, a large circle of friends regret to see Miss Yelland leave them.

Garden Party and Sale of Work at Hazel Brase.

Struck by Lightning.
Geo. Howson, insurance agent, of this town, received a telegram on Monday to say that a house at Bobcaygeon, owned by him, had been struck by lightning. He is at present at that place looking after the matter. The loss is not so great as was at first expected.

A "Carpet" Window.
The Golden Lion dry goods house just now devotes one of the front windows to the exhibit of carpets. A very artistic display is made up of huge rolls of carpets rising tier above tier and growing smaller as they rise. The display is daintily set off with oil cloths, pretty mats, etc. Mr. Robert Tate is the artist.

Fireside.
Mr. Harry Clouston's lodge at Sandy Point, Pigeon Lake, has been broken into during some time within the last week and the contents of it have been literally demolished. The furniture, glassware and crockery were smashed, the windows broken, and acts of pure devilry of different kinds committed. If caught, the perpetrators of such firebrandism should be rigorously punished.

Entertainment.
A vocal and musical entertainment, for the benefit of the library of the Roman Catholic Separate School, will be given at the Murray street school grounds on Thursday evening, the 29th inst., in which the leading amateurs of the town will take part. The band will also be present. Refreshments can be obtained on the grounds. Admission 15 cents; children 10 cents.

Estimate.
To show how former members of the old 57th interest themselves in its welfare, it is stated that this morning Capt. Cooper received a letter from an old member at Cologne, Germany, saying that he would be shortly back to Peterborough, and asking that a place be kept for him. No doubt the prevalent military enthusiasm in Germany had something to do with his ardent desire to join.

Early Closing.
The letter of "Humanitas" revives the question of early closing for the stores on Saturday night. The public and the press have done their share in urging the change upon the public. It is now for the public to do its share by discontinuing the habit of purchasing at late hours on Saturday. It is hard to persuade all storekeepers to agree to close as long as any business can be done, and competition prevents any early closing as long as one store remains open. If purchasers would resolve to do their business earlier, and employers would pay wages on any day but Saturday, the desired result could easily be attained, for storekeepers would gladly close if they had no callers.

Wedding Bells.
The Port Arthur Daily Sentinel of Monday, July 26th, contains the following account of the wedding of Dr. G. S. Beck, son of the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough:—"St. John's Church was well filled this afternoon at sixteen o'clock by an interested and fashionable audience who assembled to witness the marriage of Dr. G. S. Beck to one of the fairest and most popular of Port Arthur's charming daughters. The bride party, who were accompanied by a number of relatives and intimate friends, arrived at the church at 16:20 o'clock, the bride, Miss Lillian Buchanan, being escorted by Mr. George T. Marks. The Rev. Mr. Macdonald officiated and when the beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony of the Church of England was concluded hearty congratulations were extended to the happy couple from all sides. Mr. N. D. Beck, of Winnipeg, brother of the Doctor, and Mr. J. D. Macdonald acted as groomsmen. Miss Clark attended the bride as bridesmaid. The Doctor and his bride leave here this evening on the steamer United Empire for a trip through the western States. The Sentinel wishes them a very pleasant trip and a long and happy life." The same issue of the Sentinel contains a report of a complimentary banquet given the previous Saturday to Dr. G. S. Beck. With the Mayor in the chair the party, consisting of the leading gentlemen of Port Arthur, sat down at 19 o'clock to discuss a menu which is enough to make the reader's mouth water. Toasts, songs and recitations succeeded, one of those who returned thanks for the learned professions being Mr. N. D. Beck. The manner in which the toast of "The guest of the evening" was proposed and received, and indeed the banquet with all its surroundings, showed the high position which Dr. Beck has attained in the affection and esteem of the people of Port Arthur. His many friends in Peterborough will unite with us in cordial wishes for the happiness and prosperity of Dr. Beck and his bride.

FATAL HEART TROUBLE

A MAN SUDDENLY EXPIRES WHILE AT A BREAKFAST TABLE

While Eating a Piece of Bread Life Passed from Him—A Shocking Circumstance.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Albert Brown, employed as express driver for Mr. Washington Irving, tinware merchant and manufacturer, whose shop is situated off Charlotte street opposite the Lansdowne rink, drove up to the residence of Mr. Richard Heard, 4th Concession of Smith. The express driver stabled his horse and stayed all night at Mr. Heard's place. This morning the family sat down to breakfast at about eight o'clock. Mr. Brown ate heartily. While the members of the family were chatting pleasantly, in which Mr. Brown also joined, they were suddenly concerned to observe the latter roll his eyes and a moment after started to see him fall to one side. Mr. Heard, who sat next to him, caught him and held him for a time, thinking he was in a fit. Restoratives were applied, however, without avail, and it was soon discovered that the man was dead.

Mr. Heard, who was in town to-day, says that after he caught Mr. Brown in his arms, the latter gave what he would call a scream. A moment or two after he gasped once or twice, but those were the only sounds that escaped him. Not a word was uttered by the dying man. As he lay gasping he held a piece of bread and butter in his hand. The family were greatly shocked at the terrible occurrence. The body, after it was ascertained that the man was really dead, was laid on a couch, and Mr. Heard sent for a doctor. Dr. King was summoned. He pronounced the cause of death to be heart disease. The deceased came from Havelock, but has been working for Mr. Irving. During their conversation on the evening before his death Mr. Brown told Mr. Heard that he had a wife and two children living at Havelock. A coroner's inquest will be held to-night.

Temperature.
The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock a.m., 63; 1 o'clock p.m., 65; 3 o'clock p.m., 80.

Cricket.
Arrangements for a cricket match with Orillia at that town have been made for August 19th, our civic holiday, when the P. A. A. excursion to Orillia will take place.

Coercion or Conciliation, Which?
Hear Rev. Dr. Burns on the Irish question, Opera House, Wednesday evening, August 4th. Admission 25 cents. Reserved seats 50 cents, at Hartley's.

The Penalty.
If the man who purloined the ladder from the town buildings doesn't return it he will likely be mistaken for an untaxed canine. The ladder belongs to the Electric Light Company, and is used to reach the lamp in the Council Chamber.

Now.
There was intense excitement in the lower part of the town on Wednesday night. At about eleven o'clock "Cries of 'Murder!' " brought the residents in the vicinity into the street. The police were called. It was a family quarrel, which some way was likely to have had a bad result. No information was laid up to three o'clock this afternoon.

Going Home.
An excursion train, run under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Port Hope, the windows filled with beaming faces of Port Hoppers, passed through town on Wednesday night on its way to Port. The party were out to Sturgeon Point and Orillia for a day's outing.

25 to 30 per cent saved now by buying special goods selected for sacrifice at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Town Talk.
We didn't bring discredit on our alma mater, anyway. The local Toronto University matriculants. You did us credit, decidedly. The Collegiate Institute staff. Wait till you see our record—Those that wrote for Queen's. This is just the weather to take your holidays. The railway and steamboat companies. And it's dreadfully bad for your health to camp out—Proprietors of summer resorts. Never mind; we'll risk it; it's fun without the campers.

Cowardly.
The following note, which was left at Mr. Dumble's office at half past two o'clock this afternoon, speaks for itself.

July 29th, 1886.
Mr. DUMBLE.—The night before last your orchard in Ashburnham was badly injured. 18 or nineteen trees were badly barked by somebody, and I would like you to come over this evening and see what can be done about it.

Wm. FRITH.
This act is most reprehensible, and the coward who committed it should be severely punished. Mr. Dumble is at present away on his holidays.

THE NEW MINISTRY.

Some Appointments—Hicks-Bench the Chief Secretary for Ireland.

LONDON, July 28. Mr. Goschen has been offered the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer and the leadership in the House of Commons. It is stated Mr. Goschen will not seek to re-enter Parliament at present, and that when he does he will stand as a Conservative and join the Tory party.

The following appointments have been made and accepted:

Home Secretary—Lord George Hamilton.
Chief Secretary for Ireland—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

Secretary for War—Viscount Cranbrook.
The Right Hon. Wm. Henry Smith, Sir Richard Assheton Cross and the Right Hon. F. A. Stanley will enter the House of Lords.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach accepts the post of Chief Secretary for Ireland with reluctance, and only under pressure from Lord Salisbury, who held that the Irish office during the coming session would be the most important after that of Premier.

Lord Randolph Churchill's set regard the appointment as the showing of Sir Michael and as a triumph for the younger militant Conservatives. Both the Liberal and Conservative Clubs question the wisdom of the appointment. The Parliaments are increased at the selection of Sir Michael for the Chief Secretaryship, as they recall his recent speech in favor of coercion.

The Duke of Argyll declines to take office. Mr. Chamberlain, through Lord Hartington, has promised Lord Salisbury a qualified support.

Lord Ashbourne has been entrusted with the work of drafting a scheme for the reform of the Irish administration. A private committee, including Lord Hartington, Mr. Goschen, Sir Henry James and Mr. Chamberlain will co-operate with Lord Ashbourne. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Salisbury are preparing a Local Government Bill for Ireland.

It has been officially announced that the Marquis of Londonderry has been appointed Viceroy of Ireland.

It has just been decided that Lord Randolph Churchill shall have the office of Chancellor of the Exchequer and the leadership of the House of Commons.

CLOSELY WATCHED.

Sanitation with the Fishery Protection—A Yankee Trick Frustrated.

PORT HAWKESBURY, N.S., July 28.—A great many Yankee schooners are now passing through the Strait of Canso to North Bay for second stages of Canadian mackerel.

General satisfaction is expressed by the fishermen at the government's rigorous exclusion of the Yankees from the Bait des Chaleurs, and thus forcing the headland (question).

Several American vessels are reported off Tracadie, P. E. I., but fish are scarce there.

The Portland steamer Novelty was very much inconvenienced in Canadian waters by her inability to obtain coal. She dodged around Tignish, P. E. I., for several days, but was unable to get a supply, being closely watched by the cruiser Hawlett. The schooner Really entered with twenty-six tons of coal, assigned to the captain of the steamer. The idea was to transport the coal to the Novelty. The Collector of Customs saw through the dodge and threatened to seize both vessels, when the steamer Novelty put to sea, leaving the schooner Really in the harbor. In Captain Miller to whistle for his loss of time in going to the Magdalen Islands on a fool's errand.

A BITTER WAR FEELING.

Predominant Throughout Northern Texas Intense Feeling Against Mexico.

PORT WORTH, TEX., July 29.—A bitter war feeling is predominant throughout Northern Texas. Mr. Cutting's case is absorbing attention throughout the State. The hatred of the Texans to the Mexicans has been brewing for years.

El Paso, Tex., July 29.—Editor Cutting was taken before the higher court last night and told that the court was now ready to try him, and that his case had reached a stage which permitted him to employ counsel. "I am in the hands of the court," he said, "and I do not recognize the authority of your court to try me for what was done in my country. I will not employ counsel and will not answer any questions. Mr. Cutting was then sent back to prison. The popular feeling here is changing from one of feverish excitement and expectancy to one of indignation against the Government for delay and apparent hesitation. Consul Brigham has received letters from Secretary Bayard saying that the Government will stand firm.

MORWOOD.

CHANGED HANDS.—Mr. M. McGregor has disposed of his hotel business to Messrs. Beckett & Drain, of this village, and has removed to Owen Sound where he has purchased one of the leading hotels. By the departure of Mr. McGregor we lose an enterprising citizen and a successful business man who we join with his many friends in wishing him prosperity in his new home.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—Mr. Wessie, of this village, narrowly escaped losing the sight of an eye while leading hay on Wednesday of last week. A fellow workman accidentally ran one of the lines of a pitchfork in such close proximity to his left eye that the victim for a time felt sure that his usefulness was gone. Dr. Pettigrew dressed the wound which was not as serious as at first supposed.—Register.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

The Names of the Successful Candidates and Their Standing.

The examinations of the papers set for candidates for entrance to the Collegiate Institute have finished their work. The total number who wrote at this examination is 114; the total number of those who have passed, 57. The town public schools sent up 17 candidates; the Convent School, 5; Otonabee, 3; Lakeland, 3; Ennismore, 1; Monaghan, 2; Smith, 2; Separate School, 2; failed in English Grammar; 15 in Orthography and Orthopy; 48 in the drawing paper; 10 in History; and 6 in Composition.

Pennsylvania was reported to not be up to the average, though some of the Candidates wrote well. In the drawing book work there is a marked improvement since last year, but none in the department's test paper. The difficulty in the English Grammar, Orthography and Orthopy papers was much complained of by the candidates.

EXTRADITION.

LONDON, July 29.—The discussion on the extradition treaty continues in a moderate tone. The objections to the surrender of political offenders are not less decided here than in America, but it is pointed out that the right of surrender will be allowed, since the discretion rests with them.

Ovation to Lord Aberdeen.

DUBLIN, July 29.—The city is placed with appeals to Irishmen to assemble in their thousands to make the greatest demonstration possible on the occasion of the departure of the Lord-Lieutenant Aberdeen and his wife from Ireland next week. The call is signed "By order of the Citizens and Trades Council Committee."

PROCLAMATION OF BELFAST.

BELFAST, July 29.—The action of the Government in proclaiming Belfast under the provisions of the arms clause of the Peace Preservation Act is strongly denounced. The authorities complained to Sir Robert Hamilton, Irish Under-Secretary, that they had never been consulted in the matter. Sir Robert replied that the Government had acted at the suggestion of the Belfast justice and police officials. The mayor of Belfast protested to the Secretary and expressed the hope that in future the Government would display more courtesy to the Belfast municipal authorities.

THE DREAD OF CHOLERA.

VIENNA, July 29.—Three new cases of cholera and two deaths are reported at Gumpich. At Fiume a distressing state of affairs exists. Exorbitant prices are charged for provisions, there is a general stagnation in trade, the suffering of the year is intense and the dread of cholera is increasing.

IMPERIAL DEFENCES.

THE fact that the Imperial authorities have sent officers of the Royal Engineers to the Pacific coast to select suitable points for fortifications, military depots and naval stations, is very interesting and important to the people of Canada. Especially striking is the statement of Col. O'Brien that his visit for this purpose is consequent upon the completion of the C. P. R., our great inter-oceanic line being "considered to be the great highway for military transport to India and China."

Thus it is that while many Reformers are prating about independence, secession and annexation, the Conservative Administration at Ottawa, with its statesmanlike policy, is taking steps leading to the practical unification of the Empire. The C. P. R. was designed and carried out for the benefit of the Dominion of Canada, but that it should have resulted in wider advantages is a fresh instance of the old truth that what benefits a part will almost necessarily benefit the whole body. That Imperial interests, in which we have our share, should be served by a great Canadian enterprise, primarily designed to promote the progress and prosperity of our Dominion, will be hailed with rejoicing by all patriotic British subjects. Such a link between various portions of the Empire goes far towards blurring the question of Imperial Federation within the purview of practical politics. Statesmanlike measures for the advancement of the several portions of the Empire, combined with a loyal spirit of love for the old flag, can hardly fail to foster and facilitate some system for perpetuating Imperial union and strengthening the links that bind us together.

The expenditure upon these Imperial works in British Columbia will directly favour the progress of that Province, and the use of the C. P. R. as a highway for military transport through Canada to the East will be a lasting advantage to the Dominion. The use of our route for this purpose by the military authorities, affords a favourable augury that commerce between the West and East will also avail itself of the same facilities to an extent exceeding the estimates of the most sanguine, and confuting the factious criticisms of those who mocked at the idea of our grand national enterprise being one of the great commercial routes of the world.

If the people of Canada had been unfortunately beguiled by the opposition, we would have had at best a more local and fragmentary road, only facilitating the settlements of a small section of the Northwest, and leaving us mainly dependent upon foreign routes for inter-provincial intercourse, and fostering foreign rather than Canadian commerce. Happily the people of Canada gave their confidence to the Conservative leaders, from whose more broad and statesmanlike policy we have as a result a great highway linking together the Provinces and Territories of the Dominion, and as is now made manifest having the vast additional advantage of offering the most satisfactory route between all the leading members of the great empire of which we form part.

DISSEMBLING FRIENDSHIP.

THE London Advertiser says "the Reformers not only profess but exhibit friendship for the Indians." This is in relation to the Reform claim that even the most civilized Indians, who prefer to maintain their tribal relations, are too low in the scale of human beings to be worthy of the franchise. This is a strange manner of showing friendship, but the Advertiser could easily obtain the full particulars of a still more singular manifestation of Reform good will to the Indians. The Hon. D. Mills is not seldom in London and the Advertiser would probably find little difficulty in obtaining from him the particulars of his friendly act towards Indians in the form of depriving them of "the root of all evil." Mr. Mills even carried his Pythian devotion to the extent of sacrificing for his red friends any reputation for honesty that may be left to him, in order to relieve them from the temptations of wealth. Being their trustee he made a present of part of the trust fund on a flimsy pretence to a boastfully corrupt friend. And he did this at a time when no honest trustee would have dealt with the fund, for he had at the time been dismissed from office, and only had control over this money because he had not yet gone through the formalities of handing over his office to his successor.

Who can dispute Reform friendship for the Indians when a prominent Reformer is thus willing to sacrifice even his honour to relieve them of the burden of riches?

THE TRUCE OVER.

Salisbury Asked to Deny Certain Statements.

LONDON July 30.—The government appointments since yesterday contain surprises.

United Ireland says: "The speculation that either Mr. Gladstone or Mr. Parnell will be absurd enough to obstruct the mere votes framed by the late government may be dismissed as chatter. Lord Salisbury's rock ahead does not lie there, but in the direction indicated by Colonel Tottenham, the question as to measures to be taken for the preservation of life and property. Before Parliament will be permitted to adjourn Lord Salisbury will have to define what is exactly the means when he promises that the existing laws will be strictly enforced. If by strictly he means honestly and conscientiously, then it is certain that Lord Salisbury's standard will not be comforted. Before winter whistles, a new Commons will be invited back to Westminster to tackle the old task of devising game and in music for Ireland. After that the drudge."

In an article headed, "The Truce Over," the same journal says: "Our people, so lately brimming over with hopes of peace, and good will, are, by the inevitable wickedness of the landlord caste, once more set with their backs to the wall to fight for their lives and homes. What satisfies it that the peace wreckers are beginning to realize the consequences of their own devilish work, and they are already making the most important misrepresentation of the attitude and motives of the Irish people."

Two Youth Fight for a Girl.

HELVILLE, July 29.—An interesting episode occurred in the northern part of Baynton Township on Sunday evening. On leaving church a young man from Marmora attempted to escort a young lady to her home. A Baynton admirer interfered and a fight ensued. Baynton assaulted Marmora, but the combatants did not settle their differences at that time. Arrangements were made for a meeting on Tuesday afternoon for final settlement. A select party accompanied the combatants to the appointed place, one of the number being the girl's father. He directed that they should have a rough-and-tumble fight, the victor to have the girl. Marmora won.

THE CHOLERA IN ITALY.

Vigorous Measures Adopted by the Authorities—New Symptoms.

Rome, July 30.—Thanks to the vigorous measures taken by the Government, the cholera at Latauro and vicinity is decreasing, but there has been an increase in the number of cases at outlying points. Everywhere where the disease appears the Government officers proceed with the work of limiting the cherished manure heaps of the natives, meeting in many cases with great opposition. There is no scare in Rome over the spread of the disease, which is regarded as of a local character. The city is in an excellent sanitary condition, and reports from provincial centres are to the effect that the stirring measures of the Government are leading everywhere to purification and sanitization of the wells, and great activity on the part of the health bureau. The character of the disease differs from that prevalent last year. It begins with slight symptoms, which rarely alarm those attacked. The patients are rarely attacked with vomiting fits, although, as the disease increases in intensity, which it does very rapidly, there is severe pain. Cramps are infrequent, but in a few hours the patient has passed beyond suffering, so quickly does the disease develop when fairly established. The medical authorities are greatly puzzled by the new phases assumed by the disease.

THE C. P. R. TELEGRAPH CO.

MONTREAL, July 29.—General Manager Hooper, of the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company, states that his company has made a twenty-five year contract with the Postal Telegraph Company and the Mackay-Bennett Cable Company, and that arrangements have also been made to connect with the Baltimore and Ohio system throughout the United States.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, JULY 31, 1886.

Justice McCarthy will probably not be here this year, but an equally good man, the Rev. Dr. Burns, will deliver an address on the Irish Question at the Opera House next Wednesday evening. Admission 25 cents; reserved seats 50 cents.

FINE SCOTCH GINGHAMS, regular price 25c., reduced to 12½c. per yard at FAIR'S.

This is the Day.

The citizens generally are reminded that Mr. Carton opened up the Bon Marche today, and will dispose of the entire stock of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, haberdashery, etc., at ridiculously low prices. Genuine bargains for all. Come and participate in this great benefit sale.

Fire Brigade Band.

A meeting of the ladies of the different churches will be held on Tuesday, August 3rd, at half past four o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. rooms to make further arrangements for the entertainment on August 12th in the St. John's Church grounds, to aid the Fire Brigade Band in paying for their new uniforms. A large attendance is requested.

A Camp Meeting.

A camp meeting is to be held near Peterborough. This is something new and it will doubtless attract the people. In the last number of the Gospel Army Trumpet this advertisement appears: "Camp meeting and Officers Convention will be held at Crawford's Grove, near Peterborough, August 11th to 18th." The army held a successful camp meeting at Brockville a short time ago.

The finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough, at ANDREW McNEIL'S.

Cricket.

Contrary to what was anticipated a match cannot be arranged with the Ottawa cricket club. In a very friendly letter from its secretary to Mr. J. E. Hammond, it is stated that some of their best men are out of town. It is reasonable to infer from this that when the Ottawa's meet the Peterborough's they want to put their best men in the field. Mr. Hammond is arranging with the Cobourg's for a match.

The Method.

A meeting of the ladies of the town was held at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms on Friday afternoon to devise means for obtaining funds to help the band to pay off the debt on their new uniforms. The different churches were represented. It was decided to hold a social in the St. John's church grounds on the evening of August 12th.

The Short Line.

An Ottawa despatch says: "The work of construction on the Smith's Falls short line is being rapidly pushed forward. Five thousand laborers are employed between the western junction and St. Anne's. Enormous amounts of supplies are being shipped to points along the line, and many Ottawa firms were the lucky tenderers. The construction of the bridge at Kemptonville is well under way. The stone quarries at Hull are the scene of great activity, as a large quantity of stone work required for the bridge is being obtained there."

Masonic.

The Lindsay Lodge says: "On Wednesday a delegation of gentlemen high up in the Masonic order visited Lindsay with the object of instituting in town a new chapter, to be called 'Midland Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Canada.' The delegation comprised Rgt. E. Com. J. B. Traves of Port Hope, E. C. and Prin. J. J. Lightfoot of Cobourg, E. C. and Prin. B. Shortly of Peterborough and E. C. and Prin. James Alexander of Peterborough. Owing to some arrangements necessary not having been made in the absence of members of the prospective lodge the ceremony of instituting the lodge and installing the officers did not take place. The visitors went down to the Point and spent the day in a quiet way with the Port Hope excursion party."

Two cases silk plushes in various qualities and colorings opened this week at FAIR'S, sign of the Golden Lion.

Temperature.

The thermometer readings to-day at the hours mentioned were as follows:—8 o'clock a.m., 63; 1 o'clock p.m., 80; 3 o'clock p.m., 85.

Garden Party and Sale of Work at Hazel Brice.

The Ladies' Committee (Mrs. Jas. Wallis, President), intend holding a Sale of Work and Garden Party at Hazel Brice on the evening of the 5th of August. Particulars later.

Canoeing.

The Lindsay Wander says:—"On Monday evening last, Dr. Neide, of Schuyerville, N. Y., accompanied by Col. J. Z. Rogers, and E. B. Edwards Esq., of Peterborough, reached Lindsay, and proceeded, under escort of Lindsay canoe club on an excursion down the river, to Sturgeon Point. The moist atmosphere, and threatening rain prevented a large turnout; but still the muster was large. The Lindsay contingent was under command of Commodore Edwards."

Fine Printing.

The mammoth poster for the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society has just been printed in the Review office. It is worked in five colours, with three impressions, and altogether presents a very fine appearance. The poster speaks well for the efficiency of the competent and skilled workmen engaged in the Review, and proves that there is no necessity of sending to Toronto or Montreal for fancy colored printing. It is admitted to be the best poster ever turned out of any office east of Toronto.

Personal.

Mr. Sam. Hughes, of the Lindsay Wander, was in town on Friday.
Mr. Somerville, late of Peterborough, who has been residing at Brockville for some time, has returned to town, assuming his old position at the Grand Trunk Railway offices.

Mr. J. D. McMillan, Principal of the Separate Schools, has returned to town after taking a pleasant holiday trip through the Eastern States.
Miss L. Gardiner, of Cavan, has done even more creditably at the recent matriculation examinations than would at first appear. She was but seven months studying at the Institute and obtained at the Toronto University examination honors in English, history and geography, French and German.

Leave Them on the Boards.

Mr. E. C. Hill has been troubled for some time by having bills torn up on Friday. A large bill that was put on Friday was torn before noon. This is shameful, as those who go to the expense of getting bills printed and had them posted should get the benefit of them. Tearing them in a senseless piece of vandalism that deserves severe punishment. Mr. Hill offers a reward of $5 for information that will lead to the conviction of any person destroying bills on his boards. His duty is, of course, done when he posts the bills, but he wishes to protect the interests of his patrons and his business. It is to be hoped that the steps taken will put a stop to this nuisance. We will add a reward of $10 on conviction in the case of bills from the Review office that may be thus maliciously destroyed.

The Market.

Whole wagon loads of huckleberries appeared on the market square this morning, being dealt out by the salesmen at 10 cents a quart. The fruit was brought from Methuen, Chandoe and other back townships on Friday evening by train. The salesmen say that there is just about half a crop this year. Raspberries, not very plentiful, were disposed of at from $1.00 to $1.25 per peck, and black currants at 11 cents per quart. Green peas sold at 9 cents per quart; new potatoes at $1.00 per bag, and green apples at 30 cents per peck. Plump spring chickens brought 50 cents per pair; live ducks, 50 cents per pair, and turkeys, $1.00 each. Lamb by the quarter brought 9 and 10 cents per pound; mutton, 6 and 7 cents per pound; veal, 5 and 6 cents per pound. Fresh butter in prints sold for 15 and 16 cents per pound, and eggs at 11 and 12 cents per dozen.

The Churches.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.
ST. LUKE'S.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Holy Communion, Morning Prayer, Litany, and sermon at 11 a.m.; Evensong and sermon at 7 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England, Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon and Communion at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.
ST. PAUL'S.—The Rev. Walter Rogers will preach at both the morning and evening services.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray Street.—In the absence of the Rev. Mr. Munro it is probable that the Rev. E. St. Dalmas, of Smith, will officiate.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte Street.—The services will be conducted as follows:—In the morning at 11 o'clock, by the Rev. I. Tovey; in the evening at 7 o'clock, by the Rev. J. C. Wilson, of Ashburnham.

METHODIST CHURCH, George Street.—The services will be conducted as follows:—In the morning at 11 o'clock, by the Rev. G. H. Davis; in the evening at 7 o'clock by the Rev. J. W. Annie, B. A., of Barrie.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark Street, Ashburnham.—The usual services will be conducted.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted.

The Race.

The Stevenson and Kent crews took spins over the course on Friday evening. The race was not rowed, however. On next Friday evening it will be decided who is to pay for the barrel of flour.

MORROW, TERRY & Co. are now offering special inducements in TEAS, SUGARS and General Groceries. Call and inspect.

Arrived.

The Forpaugh circus advertising car arrived at the Bethune street depot this morning, bringing in rolls of bills (not of Government issue) and about fifteen paste pot artists. To-day the bill-boards are being duly covered with the glaring posters descriptive of direct events.

Buried.

Albert Brown, who dropped dead at the residence of Mr. Hoard, Smith, on Thursday, was buried at Havelock to-day. It was not deemed necessary by the coroner, Dr. Fife, to hold an inquest. Instructions were given to Mr. Irwin to have the body conveyed to the deceased's home. The family of the deceased was apprised by telegram of the death before the body was sent home.

Port Hope and Cobourg.

The Port Hope and Cobourg baseball teams met at Cobourg on Friday. There was a large attendance from both Port Hope and Cobourg on the grounds to see the match, and the result was watched with keen interest. The sports of each town backed their club to the extent, it is said, of a good many hundred dollars. Some Peterborough men bet freely on Port Hope, perhaps with the knowledge that that club were importing several players. The score at the end of the match stood: Port Hope 15, Cobourg 6.

Town Talk.

No Business.

Everything was quite quiet at the Police Court this morning. In the office downstairs reading papers for the dozenth time occupied the occupants till Street Inspector Wilson dropped in and sat down to wipe the perspiration from his face. A piece of bark, probably appropriated from some lumber yard, lay on the table. Some one remarked that it was picked up by the sympathetic Inspector and formed a throne to philosophize on till Mr. Thomas Beavis came around and changed the subject by asserting that he bought a tag for his dog, but some one have deliberately taken it off the animal's neck.

Well Pleased Visitors.

In an account of the Oddfellows and Sons of England excursion from Port Perry to Peterborough, the Port Perry Standard says:—"The visitors were well pleased with the appearances of the place, and the welcome accorded them. It is a fine town, nicely laid out, and rapidly improving. Some of the places of business and many of its private residences are really handsome. The churches, too, are very attractive. Not a few greatly admired the English Methodist, Presbyterian—which latter has recently undergone repairs worth $20,000—and the Roman Catholic places of worship. Others took delight in visiting the factories, the machinery of most of which is driven by water from the Ottonabee, and the output of which is thereby enhanced in value and greatly facilitated. After doing the town, and partaking of refreshments, which were to be had at reasonable rates, the day was spent, and the train was sought, which started the return trip on time and made the journey in safety."

A. C. A.

As the time for the annual meeting approaches canoeists are already making their arrangements to be present at the camp. The date fixed is from the 15th to the 27th.—Place Grandstone Island. This will be the third meet at this place and probably the last for a few years at least. Next year the canoeists are in favor of Lake Champlain. It is anticipated that this year will see the grandest meet in the history of the Association. The presence of four of the best English canoeists, who will take part in the international sailing race, is of itself enough to stir enthusiasm to the high. The canoeists, as well as American, are anxious to have a chance to test their speed with the Englishmen and will do their best to beat them. Special rates of a fare and a third to Gananoque will be made by the Railways, canoes and kit being carried free. Mr. F. S. Rathburn, of Deseronto, is the store, and Canadians generally should rally round him to make his term of office a successful one. Exchanges please copy.
